14 Moreover, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations that are round about thee, ^r and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reproch and shame, a chaffisement & an astonishment vnto the nations that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger & in wrath, & in sharp rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

He sheweth that Ierusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatrie. 8 Hee prophesieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

A Gaine the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, Set thy face towards the mountaines of Israel, and prophetic against them,

4 And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God: thus sayeth the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hills, to the riuers and to the valleys, Behold, I, even I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places:

5 And your altars shalbe desolate, & your images of the sunne shalbe broken: and I will cast down your slaine men before your idoles.

6 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their idols, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

7 In all your dwelling places the cities shalbe desolate, and the hie places shall be laid waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, & your idoles shalbe broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shalbe cut in peeces, and your workes shalbe abolished.

8 And the slaine shall fall in the middes of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

9 Yet will I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shalbe scattered through the countreys.

10 And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shall be in captiuitie, because I am grieved for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they shalbe displeased in themselves for the euils which they haue committed in all their abominations.

11 And they shall know that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine that I would doe this euill vnto them.

12 Thus saith the Lord God, f Smite with thine hand, and stretch forth with thy foote and say, Alas, for al the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 He that is farre off, shal die of the pestilence, and hee that is neere, shal fall by the sword, and hee that remaineth and is besieged, shal die by the famine: thus wil I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

14 Then yee shall know, that I am the Lord, when their slaine men shall bee among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euery high hill in al the tops of the mountaines, and vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer sweete sauour to all their idoles.

15 So wil I stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the land waste & desolate from the wildernesse vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The end of all the land of Israel shall suddenly come.

Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, An end is come vnto the land of Israel: the ende is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come vpon thee, and I will send my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy wayes vpon thee: and thine abomination shall be in the middes of thee, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, one euill, even one euill is come.

6 An end is come, the end is come, it is watched for thee: behold, it is come.

7 The morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the sounding againe of the mountaines.

8 Now I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations, 9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie, but I will lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shall be in the middes of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the rod flourisheth: pride hath budded.

11 Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednesse: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth nere: let not the buyer reioyce, nor let him that selleth, mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For he that selleth, shall not returne to that which is solde, although they were yet a while: for the vision was vnto al the multitude thereof, and they returned not, neither doeth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared al, but none goeth to the battell: for my wrath is vpon al the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field, shal die with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shal deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall bee in the mountaines, like the

2 An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. 6 The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

a Of the captivity of Ieconiah, b Which contained part of August, and part of September.

And in the sixtyeere, in the sixt moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before mee, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

c As cap. 1. 37.

2 Then I beheld, and loe: there was a likeness, as the appearance of fire, to looke to, from his loines downward: & from his loines vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

+ Ebr. in the visions of God.

3 And he stretched out the likenesse of an hand, and tooke me by an hairie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought me by a d Meaning, that he was thus carried in spirit, and not in body. e Which was the porch or the court where the people assembled. f So called because it prouoked Gods indignation, which was the idole of Baal. g Reade Chap. 3. 22. h That is, in the court where the people had made an altar to Baal.

Diuine vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of indignation, which prouoked indignation.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw in the field.

5 Then said hee vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward, at the gate of the altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie.

6 He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? even the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth heere to cause mee to depart from my Sanctuary: but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

i For God will not be where idoles are.

7 And hee caused mee to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he vnto mee, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And he said vnto mee, Goe in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and behold, there was euery similitude of creeping things and abominable beastes, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

k Which were forbidden in the Law, Leuit. 11. 4.

11 And there stood before them seuentie men of the ancients of the house of Israel, and in the mids of them stood Iazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censer in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like a cloud.

l Thus they that should haue kept all the rest in the feare and true seruice of God, were the ring-leaders to all abomination, and by their example pulled others from God. m It was in such abundance. n For besides their common idolatrie, they had particular seruice, which they had in secret chambers.

12 Then said he vnto mee, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Again he said vnto me, Turne thee againe and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and behold, there sate women mourning for Tammuz.

o The Iewes write that this was a Prophet of the idole, who after his death was once a yeere mourned for in the night.

15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O Sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And hee caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lords house, and behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord betweene the porch and the altar were aboute fise and twenty men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne toward the East.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this shio, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the land with cruelty, and haue returned to pro- uoke mee: and loe they haue cast out of sinke before their noses.

18. Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, and though they crie in mine eares with a lowde voyce, yet will I not heare them.

CHAP. IX.

The destruction of the citie. 4. They that shall bee saved, are marked. 8. A complaint of the Prophet for the destruc- tion of the people.

HE cried also with a lowde voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the citie drawe neere, and every man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

2. And behold, fixe men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the North, and every man a weapon in his hand, to de- stroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers Inke-horne by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brasen altar.

3. And the glory of the God of Israel was gone vp from the Cherub, wherupon he was, and stood on the doore of the house, and hee called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers Inke-horne by his side.

4. And the Lord said vnto him, Go through the mids of the citie, even through the mids of Ierusalem, and set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that mourne, and crie for all the abo- minations that be done in the mids thereof.

5. And to fother he said, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the city, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.

6. Destroy vterly the old, and the yong, and the maides, and the children, and the wo- men, but touch no man, vpon whome is the marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the ancients men, which were before the house.

7. And he said vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slaine, then goe soorth: and they went out, and slew them in the citie.

8. Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cried, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9. Then said hee vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs nor.

10. As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, but will recompence their wayes vpon their heads.

11. And behold, the man clothed with linnen which had the Inke-horne by his side, made re- port, and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

Of the man that took the burning coales out of the middle of the wheeles of the Cherubims. 8. A vision of the wheeles, of the beasts, and of the Cherubims.

AND as I looked, behold, in the firmament that was about the head of the Cherubims, there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.

2. And he spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and said, Goe in betweene the wheeles, even vnder the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cheru- bims, and scatter them ouer the citie. And he went in in my sight.

3. Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4. Then the glorie of the Lord went vp from the Cherub, and stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the bright- nesse of the Lords glorie.

5. And the sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vter court, as the voice of the Almighty God, when he speaketh.

6. And when hee had commaunded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then hee went in and stood beside the wheele.

7. And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it, and went out.

8. And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenes of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9. And when I looked vp, behold, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by ano- ther Cherub, & the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a Chrysolite stone.

10. And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had been in another wheele.

11. When they went forth, they went vp- on their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went.

12. And their whole body, and their rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, even in the same foure wheeles, 19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheelles also were besides them: and every one stood at the entrie of the gate of the Lords House at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was upon them on his.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel, 5 Against the prophetie, shewing them how they shall be dispersed abroad. 16 The renewing of the hearts cometh of God. 21 He threateth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

Moreouer, the Spirit lift mee vp, and brought mee vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entrie of the gate were five and twenty men: among whom I sawe Iezanich the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then said hee vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischief, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 For they say, It is not neere, let vs build houses: this citie is the cauldron, and wee be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophetic aganst them, sonne of man, prophetic.

5 And the Spirit of the Lord fel vpon me, and said vnto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, O yee house of Israel, this haue yee said, and I know that which riseth vp of your minds.

6 Many haue yee murdered in this citie, and yee haue filled the streetes thereof with the slain.

a Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, and therefore gaue themselves still to their pleasures. b We shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the house of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the cauldron till it be sod.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, They that yee haue slaine, and haue layd in the midst of it, they are the flesh, and this citie is the cauldron, but I will bring you forth of the midst of it.

8 Yee haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the middes thereof, and deliuer you into the hands of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you.

10 Yee shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

13 And when I prophesied, Pelsiah the sonne of Benaiah died: then fell I down vpon my face, and cried with a lowde voice, and said, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thus brethren, when thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whom the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Depart yee farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreys: yet will I be to them as a little Sanctuary in the countries where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countries where yee haue beene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall comethither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels: and I will take the stonie heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh.

20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall bee my people, and I will bee their God.

21 But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, saith the Lord God.

The word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying,

26 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the mids of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

27 Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, and goe forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

28 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt goe forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuitie, 29 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and carie out thereby.

30 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and carie it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a signe vnto the house of Israel.

31 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

32 And in the morning came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

33 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said vnto thee, What doest thou?

34 But say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, This burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

35 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it bee done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie.

36 And the chiefe that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall digge through the wall, to carie out thereby: hee shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

37 My net also will I spread vpon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

38 And I will scatter toward euery winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

39 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys.

40 But I will leaue a little number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

41 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

42 Sonne of man, eat thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse, 43 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carefulnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the land shall be desolate from her abundance because of the crueltie of them that dwell therein.

44 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left voide, and the land shall be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

45 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged and all visions shall faile?

47 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, the dayes are at hand and the effect of euery vision.

48 For no vision shall be any more in vaine, neither shall there bee any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

49 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God,

50 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

51 Sonne of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is for many dayes to come, and hee prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

52 Therefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, All my words shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

And

d When the king shall thinke to escape by fleeing, I will take him in my net, as Chap. 17. 10, and 32. 3.

e Which should beare his Name, and should bee his Church, read Chap. 11. 16.

f Because they did not immediately see the prophecies accomplished, they contemned them as though they should neuer be fulfilled. Or, take none effect.

g That is, it shall not come to passe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuse Gods patience and benigne.

k When Iacobiah was led away captiue.

a That is, they receive not the fruits of that which they see and heare.

b That as thou doest, so shall they doe, and therefore in thee they shall see their own plague and punishment.

c Doe not they denie thy doings against prophecies.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the prophets of ^a Israel, that prophesie, and say thou vnto them, that prophesie out of their owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy prophets are like the foxes in the waste places.

5 Yee haue not risen vp in the gaps, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanity, and lying diuination, saying, the Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophesie.

7 Haue yee not seene a vaine vision? and haue yee not spoken a lying diuination? yee say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because yee haue spoken vanitie and haue seene lies, therefore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God.

9 And mine hand shall bee vpon the prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and yee shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, ^f Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a wall, and behold, the others daubed it with vntempered mortar, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered mortar, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, and I will send hailestones which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie wind shall breake it.

12 For, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith yee haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake forth in my wrath, and a great showre shall be in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that yee haue daubed with vntempered mortar, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discouered, and it shall fall, and yee shall be consumed in the mids thereof, and yee shall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered mortar, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof.

16 To wit, the prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne hearts, and prophesie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sowe pillows vnder all armes, and make vails vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp to hunt soules: will yee hunt the soules of my people, and will yee giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfulls of barley, & for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and to giue life to the soules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to doe with your pillows, wherewith yee hunt the soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules goe, ^{even} the soules that yee hunt to make them to flie.

21 Your vails also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your hands to bee hunted, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies yee haue made the heart of the righteous sad, whom I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life, 23 Therefore yee shall see no more vanity, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He reserveth a small portion for his Church.

Then came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and a fate before me.

2 And the word of the Lord come vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquity before their face: should I, being required, answer them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to the Prophet, I the Lord will answer him that commeth, according to the multitude of his idoles.

5 That I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Returne, and withg Whereas the true Prophets prophesied the destruction of the citie to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary and flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet said, (which is here called the building of the wall) another false prophet would affirme, though he had neither occasion nor good ground to beare him.

h Whereby is meant whatsoever man of himselfe seeth forth vnder the authority of Gods word.

i These superstitious women for lucre would prophesie and tell euery man his fortune giuing them pillows to leane vpon and kerchiefs to cover their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

k Will ye make my word to seeme your belies?

l These forerunners made the people believe that they could preferre life or destroy it, and that it should come to euery one according as they prophesied.

m That is, to cause them to perish and that they should depart from the body.

a Hee sheweth the hypocrites of the idolaters, who will dissemble to heare the Prophets of God, though in their heart they follow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also how by one meane or other, God doth discouer them.

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idoles openly, which leade them in blindness, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not heare them when they call vnto him.

draw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For every one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from mee, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling block of his iniquitie before his face, and cometh to a Prophet, for to inquire of him forme, I the Lord will answer him for my selfe,

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the mids of my people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet bee deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the mids of my people of Israel.

10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shal be enen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of Israel may goe no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with al their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

12 The word of the Lord came again vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land sinneth against me by committing a trespassse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, and will break the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.

14 Though these three men, Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their righteousnesse, saith the Lord God.

15 If I bring noisome beastes into the land, and they spoyle it, so that it be desolate, that no man may passe through because of beastes, 16 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, as I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shall be deliuered, but the land shal be waste.

17 Or if I bring a sword vpon this land, and say, Sword, goe through the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shal deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall be deliuered themselves.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast, 20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the mids of it, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shal but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnesse.

21 For thus saith the Lord God, How much more when I send my foure fore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, enen the sword, and famine, and the noysome beast and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet behold therein shall be left a remnant of them that shall bee caried away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shal come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and yee shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, enen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises: and ye shal know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the unprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shall be burnt.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man what cometh of the vine tree about all other trees? & of the vine branch, which is among the trees of the Forrest?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to doe any worke? or will men take a pin of it to hang any vessell thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the ends of it, and the mids of it is burnt. Is it meete for any worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meete for no worke: how much lesse shal it be meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the Forrest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one fire, and another fire shall consume them: and yee shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them, i Though Noah and Iob were now alive, which in their time were most godly men (for at this time Daniel was in captivity with Ezekiel) and so these three together should pray for this wicked people, yet would I not heare them, read Ier. 15. 1. k Meaning, that a very few (which be called the remnant, ver. 22.) should escape these plagues, whom God hath sanctified and made righteous; so that this righteousness is a sign that they are the Church of God, whom he would preserve for his owne sake.

5 None eye pitied thee to doe any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine owne blood, and said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiplie as the bud of the field, and thou hast encreased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breastes are fashioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked, vpon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spread my skirts ouer thee, and couered thy filthinesse: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a covenant with thee, sayth the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with water: yea I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anoynted thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broidered worke, and shod thee with badgers skin: and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I couered thee with silke.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, & a beautiful crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with gold and siluer, and thy raiment was of fine linen, and silke, and broided work: thou didst eat fine floure, and hony and oyle, and thou wast very beautiful, and thou didst grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my beauty which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Now thou didst trust in thine owne beauty, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowne, and hast powred out thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou didst take thy garments, and decked thine hie places with diuers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shal not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and madest to thy selfe images of men, diddest commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookest thy broidered garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oile and my perfume before them.

19 My meate also which I gaue thee, as fine flowre, oyle and hony, wherewith I fed thee thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour: thus it was saith the Lord God.

20 Moreover thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to bee deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe thron fire for them.

22 And in all thine abominations & whoredomes thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednesse (woe, woe vnto thee, saith the Lord God)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an high place, and hast made thee an high place in euery streete.

25 Thou hast built thine high place at euery corner of the way, and hast made thy beauty to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy seete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast encreased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

27 Behold, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and will diminish thine ordinance, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreover multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weak is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a presumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine high place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine high place in euery streete, and hast not been as an harlot that despiseth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue gifts to all other whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shal be after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, & no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord,

c Being thus in thy filthinesse and forsaken of all men, I tooke thee, and gaue thee life: where by is meant, that before God wash his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthinesse and death.

d These words, as blood, pollution, nakednesse, and filthinesse are oftentimes repeated, to beate downe their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before God receiued them to mercie, fauoured them, and couered their shame.

e That thou shouldst be a chaste wife vnto me, and that I should maintaine thee, and endue thee with all graces.

f I washed away thy sinnes.

g I sanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

h Hereby hee sheweth how he faued his Church enriched it, and gaue it power and dominion to reigne.

i He declareth wherein the dignitie of Ierusalem stood: to wit, in that that the Lord gaue them of his beauty and excellencie.

k In abusing my gifts and in putting which confidence in thine owne wisdom and dignitie, which were the occasions of thine idolatry.

l There was none idolatry so vile wherewith thou didst not pollute thy selfe.

m This declarerh how the idolaters put their chiefe delight in those things, which please the eyes and outward senses.

n Thou hast converted thy vessels and instruments which I gaue thee to serue me with, to the vse of thine idoles.

o Meaning by fire, reade Leuit. 24. 17, 18, 21, 22, 23, 24.

|| Or, head.

p Hee noteth the great impietie of this people, who first falling frō God to seek helpe at strange nations, did also at length imbrace their idolatrie, thinking thereby to make their amies more strong.

|| Or, sinne.

|| Or, that will beare rule.

q Meaning, that some harlots contemne small rewards, but no louers gaue a reward to liuel, but they gaue to all others: signifying, that the idolaters below all their lib- tance, which they receiue of God for his glorie, to serue their vile abominations.

36 Thus sayth the Lord God, Because thy shame was powred out, and thy filthines discovered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them, 37 Behold, therefore I will gather all thy louers, with whome thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, and all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and wil discover thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

38 And I will iudge thee after the manner of them that are harlots, & of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie.

39 I will also giue thee into their handes, and they shall destroy thine hie place, and shall breake downe thine high places: they shall stripp thee also out of thy cloathes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee thorow with their swords, 41 And they shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgments vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

42 So wil I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my ielousie shal depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembred the daies of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue brought thy way vpon thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

44 Behold, all that vse prouerbes, shall vse this prouerb against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forlooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her daughters that dwell at thy left hand, and thy younger sister that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither shee nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore and needie.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away as pleased me.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed halfe thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast justified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast justified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: bee thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast justified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the mids of them,

54 That thou maist beare thine own shame, and maist be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them, 55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state. Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, & when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom I was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride, 57 Before thy wickednes was discovered, as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about her which despise thee on all sides.

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednes, and thine abomination, saith the Lord.

59 For thus sayeth the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when thou diddest despise the oath, in breaking the covenant.

The parable of the two Eagles.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, put forth a parable, and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great eagle with great wings, and long wings, and full of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twig, and caried it into the land of ^bmerchants, and set it in a citie of merchants.

5 Hee tooke also of the ^cseede of the land, and plantid it in a fruitfull ground: hee placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, & was ^dlike a spreading vine of ^elow stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it, so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also ^fanother great eagle with great wings, and many fethers, and behold, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that she might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was plantid in a good soyle by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruit, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall ^hhe not pull vp the roots thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people to pluck it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Behold, it was plantid: but shall it prosper? shall it not bee dried vp and wither? when the East wind shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say nowe to this rebellious house, Knowe yee not what these things ^gmeane? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken ^kthe king thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel,

13 And hath taken ^lone of the Kings seede, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken an oath of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land, 14 That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But hee rebelled against him, and sent his Ambassadors into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape, that doth such things? or shall hee breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, hee shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose oath hee despised, and whose couenant ^mmade with him, he brake.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with ⁿhis mightie hoste, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the oath, and broken the couenant (yet loe, hee had giuen ^mhis hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I will surely bring mine oath that he hath despised, and my couenant that hee hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 * And I will spread my net vpon him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespasses that hee hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shall bee scattered toward all the windes, and ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus sayth the Lord God, I will also take off the top ^oof this hie cedar, and will cut it, and cut off the ^ptop of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an high mountaine and great.

23 ^qEuen in the hie mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughes and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birdes, and euery foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the ^rtrees of the field shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the high tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

C H A P. XVIII.

2 Hee sheweth that every man shall beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that amendeth, is saluation promised. 24 Death is prophesied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THE word of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying,

2 What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying,

* The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, yee shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, all foules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

13 Or hath giuen foorth vpon vsury, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing he hath done these abominations, hee shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like,

18 His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquity of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgment and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 * The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousness of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednes of the wicked shall be vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that he hath committed, and keepe all my statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be mentioned vnto him, but in his * righteousness that hee hath done, he shall liue.

23 ¶ Have I any desire that the wicked should die, sayth the Lord God? or shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his * righteousness that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that hee hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet yee say, The way of the Lord is not equall: heare now, O house of Israel, Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie, that he hath done.

27 Againe when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, hee shall saue his soule aliuie.

28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue and shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, sayth the Lord God: returne therefore and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not bee your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby yee haue transgressed, and make *y*ou a new heart and a new spirit: for why wilt ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, sayth the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that hee will answer them when they pray, because of their unkindnes. 33 He promisseth that his people shall returne from captiuitie. 46 By the Forrest that should be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

^a Of the captiuitie of Iecaniah.

And in the ^aseuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and late before me.

^b This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemne them.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

^c I sweareth that I would be their God, which manner of oath was obserued from all antiquitie, where they vsed to lift vp their hands toward the heauen acknowledging God to be the author of truth, and the defender thereof, and also the iudge of the heart, wishing that hee should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be truth.

3 Sonne of man speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answer you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause ^bthem to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, in the day when I chose Israel, and ^clift vp mine hand vnto the seed of the house of Iakob, and made my selfe knowne vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayd, I am the Lord your God, and made my selfe knowne vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayd, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and honie, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, ^dand defile not your selues with the idols of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

^d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idols, Exod. 23. 13. Psal. 16. 4.

8 But they rebelled against me, and would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idols of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my ^fName, that it should not bee polluted before the heathen among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowne vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

^f God had respect to his glory, that he would not haue his Name euill spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserved, in consideration whereof the godly our prayers for Exod. 32. 11. Num. 14. 13.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness, ^g Iud. 18. 5. Galat. 3. 2. Exod. 20. 8. and 31. 13. deni. 5. 12.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them.

12 Moreouer I gaue them also my ^hSabbaths to be a signe betweene me and them, that they might knowe that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man do, he shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them ⁱin the wilderness to consume them,

^h Num. 14. 38. 29. and 26. 65. ⁱ Who might thereby take an occasion to blaspheme my Name and to accuse me of lacke of ability or else that I had fought a meanes to destroy them more commodiously.

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the ^kheathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

^k That is, my true religion, which I had commanded them, and gaue them selfes to serue me according to their owne fantasies.

15 Yet neuerthelesse, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and honie, which was pleasant about all lands,

16 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my ^lSabbaths: for their heart went after their idols, ^l Whereby the Holy Ghost comforteth them that say that they will follow the religion and example of their fathers, and not measure their doings by Gods word, whether they be approvable thereof by or no.

17 Neuerthelesse, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wilderness, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your fathers, neither obserue their manners, nor defile your selues with their idols.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them,

10 And Sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betweene me and you, that yee may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them; which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, & to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Neuertheless, I withdrew mine hand, and had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreys.

24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I gaue them also statutes, that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue.

26 And I polluted them in their owne giftes, in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the end, that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grievously transgressed against me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweet sauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

29 Then I said vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the maner of your fathers? and commit yee not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, and make your sonnes to passe thorow the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will not answere you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that bee done that cometh into your minde: for ye say, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood, and stone.

33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, & in my wrath powred out,

34 And I will bring you from the people, and wilgather you out of the countreys wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I will bring you into the wilderness of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rodde, and will bring you into the bond of the couenant.

38 And I will chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, Goe you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land serue me: there wil I accept them, & there will I require your offerings, and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweet sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shall yee remember your wayes, and all your workes, wherein yee haue bene defiled, and ye shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off for all your euils, that yee haue committed.

44 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

45 Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward the South, and propheticke toward the forest of the field of the South,

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the worde of the Lorde: thus sayth the Lorde God, Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the greene wood in thee, and all the dry wood: the continuall flame shall not be quenched, and euery face from the South,

³ He threatneth the sword, and destruction to Ierusalem. ²⁵ He sheweth the fall of King Zedekiah. ²⁸ He is commaunded to prophesie the destruction of the children of Ammon. ³⁰ The Lord threatneth to destroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

The word of the Lord came to me againe, saying,

^a Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel,

^b And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, and will draw my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the ^b righteous and the wicked.

⁴ Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sword goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the ^c North,

⁶ Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, in the paine of thy ^d reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

⁷ And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answer, Because ^e of the brute: for it commeth, and euery heart shall melt, and all handes shall bee weake, and all mindes shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: behold, it commeth, and shall bee done, sayth the Lord God.

⁸ ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

¹¹ And he hath giuen it to be fourbished, that hee may handle it: this sword is sharpe, and is fourbished, that he may giue it into the hand of the ⁱ slayer.

¹² Crie, and howle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the princes of Israel: the terrours of the sword shall be vpon my people: ^k finite therefore vpon thy thigh.

¹³ For it is a triall, ^l and what shall this be, if the sword contemne euen the rod? It shall be no more, sayth the Lord God.

¹⁷ I will also smite mine handes together, and will cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it.

¹⁸ ¶ The word of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

¹⁹ Also, thou sonne of man, appoint thee ^o two wayes, that the sword of the king of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one land, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie.

²⁴ Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because yee haue made your iniquitie to be remembered, in discouering your rebellion, that in all your workes your sinnes might appeare: because, ^u I say, that yee are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

²⁵ And thou ^v prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquity shall haue an end, ²⁶ Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the ^w diademe, and take off the crowne: this shall be no more the same: I will exalt the humble, and will abase him that is hie.

²⁷ I wil ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall be no more vntill he ^x come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

³⁰ Shal I cause it to returne into his sheath? lies, yet thou shalt as surely come, as though thou werest already vpon their necks. I will ⁿ Provide for thy selfe: for thou shalt see Gods plague of all parts on this country.

^o This was spoken, because that when Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, his purpose was also to goe against the Ammonites: but doubting in the way, which enterprise to undertake first, he consulted with his soothsayers, and so went against Iudah.

^p That is, to the tribe of Iudah that kept themselves in Ierusalem.

^q To know whether hee should goe against the Ammonites or them of Ierusalem.

^r Hee used consulting and forcerie.

^s Because there was a league between the Iewes and the Babylonians, they of Ierusalem shall thinke nothing less than that this thing should come to passe.

^t That is, Nebuchad-nezzar will remember the rebellion of Zedekiah, and so come vpo them.

^u Meaning, Zedekiah, who practised with the Egyptians to make himselfe hie, and able to resist the Babylonians.

^v Some referre this to I Priestly attire: for Iehozadak the Priest went into captiuitie with the king.

^w That is, vnto the coming of Messiah: for though the Iewes had some signe of government afterward vnder the Persians, Greeks, and Romans, yet this restitution was not till Christes coming, and at length should be accomplished, as was promised, Gen. 49. 10.

^x Though the Iewes and Ammonites would not beleue that thou, to wit, the sword, should come vpon them, and said that the Prophets which threatened, spake

^a Speake sensibly, that all may vnderstand.

^b That is, such which seeme to haue an outward shew of righteousness, by obseruation of the ceremonies of the Law.

^c Meaning, throughout all the land.

^d As though thou were in extreme anguish.

^e Because of the great noise of the armie of the Caldeans.

^f And so cause a feare.

^g Meaning, the icepter: shewing that it will not spare the king who should be as the sonne of God, and in his place.

^h That is, the rest of the people.

ⁱ To wit, vnto the armie of the Caldeans.

^k Reade Iere, 31. 19.

^l Ezekiel moued with compassion, thus complaineth, fearing the destruction of the kingdom which God had confirmed to David, and his posteritie by promise: which promise God performed, although here it seemed to mans eye that it should utterly perish.

^m That is, encourage the sword.

I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, even in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beaſtly men, and ſkilfull to deſtroy.

32 Thou ſhalt be in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood ſhalbe in the middes of the land, and thou ſhalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord haue ſpoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

Ierusalem is reprooued for crueltie. 23 Of the wicked doctrine of the ſaſe prophets and prieſts, and of their vnſatiable couetouſneſſe. 27 The tyrannie of rulers. 29 The wickedneſſe of the people.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Now thou ſonne of man, wilt thou iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou ſhew her all her abominations?

3 Then ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, The citie ſhedderh blood in the middes of it; that her time may come, and maketh idoles againſt her ſelfe to pollute her ſelfe.

4 Thou haſt offended in thy blood, that thou haſt ſhed, and haſt polluted thy ſelfe in thine idoles, which thou haſt made, and thou haſt cauſed thy dayes to draw neere; and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreyes.

5 Thoſe that be neere, and thoſe that be farre from thee, ſhall mocke thee, which art vile in name, and fore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Iſrael euery one in thee was ready to his power, to ſhed blood.

7 In thee haue they deſpiſed father and mother: in the middes of thee haue they oppreſſed the ſtranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherleſſe and the widow.

8 Thou haſt deſpiſed mine holy things, and haſt polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carie tales to ſhed blood: in thee are they that eat vpon the mountaines: in the middes of thee they commit abomination.

10 In thee haue they diſcouered their fathers ſhame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly deſiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne ſiſter, even his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to ſhed blood: thou haſt taken vſurie and the increaſe, and thou haſt defrauded thy neighbour by extortion, and haſt forgotten me, ſayth the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore I haue ſmiten mine hands vpon thy couetouſneſſe, that thou haſt vſed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be ſtrong, in the dayes that I ſhall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue ſpoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will ſcatter thee among the heathen, and diſperſe thee in the countreyes, and will cauſe thy filthineſſe to ceaſe from thee.

16 And thou ſhalt take thine inheritance in thy ſelfe in the ſight of the heathen, and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

18 Sonne of man, the houſe of Iſrael is vnto me as drosse: all they are braſſe, and tin, and yron, and leade in the middes of the furnace: they are even the drosse of ſiluer.

19 Therefore, thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye are all as drosse, behold, therefore I will gather you in the middes of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather ſiluer & braſſe, and yron, and leade, and tinne into the middes of the furnace, to blow the fire vpon it to melt it, ſo will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and I will put you there and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I ſay, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you ſhall bee melted in the middes thereof.

22 As ſiluer is melted in the middeſt of the furnace, ſo ſhall ye be melted in the middes thereof, and ye ſhall know that I the Lord haue powdered out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

24 Sonne of man, ſay vnto her, Thou art the land, that is vncleane, and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conſpiracie of her prophets in the middes thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured ſoules: they haue taken the riches & precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the middes thereof.

26 Her Prieſts haue broken my Law, and haue deſiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy & prophane, neither diſcerned betweene the vncleane and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in the middes thereof are like wolues, rauening the pray to ſhed blood, and to deſtroy ſoules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered mortar, ſeeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord God, when the Lord hath not ſpoken.

29 The people of the lande haue violently oppreſſed by ſpoiling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needie: yea, they haue oppreſſed the ſtranger againſt right.

30 And I ſought for a man among them, that ſhould make vp the hedge, and ſtand in the gappe before me for the land, that I ſhould

1 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them: and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I readed vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII

Of the idolatry of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother.

3 And they committed fornication^a in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teates of their virginities.

4 And the names of them were Aholah the elder, & Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names, Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah plaied the harlot when she was mine, & she was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blew silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant young men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Thus shee committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whom shee doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginities, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discovered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, and she had an euill name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah saw this, she maned her selfe with inordinate loue, more then she, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 She doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers iutes, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant yong men.

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort,

14 And that shee increased her fornications: for when she saw men painted vpon the wall, the images of the Chaldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with died attire vpon their heads

16 Assoone, I say, as she saw them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and shee was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So shee discovered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredome more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For she doted vpon their seruants, whose members are as the members of asses, & whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednesse of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Chaldeans, Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horses.

24 Euen these shall come against thee with charrets, wagons, and wheelles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall cary away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednes to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them, whom thou hatest: euen into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications shall be discovered, both thy wickednesse, and thy whoredome.

^a Meaning, Israel and Iudah, which came both out of one family.

^b They became idolaters after the manner of the Egyptians.

^c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in her selfe, meaning Samaria, which was the royall city of Israel: and Aholibah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby is meant Ierusalem where Gods Temple was.

^d Ebr. under me. When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsooke God, and put their trust in the Assyrians.

^e The holy Ghost with these termes, which seeme strange to chaste eares, to cause this wicked vice of idolatrie to be abhorred, that whome any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned.

^f Meaning, the Assyrians.

^g This declareth yno words are able sufficiently to expresse the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghost here compareth them to those which in their raging loue and filthy lusts doted vpon the images & paintings of them after whom they lust.

^h These were the names of certaine princes and captaines vnder Nebuchadnezzar.

ⁱ Ebr. I will give iudgement by fire.

^j They shall destroy thy Princes and Priests with the rest of thy people.

^k All thy treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labour.

^l All the world shall see thy shameful forsaking of God to serue idoles.

30. I will do these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idols.

31. Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her cup into thine hand.

32. Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33. Thou shalt be filled with drunkenness and for we, even with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34. Thou shalt even drinke it, and wring it out to the dregs, & thou shalt break the sheards thereof, & reare thine owne breasts: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35. Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast mee behind thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse, and thy whoredome.

36. ¶ The Lord said moreover vnto me, Son of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37. For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their meat.

38. Moreover thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39. For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the mids of mine house.

40. And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from farre vnto whome a messenger was sent, and loe, they came: for whom thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments.

41. And satest vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, wherupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42. And a voice of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of Saba from the wilderness, which put bracelets vpon their handes, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

43. Then I said vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now shall shee and her fornications come to an end.

44. And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45. And the righteous men they shal iudge them, after the maner of harlots and after the maner of murderers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

46. Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God, I wil bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoyle, 47. And the multitude shal stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shal slay their sonnes and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

48. Thus will I cause wickednes to cease out of the land, that all women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse.

49. And they shall say your wickednesse vpon you, and yee shal beare the finnes of your idoles, and yee shall know that I am the Lord God.

¶ He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. The parable of Ezekiel's wife being dead.

A Gaine in the ninth yere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying, ¶ Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

¶ Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

¶ Gather the pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, as she thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

¶ Take one of the best sheepe, and burne also the bones vnder it, and make it boile well, and seeth the bones of ir therein,

¶ Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloodie citie, even to the pottle, whose skum is therein, and whose skum is not gone out of it: bring it out piece by piece: let no lot fall vpon it.

¶ For her blood is in the mids of her: shee set it vpon a high rock, and powred it not vpon the ground to couer it with dust,

¶ That it might cause wrath to arise and take vengeance: even I haue set her blood vpon an hie rocke that it should not be couered.

¶ Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Woe to the bloody city, for I will make it the burning great.

¶ Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

¶ Then set it emptie vpon the coales thereof, that the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skumme of it may be consumed.

¶ She hath wearied herselfe with lies, and her great skum went not out of her: therefore her skum shall be consumed with fire.

15 Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, behold, I take away from thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shalt thy teares run downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, nor bidde the aire of thine heade vpon thee, and put on thy shooes vpon thy feet, and couer not thy lips, and eate & not the bread of men.

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 22 And ye shall doe as I haue done: ye shall not couer your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tire shall be vpon your heads, and your shooes vpon your feet: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, & mourne one toward another, 24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall doe: and when this cometh, yee shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day, when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honour is the pleasure of their eyes, & the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, 26 That he that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea, and the Philistims.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and propheticke against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saydest, He, he, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went in to captivity, 4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruit, and they shall drinke thy milke.

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepestore, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feet, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, & will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, & I will rot thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countries, & I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore Behold, I will open the side of Moab, even of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant country, Beth-jeshimon, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will exercise iudgement vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, & hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, & destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fell by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselves with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred,

C H A P. XXVI.

He prophesieth that Tyrus shall be overthrowen because it rejoiced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondering and astonishment of the merchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

AND in the eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be replenished,

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the Sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the middes of the Sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall bee a spoile to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, a king of kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, & with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheelles, and of the charets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hooues of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streetes: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall rob thy riches, and spoile thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber, and thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt bee for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall: and at the crye of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murdered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments, and shall clothe themselves with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground, and be astonished at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renowned citie, which was strong in the sea both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people of old time, and shall set thee in the lowe parts of the earth, like the old ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the land of the liuing, 21 I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou bee sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

2 The word of God against the King of Tyrus for his pride.

21 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promiseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast said, I am a god, I sit in the seate of God in the middes of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and I thought thou didst thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God,

3 Behold, thou art wiser then Daniel: there is no secret, that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisdom and thine vnderstanding, thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and siluer into thy treasures.

¶ Or, came in company toward thee.

¶ Or, ruine. 1 That is, Nebuchad-nassar.

m That is, the cities nere about thee, as was Zidon, Arvad and others.

n Whereby is meant a long time: for it was prophesied to be destroyed but fiftie yeres, as Isa. 23. 15.

a I am saith that none can come to hurt me, as God is in the heaven. b Thus helpeth by derision: for Daniel had declared notable signes of his wisdom in Babylon, when Ezekiel wrote this.

5 By thy great wisdom and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou didst thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equal with God,

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, even the terrible nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beautie of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightness.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them that are slaine in the mids of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say then before him that slayeth thee, I am a God? but thou shalt be a man, and no God in the handes of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the ^c vncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the king of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of ^d wisdom and perfite in beautie.

13 Thou hast beene in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze and the diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, the emeraud, and the carbuncle and golde: the workmanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the ^e anointed Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee ^f in honor: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the mids of the ^g stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfite in thy wayes from the day that thou wast ^h created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they haue filled the mids of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the ⁱ mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub, from the mids of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness. I wil cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy ^k sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, & by the iniquity of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire fro the mids of thee, which shal deuoure thee: & I wil bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shal be astonish'd at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 ¶ Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophetic against it, 22 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will bee glorified in the middes of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streetes, and the slaine shall fall in the middes of her: ^m the enimie shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shal be ⁿ sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwel in the land that I haue giuen to my seruant Iacob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all round about them that despise them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord their God.

5 And I will leaue thee in thee ^d wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meate to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of the heauen.

The destruction of Egypt and the cities thereof.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Howle and crie, Woe bee vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe.

5 Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword. a By Phut and Lud are meant Africa & Lybia.

6 Thus sayeth the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the tower of Seuenesh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God, b Which was a strong city of Egypt, Chap. 29. 10.

7 And they shall be desolate in the mids of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers goe soorth from me in ships, to make the carelesse Mores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For hee and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers dry, and sell the land into the handes of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is, by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt: c Or, Memphis, or Alkair.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No. d Or, Tanis.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon Sin, e Or, Pelusium. which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of Sin. f Or, Alexandria.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorow, and No shall be destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorrowes daily.

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall be desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because he hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it.

10 Behold, therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate, from the towre of Seuenesh, euen vnto the borders of the blacke Mores.

11 No foote of man shall passe by it, nor foot of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourtie yeeres.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the mids of the countreys, that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate, for fourtie yeeres: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the country.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God. At the end of fourtie yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered.

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there a small kingdome.

15 It shall be the smallest of the kingdomes, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more aboute the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they know, that I am the Lord God.

17 In the seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his armie to serue a great seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made bald, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had hee no wages, nor his armie for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel: & he shall take her multitude, and spoile her spoile, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages of his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that hee serued against it, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to grow, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the mids of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

|| Or, shake.

19 And I will execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the fiftenth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh King of Egypt: and loe, it shall not be bound vp to be healed: neither shall they put a route to bind it, and so make it strong, to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will breake his arme, that was strong, but it is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shall cast out fighings, as the fighings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall know that I am the Lord: when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, & disperse them among the countreys, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

C H A P. XXXI.

2 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians, 10 He prophesieth a like destruction to them both.

And in the eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very high, and his top was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, & the deepe exalted him on high with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her little riuers vnto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted about all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the field bring forth their young, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mighty nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was in deepe waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chestnut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, 11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the field shall be vpon his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall be exalted by their height, neither shall shooe vp their top among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that go down to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went down to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I covered the deepe for him, and I did restrain the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwell vnder his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast down with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the vncircumcised with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

A propheticie of Ezekiel. Against Egypt.

CHAP. XXXII.
The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. The propheticie that destruction shall come vpon Egypt the eighth day of the month.

And in the twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, in the first day of the moneth the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying, Son of man, take vp lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, & say vnto him, Thou art like a lion of the nations, and art as a dragon in the sea: thou calledst out thy riuers, and troubldest the waters with thy feet; and stampedst in their riuers.

Thus saith the Lord God, I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

Then will I leave thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I will cause all the fowles of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all the beastes of the field with thee.

And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleys with thine height. I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou swimdest, and the mountaines, and the riuers shall be full of thee.

And when I shall spit thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: I will couer the sunne with a cloud, and the moon shall not giue her light.

All the lightes of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring darkness vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreies which thou hast not known.

Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their Kings shall be astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

By the swords of the mighty wil I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

I will destroy also all the beastes thereof from the great water sides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hooves of beast trouble them.

Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oile, saith the Lord God.

When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, & the country with all that is therein, shall be laid waste: when I shall finite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

In the twelfth yeere also in the thirteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them downe, even them and the daughters of the mighty nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that go downe into the pit.

Whome dost thou passe in beautie? goe downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.

They shall fall in the mids of them that are slaine by the sword: she is deliuered to the sword: drawe her downe, and all her multitude.

The most mighty and strong shall speake to him, out of the middes of hell, with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that bee slaine by the sword.

Althurs is there, and all his companie: their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword.

Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which caused feare to bee in the land of the liuing.

There is Elam, and all his multitude round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselves to be feared in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with all his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sword: though they haue caused their feare in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are laid in the mids of them that be slaine.

There is Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude, their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sword, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

And they shall not lie with the valiant of the vncircumcised that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue laid their swords vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall be vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mighty in the land of the liuing.

Yea, thou shalt be broken in the mids of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sword.

31 Pharaoh shal see them, and hee shall be comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

32 For I haue caused my feare to be in the land of the liuing: and hee shall be layd in the mids of the vncircumcised with them that are slaine by the sword euen Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The office of the gouernours and ministers. 14 He strengtheneth them that despaire; and boldeneth them with the promise of mercie. 30 The word of the lord against the workers of the Prophet.

Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man from among them, and make him their watchman.

3 If when hee seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people.

4 Then hee that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come and take him away, his blood shalbe vpon his owne head.

5 For hee heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shal be vpon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood will I requier at the watchmans hand.

7 So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shal say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, & admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I requier at thine hand.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou shalt deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speake and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes be vpon vs, and we are consumed because of them, how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way & liue: turne you, turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednes of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednes, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall bee no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Againe, when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sinne, and do that which is lawfull & right, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that hee had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that hee hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that which is lawfull, and right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, hee shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednes, and doe that which is lawfull & right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall. O yee house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yere of our captiuitie in the tenth moneth, & in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten.

22 Now the hand of the Lord had beene vpon me in the euening afore he that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth vntil he came to me in the morning, and when he had opened my mouth, I was no more dumb.

23 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, and said, 24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, Abraham was but one, and he possessed the land: but wee are many, therefore the land shalbe giuen vs in possession.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepheards that despise the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord sayth that hee will visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together.

23 He promisseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying.

2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the shepheards of Israel, prophecie and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepheards, * Woe be vnto the shepheards of Israel, that feede themselves: should not the shepheards feede the flockes?

3 Ye eate the fat, and ye clothe you with the wolle: ye kill them that are fedde, but yee feede not the sheepe

4 The weake haue ye not strengthened, the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue yee bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue ye fought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: & when they were disperfed, they were deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered through all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered through all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the field, hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fed themselves, and fed not my sheepe.

9 Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feed themselves any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flocke, when he hath beene among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bin scattered in the cloudy & darke day.

13 And I will bring them out fro the people, and gather them from the countreys, and will bring them to their owne land, and feed them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feed them in a good pasture, and vpon the high mountaines of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, sayth the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake: but I will destroy the far and the strong, and I will feede them with iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I iudge betweene sheepe, and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you: to haue eaten vp the good pasture, but yee must treade downe with your feete the residue of your pasture? and to haue drunke of the deepe waters; but yee must trouble the residue with your feete?

19 And my sheepe eate that which ye haue troden with your feete: and drinke that which yee haue troubled with your feete.

20 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I, even I will iudge betweene

28 And they shall no more bee spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land deuoure them: but they shall dwell safely and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a plant of renoume, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, even the house of Israel are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And yenny sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

Moreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquitie had an end;

6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou ^chate blood, even blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hills, and in thy valleys, and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shall not ^dreturne, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, ^eThese two nations, and these two countreys shall be mine, and wee will possesse them (seeing the Lord was ^fthere)

11 Therefore, as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will euē doe according to thy ^gwrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe known among ^hthem when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt know that I the Lorde haue heard al thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountains of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against mee, and haue multiplied your words against me: I haue heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and al Idumea wholly, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promisseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles, 22 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their desertings. 26 God reneweth our hearts, that we may walke in his commandments.

Also thou son of man, prophesie vnto the mountains of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the ^aenemie hath said against you, Aha, even the ^bhie places of the world are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that yee might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lips and ^ctongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people,

4 Therefore yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers and to the valleys, and to the waste, and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

* Chap. 6. 2.

^a That is, the Idumean.
^b That is, Ierusalem, which for Gods promises was the chiefeft of all the world.

^c Yes are made a matter of talke and derision to all the world.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which haue taken my land for their possession, with the joy of all their heart, and with despitefull minds, to cast it out for a pray.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hills, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the shame of the heathen.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall shoote forth your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For behold, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shall be tilled & sowed.

10 And I will multiply the men vpon you, each all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase, and bring fruit, and I will cause you to dwell after your old estate, and I will bestow benefites vpon you more then at the first, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon you, even my people Israel, and they shall possesse you, and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth deprive them of men.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou land deuourest vp men, and hast beene a wastel of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God, 15 Neither wil I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were disperfed through the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holy Name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreies, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane water vpon you, and yee shall be cleane: from all your filthinesse, & from all your idoles wil I cleanse you.

26 A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stonie heart out of your body, and I will give you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And yee shall dwell in the land that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I wil multiply the fruit of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall yee remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selues worthe to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Bee it knowne vnto you that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O yee house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall be tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they said, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then

d They appointed with themselves to haue it, and therefore came with Nebuchad-nexzar against Ierusalem for this purpose, p Yee shall come to true repentance, and thinke your selues unworthy to be of the number of Gods creatures for your ingratitude against him.

26 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, & plant the desolate places: I the Lord have spoken it, and will doe it.

27 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this bee sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will increate them with men like a flocke.

28 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

16 He brought the vision of the ten tribes with him.

1 He hand of the Lord was vpon me, and carried me one in the Spirit of the Lord, and set me downe in the mids of the field, which was full of bones.

2 And he led me round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very dry.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God thou knowest.

4 Again he said vnto mee, Prophecie vpon these bones, and say vnto them, O yee dry bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter in to you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh grow vpon you, & couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophecied, as I was commanded: and as I prophecied, there was a noyse, and behold, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, loe, the sinewes, and the flesh grew vpon them, and about the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde: prophecie sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus sayth the Lord God, Come from the foure windes, O breath, and breathe vpon these flaine, that they may liue.

10 So I prophecied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, & our hope is gone away, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecie, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your gaues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israel, 13 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchres.

14 And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then yee shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

16 Moreover, thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions.

17 And thou shalt ioyn them one to another into one tree, they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answer them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take a tree of Ioseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and will put them with him, even with the tree of Iudah, & make them one tree, and they shall be one in mine hand.

20 And the pieces of wood, whereon thou writest, shall be in thine hand in their sight.

21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they bee gone, and will gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, vpon the mountaines of Israel, * and one king shall be king to them all: and they shall be no more two people, neither be diuided any more henceforth into two kingdomes.

23 Neither shall they be polluted any more with their idols, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And Dauid my * seruant shall be king ouer them, and they shall haue one shepherd: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.

25 And they shall dwell in the land, that I haue giuen vnto Iakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, even they, and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid shall be their prince for euer.

26 Moreover, I will make * a couenant of peace with them: it shall be an euerlasting couenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my Sanctuary among them for euermore.

27 My Tabernacle also shall be with them:

c That is, when I haue brought you out of those places, & townes where you are captiues.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

He prophesies that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

ANd this word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Son of man, set thy face against Gog, and against the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesie against him

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal,

4 And I will destroy thee, and put hookes in thy chawes, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine holste, both horses, and horsemen, all clothed with all sorts of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers, and shields, all handling fwores.

5 Thy of Paras, of Cassi, and Phut with them, euen all they that beare shield and helme.

6 Gomer and all his bands, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bands, and much people with thee.

7 Prepare thy selfe, and make thee ready, both thou, and all thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their safeguard.

8 After many dayes thou shalt be visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bene destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel; which haue long lien waste: yea, they haue been brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloud to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy mind, and thou shalt thinke euill thoughts.

11 And thou shalt say, I will goe vp to the land that hath no walled towres: for I will go to them that are at rest, and dwell in safetie, which dwell all without wals, and haue neither barres nor gates, 12 Thinking to spoyle the pray, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattell and goods, and dwell in the mids of the land.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarshish, with all the Lyons therof shall say vnto thee, Art thou come to spoyle the pray? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a bootie? to cary away siluer & gold, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoyle a great pray?

14 Therefore, Son of man, prophesie, and say vnto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwelleth safe, shalt thou not know it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mighty armie.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloud to couer the land: thou shalt bee in the latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my land, that the heathen may know me, when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Am not thou he of whom I haue spoken in old time, by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation, and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall bee a great shaking in the land of Israel;

20 So that the fishes of the Sea, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the field, and all chat mooue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall be overthrowen, and the staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people that are with him, a fore raine and haile stones, fire and brimstone.

23 Thus will I bee magnified and sanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

He sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog. 11 The graves of Gog and his holste. 17 They shall be deuoured of birds and beasts. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

THEREFORE, thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee, and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and wil cause thee to come vp from the North parts, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bow out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands, and the people that a Which was a people that came of Magog, the sonne of Iaphet. f That is, to molest and destroy the Church. g Meaning, Israel which had now bene destroyed, and was not yet built againe: declaring hereby the simplicity of the godly, who seeke not so much to fortifie themselves by outward force, as to depend on the prouidence and goodnesse of God.

h One enemy shall enuie another, because euery one shall thinke to haue the spoyle of the Church.

i Shalt not thou spee thine occasions to come against my Church when they suspect nothing?

k Meaning, in the last age, and from the coming of Christ vnto the end of the world.

l Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintaining his Church, and destroying his enemies, as Chap. 36. 23. and 37. 28.

m Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, where they haue not beene aduersed aforetime, to teach them to endure all things with more patience when they know that God hath so ordained.

n All meanes whereby man should thinke to save himselfe shall faile, the affliction in those dayes shall be so great, and the enemies destruction shall be so terrible. o Against the people of Gog and Magog.

* Chap. 36. 23. and 37. 28.

Or destroy thee with sixe plagues, as Chap. 38. 22.

b Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods word the enemy shall be destroyed where-foeuer he stirreth his Church.

that is with thee: for I will give thee into the birds, and to every feathered fowle and beast of the field to be devoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the Isles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name known in the mids of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the Holy one of Israel.

8 Behold, it is come, and it is done, sayth the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall goe forth and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, & on the shields and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staves in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall rob those that robbed them; and spoyle those that spoyled them, sayth the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog a place there for buriall in Israel, in the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stop their noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-Gog.

12 And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel bee burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall burie them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, sayth the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to goe continually through the land with them that trauaile, to bury those that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seuen moneths.

15 And the traualiers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall be Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, Speake vnto every feathered fowle, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that yee may cate flesh, and drinke blood.

18 Yee shall cate the flesh of the valiant and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullocks, each of all fat beasts of Bashan.

19 And yee shall cate fat till ye be full, and drinke blood till ye be drunken of my sacrifice which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, sayth the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgment that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue laid vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall know, that I am the Lord their God from that day, and so forth.

23 And the heathen shall knowe, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquitie, because they trespassed against mee: therefore hidde I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fel they all by the sword.

24 According to their uncleannesse, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Now will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iacob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy Name.

26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lauds, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations.

28 Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there.

29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple

IN the five and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon me, and brought me thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very hie mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie toward the South.

3 And he brought me thither, and behold, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen threed in his hand, and a reed to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

The heathen shall know that they ouercame not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weaknesse of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples finnes.

4 And the man said vnto mee, Soone of man, behold with thine eyes; and heare with thine eares, & for thine heart vpon al that I shal shew thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest vnto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reed to measure with, of fixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the post of the gate, which was one reed broad, and the other post of the gate, which was one reede broad.

7 And every chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and betwene the chambers were fixe cubits: and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 Hee measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubits, and the post thereof, of two cubits, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the Chambers of the gate Eastward were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the en-trie of the gate ten cubits, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubit on this side, and the space was one cu-bite on that side: and the chambers were fixe cubits, on this side, and fixe cubits on that side.

13 Hee measured then the gate from the rooffe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was fixe and twenty cubits, doore against doore.

14 He made also postes of threescore cu-bites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went round about within: and vpon the postes were palme trees.

17 Then brought he me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers and a pau-ement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then he measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundredth cu-bites Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured hee after the length and breadth thereof.

thereof and the arches thereof were after the fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie

22 And their windowes and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vpon it had seven steppes, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that, hee brought me toward the South, & lo, there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the posts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seven steps to go vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them:
and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side, vpon the postes thereof.

27 And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and hee measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, & the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and five and twentie cubits broad.

30 And the arches round about were five & twenty cubites long, and five cubits broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the viter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 Again he brought me into the inner court toward the East, and hee measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the viter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 After, he brought me to the North gate, and measured it according to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the viter court, & palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And every chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate ~~stood~~ two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate ~~were~~ two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side by the side of the gate, ~~even~~ eight tables whereupon they slewe their sacrifice.

42 And the four tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite high: whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the fingers in the inner Court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

45 And hee said vnto mee, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priests that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the Altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Levi; which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundred cubits long, and an hundred cubits broad, ~~even~~ foure square: likewise the altar ~~that was~~ before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, & measured the posts of the porch, fiue cubits on this side, and fiue cubits on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this side, and three cubits on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twenty cubits, & the breadth eleuen cubits, and he brought me by the steps wherby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the posts, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things thereto belonging.

Afterward he brought me to the Temple, and measured the posts, sixe cubits broad on the one side, and sixe cubits broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

chamber G. goeth out more then the first R. and the third A. more then the second,

2 And the breadth of the entry was ten cubits, and the sides of the entry were fiue cubits on the one side, & fiue cubits on the other side, and he measured the length thereof forty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits.

3 Then went he in, & measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie sixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seven cubites.

4 So he measured the length thereof twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits, before the Temple. And he said vnto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After he measured the wal of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of every chamber foure cubites round about the house, on euery side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foot high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the posts might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting vpward to the chambers for the staire of the house: mounting vpward round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the midst.

8 I saw also the house high round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reed of sixe great cubits.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was fiue cubites, and that which remained was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the widenesse of twentie cubits round about the house on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fiue cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seventy cubits broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubites thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubits.

13 So hee measured the house an hundred cubits long, and the separate place & the building with the walles thereof were an hundred cubits long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house & of the separate place toward the East, was an hundred cubits.

15 And hee measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on North side, opened toward the North V. and they on the South side toward the South R. for there was an alley of fiue cubits round about the Temple V. Z. and was fastened with a wall, 11. Verse 12. 16 The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with Cedar wood round about, and from the ground vnto the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from about the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betwene a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about.

20 From the ground vnto about the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuary.

22 The Altar of wood was three cubites high, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the sides thereof were of wood. And hee sayd vnto mee, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, even two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke planks.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy shings.

Then brought he me into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and hee brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundredth cubites, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubits which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauchment, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubits wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Now the chambers about were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building,

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, even from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundredth cubites.

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicke of the wall of the court toward the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entred.

13 Then sayd hee vnto mee, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they bee holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approach vnto the Lord, shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holie, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people.

15 Now when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, hee brought mee forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 Hee measured the East side with the measuring rod, fise hundredth reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

17 Hee measured also the North side, fise hundredth reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

18 And

Verse 16. Hee declareth that whatsoever was of stone works from the bottom to the top, was sieled with wood on the East, South, and North sides.

Verse 4. This gallery appeareth in the great figure by this number 12. Verse 5. These chambers were contrary fashioned to them of the Temple.

^a Out of the land of promise are there separated foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priests and to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the city, the fourth to the Prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

^a Of the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Priests for the cite and for the prince.

Moreouer when yee shall diuide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an ^a holy portion of the land, five and twentie thousand reeds long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuarie five hundredth in length, with five hundredth in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twentie thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuarie, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall be the Priests, which minister in the Sanctuarie which come nere to serue the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.

5 And in the five and twentie thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.

6 Also yee shall appoint the possession of the city, five thousand broad, and five and twentie thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the city, euery before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shall be his possession in Israel: and my Princes shall no more oppress my people, & thereof of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgment and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, sayth the Lord God.

10 Yee shall haue iust balances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equal: a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shall be after the Homer.

12 * And the shekel shall be twenty Gerahs, and twenty shekels, and ^a five and twenty shekels, and fiftene shekels shall be your Maneh.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the fixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shall giue the fixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euery of the Bath of oyle, yee shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer.)

15 And one lambe of two hundredth sheep out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meat offering, and for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall giue this oblation for the Prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the Princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts and in the new Moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in al the high feasts of the house of Israel: hee shall prepare the sinne offering, and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

CHAP. XLVI.

The sacrifices of the Sabbaths, and of the new Moones. 8
Wherein which dooeth they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court that turneth toward the East, shall be shut the five working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new Moone it shall be opened.

And the Prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the poste of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall goe forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shal worship at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new Moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the Prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall be fixe lambs without blemish, & a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meate offering shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offering for the lambs a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

6 And in the day of the new Moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, & fixe lambs and a ramme: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shal prepare a meate offering, euens an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, & for the lambs according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

8 And when the Prince shal enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feasts, he that entreteth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and hee that entreteth by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shall goe forth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the middes of them: he shall goe in when they goe in, & when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities the meate offering shall bee an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambs, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the Prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shal then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East; and hee shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shal shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the fixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall bee his to the syce of libertie: after, it shall returne to the Prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

18 Moreouer, the Prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession.

19 ¶ After, he brought me through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestes, which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then said he vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shall see the trespasse offering, and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not

22 In the foure corners of the Court there were courts ioyned of fourtie cubites long, and thirte broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there was a wall about them, even about those foure, and kitchens were made vnder the wall round about.

24 Then said he vnto me, This is the kitchen where the ministers of the house shall feede the sacrificers of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple, 1. The confining of the land of promise, and the diuision thereof by Tribes.

1 Afterward he brought me vnto the doore of the house, and behold, waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stood toward the East, and the waters ran downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vter gate, by the way that runneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again, he measured a thousand, and brought mee through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a riuer, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow, as a riuer, that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, & caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer were very many trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then said he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and run downe into the plaine, and shall go into one Sea: they shall runne into another Sea, and the waters shall be wholsome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, wherefoeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shal come thither: for they shall be wholsome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And then the fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto En-eqlaim, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shall be according to their kinds, as the fish of the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But the myrie places thereof, and the marishes thereof shall not be wholsome: they shall be made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall grow all fruitfull trees, whose lease shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his months, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be meat, and the lease thereof shall be for medicine.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, This shall be the border, whereby ye shall inherite the land according to the tribes of Israel: Joseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherite it, one as well as another: concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shall be the border of the land toward the North side, from the maine sea toward Hethlon as men goe to Zedadah.

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibrah, which is betwene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shall be Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shall be the North part.

18 But the East side shall ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the South side shall be toward Teman from Tamar to the waters of Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the inaine sea: so shall be the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shall be the West part.

21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you, as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, they shal part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lot of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priester, of the Temple, of the Lewites, of the ciitie, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

11 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray as the Leuites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shall be theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests, the Leuites shall haue five and twenty thousand long, and tenne thousand broad: all the length shall be five & twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the five and twenty thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the mids thereof.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shall be ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward: and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shall be five and twentie thousand with ^d five and twenty thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the citie.

21 And the residue shall be for the Prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the five and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the five and twenty thousand toward the West border, ouer against shall be for the portion of the Prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the mides thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the city, that which is in the mides shall be the princes: betweene the border of Iudah, and betweene the border of Benjamin shall be the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part, Benjamin shall be a portion.

24 And by the border of Benjamin from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe great providence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most liuely heere set forth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom hee adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel alone all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last ende of the world, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because hee should be the accomplishment thereof: moreover hee sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euermolting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth heere that after that Christ is offered, hee will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah. 4 The King chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his law. 5 They haue the Kings ordinarie appointed, 8 But they abstaine from it.

a Reade 2. King. 24. 1. and Ierem. 25. 1.

b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.

c Who was as master of the wardes.

d Hee calleth them Eunuches whom the King nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countreys after ward.

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shewe himselfe victorious, and also by their good in-treatie and learning of his religion, they might fauor rather him then the Iewes, and so be able to serue him as gouernours in their lande: moreover, by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing other wise to procure hurt to these noble men. f The King required three things, that they should bee of noble birth, that they should bee wittie and learned, and that they should bee of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better seruice: this hee did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praise his liberalitie: yet in this hee is worthy praise, that hee listened to learning, and knew that it was a necessary meane to gouerne by. g That they might forget their owne religion and countrey fashions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to bee thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all poynts hee refused the abuse of things and superstition, in so much that hee would not eate the meate that the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of natural things. h That by their good entertainment they might learne to forget the mediocrity of their owne people. i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the manners of the Caldeans, and also their tongue.

IN the third yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he carried into the land of ^b Shinar, to the house of his god, and hee brought the vessels into his gods treasure.

3 And the King spake vnto ^c Ashpenaz the master of his ^d Eunuches, that he should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the ^e kings seede, and of the princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well ^f fauoured, and instructed in all wisdom, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, & such as were able to stand in the Kings palace, and whom they might teach the ^g learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

5 And the King appointed them prouision euery day of a ^h portion of the Kings meate, and of the wine which hee dranke, so nourishing them ⁱ three yeere, that at the end thereof, they might stand ^k before the King.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not ^m defile himselfe with the portion of the Kings meate, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore hee required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauor, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd vnto Daniel, ⁿ I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make mee lose mine head vnto the King.

11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Proue thy seruants, I beseech thee, ^o ten dayes, and let them giue vs ^p pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, & the countenances of the children that eat of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruants, contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore herein hee representeth them, which are of no religion: for neither hee would condemne theirs nor maintaine his owne. o Meaning, that within this space hee might haue the triall, and that no man should be able to discern it: and thus he spake, being moued by the Spirit of God. p Not that it was a thing abominable to eat dainty meates, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby become wonne to the king, and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The king commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to bee slaine because they could not interpret his dreame. 16 Daniel requirerh time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the king and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof.
44 Of the everlasting kingdome of Christ.

And in the⁶ second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed^b dreames wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his^d sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the king commaunded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians and the forcerers, & the^c Caldeans for to shew the king his dreams: so they came & stood before the king.

3 And the King sayd vnto them, I haue^e dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the^f Aramites language, O king liue for euer:
shew thy seruants thy dreame, and we shall shew the interpretation.

5 And the King answered and said to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye^g shall be drawen in pieces, and your houses shalbe made a iakes.

6 But if ye declare the dreame & the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and said, Let the King shew^h his seruants the dreame, and wee will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the king answered, and said, I know certainly that yeeⁱ would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgment for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes to speake before me til the time be changed: therefore tel mee the dreame, that I may know if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayd, There is no man vpon earth, that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lord that asked such things at an enchanter or astrologian or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwell-

12 For this cause the King was angry and in great fury, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the which was gone forth to put to death the wise

15 Yea, hee answered and said vnto Arioch the kings captain, Why is the sentence so ha-thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the King that hee would giue him leasure, and that hee would shew the King the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house, and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions,

18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reuealed vnto Da-now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the King had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and said thus vnto him, Destroy not ^a the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew mee the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the Astrologians, the Inchanters, nor the Soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in ^o heauen that reueileth secrets, and sheweth the king Nebuchad-nezzar what shall be in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this,

29 O King, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and he that reueileth secrets, telleth thee, what shall come.

30 As ^p for me, this secret is not shewed me for any wiledome that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shew the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and behold, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine ^a gold, his breast, and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legges of yron, and his feet were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to peeces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer, and the gold broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the summer flowers, and the wind caried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory,

38 And in all places where the children of men dwel, the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen hath hee giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all, thou art this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall arise another kingdome, ^a inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another ^b third kingdome shalbe of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shalbe strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in peeces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in ^a peeces, and bruisse all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shalbe ^a diuided, but there shalbe in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay, and earth, they shall mingle themselves with ^a the seede of men: but they shall not ioine one with another, as yron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these Kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which ^a shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shal not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest, that the ^a stone was cut of the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in peeces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer, and the gold: so the great God hath shewed the king, what shal come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and ^b bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the King answered vnto Daniel, and said, I know of a trueth that your ^c God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reuealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

the kingdoms of the world are transitory, and that the kingdome of ^a Christ shall only remaine for euer. a Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not let up by man, whose kingdome at the beginning should be small and without beauty to many soules, but should at length growe and fill the whole earth, which hee calleth a great mountaine, as ver. 35. And this kingdome, which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, shall be eternal: for the spirit that is in them, is life eternal, Rom. 8. 10. b Though this humbling of the King seemed to deserue commendation, yet because hee ioyed Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reprooued, and Daniel herein erreth, hee suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it. c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exodus 9. 27, 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared loone afterwarde. d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren which were grievously oppressed in this their captiuitie, and also hee receiued them, lest hee should offend this cruell king, which willingly gaue them.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as ver. 13. and the rest at Daniels offer, were preserved on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie, because the king proceeded according to his wicked affliction, and not considering, if their science were lawfull or no. o He affirmeth that man by reason and arte is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the understanding onely thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth the king with a certaine feare and reuerence of God, that he might be the more apt to receiue the high mysteries, that should be reueiled. p Because hee had said that God onely must reueile the signification of this dreame, the king might haue asked why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it, and therefore bee sheweth, that he was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory. q By golde, siluer, brasse, and yron, are meant the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian, and Roman kingdome, which should successively rule all the world till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions should not end with the empire of the Caldeans but that they should patiently abide the coming of Messiah, which should be at the ende of this fourth monarchie.

49 Then Daniel made request to the king, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sat in the gate of the King.

CHAP. III.

¹ The King setteth vp a golden image. ⁸ Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commandement, and are put into a burning oven. ²⁵ By belife in God they are deliuered from the fire. ²⁶ Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

Nebuchad-nezzar the King made an image of golde, whose height was three-score cubites, and the breadth thereof sixe cubites: he set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

⁴ Then an herald cryed aloud, Bee it knowne to you, O people, nations, and languages, ⁵ That when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, yee fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King hath set vp.

⁶ And whosoever falleth not downe and worshipping, shall the same houre be cast into the middes of an hote fierie furnace.

⁸ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grievously accused the Iewes.

⁹ For they spake and sayd to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer.

¹⁰ Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of mu-sicke, shall fall downe and worship the golden image, ¹¹ And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshipping, that hee should be cast into the middes of an hote fierie furnace.

sicke, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

¹¹ And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshipping, that hee should be cast into the middes of an hote fierie furnace.

¹⁴ And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image, that I haue set vp?

¹⁵ Now therefore are ye ready when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, to fall downe, & worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediately into the middes of an hote fierie furnace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

¹⁷ Behold, our God whom we serue, is able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie furnace, and he will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O king.

¹⁹ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heare the furnace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat.

²¹ So these men were bound in their coats, their hosen and their cloakes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fierie furnace.

²³ And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie furnace.

²⁴ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king was astonied

^e It seemeth, that they named not Daniel, because hee was greatly in the Kings fauour, thinking if these three had bene destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel; and this declareth that this policie of erecting this image was inuented by the malicious flatterer, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellious and ingratitude.

^f Signifying, that he would receive them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.

^g For they should haue done iniury to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolu'd to die for Gods cause.

^h They ground on two points, first on the power, and providence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatrie.

ⁱ This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew themselves in inuventing strange & cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whom he giueth patience and constancie to abide the crueltie of their punishment: for either hee deliuereth them from death, or els for this life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellencie: therefore the king called this Angel, whome God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the sonne of God.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this furnace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him forth. m He was moued by the greatness of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned without the which there can be no faith. n If this heathen King moued by Gods Spirit would not see blasphemie vnpunished, but made a lawe and set a punishment to such transgressours, much more ought all they that professe religion, take order that such impietie reigne not, lest according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment.

o Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended. p Read Chap. 2. 44.

astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and said vnto his counsellors, Did not we cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered, and said vnto the king, It is true, O king.

25 And hee answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the sonne of God.

26 Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie furnace, and spake and sayd, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the seruants of the high God, goe forth, and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came forth of the middes of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the Kings counsellors came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the kings commandement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be drawn in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar King, vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwel in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signes, and how mightie are his wonders, This kingdome is an euermlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud King hee should become as a beast. 31 After, he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

I Nebuchad-nezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

and what it meant: and here hee onely expoundeth the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans & the soothsayers, to whom I told the dreame, but they could not shew me the interpretation thereof,

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

6 O Belteshazzar, chiefe of the inchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed, And behold, I saw a tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed on it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and behold, a watchman and an Holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cried alowd, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beasts may flee from vnder it, and the fowles from his branches.

12 Neuertheless, leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion bee with the beasts among the grasse of the field.

13 Let his heart bee changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones, the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoever he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar, haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shew me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the that lift vp themselves against God. k Hee was troubled for the great iudgement of God which hee saw ordained against the king: and so the Prophets vied on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory: and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if hee did not regard them with pitie.

c In that that he sent abroad to others who in ignorance in times past had experimented, and left Daniel which was ever ready at hand, it declarereth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer stooke to the seruants of God, but for very necessity, and then they spare no flatterings. d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not only to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God. e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be numbered among the forerers and men whose practices were wicked and contrary to Gods word. f By the tree is signified the dignity of a King, whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kind of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind. g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is ever ready to doe Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is ever holy: and in that that hee commandeth to cut downe this tree, he knewe that it should not be cut down by man, but by God. h Hereby hee meaneth that Nebuchad-nezzar should not onely for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a beast. i God hath decreed this iudgement and the whole armie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselves against God. k Hee was troubled for the great iudgement of God which hee saw ordained against the king: and so the Prophets vied on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory: and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if hee did not regard them with pitie.

king spake and said, Belshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belshazzar answered, and sayd, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beasts of the field dwelt, & vpon whose branches the fowles of the heauē did sit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mightie: for thy greatness is grown, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the king saw a watchman, and an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and said, Hewe downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasie binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, till seuen times passe ouer him, 21 This is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the king.

22 That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou know, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomsoever he will.

23 Whereas they sayd, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdom shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt know, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, & breake off thy sinnes by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: let there be an healing of thine error.

25 All these things shall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king spake and sayd, Is nor this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the word was in the kings mouth, a voice came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee bee it spoken, Thy kingdom is departed from thee.

29 And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoever he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heauen, till his haire was grown as Eagles feathers, and his nailes like birds claws.

31 And at the end of these dayes, I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I praised and honoured him, that liueth for euer, whose power is an everlasting power, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth, and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdom: my glory and my beauty was restored vnto me, and my counsellours and my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdom, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar praise, and extoll and magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all truth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar king of Babylon seeth an hand-writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the king, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The king is slaine. 31 Darius enioyneth the kingdom.

King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar while hee tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wiues and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the lords house at Ierusalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine & praised the gods of gold, and of siluer, of brasie, of yron, of wood and of stone.

5 And the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candellsticke vpon the plaister of the wal of the and vsed excess in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine thus the wicked are most dissolute and negligent, when their destruction is at hand. ¶ Or, overcome with wine. c Meaning, his grandfather. d In contempt of the true God they praised their idoles, nor that they thought, that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue and power in them to doe them good, which is a foolish opinion of all idolaters. e That it might the better be scene.

* Chap. 7. 14. Mich. 4. 7. Luke 1. 33.

f He confesseth the Gods will to be the rule of all iustice, and a most perfect law whereby he governeth both man and Angels and deuils, so that none ought to murmure, or aske a reason of his doings, but onely to stand content therewith and giue him the glory.

g By whom it seemeth that he had bene put from his kingdom before. u He doth not onely praise God for his deliuerance, but also confesseth his fault: that God may onely haue the glory & man the shame, and that he may be exalted and man cast downe.

a Daniel reciteth this history of king Belshazzar full measure of his sinne, to shewe Gods iudgements against the wicked for the deliuerance of his Church, & how the prophecie of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuentie yeeres.

b The Kings of the East parts then vsed to sit alone commonly, and disdained that any should sit in their company: and now to shew his power, and how little he set by his enemies, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemn banquet.

kings palace, and the king sawe the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, & his knees smote one against the other.

f So he that before contemned God, was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements, g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who draw them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions.

7 Wherefore the king cryed loude, that they should bring the Astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the king spake and said to the wise men of Babel, Whosoever can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall bee the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the Kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the king the interpretation.

9 Then was king Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him and his princes were astonied.

h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

10 Now the Queene by reason of the talke of the King and his princes, came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and sayd, O king, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whom the king Nebuchadnezzar thy father, the King I say thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and soothsayers, i Reade Chap. 4. 6. and this declareth, that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that he did not vse these vile practises, because he was not among the when all were called.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for he did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolved doubts) were found in him, even in Daniel; whom the king named Belteshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and hee will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake and said vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

k For the idolaters thought that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophesie, and vnderstanding came of them.

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise men, and astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they should reade this writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, and dissolve doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and said before the King. Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy giftes to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O king, heareth thou, The most hie God gaue vnto Nebuchadnezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiesty, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom he would he set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

l Before he reade the writing, he declareth to the King his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderful works toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that he doth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

20 But when his heart was puffed vp, and his minde hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was driuen from the sonnes of men, & his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the heauen, till hee knew, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoever he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, 23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and gold, of brasie, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is, and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 ¶ Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, Thou art weighed in the balance, and art found too light.

28 PERES, Thy kingdome diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a Proclamation concerning him that hee should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threecore & two yeere olde.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment. n This word is twice written for the certaintie of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselves against him. [Or, wanting.]

o Cyrus his son in law gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler over the gouernours. 5 An acte against Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lions by the commandement of the king. 23 Hee is deliuered by faith in in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put into the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome ¹an hundred and twenty gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accounts vnto them, and the king should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred above the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the king thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for hee was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then sayde these men, Wee shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and said thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king, and to establish a statute, that whoso euer shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirty dayes saue of thee, O King, he shall bee cast into the denne of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree,

10 Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, hee kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praised his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the King concerning the kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree that euery man that shall make a request to any god or man within thirty dayes saue to thee, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions? The king answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and sayd vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these wordes, hee was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel to deliuer him: and he laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and sayd vnto the King, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be altered.

16 Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the King spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and laid vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musick brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 Then the King arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lions.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cried with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel: and the King spake, and said to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God, (whome thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel, and hath shut the lions mouthes, that they haue not hurt me: for my iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done no hurt.

23 Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was brought out of the den, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because he beleued in his God.

24 And by the commandement of the king these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the den of lions, euen they, their childten, and their wiues: and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones a pieces or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

25 Afterward King Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare before the God of Daniel: for hee is the liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shall be euerlasting.

27 Hee rescueth and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle. Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the only fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

f Thus the wicked maintain euill lawes by constancie, and authority, which is y^e times either lightnes, or stubbornnesse, when as the innocents thereby perish, and therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor bee ashamed to breake such. This declarerh that Darius was not roused with the knowledge of Gods power, because he doubted of his power. In his iust cause, and uprightie in this thing wherein I was charged, is approved of God. For he did obey the kings wicked commandement to obey God, and so did no iniurie to the King, who ought to command nothing whereby God should be dishonoured. k Because hee committed himself wholly vnto God, whose cause he did defend, he was assured that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein wee see the power of faith, as tiebr. 11. 33. l This is a terrible example against all the wicked, which doe against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes how to punish such, when their wickednesse is come to light: though not in euery point or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them. m This proueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or else was conuered: for then hee would haue destroyed all superstition and idolatrie, and not onely giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to be honoured according to his word: but this was a certaine

28. So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The tenne hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euermore lasting kingdome of Christ.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continuall quietnes after their fennie years, as Ieremias had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliverance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore encouraged them to look for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vntoed, and resurited, by who they should have a spirituall deliverance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should have a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonian kingdome.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world, and at sundrie times.

c Meaning, the Assyrian and Caldean empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most soone come to their authoritie, as though they had had wings to flye: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

d Meaning, the Persians, which were barbarous and cruell. e They were small in the beginning, and were shut vp in their mountaines, and had no bruit. f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable. g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandment, who by this means punished the ingratitude of the world. h Meaning, Alexander the King of Macedonie. i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the Empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander, and after him Antipater was King of Macedonie, and Ptolemus had Egypt. l It was not of himselfe nor of his owne power, that he gave all these countreys for his arme contained but thirrie thousand men, and hee overcame in one battell Darius, which had tenne hundred thousand, when hee was so heauie with sleepe that his eyes were scarce open, as the stories report: therefore this power was given him of God. 1 That is, the Romane Empire, which was as a monster, and could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. m Signifying the tyrannie and greedinesse of the Romanes. n That which the Romanes could not quietly enjoy in other countreys, they would giue it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called, the stamping of the rest vnder the feete. o This is, fundrie and diuers provinces which were gouerned by the Deputies and Proconsuls, whereof every one might bee compared to a King. p Which is meant of Iulius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudi, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernment, therefore this cannot bee applied vnto them: and also in this prophetic the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole bodie of Antichrist. q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was plucked away, For Augustusooke from the Senate the libertie of choosing the deputies to send into the provinces, and took the gouernment of certaine countreys to himselfe.

IN the first yeere of Belshazzar king of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: then hee wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake and said, I sawe in my vision by night, and behold, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon the great sea.

3 And foure great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a lion, and had eagles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feet as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a beare, and stood vpon the one side: and he had three ribs in his mouth betwene his teeth, and they said thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this I behelde, and loe, there was another like a leopard, which had vpon his backe foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and dominion was giuen him.

7 After this I sawe in the visions by night, and behold, the fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces and stamped the residue vnder his feet: and it was vnlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had ten hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, behold, there came vp among them another little horne, before whome there were three of the first hornes pluckt away: and behold, in this horne were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the thrones were set vp, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fierie flame, and his wheelles as burning fire.

10 A fierie streame issued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministered vnto him, and then thousand thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I beheld euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As concerning the other beastes, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 As I beheld in visions by night, behold, one like the Sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations, and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euermore lasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 I Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so he told me, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

18 And they shall take the kingdome of the saints of the most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 After this, I would know the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so vnlike to all

Monarchie was subiect to men of other nations. 2 As the three former Monarchies had an ende at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth have, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enjoy the promises. a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of David according to the flesh, as being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinitie. b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine maiestie appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that hee was our Mediatour. c This power is meant of the beginning of Christes kingdome, when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that hee should gouerne his Church in earth continually, till the time that hee brought them to eternall life. d Through the strangenesse of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels. f Verse 10. f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Romans 8. 13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right: which these foure beastes, or tyrants should invade and vnto the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length. g That is, of the most high things, because God hath chosen them out of this world, that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth. h For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a King and the Romane Empire by Consuls: the Romanes changed their gouernours yeerely, and the other Monarchies retained them for certaine life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselves.

the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of iron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feete.

20 Also to know of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, &c. of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose looke was more frowne then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the same horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them.

22 Vntill the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall bee the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shal deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten kings that shall arise: and another shall rise after them, and he shalbe vnlike to the first, and he shal subdue three kings.

25 And shall speake wordes against the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that they may change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hand, vntill a time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shalbe giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euermolting kingdome, and all powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

And he shal shorten the times for his elects sake, Manth. 24. 22 which is here meant by the diuiding of time. God by his power shal restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne, that it shal neuer rise vp againe. He sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not fully enjoy here, yet they haue it in hope & by the preaching of the Gospel enjoy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words, vnder the heauen: and therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithful haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head. That is, some of euery sort that beare rule. Though he had many motions in his heart, which moued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet he was content with that which God revealed, and kept it in memory, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betwene a ramme and a goat. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the third yeere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, when vnto me Daniel, after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

After the general vision he cometh to certain particular visions: as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuier of Vlai.

3 Then I looked vp and saw, and behold, there stood before the riuier a ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was higher then another, and the highest came vp last.

4 And I sawe the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no beasts might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, a goat came from the West over the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat had an horn that appeared betwene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuier, and ranne vnto him in his fiercer rage.

7 And I sawe him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goat waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horn was broken: and for it came vp foure that appeared toward the foure windes of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth a little horne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.

10 Yea, it grew vp vnto the hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the stars to the ground, and trode vpon them.

11 And extolled himselfe against the prince of the hoste from whom the dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuary was cast downe.

12 And a time shal be given him ouer the dayly sacrifice for the iniquity: and it shal cast downe the trueth to the ground, and thus shal it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the dayly sacrifice, and the iniquity of the desolation to treade both the Sanctuary and the yarmie vnder foote?

ons, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obtaine this kingdome. That is, toward Egypt. Whereby he meant Ptolemais. That is, Iudea. Antiochus raged against the elect of God, and trode his precious statutes vnder feet, which are so called, because they are separated from the world. That is, God who gouerneth and maintaineth his Church. He laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a little corner from all the rest of the world to haue his Name there truly called vpon. He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whom he would not suffer vnto to abolish his religion. This horne shall abolish for a time the true doctrine and so corrupt Gods seruice. Meaning that he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whom he calleth a certaine one or a secret one, or a marvellous one. That is, the lewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction. That is, which suppresseth Gods religion, and his people.

z Christ answered me for the comfort of the Church.
a That is, vntill for many naturall dayes be past, which make fixe yeeres three months and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophesied.
b Which was Christ, who in this manner declared himselfe to the old fathers how he would be God manifest in the flesh.
c This power to command the Angel, declared that he was God.
d The effect of this vision shall not yet appeare, but a long time after.
e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus should shew against the Church.
f That is, our of Grecia.
g They shal not haue like power as had Alexander.
h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruell, and also craftie that he could not be deceived.
i That is, not like Alexanders strength.
k Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Iewes.
l Whatsoeuer he goeth about by his craft, he shall bring it to passe.
m That is vnder pretence of peace, or as it were in sport.
n Meaning against God.
o For God would destroy him with a notable plague, and so comfort his Church.
p Reade vers 14.
q For feare and astonishment.

14 And he answered me, Vnto the evening and the morning, two thousand and three hundred: then shall the Sanctuary be cleansed.
15 Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, behold, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.
16 And I heard a mans voice between the banks of Vlai, which called, and said, Gabriel, make this man to vnderstand the vision.
17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell vpon my face: but he said vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for in the last time shall be the vision.
18 Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being asleep fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.
19 And he said, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last wrath: for in the ende of the time appointed it shall come.
20 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians.
21 And the goat is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first King.
22 And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdoms, which shal stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength.
23 And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious shall bee consumed, a King of fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.
24 And his power shall be mighty, but not in his strength: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mighty, and the holy people.
25 And through his policie also, hee shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and hee shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand vp against the prince of princes, but hee shall be broken downe without hand.
26 And the vision of the evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many dayes.
27 And I Daniel was stricken and sicke certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the kings businesse, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which hee had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth vnto him the vision of the seenty weekes. 24 The anointing of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

In the first yeere of Darius the sonne of Ahashuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made king ouer the Realme of the Caldeans, a Who was also called Astyages.

b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about warres in other countries, and therefore Darius had the title of the kingdome, though Cyrus was King in effect.

2 I Burn in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seenty yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.
3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and I sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.
4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lord God, which art great and fearefull, and keepest couenant and mercie toward them which loue thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandments.
5 Wee haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly: yea, wee haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.
6 For we would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.
7 O Lord, righteousnesse belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs open shame, as appeareth this day, to euery man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem; yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.
8 O Lord, vnto vs appertaineth open shame, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.
9 Yet compassion and forgiveness is in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.
10 For we haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which he had layd before vs by the ministry of his seruants the Prophets.
11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Law, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the oath that is written in the Law of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.
12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which hee spake against vs, and against our iudges that I iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not been the like, as hath been brought vpon Ierusalem.
13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Law of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that wee might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy truth.
14 Therefore hath the Lord made ready the plague, & brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his workes which he doeth: for we would not heare his voice.
15 And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought c For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet he daily increased in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures. d He speaketh now of that ordinance prayer, which he vied in his house thre day, but of a rare and vehement prayer, let their times should cause God to delay the time of their deliverance prophesied by Ieremiah. e That is, his all power in his selfe to execute, thy terrible iudgements against obstinate sinners, as thou art rich in mercy to comfort them which obey thy word and lawe. f Ebr. him. g Hei. eweth that whensoever God punisheth, he doeth it for iust cause: and thus the godly neuer accuse him of rigour as the wicked doe, but acknowledge that in themselves there is iust cause why he should so intreat them. h Ebr. confession. i He doth not excuse the Kings because of their authority, but praieth chiefly for them as the chief occasions of their great plagues. k He sheweth that they rebel against God, which serue him not according to his commandment and word. l As Deut. 32. s. or the curse confirmed by an oath. m Or, gathered vs.

brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renowne, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

15 O Lord, according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy citie Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our finnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs:

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the praier of thy seruante, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuary that lieth waste, for the Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare & heare: open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for we do not present our supplications before thee for our owne righteousness, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord, heare, O Lord, forgieue, O Lord consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And while I was speaking, and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God for the holy Mountaine of my God, 21 Yea, while I was speaking in praier, euen the man * Gabriel, whom I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the euening oblation.

22 And hee enformed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commaundement came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloved: therefore vnderstand the matter, and consider the vision.

24 Seventy P weekes are determined vpon thy people, and vpon thy holy citie, to finish the wickednes, and to seale vp the finnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerm-lasting righteousness, and to seale vp the vision and propheticie, and to anoint the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from the going forth of the commaundement to bring againe the people, and to build Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the Prince, shall bee seuen weekes, and threescore and two weekes, and the streete shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a troublous time.

26 And after threescore and two weekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall haue nothing, and the people of the Prince that shall come, shall destroy the Citie and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof shall bee with a flood: and vnto the end of the battell it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And hee shall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the mids of the weeke hee shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the ouerspreading of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolary: or, as some read, that the plagues shall be so great, that they shall all be astonied at them.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

IN the third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was long, and hee vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in heauinesse for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, as I was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of Vphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasie, and the voice of his words was like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in mee: for my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, I slept on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees, and vpon the palmes of mine hands.

11 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloved, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when hee had said this word vnto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto mee, Feare not Daniel: for from the first day that thou didst set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy a By the preaching of the Gospel he confirmed his promise, first to the Iewes, and after to the Gentiles.

b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection.
c Meaning, that Ierusalem and the Sanctuary should be utterly a He noteth this third yeere, because at this time the building of the temple began to be hindered by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made warre in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.

b Which is to declare that the godly should not hasten too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promise.

c Called Abib, which conteineth part of March and part of April.

d Being caried by the spirit of propheticie to haue the sight of this riuer Tygris.

e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this propheticie that followeth.

* Ierem. 10. 9.

f The word also signifieth comeliness, or beautie, so that for feare he was like a dead man for deformitie.

g Which declareth that when we are stricken downe with the maiestie of God, we cannot rise, except he also lift vs vp with his hand, which is his power.

^h Meaning, Cambyfes who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not only for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would have further ragged if God had not sent me to resist him, & therefore have I stayed for the promise of the Church.

ⁱ Though God could by one Angel destroy all the world, yet to assure his children of his love, he sendeth forth double power, even Michael, that is, Christ Jesus the head of Angels.

^k For though the Prophet Daniel should end and cease, yet his doctrine should continue till the coming of Christ, for the comfort of his Church.

^l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.

^m I was overcome with feare and sorow, when I saw the vision.

ⁿ He declareth hereby that God would be merciful vnto the people of Israel.

^o Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, he doeth not immediately lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twice) but by little and little.

^p Meaning, that he would not only himselfe bide the rage of Cambyfes, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander the King of Macedonia.

^q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

^a The Angel assured Daniel that God hath given him power to performe these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius, when he overcame the Caldeans.

^b Whereof Cambyfes that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third Darius the sonne of Hytaspis, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and stood against them.

^c For he raised vp all the East countreies to fight against the Grecians: and albeit hee had in his armie nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure battels he was discomfited and fled away with shame.

^d That is, Alexander the great.

^e For when his efface was most flourishing, he overcame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a disease, or as some write, was poysoned by Callander.

elle before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words.

13 But the prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood me one and twentie dayes: but loe, Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there, by the kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shew thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the vision is for many dayes.

15 And when hee spake these wordes vnto me, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said vnto him that stood before me, O my Lord, by the vision my sorrowes are returned vpon me, and I haue retained no strength.

17 For how can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord bring such one? for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and hee strengthened me.

19 And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: peace be vnto thee: be strong & of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I was strengthened, and sayd, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, lo, the prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your Prince.

CHAP. XI.

A prophacie of the kingdomes which should bee enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

I to I, in the first yeere of Darius of the Medes, when I stood to encourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the trueth. Behold, there shall stand vp yet three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shall stirre vp all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a mightie King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when hee shall stand vp, his kingdome shall bee broken, and shall be diuided toward the foure windes of heauen: and not to his posteritie, nor according to his dominion which he ruled: for his kingdome shall be pluckt vp, euen so be for others besides these.

5 And the King of the South shall be mightie, and one of his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeeres they shall be ioyned together: for the Kings daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but shee shall not retaine the power of the arme, neither shall he continue, nor his arme: but shee shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the bud of her rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortress of the King of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile.

8 And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of gold, and he shall continue moe yeeres then the King of the North.

9 So the King of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his own land.

10 Wherefore his sonnes shall bee stirred vp, and shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one shall come, and overflow, and passe thorough: then shall he returne, and be stirred vp at his fortress.

11 And the King of the South shall be angry, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for hee shall set forth a great multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall bee proud, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but hee shall not still preuaile.

13 For the King of the North shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mighty armie and great riches.

15 And at the same time there shall many stand vp against the King of the South:

For his twelue chiefe princes first diuided his kingdome among themselves. After this his Monarchie was diuided into foure for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemee Egypt. Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and crueltie in causing his posteritie to be murdered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another. None of these foure shall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander. That is his posteritie having no part thereof. To wit, Ptolemee King of Egypt. That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes that be more mighty: for hee should haue both Asia and Syria. That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemee Philadelphus shall bee giuen in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this alliance that Syria and Egypt should haue a continual peace together. That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after Berenice and her young sonne after her husbands death was slaine of her husband Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake. Neither Ptolemee nor Antiochus. Some reade, feed, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this marriage, were destroyed. Meaning, that Ptolemee Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus, should succeed in the kingdome, being of the same stocke that Berenice was. To reuenge his filthers death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria. For this Ptolemee reigned sixe and fourey yeeres. Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the Great, the sonnes of Calinicus that make warre against Ptolemee Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus. For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine whiles the warres were preparing. That is, Philopater when hee shall see Antiochus take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to invade Egypt. For Antiochus had fixe thousand horsemen and threethou thousand footmen. After the death of Ptolemee Philopater, who left Ptolemee Epiphanes his heire. For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip King of Macedonia, and the two brought great power with them.

is, there ſhall be euen of this ſmal number many hypocrites. t To wit, of them that z Under pretence of worshipping the gods they shall enrich their cities with the most precious jewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should have them in admiration for their power and riches.

a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, lest they should have bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches.

b That is, both the Egyptians and Syrians shall at the length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be overcome.

c The Angel forewarneth the Jewes that when they should see the Romanes invade them and that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods providence, forasmuch as he warneth them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preferue them.

39 Thus shall he do in^z the holes of Mauzizim with a strange god whom he shal acknowledge: he shal increase his glory, and shal cause them to rle ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gine.

40 And at the end of time shal the King of the^a South push at him, and the King of the North shal come against him like a whirlewind with charrets, & with horsemen, and with many ships, and he shal enter into the countreys, and shall ouerflow and passe therow.

41 Hee shall enter also into the^b pleasant land, and many countreys shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 Hee shall stretch forth his hands also vpon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But hee shall haue power ouer the treasures of gold and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

44 But the tydings out of the East and the North shal^c trouble him: therefore hee shall goe forth^d with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles^e of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet hee shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

a The Angel here noteth two things: first that the Church shall be in great affliction and trouble at Christs comming, and next that God will send his Angel to deliuer them, whom here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.

At that^a time shall Michael stand vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall bee deliuered, euery one that shall be found written in the booke,

2 And many^b of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euertlasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that bee^c wise, shall shine as the brightnesse of the firmament: and they that^d turne many to righteousnesse, shall shine as the starres, for euertlasting.

4 But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the words, and seale the booke^e till the ende of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.

5 Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the^f riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And one said vnto the man clothed in linnen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shall be the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linnen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when hee held vp his^g right hand, and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euertlasting, that it shall^h tarie for a time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplishedⁱ to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then said I, O my Lord, what shall be the end of these things?

9 And hee said, Goe thy way, Daniel: for the words are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the^j dayly sacrifice shall bee taken away, and the abomiuable defolation set vp, there^k shall be a thousand two hundred and ninetie dayes.

12 Blessed is he that waiteth and commeth to the thousand, three hundred and^l five and thirtie dayes, 13 But goe^m thou thy way till the end bee: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

his sacrifice shal take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Law. m Signifying, that the time shall be long of Christs second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred. n In this number he addeth a moneth and an halfe to the former number, signifying that it is not in mans appointing the time of Christs comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing. o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying, that he should depart this life and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

b Meaning, all shall rise as the generall resurrection, which thing he here nameth, because the faithfull should haue their respect to that: for in the earth there shalbe no more comfort.

c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion.

d Hee chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods word, and next, all the faithfull which instruct the ignorant, and bring them to the true knowledge of God.

e Though the most part despise this prophesie, yet keepe thou it close, and esteeme it as a treasure.

f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full resolution of these things, and then many shall runne to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obtaine now by the light of the Gospel.

g Which was Tyrris.

h Which was as it were a double oath, and did the more confirme the thing.

i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: signifying that their troubles should haue an end.

HOSEA.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtile counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commanded by his worde, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselves to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euill worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselves to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be ledde away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselves by the sweetnesse of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall parts of the Law, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, he vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked manners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or else by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law containe these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements, and the manner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

He worde of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the daies of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

3 So hee went and tooke a Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived & bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name Izreel: for yet a little, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Izreel.

6 She conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pite upon the house of Israel: but I will vtterly take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and will saue them by the Lord their God, and will not saue them by bowe, nor by sword nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Now when shee had wained Lo-ruhamah, shee conceived, and bare a sonne.

9 Then said God, Call his name Ammi: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was said vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint themselves one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the day of Izreel.

the captivity of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should bee the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.

o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall bee so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 Hee sheweth their idolatrie, and threatneth them except they repent.

Say vnto your brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,

2 Plead with your mother: pleade with her: for shee is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornicatiring, that ye are my people on whom I will haue mercie. b God sheweth that the fault was not in him, but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that hee tooke them, Isa. 50.1.

i For the Israelites neuer returned, after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians.

k For after their captiuitie hee restored them miraculously by the means of Cyrus, Ezra 1.1.

l That is, not my people.

m Because they thought that God could not haue been true in his promise except hee had preferred them, hee declarerth that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes and the Gentiles, Rom. 9.26.

n To wit, after the time of Christ, who should bee the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.

o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall bee so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

a Seeing that I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the same confidence.

b God sheweth that the fault was not in him, but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that hee tooke them, Isa. 50.1.

^c Meaning, that their idolatrie was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it. Ezek. 16. 23. ^d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparell and dowrie, and certaine signes of his fauour, but if they continue still he would vterly destroy them. ^e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16. 4. ^f That is, bastards and begotten in adulterie. ^g Meaning the idoles which they serued, and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance. ^h I will punish thee, that then thou mayest trie whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such straightnesse, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton. ⁱ This he speaketh of the faithfull which are truly conuerted, and also sheweth the vice and profite of Gods rods. ^k This declarereth that idolaters fraude God of his honour when they attribute his benefits to their idoles. ^l Signifying, that God will take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doth abuse them. ^m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies and inuentions whereby she worshipped her idoles. ⁿ I will punish her for her idolatrie. ^o By shewing how harlots trim themselves to please others, he declarereth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselves on their holy dayes. ^p By my benefits in offering her grace and mercie, euen in that place where shee shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort. ^q Which was a plentiful valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderness, as Isth. 7. 26, and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life. ^r Shee shall then praise God as he did when shee was deliuered out of Egypt. ^s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant. ^t That is, my master: which name was applied to their idols.

ons out of her sight, and her adulteries ^c from betweene her breasts, ³ ^d Left I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that shee was borne, and make her as a wilderness, and leaue her like a drie land, and slay her for thirst.
⁴ And I will haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the ^e children of fornications.
⁵ For their mother hath played the harlot: shee that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for shee said, I will goe after my ^f louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.
⁶ Therefore behold, I will stop ^h thy way with thornes, and make an hedge that shee shall not find her paths.
⁷ Though she follow after her louers, yet shall she not come at them: though she seeke them, yet shall she not find them: then shall she say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.
⁸ Now shee did not know that I ^k gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.
⁹ Therefore will I returne, and take away ^l my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe ^l lent, to couer her shame.
¹⁰ And now will I discouer her ^m lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.
¹¹ I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her new moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her ioleme feasts.
¹² And I will destroy her vines and her fig trees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forest, and the wild beasts shall eate them.
¹⁴ Therefore behold, I will ^p allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her.
¹⁵ And I will giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley ^q of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.
¹⁶ And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me ^r Ishi, and shalt call me no more ^s Baali.
¹⁷ For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall bee no more remembred by their ^t names.
¹⁸ And in that day will I make a couenant for them with the ^x wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creeperth vpon the earth: and I will break the bow, and the sword, and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.
¹⁹ And I will marry thee vnto mee for euer: yea, I will marrie thee vnto mee in righteousness, and in iudgement, and in mercie, and in compassion.
²⁰ I will euen marry thee vnto me in ^y faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord.
²¹ And in that day I will heare saith the Lord, I will ^z enue heare ^z the heauens, and they shall heare the earth.
²² And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Israel.
²³ And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^a Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

¹ The Iewes shall bee cast off for their idolatrie. ⁵ Afterward they shall returne to the Lord.

Then said the Lord to mee, ^a Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and ^b loued the wine bottels.
² So ^c I bought her to me for fifteene ^c pieces of siluer, and for an Homer of barley and an halfe Homer of barley.
³ And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with ^d me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee.
⁵ Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and ^g Dauid their King, and shall feare the Lord, and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

a long time as in thy widowhood, whether thou wilt be mine or no. ^e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ. ^f That is, they should neither haue policy nor religion, and their idoles also wherein they put their confidence, should be destroyed. ^g This is meant of Christs kingdom, which was promised vnto Dauid to be eternal, Psal. 72. 17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Israel.

Hear the word of the Lord, yee children of Israel: for the Lord ^a hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no trueth, nor mercie, nor knowledge of God in the land.

² By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing

^u No idolatrie shall once come into their mouth, but they shall serue me purely according to my word. ^x Meaning, that he will forsake them, that all creatures shall fauour them.

^y With a couenant that neuer shall be broken.

^z Then shall the heauen desire raine for the earth, which shall bring forth for the vse of man.

^a Rem. 9. 25. 1 pe. 2. 10.

^a Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loued his Church before he called her, and did not withdraw the same when shee gaue her selfe vnto idoles. ^b That is, gaue themselves wholly to pleasures, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkenness. ^c Yet I loued her, and payed a small portion for her, left the perceiving the greatness of my loss, should haue abused me, and not been vnder duetie: for fifteene pieces of siluer were but halfe the price of a slave, Exod. 21. 32. ^d I will trie thee stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and every one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off, with the beastes of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the Sea shall be taken away.

4 Yet let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 They ate vp the finnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall bee like people, like Priest: for I will visit their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deedes.

10 For they shall eate, and not haue enough: they shall commit adultery, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 Whoredome, and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

12 My people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornication hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountains, & burne incense vpon the hills vnder the oakes, & the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall bee harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not visite your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses, when they are whores: for they themselves are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Iudah sinne: come not ye vnto Gilgal, neither goe yee vp to Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruely heifer.

fer. Now the Lord will feed them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennesse stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, Bring ye.

19 The winde hath bound them vp in her wings, and they shall be ashamed of their sacrifices.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

O Yee Priests, heare this, and hearken yee, O house of Israel, and giue yee care, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because ye haue been a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from mee: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their minds to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the middes of them, and they haue not knowne the Lord.

5 And the pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lorde: but they shall not finde him: for hee hath withdrawn himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children: now shall a moneth deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blow ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shauime in Ramah: cry out at Beth-auen, after thee, O Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to know the trueth.

10 The Princes of Iudah were like them that remoued the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in iudgement, because hee willingly walked after the commandement.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sicknesse, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto Asshur, and sent vnto king Iareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will bee vnto Ephraim as a Lyon, and as a Lyons whelp to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoile, and goe away: I will u God wil so disperse them, that they shall not remaine in any certaine place. x They are so impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them. y To carry them suddenly away.

a The Priests and Princes caught the poore people in their snares as the fowles did the birds in these two high mountains. b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holiness, & to sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempt. c Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.

d They boasted themselves not only to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Jeroboam came of that tribe. e Meaning, their contemning of all admonitions. f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.

g Their destruction is not farre off.

h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place, till they were destroyed. i By the successe they shall know that I haue surely determined this.

k They haue turned upside downe all politickall order, and all manner of religion.

l To wit, after king Jeroboams commandement, and did not rather follow God. m In stead of seeking for remedy at Gods hand.

n Who was king of the Assyrians.

b In every place appeareth a liberte to mult hairons vices, so that one followeth in the necke of another. c As though he would say, that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will speake against the Prophets & Priests, whose office it is chiefly to rebuke them.

d Ye shall perish all together: the one, because he would not obey, & the other because he would not admonish. e That is, the synagogue wherein thou dost live.

f That is, the Priests shall be called off, because that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and instruct others. Dnt. 33. 3. malac. 2. 7.

g Meaning, the whole body of people, which were weary with hearing the word of God.

h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.

i To wit, the Priests seeke to eate the peoples offerings, and flatter them in their finnes.

k Signifying, that as they haue sinned together, so shall they be punished together.

l Shewing, that their wickednesse shall be punished on all sorts: for though they think by the multitude of wives to haue many children, yet they shall be deceived of their hope.

m In giuing themselves to pleasures, they become like brutish beasts.

n Thus he speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which now for their finnes they were not: for they sought helpe of stockes and stickes.

o They are caried away with a rage. p Because they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles, therefore he will giue them vp to their lusts, that they shall dishonour their owne bodies. Rom. 1. 28.

q I wil not correct your shame to bring you to amendment, but let you runne headlong to your owne damnation. r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willett them to learne by their example to returne in time.

s For albeit the Lord had honoured this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, he would not that his people should resort thither. t He calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying, that no place is holy where God is not purely worshipped.

will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke mee: in the r affliction they will seeke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction chaſeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

Come, and let vs^a returne to the Lord: for he hath spoiled, and he will heale vs: hee hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will^b he reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and endeavour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and hee shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I entreat thee? for^c your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dewe it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I^d cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the words of my mouth, and thy^e iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired^f mercy, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they^g like men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8^h Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as the eues waite for a man, so the company of Priests murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief.

10 I haue seene villenie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set aⁱ plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

ⁱ That is, doeth imitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken graffes of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

When I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsly: and^a the thiefe commeth in, and the robber spoileth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the^b King glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very^c ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, and from kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.

^a Meaning that there was no one kind of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednes, both secret and open. ^b They esteeme their wicked King Ieroboam about God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him. ^c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leauened and raised.

5 This is the^d day of our King: the Princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine, he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue deuoured their Iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath^f mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and hee knoweth it not: yea, gray haire is here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they do not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a Doue deceived, without^h heart: they call to Egypt: they goe to Asshur.

12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastise them as theirⁱ Congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shall be vnto them, because they haue transgressed against mee: though I haue^k redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cryed vnto me with their hearts, when they howled vpon their beds: they assemble themselves for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischief against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most High: they are like a deceitfull bow: their Princes shall fall by the sword, for the rageⁿ of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against mee and my seruants, Psalm. 73. 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

Set the trumpet to thy^a mouth: he shall come as an Eagle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Law.

2 Israel shall^b cry vnto me, My God, wee know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a^c King, but not by mee: they haue made Princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their golde haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy

^d They vsed all riot and excess in their feasts and solemnities, whereby their king was overcome with flatter, and brought into diseases, and delighted in sinnes.

^e By their occasion God hath deprived them of all good rulers.

^f That is, hee counterfeits the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other, that is, neither thorough hote nor thorough cold, but partly a Leue, and partly a Gentile.

^g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.

^h That is, without all iudgement, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleane only to God, or to seeke the helpe of man.

ⁱ According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel.

^k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.

^l When they were in affliction and cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe.

^m They onely seeke their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for mee their God.

ⁿ Because they

^a God encourageth the Prophet to signifie the speedy coming of the enemy against Israel, which was once the people of God.

^b They shall cry like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare. ^c That is, Ieroboam, by whom they sought their owne liberty, and not to obey my will.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without^d innocencie!

6 For it came euen from Israel: the workman made it: therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall bee broken in pieces.

7 For they haue^f sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlewinde: it hath no stalke: the bud shall bring forth no meale: if so bee it bring forth; the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall forow a little, for the^b burden of the King and the Princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a^d strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the^k Lord accepteth them nor: now wil he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

Reioyce not, O Israel, forioy^a, as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued^b a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 The floore, and the winepresse shall not feed them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer^d wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices bee pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof, shall be polluted: for their house^e for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will ye doe^f then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from^g destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Israel shall knowe it: the Prophet is a foole: the spirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim should be with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fowler in all his wayes, and hatred in the House of his God.

9 They^k are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the daies of Gibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquitie, hee will visit their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like^l grapes in the wilderness: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the fig tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, & separated themselves vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to^m their louers.

11 Ephraim their glorie shall flee away like a bird: from the birthⁿ and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I saw, is as a tree^o in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murder.

14 O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a^p barren wombe and drie breasts.

15 All their wickednesse is in Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine House: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their bodie.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

destruction is, that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his Idoles. 14 His destruction for the same.

Israel is an^a emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof hee hath increased the altars: according to the^b goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is^c diuided: now shall they be found faultie: hee shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, Wee haue no King, because wee feared not the Lord: and d That is, vpright judgement and godly life.

e Meaning, the calfe was inuentioned by themselves, and of their fathers in the wilderness. f Shewing, that their religion hath been a show, and in it false is but vanity.

g They neuer cease, but run to and fro to tickle helpe.

h That is, for the tributes which the King and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meaneth the Lord visit to bring them to repentance.

i Thus the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inuention.

k Saying, that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no service, which he himselfe hath not appointed.

a For though all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

b Thou hast committed idolatrie in hope of reward, and to haue thy barnes filled. Jer. 44. 17. as an harlot that had rather lie by playing the whore than to be entered of her owne husband.

c These outward things that thou seekest, shall be taken from thee.

d All their doings both touching policy and religion shall be reiecte as things polluted.

e The meate offering which they offered for themselves.

f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seruing him, which shall be the most grievous point of your captiuitie, when ye shall see your selues cut off from God.

g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.

h Then they shall know that they were deluded by them who challenged to themselves to be their prophets and spiritual men.

i The Prophets duty is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.

k This people is so rooted in their wickednesse, that Gibeah, which was like to Sodom, was neuer more corrupt, Iudg. 19. 23.

l Meaning, that he so esteemed them, and delighted in them.

m They were as abominable vnto me, as their louers the idoles.

n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by little and little.

o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus, to preserve them from the colde aire of the Sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now I will give him to the slaughter.

p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather than that this great slaughter should come vpon their children.

f Thus their integrity and fidelity which they pretended, was nothing but bitterness and griefe.

k In those daies wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale could not be good in executing Gods iudgements, seeing thine owne deedes were as wicked as theirs.
l To wit, the Israelites remained in that stubbornness from that time.
m The Israelites were not moved by their example to cease from their sins.
n Because they are so desperate, I will delight to destroy them.

what should a King doe to vs?

4 They haue spoken wordes, swearing falsely in making a covenant: thus iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrows of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall feare because of the calf of Beth-auc: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the Chemarims thereof that reioyced on it for the glorie thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto King Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the King thereof is destroyed, as the stone vpon the water.

8 The high places also of Auen shall be destroyed: new the sinne of Israel: the thorne and thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, * Couer vs, and to the hilles, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast sinned from the daies of Gibeth: there they stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not touch them.

10 It is my desire that I should chastise them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is an heifer vsed to delight in threshing: but I will passe by her faire necke: I will make Ephraim toride: Iudah shall blowe, and Iacob shall breake his cloddes.

12 Sowe to your selues in righteousness: reape after the measure of mercie: breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, til he come and raine righteousness vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickedness: ye haue reaped iniquity: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: because thou diddest trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men,

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickedness: in a morning shall the King of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

When Israel was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they went thus a Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt, and did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude, called them to repentance.

b They rebelled, and went a contrary way when the Prophets

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords of a man, even with bands of loue, and I was to them, as hee that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I laid the meat vnto them.

5 Hee shall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Asshur shall be his king, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against mee: though they called them to the most High: yet none at all would exalt him.

8 How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee Israel? how shall I make thee as Admah? how shall I set thee, as Zebaoim? mine heart is turned within mee: my repentings are rowled together.

9 I will not execute the fierceness of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy One in the middes of thee, and I will not enter into the citie.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: hee shall roare like a Lyon: when he shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 They shall feare as a Sparrowe out of Egypt, and as a Dove out of the land of Asshur, and I will place them in their houses, faith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth mee about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah ruleth with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

receiue thee to mercie: and this is meant of the small number who shall walke after the Lord. k The Egyptians and Assyrians shall be afraide when the Lord maintaineth his people. l Governeth their state according to Gods word, and doeth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

He admonisheth by Iakobs example to trust in God, and not in man.

Ephraim is fedde with the winde, and foloweth after the East winde: hee increaseth daily lies and destruction, and they doe make a covenant with Asshur, and boyle is carried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with Iudah, and I will visit Iacob, according to his wayes: according to his workes, will hee recompence him.

3 He rooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength hee had power with God,

4 And had power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: hee wept and prayed vnto him: hee found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

and so spake with him there, that the fruit of that speech appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

c That is, friendly: and not as beasts or flaucs, d Seeing they contemne all this kindnesse they shall be led captiue into Assyria.

e To wit, the Prophets.

f God confideth with himselfe, and that with a certaine griefe howe punish them. g Which were two of the cities that were destroyed with Sodom, Deut. 29. 23.

h Meaning, that his loue where-with he first loued them, made him betweene doubt and assurance what to doe: and herein appeareth his fatherly affection, that his mercy toward his shall overcome his iudgements, as he declares in the next verse.

a That is, flattereth himselfe with vaine confidence.

b As the presents to get friendship. c Which in these points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries. d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iacob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred. e Reade Gen. 32. 31.

f God found Iacob as he lay sleeping in Beth-el, Genes. 28. 12.

5 Yea, the Lord God of hosts, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 He is Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.

8 And Ephraim sayd, Notwithstanding I am rich: I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, that were wickednesse.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the Tabernacles, as in the dayes of the solemne feast.

10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministry of the Prophets.

11 Is there iniquitie in Gilgal? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heaps in the furrowes of the field.

12 And Iacob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.

13 And by a Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reserued.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with hie places: therefore shall his blood bee powred vpon him, and his reproche shall his Lord reuward him.

Meaning Moses, whereby appeareth, that whatsoever they of Gods free goodnesse.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 And the cause of their destruction.

When Ephraim spake, there was a trembling: hee exalted himselfe in Israel, but hee hath sinned in Baal, and is dead.

2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftesmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a man, Let them kisse the calues.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloude, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt knowe no God but me: for there is no Sauour beside me.

5 I did knowe thee in the wilderness, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will bee vnto them as a very lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur.

8 I will meeete them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the caule of their heart, and there I will deuoure them like a lyon: the wilde beast shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 I am: where is thy King, that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy iudges, of whom thou saydest, Giue mee a King, and Princes?

11 I gaue thee a King in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is bound vp: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorrowes of a trauailing woman shall come vpon him: hee is an vnwise sonne, else would he not stand still at the time, when at the breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O death, I will bee my death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: repentance is hidde from mine eyes.

15 Though hee grow vp among his brethren, an East wind shall come, when the winde of the Lord shall come vp from the wilderness, and dry vp his veine, and his fountaine shall be dried vp: hee shall spoile the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 Hee exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requirerh praise and thanks.

Samaria shall bee desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sworde: their infants shall bee dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shall be ript.

2 O Israel, returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you words, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so will we render the calues of our lips.

4 Asshur shall not saue vs, neither will wee ride vpon horses, neither will wee say any more to the worke of our hands, Yee are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

5 I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will bee as the dew vnto Israel: hee shall grow as the lillie and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwel vnder his shadowe, shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne & flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Joel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine stubbinate. Secondly, he threatneth greater plagues, because they grewe daily to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments.
Thirly, hee exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must bee earnest, and proceede from the heart, because they had grievously offended God. And so doing, hee promiscib that God will bee mercifull, and not forget his covenant that hee made with their fathers: but will sende his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they sec-med to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophesie against the Iewes. 2 Hee exhorteth the people to prayer, and fasting, for the miserie that was at hand.

THe worde of the Lorde that came to Joel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Hears yee this, O Elders, and hearken yee, all inhabitants of the land, whether such a thing hath been in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worrne, hath the grasshopper eaten, and the residue of the grasshopper hath the canker worrne eaten, and the residue of the canker worrne hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake yee drunkards, and weepe and howle: all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall bee pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, a nation cometh vpon my land, mighty, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and he hath the iawes of a great lyon.

7 Hee maketh my vine waste, and pillesh off the barke of my fig tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgin girded with sacke-cloth for the husband of her youth.

9 The meate offering, & the drinke offering is cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth:
for the corne is destroyed: the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husbandmen: howle,
O ye vine dressers for the wheat, & for the barley, because the haruest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree & the palme tree, and the apple tree, even all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is with-red away from the sonnes of men.

13 Girde your selues and lament, yee Priests: howle yee ministers of the altar: come and lie all night in sackcloth, yee ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast, call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord,

15 Alas: for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes?
and ioy and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seede is rotten vnder their clods:
the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 Howe did the beastes mourne, the herdes of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I crie: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beastes of the fildes crie also vnto thee: for the riuers and waters are dried vp, and the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderneesse.

Blowe the trumpet in Zion, and shout in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come, for he hath hand.

It is a day of darknesse, and of blackenesse, a day of cloudes and obscuritie, as the morning spread vpon the mountains, so there is a great people, and a mightie: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it, vnto the yeeres of many generations.

A fire deuoureth before him, and be-hinde him a flame burneth vp: the land is the garden of Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him.

The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne.

Like the noyse of charres in the toppes of the mountaines, shall they leape, like the noyse of a flame of fire that deuoureth the subble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battell.

Before his face shall the people tremble:
all faces shall gather blackenesse.

They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and eu-ery man shall go forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their pathes.

Neither shall one thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sword, they shall not bee wounded.

They shall runne to and fro in the cities: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall climbe vp vpon the houses, and enter in at the windows like the theefe.

The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the sunne and the moone shall be darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

And the Lord shall utter his voyce before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for he is strong that doth his worke: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

Therefore also now the Lord saith, Turne you vnto mee with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

And rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repenteth him of the euill.

Who knoweth, if he will returne and repent and leaue a blessing behind him, euen a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

Blowe the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly.

Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the Elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegroome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

Let the Priests, the ministers of the Lord weepe betwene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproche, that the heathen should rule ouer them. Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

Then will the Lord bee zealous ouer his land, and spare his people.

Yea, the Lord will answer and say vnto his people, Behold, I will send you corne, and wine, and oyle, and you shall bee satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you arproch among the heathen,

But I will remooue farre off from you the Northerne armie, and I will drue him into a land, barren and desolate with his face toward the East sea, and his end to the vniuersal sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because hee hath exalted himselfe to doe this.

Fear not, O land, but bee glad, and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

Be not afraid ye beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness are Greene: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figge tree and the vine doe giue their force.

Be glad then, yee children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for he hath gi-uen you the raine of righteousness, and he will cause to come downe from you the raine, euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.

And the barnes shall be full of wheate, and the presses shall abound with wine and oyle.

And I will render you the yeeres that the grasshopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpillar and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

So shall you eate and be satisfied, and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt maruiculously with you: & my people shall neuer be ashamed.

Yee shall also knowe, that I am in the mids of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

And afterward will I powre out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophesie: your old men shall dreaime dreames, and your yong men shall see visions.

And also vpon the seruants, and vp-on the maydes in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgements of God against the enemies of his people.

For behold, in those dayes, and in that time when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem,

I will also gather all nations, and will bring them downe into the valley of Iehoshaphat: and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

And they haue cast lots for my people, and haue giuen the child for the harlot, and sold the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

Yea, and what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon, and all the coasts of Palestina? will ye render me a recompence? and if yee recompence me, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompence vpon your head:

For ye haue taken my silver and my gold, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

Behold, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue solde them, and wil render your reward vpon your owne head.

And I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah: and they shall sell them to the Sabaeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: peep, waite, waite, waite, waite: for the day of the Lord is at hand, and he will come vpon the men of warre, drawe them out, and come vpon them.

10 Breake your plowshares into swords, and your fishes into speares: let the weak say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all ye heathen, & gather your selues together round about: there shall the Lord cast downe thy mighties.

12 Let the heathen be wakened and come vpon to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your sickles, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the wine presses run ouer, for their wickednesse is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne and moone shall be darkened, and the starres shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vter his voice from Ierusalem; and the heavens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall yee know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then shall Ierusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers goe thorow her any more.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines drop downe new wine, and the hilles shall flowe with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall runne with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt shall be waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanse their blood, that I haue not cleansed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

f For afterward God solde them by Nebuchadnezzar, and Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted, though the price had been thier.
 g When I shall execute my iudgements against mine enemies, I will cause euery one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to destroy one another for my Church sake.
 h Thus he shall encourage the enemies when their wickednesse is full ripe to destroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgements.
 i God directh his against all troubles, that when he destroyeth his enemies, his children shall be deliuered.
 k The strangers shall no more destroy his Church: which if they doe, it is the people, which by their sinnes make the breach for the enemies.
 l He promitteth to his Church abundance of graces, reade Ezek. 47. 1, which should water and comfort the most barren places, Amos 9. 13.
 m The malicious enemies shall haue no part of this grace.
 n He had lifted his Church hitherto to be in their sickness, but now he promitteth to cleanse them, & to make them pure vnto him.

a When I shall deliuer my Church which standeth of the Iewes, and of the Gentiles, b It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victory of Iehoshaphat, when as God without mans helpe destroyed the enemies, 2. Chron. 20. also he hath respect to this word Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge the enemies of his Church as he did there.
 c That which the enemy gate for the sale of my people, he bestowed vpon harlots and drinke.
 d He taketh the cause of his Church in hand against the enemy, as though the iniurie were done to himselfe.
 e Haue I done you wrong, that ye will render me the like?

AMOS.

AMOS.

THE ARGUMENT.

Among many other Prophets that God raised up to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednesse and idolatrie, hee stirred up Amos, who was an herdman or shepheard of a poore towne, and gave him both knowledge and constancie to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had sined as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by unfeigned repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Messiah, by whom they should have perfect deliverance and salvation.

CHAP. I.

The time of the prophesie of Amos, 3 The wordes of the Lord against Damascus, 6 The Philistines, Tyrus, Iudaea and Ammon.

The wordes of Amos, who was among the herdmen at ^aTecoa, which he saw vpon Israel, in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah, and in the dayes of ^bIeroboam the son of Ioash King of Israel, two yeere before the earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and utter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepheards shall perish, and the top of ^dCarmel shall wither.

3 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For ^ethree transgressions of Damascus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue ^fthreshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the ^gpalaces of Ben-hadad.

5 I will breake also the barres of Damascus, & cut off the inhabitant of Bikaath-aue: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Betheden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto ^hKir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they ⁱcaried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembered the ^kbrotherly couenant,

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the wals of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the wals of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did [†]cast off all pitie, and his anger spoiled him euermore, and his wrath watched him [‡]alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they ^mhaue ript vp the women with childe of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind.

15 And their King shall goe into captiuitie, he and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah and Israel.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the ^abones of the King of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the middes thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, ^bI will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Law of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandements, and their lies caufed them to erre, after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus a Which was a towne five miles from Ierusalem in Iudas, hee prophesied in Iudas.

b In his dayes the kingdome of Israel did most flourish.

c Which as Iosephus writeth, was when Vzziah would haue vniuersed Priests offices, and therefore was smitten with the leprosie.

d Whatsoever is fruitful and cleaue in Iuda, shall shortly wither.

e He throweth in the sea all the people round about should be destroyed for their manifold sinnes: which are meant by three and foure, which make seuen, because the Israelites should the more deeply consider Gods iudgements toward them.

f If the Syrians shall not be spared for committing this cruelty against one city, it is not possible that Israel should escape punishment, which hath committed so many and grievous sinnes against God and man.

g The antiquitie of their buildings shall not avoid my iudgements, reade Ier. 49. 27.

h Tiglath Pileser led the Syrians captiue, and brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth heere Kir.

i They ioyned themselves with the Edomites their enemies, and which caried them away captiues.

k For Esau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iacob were brethren: therefore they ought to haue admonished them of their brotherly friendship, and not to haue prouoked them to hatred.

† Ebr. corrupt his compassions.

‡ He was a continuall enemy vnto him.

m He noteth the great cruelty of the Ammonites, that spared not the women, but most tyrannously tormented them, and yet the Ammonites came of Lot, who was of the household of Abraham.

a For the Moabites were so cruel against the King of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead, which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselves of the dead.

b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge, were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

c If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate king dom. d They esteemed most vile bribes more then mens liues. e When they haue spoyled him and throwen him to the ground, they gape for his life. f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being nere mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickedness. g They spoyle others and offer thereof vnto God, thinking that he will dispence with them when he is made partaker of their iniquitie. h The destruction of their enemies and his mercie toward them should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him. i Ye contemned my benefits, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stop the mouthes of my Prophets. k You haue wearied me with your sinnes, Iſa. 57. 14. l None shalbe deliuered by any meanes.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they sold the righteous for siluer, and the poore for shoes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a maid to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes laid to pledge by euery altar: and they drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and ledde you fourtie yeeres thorow the wilderness, to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But yee gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

13 Behold, I am pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life.

15 Nor hee that handleth the bow, shall stand, and hee that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall hee that rideth the horse saue his life.

16 And he that is of a mightie courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

Heere proneth the house of Israel of ingratitude. 11 For the which God will punish them.

Heare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, enemies against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visit you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they be agreed?

4 Will a lion roare in the forest, when he hath no pray? or will a lions whelpie crie out of his denning, if he haue taken nothing?

5 Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fowler is? or will hee take vp the snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people: and yet you haue forsaken me. b Hereby the Prophet signifieth that hee speaketh not of himselfe: but as God guideth and moueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets. c Will God threaten by his Prophets except there be some great occasion? d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence? e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?

6 Or shall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraid? or shall there bee euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but hee reuealeth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lyon hath roared: who will not be afraid? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but prophesie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so behold the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.

10 For they know not to doe right, saith the Lord: they store vp violence, and robbrie in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersary shal come euen round about the countrey, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shalbe spoyled.

12 Thus saith the Lord, As the shepheard taketh out of the mouth of the Lyon two legs, or a peece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus as in a couch.

13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Iakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hosts.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall bee broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shalbe consumed, saith the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

Heare this word, yee kine of Baschan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppress the poore, and destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath sworne by his Holinesse, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee will take you away with thornes, and your posterity, with fishhookes.

3 And yee shall goe out at the breaches euery low forward: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.

4 Come to Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three yeeres.

5 And offer a thankesgiuing of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offerings: for that their great deuotion and good intention had bene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them. e Reade Deut. 14. 28. f Leuit. 7. 13.

f Shall the Prophets theream Gods iudgements, and the people not be afraid? g Doeth any seruifice come without Gods appointment? Iſa. 45. 7. h God dealeth not with the Israelites, as hee doth with other people: for he euer warreth them before of his plagues by his Prophets. i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets. hee with that Gods spirit moued them to speake as they did. k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistines and Egyptians, to be witnesses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their cruelty and oppression. l The fruit of their cruelty and their appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses. m When the Lyon hath fau are his hunger, the shepheard findeth a legge or a rip of an eare to shew the sheepe haue bene worried. n Where they thought to haue had a sure hold, and to haue bene in safety.

this, & liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

⁶ And therefore haue I giuen you ^h cleanliness of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

⁷ And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three ⁱ moneths to the harvest, and I caused it to raine vpon one cite, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another cite: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

⁸ So two or three cities wandered vnto one cite to drinke water, but they were ^k not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

¹⁰ Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of ^l Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sword, & haue taken away your horses: & I haue made the stinke of your tents to come vp euen into your nostrils: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

¹¹ I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a ^m firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

¹³ For loe, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes ^{is} his Name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

^Hear ye this word, which I lift vp vpon you, ^{euen} a lamentation of the house of Israel.

² The ^a virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: she is left vpon her land, and there ^{is} none to raise her vp.

⁴ For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.

⁷ They turne iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteousness in the earth.

⁹ He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse.

¹⁰ They haue hated him ^f that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.

¹² For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mightie sinnes, they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.

¹³ Therefore ^b the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

¹⁵ Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

¹⁶ Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord saith thus, Mourning ^{shall be} in all streets: and they shall say in all the high wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the ^{husbandman} to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

¹⁷ And in all the vines ^{shall be} lamentation: for I will passe through thee, saith the Lord.

¹⁸ Woe vnto you, that ^k desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord ^{is} darkenesse and not light.

¹⁹ As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

²⁰ Shall not the day of the Lord be darkenesse, and not light? euen darkenesse and no light in it?

²¹ I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solemne assemblies.

²² Though ye offer me burnt offerings and meat offerings, ⁱ I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.

²³ Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy viols.)

²⁴ And let iudgement runne downe as ^m waters, and righteousness as a mightie river.

²⁵ Haue ye offered vnto mee sacrifices and offerings

^d In stead of iudgement and equity, they execute cruelty and oppression.
^e He describeth the power of God, Job 9.9.

^f They hate the Prophets, which reprove them in the open assemblies.

^g Ye take both his money and also his food, wherewith he should liue.

^h God will so plague them, that they shall not suffer the godly once to open their mouths to admonish them of their faults.

ⁱ So that all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.

^k Thus he speaketh because the wicked & hypocrites said they were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Iere. 30.7. Joel 2. 2, 11. zeph. 1. 15.

^l Because ye haue corrupted my true seruice and remaine obdurate in your vices. Isa. 1. 11.

C H A P. VI.

Against the princes of Israel living in pleasure.

Voe to ^athem that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, ^bwhich were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: bee they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border,

3 Ye that put farre away the ^deuil day, and approch to the seate of iniquitie?

4 They lie vpon beds of yuorie, and stretch themselves vpon their beds, and eate the lambs of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viole: they inuent to themselves instruments of musicke like ^eDauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and anoint themselves with the chiefe oynments, but no man is ^fsorie for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and ^gthe sorow of them that stretched themselves is at hand.

8 ^hThe Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hosts, I abhorre the excellencie of Iacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the city with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine tenne men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vnkle ^kshall take him vp and burne him to carie out the bones out of the house, & shal say vnto him, that is by the ^lsides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, ^mHold thy tongue: for wee may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he wil limate the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses ⁿrunne vpon the rocke? or wil one plow ^othere with oxen? for ye haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruit of righteousnesse into ^pwormewood.

13 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: ye say,

^a The Prophet threatneth the wealthy, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

^b These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing beforetime they did nothing auail them that were there born, why should you looke that they should saue you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions?

^c If God haue destroyed these excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straitnesse, then yours yet are, thinke you to be better, or to escape?

^d Ye that continue still in your wickednesse and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand, but give your selues to all idleness, wantonnesse & riot.

^e As he caused diuers kindes of instruments to be made to serue Gods glory, so these did consent to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lusts.

^f They pitied not their brethren, whereof now many were slaine and caried away captiue.

^h Reade Iere. 51. 24.

^m They shall be so astonished at this destruction, that they shall boast no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall be dumbe when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby hee signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His traisie counsell.

Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, hee formed ^rgrasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter growth: and loe, ^sit was in the latter growth: ^tbaster the kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the grasse of the land, then I said, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iacob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord ^urepented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

4 ^vThus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me; and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, ^w& it deuoured the great deepe, and did eat vp a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iacob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 ^xThus againe he shewed mee, and behold, the Lord stood vpon a wall made by line, ^ywith a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the mids of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the high places of Ithak shall be desolate, and the temples of Israel shalbe destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ^zThen Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also ^{aa}Amaziah said vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe: flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate ^{ab}thy bread, and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chappel, and it is the Kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no ^{ac}Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wild figs.

^x When this instrument of Satan was not able to compass his purpose by the King, hee stirred by another practice: that was, to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reprove their idolatrie there openly, and so hinder his profit.

^y Thus hee breatheth by his extraordinary vocation that God had giuen him a charge which he must needs execute.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Iſhak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Thy wife shall be an harlot in the cite, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be diuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely goe into captiuitie forth of his land.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, a basket of summer fruit.

2 And hee said, Amos, what seest thou? I said, A basket of summer fruit. Then sayd the Lord vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

3 And the songs of the temple shalbe howlings in that day, sayeth the Lord God: many dead bodies shalbe in euery place: they shal cast them forth with silence.

4 Heare this, O ye that swallow vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When wil the new moneth be gone, that we may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheate, and make the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

6 That wee may buy the poore for siluer, and the needie for shooes: yea, and tell the refuse of the wheate.

7 The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Iakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out, & drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day saith the Lord God, I will euen cause the sunne to goe downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feasts into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldnesse vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, & the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they run to and fro to seeke the word of the Lord, and shall not finde it.

2 Though they digge into the hel, thence shal mine hand take them: though they climbe vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottome of the sea, thence will I command the serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I command the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, & all that dwell therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shalbe drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his spheres in the heauen, and hath laid the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheless, I will not vtterly destroy the house of Iakob, saith the Lord.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Edomites which came of Esau, were most all enemies alwayes to the Israelites, which came of Iacob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundrie kindes of crueltie, but also stirred up others to fight against them. Therefore when they were in their greatest prosperitie, and almost triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raysted up his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set up the Kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

a God hath certainly reueiled to his Prophet, that he will raise vp the heathen to destroy their domities, whereof the rumour is now published, Iere. 49. 14.

b Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.

c Which despised all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet art but an handfull in comparison of others and art shut vp among the hills, as separate from the rest of the world.

d God wil so destroy them, that hee will leave none, though theues when they come, take but til they haue enough, & they that gather grapes, euer leave some behinde them, Iere. 49. 9.

e They in whom thou didst trust for to haue helpe and friendship of them, shall bee thine enemies, & destroy thee.

f That is thy familiar friends & guests haue by secret praides destroyed thee. g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharply punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom now he comforteth by punishing their enemies.

He vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom. We haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an Ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battel.

2 Behold, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

3 The pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation is high, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring mee downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

5 Came theues to thee or robbers by night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stolen, till they had enough? if the grabe gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue some grapes?

6 How are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy bread, haue layd a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wife men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because euery one of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy brother Iacob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

11 When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that hee was made a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layd hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stood in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall bee done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as yee haue drunken vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shall be as though they had not bene.

IONAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Ionah had long prophesied in Israel, and had late profited, God gave him expresse charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineweh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because hee had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, should conuers by the mightie power of his word, & that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had provoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeves, had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Iosab, and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when hee was sent to preach, 4 A tempest arose, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

THe word of the Lord came also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to Nineweh, that great citie, and cry against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before me.

3 But Ionah rose vp to flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went down to Iapho: and hee found a ship going to Tarshish: so hee paid the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might go with them vnto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cried euery man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the ship-master came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they sayd euery one to his fellow, Come, and let vs cast lots, that we may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tel vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? what is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 He answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen; which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew, that hee fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them.)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous.)

12 And he said vnto them, Take mee, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuerthelesse, the men rowed to bring it to land, but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried vnto the Lord, and said, Wee beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vows.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: & Ionah was in the belly of the fish three dayes, and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 3 He is deliuered.

Then Ionah prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly;

2 And said, I cried in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly of hell cried I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottome was able to deliuer him.

b For hee was now in the fishes belly as in a graue or place of darknesse.

a Being nowe swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedie to escape, his faith brast out vnto the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell he in the middes of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy furies & all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I said, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed mee about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about my head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaynes: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembered the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying vanities, forsake their owne mercie.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voice of thanksgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Jonah vpon the drie land.

CHAP. III.

1 Jonah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the King of Nineueh.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto ^aJonah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great city and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Jonah arose and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Jonah began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and hee cryed, and sayd, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shall be overthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh beleued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the King of Nineueh, and hee rose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed and said through Nineueh (by the counsell of the King and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and crie mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euil way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their works that they turned from their euil wayes: and God repented of the euill that he had sayd that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

fruits of their repentance, which did proceed of faith which God had planned by the ministry of his Prophet. i. Reade Iere. 18.8.

CHAP. IIIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

Therefore it displeased ^aJonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And hee prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me: for it is better for mee to die then to liue.

4 Then said the Lord, Doeest thou well to be angry?

5 So Jonah went out of the citie and sate on the East side of the citie, and there made him a boothie, and sate vnder it in the shadow: till hee might see what should be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, & made it to come vp ouer Jonah, that it might bee a shadow ouer his head and deliuer him from his griefe. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd that it withered.

8 And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the sunne beat vpon the head of Jonah, that he fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for me to die then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Jonah, Doeest thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he said, I doe well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pitie on the gourd for the which thou hast not laboured, neither made it grow: which came vp in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And should ^anot I spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are fixe score thousand persons, that can not discerne betweene their right hand, and their left hand, and also much cattell?

shewe his compassion to so many thousand people. i. Meaning, that they were children and infants.

c This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the benefit of his vocation and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the ende faith gat the victorie.
d Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish, and all these dangers, as it were, raising me from death to life.
e They that depend vpon any thing false on God alone.
f They refuse their owne felicity, and that goodnes which they should esteeme of God.

a This is a great declaration of Gods mercie, that he receiue him againe and sendeth him forth as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmities.
b Read cha. i. 2.
c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.
d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

e Not that the dumbe beasts had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be admonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hangeth ouer all creatures.
f He willed that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercie.

g For partly by the threatening of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his owne conscience he doubted whether God would shew them mercy.
h That is the a Because he by he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God, which he preached, should be blasphemed.

b Reade Chap. i. 1.

c Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing lest Gods Name by this forsworne might be blasphemed, as though he feared his Prophets fourth to denounce his iniquities in vaine.
d Wilt thou be judge when I doe things for my glory, when I doe not?

e For he doubted as yet whether God would shew them mercie or no: and therefore after fourty dayes he departed out of the citie, looking what ill God would send.

f Which was a further means to couer him from the heat of the sunne, as he remained in his boothie.

g This declarereth the great inconueniences wherewith Gods seruants doe fall when they giue place to their own affections, and doe not in all things willingly submit themselves to God.

h Thus God mercifully reprooueth him, which would perie himselfe, and yet would restrainge God to shewe his compassion to so many thousand people.

MICAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah served in the worke of the Lord concerning Iudah, and Israel at the least thirtie yeeres: at what time Isaiah prophesied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednes, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this end he noteth the wickednesse of the people, the cruelty of the princes and governors, and the permission of the false prophets and the delighting in them. Then he setteth fourth the coming of Christ, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab and all his false prophets, as 1. King. 22. 8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatrie.

THe word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the Morashite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which hee saue concerning Samaria, and Ierusalem.

2 Heare, ^ball ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witnesse against you, ^ceven the Lorde from his holy Temple.

3 For Behold, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come downe, and tread vpon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shalt melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleave) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downeward.

5 For the wickednesse of Iaakob is al this and for the finnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iaakob? Is not ^d Samaria? and which are the ^e high places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I wil discover the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof shall be broken, and all the ^f gifts thereof shall be burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne ^g to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the Ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the ^hemie is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

10 Declare yee it not at ⁱ Gath, neither weepe yee: for the house of ^j Aphrah ^koule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at ^k Shaphir, goe together naked with shame: shee that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the ^lemie shall receiue of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the ^mgate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charet to the ⁿ beasts ^o of price: shee ^p is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth ^q Gath: the houses of Achizib shall be as a lie to the Kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an ^r heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareshah, he shall come vnto Adullam, the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee balde: and shaueth thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the Eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

hours, but they shall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ierusalem. ^q Hee prophesied against his owne citie. and because it signified an heritage, hee saith that God would send an heire to possesse it. ^r For so they thought themselves for the strength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings against the wanton and daintie people. 6 They would reach the Prophets to preach.

WOe vnto them that imagine iniquitie and worke wickednesse vpon their beddes: ^a when the morning is light they practise it because their hand ^b hath power.

2 And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, ^ceven man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Behold, against this family haue I deuised a plague, whereout yee shall not plucke your neckes, and yee shall not goe ^d so proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, ^e Wee be vtterly wasted: hee hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall

^a Asloone as they rise, they execute their wicked deuises of the night, and according to their power hurt others. ^b Curis in power.

^c Thus the Iewes lament & say that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are diuided among the enemies.

c Ye shall haue no more lands to diuide as you had in times past, and as you vied to measure them in the iubile.

d Thus the people warne the Prophets that they speake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings.

e God saith that they shall not prophetic, nor receive no more of their rebukes or censures.

f Are these your workes according to his law?

g Doe not the godly finde my wordes comfort?

h That is, foretime.

i The people can haue no commodity by them, but they spoile them as though they were enemies.

k That is, their substance, and liuing, which is Gods blessing, and as it were, part of his glory.

l Ierusalem shall not be your safeguard, but the cause of your destruction.

m That is, shew himselfe to be a Prophet.

n He sheweth what prophets they delight in, that is, in flatterers, which tel them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities.

o To destroy thee.

p The enemies shall breake their gates and walles, and leade them into Caldea.

q To drue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

shall cast a cord by lot in the congregation of the Lord.

6 They that propheticd, Prophecies yee not. They shall not prophetic to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iakob, is the Spirit of the Lorde shortened? are these his workes? are not my words good vnto him? that walketh vp rightly?

8 But he that was yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemy: they spoile the beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue yee cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue yee taken away my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction.

11 If a man walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsly, saying, I will prophetic vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shall euen be the Prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather thee wholly, O Iakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the middes of their fold: the cities shall bee full of brute of the men.

13 The breake vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shall goe before them, and the Lord shall be vpon their heads.

which tel them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities

The enemies shall breake their gates and walles, and leade them into Caldea,

To drue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyrannie of princes, and false Prophets.

AN I said, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iakob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: should not ye know iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skinned from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eat also the flesh of my people, and flay off their skinned from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then shall they crie vnto the Lorde, but he will not heare them: he will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus sayth the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and bite them with their teeth, and crie peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him,

They deuoure all their substance, and then flatter them, promising that al shall goe well: but if one restraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mischiefe.

6 Therefore night shall be vnto you for a vision, and darknesse shall be vnto you for a diuination, and the Sunne shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shall be darker ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the Soothsayers contounded: yea, they shall all couer their lippes, for they haue none answer of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding I am full of power by the spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the priests thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the high places of the Forrest.

BUt in the last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and it shall be exalted aboue the hills, and people shall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the mountaine of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Iakob, and he will teach vs his wayes, and wee will walke in his pathes: for the Law shall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

3 And hee shall iudge among many people, and rebuke mightie nations a farre off, and they shall breake their swords into mattocks, and their speares into fithes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figtree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

This Messiah shall be a sufficient safeguard for vs, and though the enemy invade vs for a time, yet shall God stirre vp many which shall be able to deliuer vs. These whom God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians and Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time. By these good uenours will God deliuer vs, when the enemy commeth into our land. This remnant of Church which God shall deliuer, shall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doeth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man. I will destroy all things where in thou puttest thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatry, and so will helpe thee.

It shall be so terrible that he like hath not bene heard of.

He taketh the hie mountaines and hard rockes to witness against the obstinacie of his people.

I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benedictions vpon thee.

^e Thus the people by hypocrites asks how to please God, and are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their lives.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: they all lie in wait for blood: every man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the Prince asked, and the Iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is as a bryar, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation cometh: then shall be their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counsellor: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lyeth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will wait for God my Satiour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against mee, O mine enemy: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darknesse, the Lord shall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.

10 Then shee that is mine enemy, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto mee, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her: now shall shee be troden downe as the myre of the streetes.

11 This is the day, that thy walles shall be built: this day shall driue farre away the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Asshur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from sea to sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of their inuentions.

14 Feed thy people with thy rodde, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the middes of Carmel let them feede in Baschaan in Gilead, as in olde time.

15 According to the dayes of thy coming out of the land of Egypt, wil I shew vnto him marueilous things.

16 The nations shall see, and bee confounded for all their power: they shall lay their

^b He sheweth that the Prince, the Iudge, and the rich man are linked together, all to doe euill, and to cloke the doings of one of another.

^c That is the rich man that is able to giue money, abstinence from no wickednesse nor iniurie.

^d These men agree among themselves, and conspire with one consent to doe euill.

^e They that are of most illumination, and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briars to prick.

^f Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours.

^g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedie for the godly in desperate euils, is to trust vnto God for succour.

^h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemy.

ⁱ To wit, when God shall shew himselfe a deliuerer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

^k Meaning, the cruell enuie of the Babylonians.

^l When the Church shall be restored, they that were enemies afore shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holds, riuer, sea nor mountaine shall be able to let them.

^m Afore this grace appeares, he sheweth how grievously the hypocrites themselves shall be punished, seeing that the earth is full, which can not surmount.

ⁿ The Prophet prayeth to God that all her fruits are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to crueltie and deceit, so that none speaketh his owne brother.

^o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people, so he had bene a foretime.

^p They shall be as

They shall be afraid to hear his voice, for they shall be afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee. 17 They shall lick the dust like a serpent: they shall moue out of their holes like wormes: they shall be afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee. 18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! Hee reteineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

19 Hee will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: hee will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

20 Thou wilt performe thy truth to Iacob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

¹ Meaning, of his elect. ² The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect faith of his merciful promise which hee had made of olde to Abraham, & to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

NAHVM.

THE ARGVMENT.

As they of Nineueh shewed themselves prompt and ready to receive the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lorde by repentance: so after a certaine time, rather giuing themselves to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begonne, they cast off the care of Religion, and so returned to their vomite, and provoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should bee for their consolation. And as it seemeth, hee prophesied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THE burden of Nineueh. ^a The booke of the vision of Nahum the ^b Elkeshite. ^c God is ^d ielous, and the Lorde reuengeth, the Lorde reuengeth: euen the Lord of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduerfaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The Lord is slowe to anger, but hee is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, & he drieth vp all the riuers: Baschan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hills melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

6 Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rocks are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good ^h and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, he will vtterly destroy the place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What doe yee ^k imagine against the Lord? he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

10 For hee shall come as vnto ^l thornes fol- den one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dried.

11 There ^m commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellor.

12 Thus saith the Lord, Though they be ⁿ quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when hee shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in funder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be ^o sown: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

15 Behold vpon the mountaines the feet of him that declareth and publisheth ^p peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feasts, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe thorow thee: he is vtterly cut off.

e Meaning, their speares should shake and crash together.

f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them.

g The Assyrians will flatter themselves, and say, that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fish-pool, whose waters they that walke on the banks cannot touch, but they shall be scattered, and shall not looke backe, though men would cal them.

h God commandeth the enemies to spoile Nineueh and promitteth them infinite riches and treasures.

i That is Nineueh, and the men thereof shall be after this sort.

k Reade Ioei, 2, 6.

l Meaning, Nineueh, whose inhabitants were cruell like the Lions, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyrannie to provide for their wines and children.

m That is, as soone as my wrath beginneth to kindle.

emptiers haue emptied them out, and marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mighty men is made red: the valiant men are in skarlet: the charrets shall be as in the fire, and flames in the day of his preparation, and the firre trees shall tremble.

4 The charrets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and fro in the high wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoot like the lightning.

5 Hee shall remember his strong men: they shal stumble as they goe: they shal make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.

6 The gates of the riuers shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Huzzab the Quene shall be led away captiue, & her maids shall lead her as with the voice of doves, siming vpon their breasts.

8 But Nineueh is of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they crye: but none shall looke backe.

9 Spoile yee the siluer, spoile the golde: for there is none end of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 Shee is emptie and void and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorowe is in all loines, and the faces of them all gather blacknesse.

11 Where is the dwelling of the lions, and the pasture of the lions whelps? where the lion and the lionesse walked, and the lions whelpes, and none made them afraid.

12 The lion did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and worried for his lionesse, and filled his holes with pray, and his denes with spoile.

13 Behold, I come vnto thee, sayth the Lord of hostes, and I will burne her charrets in the smoke, and the sword shall deuoure thy young lions, and I will cut off thy spoile from the earth, and the voice of thy messengers shal no more be heard.

n Signifying the herales, which were accustomed to proclaime warre. See reade, of thy gummeteeth wherewith Nineueh was wont to bruisethe bones of the poore.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can escape the hand of God.

O Bloodie citie, it is all full of lies, and roberie: the pray departeth not:

2 The noise of a whip, and the noise of the mooing of the wheelles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charrets.

3 The horseman listeth vp both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is slaine, and the deadbodies are many: there is none end of their corpses: they stumble vpon their corpses,

4 Because of the multitude of the forni-cations of the harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, and selleth the people through her whoredome, and the nations throw her witchcrafts.

5 Behold, I come vpon thee, saith the Lord of hostes, and will discover thy skirts vpon thy face, and will shew the nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdomes thy shame.

6 And I will cast filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a gasing stocke.

7 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroyed, who will haue pitie vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better then No, which was full of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditch was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were her helpers.

10 Yet was she caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streets: and they cast lots for her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chaines.

11 Also thou shalt be drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, and shalt seeke helpe, because of the enemy.

12 All thy strong cities shall bee like figgetrees with the first ripe figges: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Behold, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shalbe opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire shall deuoure thy barres.

14 Draw thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holds: goe into the clay, and temper the morter: make strong bricke.

15 There shall the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eat thee vp like the locusts, though thou be multiplied like the locusts, and multiplied like the grasshopper.

16 Thou hast multiplied the merchants aboute the starres of heauen: the locust spolieth and flieth away.

17 Thy princes are as the grasshoppers, and thy captaines as the great grasshoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away, and their place is not knowen where they are.

18 Thy shepheards doe sleepe, O king of Asshur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grievous: all that heare the brute of thee, shall clap the hands ouer thee: for vpon whom hath not thy malice passed continually?

c He compared Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beautie and subtiltie enticeth yong men, and bringeth them to destruction.

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with so many nations, and yet was now destroyed.

|| Or, thine.

e Signifying, that Gods iudgements should suddenly destroy the Assyrians as these vermines are with raine or change of weather.

f Thy Princes and counsellors.

g Meaning, that there was no people to whom the Assyrians had not done hurt.

a It neuer ceaseth to spoile and robbe.

b He sheweth how the Caldeans shall halte, and how courageous their horses shall be in beating the ground, when they come against the Assyrians.

HABAKKUK.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which indure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none end. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbornnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, he comforteth them by this, that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shall be at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer wherewith they should comfort themselves.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

He burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.

O Lord, how long shall I crie & thou wilt not heare! *eu*en cry out vnto thee for violence, & thou wilt not help!

Why doest thou shew me iniquity, and cause me to behold sorow? for spoiling, and violence are before me: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.

Therefore the Lawe is dissolued, and iudgement doeth neuer goe forth: for the wicked doeth compassie about the righteous: therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth.

Behold among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and marueill: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: *d*ye will not beleuee it, though it be told you.

For loe, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the land to possesse the dwelling places that are not theirs.

They are terrible and fearefull: e their iudgement and their dignitie shall proceede of themselves.

Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the evening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flee as the eagle hastning to meat.

They come all to spoile: before their faces shall be an East winde, and they shall gather the captiuitie, g as the sand.

And they shall mocke the Kings, and the princes shall be a scorn vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather h dust, and take it.

Then shall they take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, *i*mputing their power vnto their god.

Art not thou of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? wee shall k not die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euil: thou canst not behold wickednes: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressours, & holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuou-reth the man, that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them?

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, & gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat, and their meat plentiful.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net and not spare continually to slay the nations?

CHAP. II.

A vision, 5 Against pride, couetousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatrie.

I will stand vpon my watch, and set me vpon the tower, and will looke and see what he would say vnto me, and what I shall answer to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered mee, and said, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Behold, d he that lifteth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpriight in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith,

5 Yea, indeed the proud man is as e he that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall hee not endure, because hee hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parab'e against him, and a taunting prouerbe against him, and say, Ho, hee that increaseth that which is not his? f how long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? & awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoile thee, a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish and make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Caldeans. f Signifying, that all the world shall with the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression and couetousnesse, they heape but vpon themselves more heauie burdens: for the more they get the more are they troubled, g That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians.

1 So that the great deuoureth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world.

m Meaning, that the enemies flatter themselves, and glorie in their own force, power and wit. n Meaning, that they should not.

a I will renounce mine owne iudgement, and onely depend on God to be instructed what I shall answer them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all temptations.

b Write it in great letters, that hee that runneth may reade it.

c Which contained the destruction of the enemy, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hasty affections, yet the issue of both is certaine at his time appointed.

d To trust in himselfe, or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the onely rest is to stay vpon God by faith, Rom. 1. 17. gal. 3. 11. heb. 10. 38.

e He compareth the proud, and couetous man to ^h Signifying that the covetous man is the ruine of his own house, when as he thinketh to enrich it by cruelty and oppression.

ⁱ The stones of the house shall cry and say, that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answer and say the fame of it selfe.

^k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labours, as though they were consumed with fire.

^l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appear through all the world. ^m He reproacheth thus the king of Babylon, who as he was drunken with couetousnes and cruelty, so he provoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the end brought them to shame.

ⁿ Whereas thou thoughtest to have glory of these thy doings they shall turne to thy shame for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne.

^o Because the Babylonians were cruell not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beasts therein, he sheweth that the like cruelty shall be executed against them. ^p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing availe them: for they were but blockes or stones, read Ier. 10. 8. q If thou wilt consider what it is, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 He, he that coueteth an euill couetousnes to his house, that he may set his nest on hie to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou ^h hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the ⁱ stone shall cry out of the wal, & the beam out of the timber shall answer it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the ^k Lord of hostes that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall even wearie themselves for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall ^l be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour ^m drinke: thou ioynest thine heate, and makest ⁿ him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame ^o for glorie: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee & shameful spewing shall be for thy glory.

17 For the ^p cruelty of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoile of the beasts, which made them afraid, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the Pimage? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumbe idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that saith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: ^q behold, it is laid ouer with golde and silver: and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

CHAP. I. I.

2 A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habbakkuk the Prophet for the ignorances.

2 ^b O Lord, I haue heard thy voice, and was afraid: O Lord, reuiue thy ^c worke in the mids of the people, in the middes of the yeeres make it known: in wrath remember mercy.

3 God commeth from ^d Teman, and the Holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise,

4 And his brightnesse was as the light:

^a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

^b Thus the people were afraid when they heard Gods threatenings & prayed.

^c That is, the state of thy Church which is now ready to perish before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.

^d Teman & Paran were neere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now, as it was then, he had hornes comming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, & burning coales went forth before his feete.

6 Hee flood and measured the earth: hee beheld & dissolued the nations, and the euil-lasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hills did bow: his ^e wayes are euil-lasting.

7 For his iniquitie I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the ^f priuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou didst ride vpon thine horses? thy charrets brought saluation.

9 Thy ^g bow was manifestly reueiled, and the ^h othes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah. thou ⁱ diddest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines saw thee, & they trembled: the streame of the water ^j passed by: the deepe made a noise, and lift vp his hand on hie.

11 The ^k sunne and moone stood still in their habitation: ^l at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and diddest thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, ^m even for saluation with thine ⁿ Anointed: thou hast woundest the head of the house of the wicked, and discoveredst the foundations vnto the ^o necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest ^p strike thorow with his own stauers the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlewind to scatter me. their reioicing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I heard, my belly trembled: my lips shooke at the voice: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in ^q the day of trouble: for when he commeth vp ^r vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the figtree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit be in the vines: the labour of the Olive shall faile, & the fields shall yeeld no meat: the sheepe shall be cut off from the folde, and there shall be no bullocke in the stables.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feete like Hindes feete, and hee will make me to walke vpon mine hie places. ^s To the chiefe finger on Neginothai.

to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies. ^t God destroyed his enemies both by great and small with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church. ^u Hee returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraid of Gods iudgements. ^v He sheweth that the faithfull can never haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements. ^w Thus the enemy: but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them. ^x He declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared. ^y The chiefe finger vpon the instruments of musike shall haue occasion to prayse God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

^e Wherby it meant a power, that was ioynt with his brightnesse, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was reueiled in mount Sinai to his people, P sal. 3. 1. 6.

^f Signifying, that God had wonderful meanes, and had a marvellous power when he would deliuer his Church. ^g The iniquities of this king of Syria in vexing thy people was made manifest by thy iudgements, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 3. 10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed chemiseles, Iudg. 7. 12.

^h Meaning, that God was not angry with the waters, but that by this means he would destroy his enemies and deliuer his Church.

ⁱ And so diuine all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

^k That is, thy power.

^l For he had not only made a covenant with Abraham, but renewed it with his posterity.

^m Reade Num. 10. 11.

ⁿ He alludeth to the red sea, and Jordan, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as were by lifting vp of their hands.

^o As appeareth, Iudg. 10. 12.

^p According to thy commandment the sinne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that sought in thy cause, as though it durst not goe forward.

^q Signifying, that there is no saluation, but by Christ.

^r From the top of the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies. ^s God destroyed his enemies both by great and small with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church. ^t Hee returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraid of Gods iudgements. ^u He sheweth that the faithfull can never haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements. ^v Thus the enemy: but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them. ^w He declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared. ^x The chiefe finger vpon the instruments of musike shall haue occasion to prayse God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great judgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should be utterly destroyed, and they caried away captives by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, hee prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians, and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care over them: And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to Gods mercy by reason of the free promise of God made unto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the ende they should be gathered unto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

The word of the Lord, which came unto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the daies of Iosiah, the sonne of Amon King of Iudah.

I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.
I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the fowles of the heaven, and the fishes of the sea, and ruine Babel to the wicked, and I will cut off man, from off the land, sayth the Lord.

I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the Priests,

And them that worship the host of heaven vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by Malcham,

And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord nor inquired for him.

Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his guests.

And it shal be in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with a strange apparell.

In the same day also will I visite all those that daunce vpon the thresholds so proudly, which fill their masters houses by cruelty and deceit.

And in that day, sayth the Lord, there shall be a noife, and crie from the fifth gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

And in that day, sayth the Lord, there shall be a noife, and crie from the fifth gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

Howe ye inhabitants of the slow place: for the companie of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off.

And at that time will I search Ierusalem with lights, and visite the men that are frozen in their dregs, & say in their hearts, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

Therefore their goods shal be spoyled, and their houses waste: they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drink the wine therof.

The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, & hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: the strong man shall crie therebitterly.

That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauines, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of clouds and blacknesse,

A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towers,

And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

Neither their siluer nor their golde shall be able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the whole land shall be deuoured by the fire of his ielousie: for hee shall make euen a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

He moueth to returne to God, & Prophecying destruction against the Philistims, Moabites and others.

Gather your selues, euen gather you, O nation not worthy to be loued,

Before the decree come fourth, and yee bee as chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.

Seeke yee the Lord all the meeke of the earth, which haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousness, seeke lowliness, if so bee that yee may bee hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

7 And the coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Iudah to feed thereupon in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, where by they vbraided my people, and magnified themselves against their borders.

9 Therefore, as I haue, saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall bee as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of nettles and salt pits, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my folke shall spoile them, and the remnant of my people shall possess them.

10 This shall they haue for their pride, because they haue reproched, and magnified themselves against the Lord of hostes people.

11 The Lord will be terrible vnto them: for he will consume all the gods of the earth, and euery man shall worship him from his place, euen all the Iles of the heathen.

12 Yet Morians also shall bee slaine by my sword with them.

13 And hee will stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Asshur, and will make Nineueh desolate, and waste like a wilderness.

14 And flockes shall lie in the mids of her, and all the beasts of the nations, and the pellicane, and the owle shall abide in the vpper postes of it: the voice of birds shall sing in the windowes, and desolations shall be vpon the postes: for the cedars are vncovered.

15 This is the reioycing citie that dwelt carelesse, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none besides mee: how is shee made waste, and the lodging of the beasts! euery one that passeth by her, shall hiss and wagge his hand.

4 Against the gouernours of Ierusalem. 8 Of the calling of all the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the residue of Israel.

Woe to her that is filthy and polluted, to the robbing citie.

2 Shee heard not the voyce: shee receiued not correction: shee trusted not in the Lord: shee drew not neere to her God.

3 Her princes within her are as roaring lions: her iudges are as wolues in the euening, which leaue not the bones till the morrow.

4 Her prophets are light and wicked persons: they haue polluted the Sanctuary: they haue written the Law.

5 The iust Lord is in the mids thereof: hee will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth he bring his iudgements to light, hee faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed.

6 I haue cut off the nations: their towers are desolate: I haue made their streeces waste, that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man, and without inhabitant.

7 I said, Surely thou wilt feare mee: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling should not bee destroyed howeuer I visited them, but they rose carely and corrupted all their workes.

8 Therefore, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise up to the pray, for I am determined to gather the nations, and then I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, and all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be deuoured with the fire of my ielousie.

9 Surely when will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lord, to serue him with one consent.

10 From beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, the daughter of my dispersed, praying vnto mee, shall bring me an offering.

11 In that day shalt thou not be ashamed, for all thy workes wherein thou hast transgressed against mee: for then I will take away out of the mids of thee them that reioice of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proud of mine holy mountaine.

12 Then will I leaue in the mids of thee an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord.

13 The remnant of Israel shall doe none iniquitie, nor speake lies: neither shall a deceitfull tongue bee found in their mouth: for they shall be fed, and lie downe, and none shall make them afraid.

14 Reioice, O daughter Zion: be yce ioyfull, O Israel: be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem.

15 The Lord hath taken away thy iudgements: he hath cast out thine enemy: the King of Israel, euen the Lord is in the mids of thee: thou shalt see no more euill.

16 In that day it shall bee said to Ierusalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine hands be faint.

17 The Lord thy God in the mids of thee is mightie: hee will saue, hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: hee will quiet himselfe in his loue: hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioy.

18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the reproch for it,

17 Behold,

c The wicked thus offered that God was euer among them, but the Prophet answereth that they cannot escape their wickednes: relief for God will not leaue with their sinnes: yet that he did patiently abide and sent his Prophets continually to call them to repentance, but hee proceeed nothing. d By the destruction of other nations he sheweth that the Iewes should haue learned to feare God. e They were most earnest and ready to doe wickedly. f Seeing ye will not repent, yet shall I look for my vengeance as well as other nations. g Let any should thinke then that Gods glory should haue perished when Iudah was destroyed, he sheweth that he will publish his grace through all the world. h Elr. with ex. afflict thee, and I will Psaue her that haltech, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them prayse and fame in all the lands of their shame.

HAGGAI

THE ARGUMENT.
When the time of the seventy yeres captiuitie prophecied by Iheremias, was expired, God raised up Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Leues, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God then sent among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet hee comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicity: forasmuch as the Lord will finishe his worke that he hath begunne, and send Christ whom he had promised, and by whome they should attaine to perfect ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophetic of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the second yeere of King Darius, in the sixt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai) vnto Zerub-babel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying,
This people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lords house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministrie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your sieved houses, and this House lie waste?

5 Now therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 Yee haue sown much, and bring in little: yee eate, but yee haue not enough: yee drinke but yee are not filled: yee clothe you, but yee bee not warme: and hee that earneth wages, putteth the wages in a broken bagge.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe vp to the mountaine and bring wood, and build this House, and I will bee fauourable in it, and I will bee glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Yee looked for much, and loe, it came to little, and when yee brought it home, I did blow it vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man to his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed 20 At that time I will bring you againe, and then will I gather you: for I will giue you a name and praise among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, saith the Lord.

it selfe from deaw, and the earth stayed her fruite.

11 And I called for a drouge vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the voice of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Ie-hozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the House of the Lord of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

Hee sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceede the first.

IN the foure & twentieth day of the sixt mo-neth, in the second yeere of King Darius,

2 In the seventh moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that sawe this House in her first glory, and how doe you see it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerub-babel,

a For the people according as Isa. 32. 11. and Ezek 4. 1. had prophecied, that this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the spirituall Temple, the Church of Christ

Who was the sonne of Shealtiel, and the hie Priest
King of the Persians, as some think. b Because the building of the Temple by an oracle by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies and if these two notable men had needed to be stirred vp and ad-moued of their deuities what shall we thinke of other gouernours whose doings are either against God, or very cold in his cause?

c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred pollicie and priuate profit: o religion, being content with small beginnings.
d Shewing that they sought not only their necessities, but their very pleasures before Gods honour.
e Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your pollicies to his religion, and because ye seek not him first of all, f Meaning, that they should leaue off their owne commodities, and goe forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting forth of his religion. g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promise, 1 King. 8. 21. 29. h That is, my glory shall be set forth by you. i And so bring it to nothing.

g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promise, 1
King. 8.
21. 29.

h That is, my glory shall be set forth by you.

i And so bring it to nothing.

babel, saith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong, all yee people of the land, saith the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hostes.

6 According to the word that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, Yet a litle while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the drie land.

8 And I will moue all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glory, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

10 The glory of this last House shall bee greater then the first, saith the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue peace, saith the Lord of hostes.

11 In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Aske now the Priests concerning the Law, and say, 13 If one beare holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meate, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered, and sayd, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it bee vncleane? And the Priests answered, and said, It shall bee vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and sayd, So is this people, and so is this nation before mee, saith the Lord: and so are all the workes of contrarie hee that is vncleane, and not pure of heart, doeth corrupt those things and make them detestable vnto God, which els are good and godly.

their hands, and that which they offer here is vncleane.

16 And now, I pray you consider in your minds: from this day, and afore, even afore a stone was laid vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentieth measures, there were but ten: when one came to the winepresse for to draw out fifty vessels out of the presse, there were but twentieth.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your minds, from this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, even from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was layd: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the seed yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figge tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying, 22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I will shake the heauens and the earth.

23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of Kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charrets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and wil make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hostes.

b That is, goe forward in building the Temple.

c He exhorts them to patience though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ by whom all things should be renewed.

d Meaning, Christ whom all ought to look for and desire: or by desire, he may signifie all precious things, as riches and such like.

e Therefore when his time cometh, he can make all the treasures of the world to serue his purpose: but the glory of this second Temple doeth not stand in material things, neither can be built.

f Meaning, all spirituall blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil. 4. 7.

g That is, the flesh of the sacrifices whereby he signifieth that that thing which of it self is good cannot make another thing so, and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselves by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrarie hee that is vncleane, and not pure of heart, doeth corrupt those things and make them detestable vnto God, which els are good and godly.

h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

i That is, before the building was begun.

k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promised that God would blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruit was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.

l He exhorts them to patience and to abide till the harvest.

m I will make a change and renew all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

n Hereby he sheweth that there shall be no let or hindrance when God will make this wonderful restitution of his Church.

o Signifying that his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

TWOMONETHS after that Haggai had begunne to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to bepe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore hee putteth them in remembrance, for what cause God had sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefit of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue from death and sinne by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednesse, and coldnesse to set forth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh them most sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, hee mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes bee prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

C H A P. I.

^a He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to shew the wickednesse of their fathers. ¹⁶ He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of ^a Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto ^b Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying, ² The Lord hath bene sore displeased with your fathers.

³ Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, ^d Turne yee vnto mee, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes.

⁵ Your fathers, where ^e are they? and doe the Prophets liue for euer?

⁶ But did not my words and my statutes, which I commaunded by my seruants the Prophets, take hold of ^e your fathers? and ^e they returned, and said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath he dealt with vs.

⁹ Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with mee, said vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.

¹⁰ And the man that stood among the myrre trees, answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe thorow the world.

¹¹ And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stood among the myrre trees, and said, We haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

¹² Then the ^m Angel of the Lord answered and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast been displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?

¹³ And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good words and comfortable words.

¹⁵ And am greatly angry against the carelesse heathen: for I was angry but ^a a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

¹⁶ Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie: mine house shall bee builded in it, saith the Lord of hostes, and a line ^p shall bee stretched vpon Ierusalem.

¹⁸ Then lift I vp mine eyes and saw, and behold, ^r foure hornes.

¹⁹ And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

²⁰ And the Lord shewed mee foure ^s carpenters.

²¹ Then said I, What come these to doe? And hee answered, and sayd, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

Church, East, West, North, South. ^f These Carpenters or Smithes are Gods instruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and strong hornes which would ouerthrow the Church, & declare that none enemies horne is so strong; but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

C H A P. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

ILift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and behold, a ^a man with a measuring line in his hand.

² Then said I, Whether goest thou? And he said vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the bredth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

³ And behold, the Angel that talked with me, went forth: and another Angel went out to meeet him, ⁴ And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this ^b yong man, and say, ^c Ierusalem shall bee inhabited without wals, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

⁵ For I, saith the Lord, will bee vnto her a wall of ^d fire round about, and will ^e be the glory in the mids of her.

⁶ Ho, ho, come ^f forth, and flee from the land. ^a That is, the Angel who was Christ: for in respect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in respect of his eternal essence, is God and so called. ^b Meaning himselfe Zechariah, ^c Signifying, the spirituall Ierusalem and Church vnder Christ, which should be extended by the Gospel through all the world and should neede no materiall wals, nor trust in any worldly strength, but should be safely preferred, and dwell in peace among all their enemies. ^d To defend my Church, so feare the enemies, and to destroy them if they approach neere. ^e In mee they shall haue their full felicitie, and glory. ^f He calleth to them which partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease, remained still in captiuitie, and so preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefits of God promised in his Church.

g As it was I that scattered you, so have I power to restore you.
 h By flying from Babylon and coming to the Church.
 i Seeing that God hath begun to shewe his grace among you by deli- uering you he con- tinueth the same still toward you, and therefore sendeth me his Angel, and his Christ to defend you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.
 k Ye are so deare vnto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Psal. 17. 8.
 l Vpon the hea- then your ene- mies.
 m They shall be your seruants as you haue bene theirs. n This must necessarily bee vnderstood of Christ, who being God equall with his Father, was sent as he was Mediatour to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne therein.

land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure winds of the hea- uen, saith the Lord.

7 ^h Save thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with thy daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After ^{this} glory hath hee sent mee vnto the nations, which spoiled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the ^{apple} of his eye.

9 For behold, I will lift vp mine hand ^l vp- on them: and ^m they shall bee a spoyle to those that serued them, and ye shall know that the Lord of hostes hath ⁿ sent me.

10 Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall bee ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherite Iudah his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Ieru- salem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdom.

And he shewed me Iehoshua the hie Priest, ^a standing before the Angel of the Lord, and ^b Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord reprocue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprocue thee. Is not this a ^d brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the ^e filthy garments from him. And vnto him he said, Behold, I haue ^f caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I said, Let them ^g set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vp- on his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vn- to Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also ^h iudge mine House, and shalt a He prayed to Christ the Medi- ator for the state of the Church.

 b Which decla- reth that the faithful haue not onely warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spi- rituall wicked- nesses, Eph. 6. 12.
 c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediatour of his Church, that he would reuke Satan: and here hee sheweth himselfe to be the conti- nual preferuer of his Church.
 d Meaning, that Iehoshua was wonderfully preferred in the captiuitie, and now Satan sought to afflict and trouble him when he was do- ing his office.
 e In respect of the glorious gar- ments and preci- ous stones that the Priests did weare before the captiuitie: and by this contemptible state the Pro- phet signifieth that these small beginings should be made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church.
 f Hee sheweth of what apparell he spea- keth, which is when our filthy finnes are taken away and we are clad with Gods mer- cies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution.
 g The Prophet prayeth that be- sides the raiment, the Priest might also haue tye for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned that can content them- selues with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfe- ction, and obtaineth it.
 h That is, haue rule and gouernement in my Church, as thy predecessors haue had.

also keepe my courts, and I will giue thee ⁱ place among ^k these that stand by.

8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy fellows that sit before thee: for they ^l are monstrous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the ^m Branch my seruant.

9 For loe, the ⁿ stone that I haue layd be- fore Iehoshua: vpon one stone shall bee seuen eyes: behold, I will ^o cut out the graving there- of saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take ^p away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day saith the Lord of hostes, shall yee call euery man his neighbour vnder the vine, and vnder the figgetree.

For Iehoshua, that not onely he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa. 53. 3, and 53. 14, 15. n Hee sheweth that the mi- nisters cannot build, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because he giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him, Chap. 4. 10. o That is, I will make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of God. p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and visite their finnes no more. q Ye shall then liue in peace and quietnes, that is, in the kingdome of Christ, Isa. 3. 3. micah 4. 4. hag. 2. 10.

CHAP. III.

The vision of the golden Candlestick, and the Exposition thereof.

And the Angel that talked with me, came againe and waked me, as a man that is rai- ted out of his sleepe.

2 And said vnto me, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and behold, a ^a candle- stick all of gold with a bowle vpon the toppe of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen ^b pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.

3 And two olue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with mee, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, an- swered and said vnto mee, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto mee, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto ^c Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by ^d an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

7 Who art thou, O ^e grear mountaine, be- fore Zerubbabel? thou shalt bee a plaine, and ^f he shall bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel haue laide the foundations of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and ^g thou shalt know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me vnto you.

the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the ene- mies dayly labour to let, in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine. f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that hee would continue his grace and fauour toward the Tem- ple. g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building and preferuation of my spirituall Temple.

10 For who hath despised the day of the h small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of ⁱ tin in the hand of Zerubbabel:
 these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him,
 What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What be these two oliue branches, which shorow the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the gold?

13 And he answered me, and said, Know-est thou not what these bee? And I said, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two ^l oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

h That is, God hath seuen eyes; meaning, a continual prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can go about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, cha. 3. 9 ^l Which were cutt graine and full of oyle, so that still they powred forth oyle into the lampes; signifying that God will continually maintaine and prelerue his Church, and indue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of thineues, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and behold, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou?
 And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the bredth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then said hee vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth:
 for euery one that ^bstealeth, shall be cut off ^aafwell on this side, as on that: and euery one that ^dsweareth, shall be cut off ^aafwell on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the chiefe, and into the house of him, that falsely sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the mids of his house, and shal consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, went forth, and said vnto mee, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I sayd, What is it? And he sayd,
 This is an ^e Ephah that goeth forth. He sayd moreouer, This is the ^f fight of them through all the earth.

7 And behold, there was lift vp a ^g talent of lead: and this is a ^h woman that sitteth in the mids of the Ephah.

8 And hee sayd, This is ⁱ wickednesse, and hee cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and he cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

a Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by continuing his word, & casting off all iudgement and equi-tie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had indly light both on them, and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans thir former enemies.

^h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse.
ⁱ Signifying, that Satan should not haue such power against the Iewes to tempt them, as hee had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquitie in a measure as in a prison.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked:
 and behold, there came out two ^k women, and the wind ^{was} in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betwene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

11 And hee said vnto mee, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall bee established and set there vpon her owne place.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charers he describeth the foure monarchies.

Againe I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came foure ^a charers out from betwene two ^b moun-taines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasse.

2 In the first charer were ^c red horses, and in the second charer ^d blacke horses.

3 And in the third charer ^e white horses, and in the fourth charer, horses of ^f diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and said vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What are these, my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and said vnto me, These are the ^g foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the ^h South country.

7 And the ⁱ reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe through the world, and hee said, Goe passe through the world. So they went throughout the world.

8 Then cried he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Behold, these that goe toward the North country, haue pacified my ^k spirit in the North country.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, ^{each} of Heldai and of Tobiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and go vnto the house ^l of Ioshiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

 crownes, and set ^m them vpon the head of Ieho-

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

And in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in Chisleu.

2 For they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech, and their ment o pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lord of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I weepe in the fift moneth, and separate my selfe as I haue done these so many yeeres?

4 Then came the worde of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the Priests, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen these seuentie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? doe I approve it?

6 And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did yee not eate for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should yee not heare the words, which the Lord hath cryed by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South & the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shew mercy. For the thought they had deferred toward God because of this fast, which they inuented of themselves: and though fasting of it selfe bee good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is heere reprooued. b Did yee not eate, and drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie? and so likewise ye did obtaine according to your owne fantasies, and not after the precept of my Law. c Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, and by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commaunded. k He sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared that they were godly, Matth. 23. 23.

and compassion euery man to his brother,

10 And oppress not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an Adamant stone, lest they should heare the Law and the words which the Lord of hostes sent in his Spirit by the ministry of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as hee cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed thither nor returned: for they layed the pleasant land waste.

ⁿ That is, after they were caried captiue. ^o By their sinnes, whereby they prouoked God to anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercie of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

Againe the word of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was ialous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ialous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the midst of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a citie of trueth, and the mountaine of the Lord of hostes, the holy Mountaine.

4 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, There shall yet old men and old women dwell in the strettes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age,

5 And the strettes of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles, playing in the strettes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore bee vnpossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the midst of Ierusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God in trueth, and in righteousness.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Let your hands be strong, yee that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant, and obey the Prophets which encourage you thereto.

1 And would not carie the Lords burden, which was sweet and easie, but would beare their owne, which was heauie and grievous to the flesh, thinking to merite thereby: which multitude is taken of oxe, which drinke at the yoke, Nehem. 9. 19.

m Which declareth that they rebelled not only against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God, that spake in them.

ⁿ That is, after they were caried captiue. ^o By their sinnes, whereby they prouoked God to anger.

a I loved my citie with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should doe her any iniurie. b Because these shall be faithful and loyal toward me her husband. c Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserve them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and increase their children in great abundance. d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man. Rom. 4. 10. Gen. 18. 14. e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shall be sure and stable.

phers, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hosts was layd that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went our or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not intreate the residue of this people as aforetime, sayth the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seede shall bee prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shal giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dew, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as yee were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so wil I deliuer you, and ye shal be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus sayth the Lord of Hostes, As I thought to punish^h you, when your fathers prouoked mee vnto wrath, sayth the Lorde of hostes, and repented not.

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayesⁱ to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that yee shall doe, Speake ye euery man the truth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly and vprightly in your gates.

17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false oath: for all these are the things that I hate, sayth the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hosts came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnes, and prosperous high feastes: therefore loue the truth and peace.

20 Thus sayth the Lord of hosts, That there shall yet comeⁱ people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shal go to another, saying, * Vp, let vs go and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people, and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hosts in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euery take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, Wee will goe with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

¹ The threatening of the Gentiles. ⁹ The coming of Christ.

The burden of the word of the Lord in the lande of * Hadrach: and Damascus shall bee his^b rest: when the eyes of man, euery of all the tribes of Israel shall bee toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border^d thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be^e very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and gold as the myre of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and he will swite her^f power in the Sea, and she shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorowful, and Ekron: for her countenance shal be ashamed, and the King shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shal dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, & his abominations from betweene his^h teeth: but he that remaineth, euery shall be for our God, and he shal be as a Prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall be as a lebuseite.

8 And I will campe about^k mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now^l haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King commeth vnto thee: he is iust and saued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an^m asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the charers from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall bee from^p sea vnto sea, and from the Riuer to the end of the land.

11 Thou also shalt bee^q saned through the blood of thy couenant, I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the strong hold, ye prisoners of hope: euery day doe I declare, that I will render the^r double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I^s bent as a bowe for mee: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue

^a Whereby he meaneth Syria. ^b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare so much as that.

^c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.

^d That is, by Damascus, meaning, that Hamath or Antiochia should bee vnder the same rod and plague.

^e Hee secretly shewethⁱ cause of their destruction, because they deuiued all other by their craft and subtiltie, which they cloaked with this name of wisdom.

^f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselves invincible by reason of the sea, that compasseth them round about, yet they shal not escape Gods iudgments.

^g Meaning, that all should be destroyed save a very few, that should remaine as strangers.

^h He promitteth to deliuer the Iewes when he shal take vengeance on their enemies for their cruelty, and wrongs done to them.

ⁱ As the Iebusites had bene destroyed, so should Ekron & all the Philistims.

^k He sheweth that Gods power only shalbe sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries, be they neuer so cruel, or asseemble their power neuer so often.

^l That is, God hath now scene the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue been afflicted by their enemies. ^m That is, he hath righteousness and saluation in himselfe for the vie and commoditie of his Church. ⁿ Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: & this is meant of Christ, as Mat. 21. 5.

^o No power of man or creature shall be able to let this kingdome of Christ, and hee shall peaceably gouerne the by his word. ^p That is, from the red sea to the sea called Syriacum: and by these places which the Iewes knew, he meane an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world. ^q That is, from Euphrates.

^r Meaning, Ierusalem or the Church, which is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, & left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them. ^s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all daungers, seeme they neuer so great.

^t That is, into the ho'y land where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you. ^u Meaning, the faithfull, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie.

^x That is, double benefites, and prosperitie in respect of that which your fathers enioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie. ^y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which he becometh by the Grecians.

raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a giants sword.

34 And the Lord shall be scene ouer them, and his arrow shall goe forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blowe the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlwindes of the South.

35 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them; and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as thorow wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

36 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall be as the stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

37 For how great is his goodnesse, and how great is his beautie? come shall make the yong men cheerefull, and new wine the maides.

CHAP. X.

1 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lord promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

Aske you of the Lord raine in the time of the later raine, so shall the Lord make white cloudes, and giue you shewes of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely the idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the soothsayers haue scene a lye, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepherds, and I did visite the goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as his beautiful horse in the battell.

4 Out of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bowe of battell, and out of him euery appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shall bee as the mightie men, which treade downe their enemies in the mire of the streets in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preferue the house of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a giant, and their heart shall reioyce as thorow wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

That is, the ten tribes, which should be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.

8 I will hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased.

9 And I will sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countries: and they shall liue with their children and turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And he shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuier shall drie vp: and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, sayth the Lord.

ned in one faith, by the doctrine of the Gospel. m Hee alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithful is committed to Christ. 7 A grievous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

Open thy doores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Howle, fire trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: howle ye, O oakes of Bashan, for the defenced Forrest is cut downe.

3 There is the voice of the howling of the shepherds: for their glory is destroyed: the voice of the roaring of Lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feed the sheepe of the slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them: and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, Blessed bee the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepherds spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more are those that dwell in the land, sayth the Lord: but loe, I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbors hand, and into the hand of his King: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto mee two staues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bandes, and I fed the sheepe.

8 Three shepherds also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule lothed them, and their soule abhorred mee.

the hypocrites, which euer haue the Name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which cometh of the spoyle of their brethren. h I will cause one to destroy another. i Their gouernours shall execute cruelty ouer them. k That is, the final remnant whom he thought worthy to shew mercie vnto. l God sheweth that is great benefice toward his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernement, neither continue in the bandes of brotherly vnity, and therefore he brake both the one and the other. Some read, for Bands, Destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed. m Wherby he sheweth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to liue no euill rulers because they should consider his great loue. n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefices of God.

9 Then said I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perissheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eat, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euery Beauty, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheep that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If yee thinke it good, giue me my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, & cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euery the Bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord said vnto me, Take to thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feed that that standeth vp: but he shall eate the flesh of the fatte, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke: the sword shall be vpon his arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall be clean dried vp, & his right eye shal be vterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

The burden of the word of the Lord vpon Israel, saith the Lord, which spred the heauens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a b cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he bee, in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shal be torne, though al the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindness.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shal deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her own place, euery in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preserue the tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glorie of the house of David shall not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and hee that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as David: and the house of David shall be as Gods house, and as the angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of David, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon mee, whom they haue feared, and they shall lament for him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and bee sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the land shal bewaile euery familie apart, the familie of the house of David apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The familie of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of Shimeon apart, and their wiues apart.

14 All the families that remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine, 1. Chro. 35. 22. k That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine. l Signifying that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefe shall lament. m Vnder these certaine families hee containeth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sinnes pierced Christ. n Called also Simeon. o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preferred from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleere riddance of idolatrie. 3 The Zeale of the godly against false prophets.

In that day there shall be a fountaine opened to the house of David, & to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vnclannesse.

2 And in that day, saith the Lord of hostes, I wil cut off the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will cause the prophets, and the vnclane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet prophesie, his father and his mother that begat him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begat him, shall thrust him through when he prophesieth.

4 And in that day shal the prophets be ashamed euery one of his vision, when hee hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

6 But hee shall say, I am no Prophet:

is the author of truth, a cloke thereunto. e He sheweth what zeale the godly shall haue vnder the kingdom of Christ, Deut. 13. 6. 9. f God shall make them ashamed of their errors and lies, and bring them to repentance: and they shall no more weare Prophets apparell to make their doctrine seeme more holy. g They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their living.

I am

d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, & lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preferred by my power, then if they were vnder their Kings, (which is meant by the house of David) or in their defended cities.

e They shall haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I haue compassion on them.

f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obstinacie and grieued my spirit, Iohn 1. 9. 37.

g That is, referred to Christs bodie, which here is referred to the spirit of God.

h They shall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had so grievously offended by their ingratitude.

i They shall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God, which was what shall be the fruit of their repentance, o wit, remission of sinnes, by the blood of Christ, which shall be a continual running fountaine and purge them from all vnclannesse.

b He promisseth that God will also purge them from all superstition, & that their religion shal be pure.

c Meaning the false prophets & teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vnclane spirits.

b He promisseth that God will also purge them from all superstition, & that their religion shal be pure.

c Meaning the false prophets & teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vnclane spirits.

d That is, when they shall prophesie lies, and make God, who

I am an husbandman: for man taught me to be an herdsman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these wounds in thine hands? Then shall hee answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 ¶ Arise, O sword, vpon my shepherd, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, sayth the Lord of hostes: smite the shepherd and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, saith the Lord, two parts there in shall be cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, and wil fine them as the siluer is fined, and will trie them as gold is tried: they shall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

10 And the Lord shall be King over all the earth, and the Lord shall be King over all the earth, and the Lord shall be King over all the earth.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Ierusalem shall be safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague, wherewith the Lord shall smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feet, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

13 But in that day, a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and euery one shall take the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered round about, with gold and siluer, and great abundance of apparel.

15 Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel and of the asse, & of all the beasts that be in these tents as this plague.

16 But it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yeere to yeere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem, to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raine.

18 And if the familie of Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there be written vpon the bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the pots in the Lords house shall be like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pottle in Ierusalem and Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and see the therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the House of the Lord of hostes.

h Hereby hee sheweth that though their parents and friends deale more gently with them, & put them not to death, yet they would to punish their children, that became false prophets, that the markes and signes should remaine for euer. i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should be an horrible dissolution among the people: for their gouernours and pastours should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applyeth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pastours, Math. 26. 31. k The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enjoy them, shall be tried with great afflictions, so that it shall be known that only Gods power and his mercie doe preserve them.

a He armethe the godly against the great tentations that should come before they enioied this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers should come they might know that they were warned of them afore. b As your fathers and you haue had experience both at the red sea, and at all other times. c By this manner of speech the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how he wil as it were, by miracle saue it. d So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the spiritual Ierusalem the Church. e He speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountaines. f Reade Amos 1. 1. g Because they did not credit the Prophets words, he turneth to God, and comforteth himself in that that he knew that these things should come, and saith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing. h Signifying, that there should be great troubles in the Church, and that the time herof is in the Lords handes, yet at length (which is here meant by the euening) God would send comfort.

i That is, the spiritual graces of God, which should euer continue in most abundance. k All idolatrie and superstition shall be abolished, and there shall be one God, one faith, & one religion. l This new Ierusalem shall be seen through all the world, and shall excell the first in excellencie, wealth and greatness.

m God will not only raise vp warre with them, but sedition at home to trie them. n To burn, and oppress him. o The enemies are rich, & therefore shall not come for a pray, but to destroy and shed blood. p As the men should be destroyed, yet hee.

q By the Egyptians, which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles. r Signifying, that to whose service they were put now (whether to labour, or to seruice in warre) they were now holy, because the Lord had sanctified them. s As precious the one as the other, because they shall be sanctified. t But all shall be pure & cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, or any that shall corrupt the true seruice of God.

CHAP. XIII.

8 Of the doctrine that shall proceed out of the Church, and of the resurrection thereof.

Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy spoyle shall be diuided in the middes of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoiled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then shall the Lord goe forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battell.

4 And his seete shall stand in that day vpon the mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, & the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shall be a very great valley, and halfe of the mountaine shall remooue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And ye shall flee into the valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reach vnto Azal: yea, yee shall flee like as yee fled from the earthquake in the daies of Vzziah King of Iudah: & the Lord my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day shall there be no cleere light, but darke.

7 And there shall be a day (it is knowne to the Lord) neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shall be light.

MALACHI.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raised up for the comfort of his Church after the captivity, and after him there was no more untill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more fervent desires looke for the coming of Messiah. Hee confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly hee reprooveth the Priests for their countenance, and for that they served God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his word. Hee also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of Idolatrous and many wives, murmuring against God, impatiencie, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, hee declareth that God would not forget his promise made unto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the covenant should be accomplished, whose coming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and joy unto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel, and chiefly the Priests.

THe burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by the ministration of Malachi.

2 I have loved you, saith the Lord: yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loved vs? Was not Esau Iakobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loved Iakob.

3 And I hated Esau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, Wee are impoueri- shed, but wee will returne and build the desolate places, yet saith the Lord of hostes, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry for ever.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and yee shall say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a ser- vant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hostes vnto you, O Priestes, that despise my Name? and yee say, Wherein haue we despised thy Name?

7 Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine al- tar, and you say, Wherein haue wee polluted thee? In that yee say, The table of the Lord is not so to be regarded.

8 And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not euill: and if yee offer the lame and sick, it is not euill: offer it now vnto thy prince: wil he be content with thee, or accept thy per- son, saith the Lord of hostes?

9 And now, I pray you, I pray before

God, that hee may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath beene by your meanes: will hee regard persons, saith the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you, that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shall be offered vnto my Name, and a pure offer- ing: for my Name is great among the hea- then, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 But yee haue polluted it in that yee say, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regar- ded.

13 Yee said also, Behold, it is a wearie- nesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame and the sicke: thus yee offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrifi- ceth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fat: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, and so committed both impiety, and also shewed their con- tempt of God, and countenance. The Priests and people were both weary with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and seruice they gaue to God, for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord. That is, hath abilitie to serue the Lord according to his word, and yet will serue him ac- cording to his countous minde.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priests, being seducers of the people.

ANd now, O yee Priests, this commaun- dement is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory vnto my Name, saith the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and wil curse your blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because yee doe not con- sider it in your heart.

3 Behold,

Will God con- sider your office and state, seeing you are so couetous & wicked?

1 Because the Levites, who kept the doores did not trie whe- ther the sacrifi- ces that came in, were according to the Law, God wiseth that they would ra- ther shut the doores, then to receive such as were not perfec- m God sheweth that their ingra- titude, and neg- lect of his true seruice shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was vnder the Law framed his words to the capacite of the people, and by the altar and sac- rifice he meaneth the spiri- tual seruice of God, which should be vnder the Gospel, when an ende should be made to all these legall ce- remonies by Christs onely sa- crifice.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shall be offered vnto my Name, and a pure offer- ing: for my Name is great among the hea- then, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 But yee haue polluted it in that yee say, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regar- ded.

13 Yee said also, Behold, it is a wearie- nesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame and the sicke: thus yee offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrifi- ceth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fat: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, and so committed both impiety, and also shewed their con- tempt of God, and countenance. The Priests and people were both weary with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and seruice they gaue to God, for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord. That is, hath abilitie to serue the Lord according to his word, and yet will serue him ac- cording to his countous minde.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory vnto my Name, saith the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and wil curse your blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because yee doe not con- sider it in your heart.

2 To serue me according to my word.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.

3 Behold,

d Your feede fowen shal come to no profit.
e You boast of your holinesse, sacrifices and feasts, but they shall turne to your shame, and be as vile as dung.
f The Priests obscured against the Prophet that he could not reprooue them, but he must speake against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth that the office is nothing standered when their villaines and dung are called by their owne names.

g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the covenant made with the tribe of Leui:
on Gods part,
that he would giue them long life and felicitie, and on their part that they should faithfully serue him according to his word.

h I prescribed Leui a certaine law to serue mee.

i He serued me and set forth my glory with all humilitie and submission.
k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruck other in the word of the Lord.

l He is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessities, and not to refuse it for himselfe.

m Shewing, that whosoever doeth not declare Gods will,
is not his messenger and Priest.

n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man:
for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren. o Whereby they had bound themselves to God to be an holy people. p They haue ioyned themselves in marriage with them that are of another religion. q That is, the Priests.
r Yee cause the people to lament, because that God doeth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine. s This is another fault, whereof he ac-cuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of marriage. t As the one halfe of thy selfe. u Shee that was ioyned to thee by a solemnne covenant, and by the innocation of Gods Name. x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh, and not many? y By his power and vertue he could haue made many women for one man. z Such as should be borne in lawfull and moderate marriage, wherein is no excede of lust.

3 Behold, I will corrupt^a your seed, and cast dongue vpon your faces, ^{euē} the^c dongue of your solempne feasts, and you shall be like vnto it.

4 And yee shall knowe, that I haue^e sent this commaundement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might stand, saith the Lord of hostes.

5 My^e covenant was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and he feared me, and was aff^{id} before^{id} my Name.

6 The law of^a truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lippes:
hee walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne any away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests^l lippes should preferue knowledge, and they should seeke the Law at his mouth: for hee is the^m messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the covenant of Leui, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to bee despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Lawe.

10 Haue we not all one^a father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse eu-ery one against his brother, and breake the covenant of^o our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem:
for Iudah hath defiled the holines of the Lord, which he loued, and hath married the^p daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iakob, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue ye done againe, and^r cou-ered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet yee say, 'Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene^s witness betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed: yet is shee thy^t companion, and the wife of thy^u covenant.

15 And did not^v he make one? yet had he abundance of spirit: and wherefore one?
because he sought a godly^w seede: therefore keepe your selues in^x spirit, and let none trespass against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest^y her, put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet hee couereth^z the inurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Yee haue^a wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, 'Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, euery one that^b doth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and hee delighteth in them. Or where is the God of iudgement?

d Returned against God, because he heard not you as those as ye called. e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and had no respect to them that feare him.
f Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iustice, because hee iudged not according to their fantasies.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord Iohn Baptist, and of Christ^g office.

Behold, I will send my^a messenger, and he shall prepare the way before mee: and the Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedily come to his Temple: euē the^b messenger of the covenant whom ye desire: behold, he shall come saith the Lord of hostes.

2 But who^c may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when he ap-peareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like Fullers sope.

3 And hee shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: he shall euē fine the sonnes^d of Le-ui and purifie them as gold and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousnesse.

4 Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde time and in the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come neere to you to iudge-ment, and I will bee a swift witness against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vex the widowe, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hostes.

sonnes of Iakob^e are not consumed.

gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: s returne vnto mee, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes: but ye said, 'Wherein shall we returne?

8 Will a^h man spoyle his gods? yet haue yee spoyled mee: but ye say, 'Wherein haue we spoyled thee? Inⁱ tythes, and offerings.

C H A P. IIII.

The day of the Lord, before the which Eliiah should come.

and proue me now herewith, sayth the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruit of your ground, neither shall your vine be barren in the field, sayth the Lord of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for yee shall be a pleasant land, sayth the Lord of hostes.

13 Your words haue beene stout against me, sayth the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Ye haue said, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profite is it that wee haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore we count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are deliuered.

16 Then spake they that feared the Lord, every one to his neighbour, and the Lorde hearkened and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shall be to me, sayth the Lord of hostes, in that day that I shall doe this, for a flocke, and I will spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discern betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

Before my Church according to my promise, they shall be as mine owne proper goods: That is, forgive their sinnes, and gouerne them with my Spirit.

For behold, the day commeth that shall burne as an ouen, and all the proud, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall be stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, sayth the Lord of hostes, and shall leaue them neither roote nor branch.

2 But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the sunne of righteousnesse arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and ye shall go forth, and grow vp as fat calves.

3 And ye shall tread downe the wicked: for they shall be dust vnder the soles of your feete in the day that I shall doe this, sayth the Lord of hostes.

4 Remember the Law of Moses my seru-ant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb, for all Israel, with the statutes and iudgements.

5 Behold, I will send you Eliiah the Prophet before the comming of the great and fearefull day of the Lord.

6 And he shall turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with cursing.

Cor. 3. 17. d Because the time was come that the Iewes should be d. stitute of Prophets vntill the time of Christ, because they should with more seruent mindes desire his comming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselves diligently in studying the Law of Moses in the meane season, whereby they might con- expoundeth of Iohn Baptist, Math. 11. 13, 14 who both for his zeale, and testifying of religion, is aptly compared to Elijah. f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doeth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance g Hee sheweth wherein children in one vnitie of faith: so that the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is conuerted vnto Christ, and the sonne shall embrace the faith of the true fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob. h The second point of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

THese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets unto the New Testament, are called Apocrypha, that is, bookes, which were not received by a common consent to be read and expounded publicly in the Church, neither yet served to proove any point of Christian religion, save in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonick to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were received to be read for the advancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly manners: which Bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not utterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messias, and also witnesseth that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both foretold by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the trial of his children.

CHAP. I.

1 Iosias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Pasche. 7 Offerings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Levites. 23 The upright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Iosias appointed King. 53 The destruction of Jerusalem.

And Iosias kept the Pasche to his Lord in Jerusalem, and offered the Pasche in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the Priests according to their dailie courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And hee spake to the Levites the holy Ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the House, which Solomon the sonne of King David had built,

4 And said, Yee shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid King of Israel, and according to the maiestie of Solomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Levites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Pasche, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Pasche after the Lords commaundment gauen to Moses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kids with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. Then gaue Helkias and Zecharias and Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Pasche two thousand sixe hundred sheepe, and three hundred calues.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brethren, and Sabias, and Chielus, and Ioram captaines gaue to the Levites for the Pasche fixe thousand sheepe, and seuen hundred calues.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Levites stood in order, hauing unleauened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Pasche with fire as appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots, 13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fat vnto the Euening, and the Levites did make ready for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

*Exod. 12. 8.

15 And the holy fingers the sonnes of Asaph, were in their order, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and Eddinus, which was of the Kings appointment.

¶ Or, Iedunim.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull, that any should passe his ordinary watch: for the brethren the Leuites made redy for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished that they might offer the Passecouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commaundement of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passecouer and the feast of unleauened bread seuen dayes, 20 And there was not such a Passecouer kept in Israel, since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passecouer, as did Iosias, and the Priests, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passecouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpright before his Lord with a heart full of godlinesse.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, about euery nation and kingdom, and grieued him with ¶ sensible things, so that the words of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

¶ Or, by worshipping sensible creatures.

25 ¶ Now after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaos king of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, & now the Lord is with me, and the Lord hath neth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the words of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megiddo, and the Princes came downe to king Iosias.

30 And the King said to his seruants, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gat vpon his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewayled, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernors and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kinred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the kings of Iudea, and euery one of the actes that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the Law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things now rehearsed are registred in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Ioachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in stead of his father Iosias, when he was three & twentie yeere old.

* 2. Chron. 33. 18
2. Chron. 34. 1.

35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He taxed also the people of an hundred talents of siluer, and one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Ioachim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And he bound Ioachaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twenty and fiue yeere old was Ioachim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when hee had bound him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, and set them in his Temple at Babylon.

42 But all his acts, and his profanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings.

43 And Ioachim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made king, he was eightene yeere old.

44 And he reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And hee made Zedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when hee was one and twenty yeere old, and he reigned eleuen yeeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

* Ierem. 1. 11.

48 For after that hee was sworne to King Nabuchodonosor, he forswore himselfe by the Name of the Lord and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, & polluted the Temple of the Lord which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuerthelesse the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them backe, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 52 So that hee, being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednesse, commanded the kings of the Chaldeans to invade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man, nor maiden, neither old man, nor child among them.

54 But hee deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, & caried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake downe the wals of Ierusalem, and burnt their towers with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof; and brought them to nought; and those that were left by the sword he caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, & to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Ieremias, 58 And that the land might enjoy her Sabbaths all the time, that it was desolate, till seuentie yeeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leave to the Iewes to returne. 10 He sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returne. 16 Their aduersaries did let their building, and the Kings letters for the same.

IN *the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremias,

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and hee made proclamation throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most high Lord, hath made me king ouer y whole world,

4 And hee hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there be any therfore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his lord be with him, and let him go vp to Hierusalem, which is in Iudea and build the house of the Lord of Israel, he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and siluer,

7 With gifts, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shalbe brought according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Hierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the Priests and Leuites, and all whose minde the Lord had moued to go vp, and build an house to the Lord in Hierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and gold, horses, and cattell, and with diuers rowes of many whose minds were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Hierusalem; and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer.

12 By whom they were giuen to ¶ Abassar the gouernour of Iudea.

¶ Or, Shaphbazar or Sanabassar.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand siluer cups, basins of siluer for the sacrifices nine and twentie, viols of gold thirtie, and of siluer two thousand, foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of gold and siluer, which they caried away, were fise thousand, foure hundred, threescore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem 16 ¶ But * in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, ¶ Belemus, and Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and ¶ Semellius the secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them, that dwelt in Iudea and Ierusalem, To the King Artaxerxes our lord.

* Ezra. 4. 6.
¶ Or, Bischemus.

¶ Or, Shimsi.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretarie and the rest of their counsell, and the iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowen to our lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie bee built, and the wals be finished, they wil not onely not endure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, goe forward, we thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the king that if it be thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt find in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both kings and cities, 23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the king, we declare

* Ier. 35. 11.
and 39. 10

* 1 Chron. 36. 23
and 34. 1. 1

* Ierem. 38. 21.

clark it, that if this citie be built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Belesethmus, and to Semellius the secretary, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which you sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this citie hath alwayes practised against kings.

27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and how the mighty kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which toke tribute of Coelosyria, & Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, and that it be taken heed that no more be done.

29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretary and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which king Artaxerxes had written, they mooued their tents with speede to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which build, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

NOW when Darius reigned, hee made a great feast to all his subiects and to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernors and captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twenty prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, and king Darius went into his chamber, and slept, till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the gard, keepers of the kings body, said one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shal ouercome, and whose sentence shal appeare wiser then the others, Darius the king shal giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victory,

6 As to weare purple, and to drinke in gold, and to sleepe in gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tyre of fine linen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he shall sit next to Darius for his wise home, and shall be called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence & sealed it, & put it vnder the pillow of king Darius,

9 And sayd, when the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the king and the three Princes of Persia should iudge to bee wisest, to him should the victorie be giuen as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but trueth ouercometh all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them.

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls, 15 And fate him downe in the counsell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then hee said, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine;

18 And said on this manner, O yee men, how strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the King and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bond man and of the free man, of the poore man, and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no manner of sorrow, nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by talents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no minde to loue either friends or brethren, and a little after they draw out swords.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O yee men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to do such things? and he held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of Trueth, which sentence is approved, 47 And his petition granted.

THEN the second which had spoken of the strength of the King, began to say,

2 O yee men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by Sea, & ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If hee bid them make warre one against another, they do it: if he send them out against the enemies, they goe and breake down mountaines and wals and towres.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commandment of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the King, as well the spoyles as all other things,

6 And those also which goe not to warre & battel, but till the earth: for when they haue sowne it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet hee is but one man: if hee bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if hee bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeeth.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne businesse, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, how should not the king be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed! So he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake.

14 O yee men, neither the mightie king, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them, or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the King and all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments, and make men honourable, neither can men bee without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold, and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Doe they not leaue all those things and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gaze and gaze vpon her, & all men desire her more then gold, or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne countrey, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman hee ieopardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother nor countrey.

22 Therefore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: do ye not labour and trauel, and giue & bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to faile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a Lion, and goeth in darkenesse, and when he hath stollen, rauished and spoyled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue been seruants for them, 27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Now therefore doe you not beleeeue me? is not the king great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Apame, the kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the king;

30 And shee took the crowne off the kings head, and put it vpon her own, and strooke the king with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the king gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, hee laughed: and if she were angrie with him, hee did flatter her that hee might bee reconciled with her.

32 How then, O yee men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the King and the princes looked one vpon another, and hee began to speake of the trueth.

34 O yee men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is his, and the Sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the Trueth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for Trueth, and the heauen blesteth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked; women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked works are such, and there is no Truth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but shee doeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and shee is the strength and the kingdome; and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So hee ceased to speake, all then and the people cried and sayd, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the King said vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and we will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue liberty to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he said to the king, Remember the vow that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdom, 44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vow to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, ple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And now, O lord the king, this is that which I desire and require of thee, & this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require thee, that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 Thir King Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And hee wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring Cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the citie with him.

49 And he wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their liberty, that no Prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their dootes.

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes, which they held.

51 And that euery yeere there should bee giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntill it were built.

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings ypon the altar euery day (as they had a commandment to offer seuentene) othertent talents euery yeere.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priests that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges and the Priests garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And he wrote that they should giue the Lewies their charges vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also hee wrote that they should giue pensions & wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And hee sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoever Cyrus had commanded to doe, hee also commanded to do it, and to send to Ierusalem.

Or, Zorobabel.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, he lift vp his face to heauē towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the king of heauen, 59 Saying, Of thee is the victory, and of thee is wisdom, and of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed bee thou which hast giuen mee wisdom: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 So he tooke the letters and went out and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because hee had giuen them freedome and libertie.

63 To goe vp and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renowned, and they reioiced with instruments of musicke and ioy, seuen dayes.

47 ¶ But when the seventh moneth was neere, and when the children of Israel were every one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosedec and his brethren the Priests, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made ready the Altar of the God of Israel.

49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moyses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered a gainst Ierusalem of all nations of the land: but they dressed the Altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and euening.

51 They kept also the feast of Tabernacles, as it is ordained in the Law, and offered sacrifices every day, as was requisite.

52 And afterward the continual oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths and of the new moneths and of all holy feasts.

53 ¶ And all they which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seventh month, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

55 And charets to the Sidonians & to those of Tyris to bring Cedar wood out of Libanus, which should be brought by fiores to the haue of poppe according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.

56 And in the second yere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, & their brethren, and the Priests and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Ierusalem, 57 And laide the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yeere after their returne into Iudea and Ierusalem.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere old ouer the works of the Lord, and Iesus and his sonne, and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Ioda, the sonne of He-liadun, with their sonnes, and brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priests stood clothed with their long garments with muscall instruments and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbals, 60 Singing & blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

61 And they sung with loude voice songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercy and glory is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cried with a loude voice, praising the Lord for the raising vp of the House of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had seene the former house.

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets, and roys, and with loude voice.

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was,

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families, said vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obey your Lord, as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of Asbasereth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel said to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an house to the Lord our God.

71 For wee alone will build it to the Lord God of Israel, as it becommeth vs, and as Cyrus the king of the Persians bade vs.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Iudea, and letted them to build the worke, and by their ambushments and seditions and conspiracies hindered the finishing of the building.

73 All the time of king Cyrus life: so that they were let from the building two yeere, vntill the reigne of Darius.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple.
3 Sisinnes would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23
The Kings answer to the contrary.

¶ BVt in the second yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophets prophesied to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Iudea and Ierusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called vpon.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec stood vp, and began to build the house of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sisinnes the gouernor of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan with his companions came vnto them,

4 And said vnto them, By whose commandement build you this house and this building, and and enterprise all these other things? and who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord, after that he had visited the captiuitie, 6 That they were not letted to build vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was receiued.

7 ¶ The copie of the Epistle, which he did write and send to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute king Darius.

8 It may please the king our Master plainly to vnderstand, that when wee came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the city of Ierusalem, wee found in the citie of Ierusalem the Ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lord, great and new, of hewen stones, and of great price; and the timber already laide vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speede, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it will be finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then we asked their Ancients, saying, By whose commandement builde you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, & to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore we demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, We are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

14 And this house was built vp many yeres agoe by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lorde of Israel which is in heauen, he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, King Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house at Ierusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the king tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to Sanabassar ruler.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should cary away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Ierusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassar, being come hither, laid the foundations: of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Now therefore if it please the King, let it be sought vp in the kings Libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be found that the Building of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem hath beene done by the consent of king Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the Lord our king, let him make vs answer concerning these things.

23 Then king Darius commanded to search in the Kings Libraries, that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbarane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were laid vp for memory.

24 In the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, King Cyrus commanded the house of the Lord at Ierusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of which the height should be of threescore cubits, the breadth of threescore cubites with three rowes of hewen stones, and one row of new wood of that countrey, and that the costs should be payed out of the house of King Cyrus.

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of golde as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Ierusalem, and brought into Babylon, should bee restored to the house, which is in Ierusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also he commanded that Sisinnes, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and those which were constitute capitaines in Syria and Phenice, should take heede to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to build it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished,

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelosyia and Phenice should bee diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oyle continually euery yeere without faile, as the Priests, which are in Ierusalem, shall testifie to be spent euery day, 31 That offerings may be made to the high God for the king and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded that whosoever should transgresse any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should bee taken out of his possession, and he be hanged thereon, & that his goods should be the kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose Name is is there called vpon, destroy euery king and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or doe euill to that house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

*Esdras 6.12.

34 *Darius the king haue ordained that it should be diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sisinnes and his companions follow the Kings commandment, and helpe the Iewes to build the Temple: 5 The time that it was built. 10 They keepe the Passouer.

*Esdras 6.13.

Then Sisinnes the *gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, obeying king Darius commandements, 2 Assisted diligently the holy works, working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuarie.

3 And the holy works prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophecied.

4 So they finished all things by the commandment of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy House was finished in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the sixt yee of Darius king of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priests and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyse.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambs,

8 And twelue goates for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests, and the Leuites stood according to their kinreds clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyse, and also the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered the Passouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Leuites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for themselves.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eat, euery all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vneleavened bread seuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord,

15 Because hee had turned the counsell of the king of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their handes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Esdras cometh from Babilon to Ierusalem. 10 The copie of the commission given by Artaxerxes. 29 Esdras giueth thanks to the Lord. 32 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confession.

And after these things, when Artaxerxes king of the Persians reigned, Esdras the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Ezerias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salum,

2 The sonne of Sadoe, the sonne of Achitob, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Hezias, the sonne of Memeroth, the sonne of Zariaas, the sonne of Sauias, the sonne of Boccas, the sonne of Abisum, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron was the high Priest.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a Scribe well taught in the Law of Moyse, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the king gaue him great honour, & he found grace in his sight in all his requests. With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the priests and Leuites, and of the holy Singers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem,

5 In the seventh yee of the raigne of Artaxerxes, and in the sixt moneth: this was the seventh yee of the king (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

6 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speed in their journey)

7 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge so that he would let nothing passe that was in the Law of the Lord, and in the Commandements, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

8 So the commission written by King Artaxerxes was giuen Esdras the Priest and Reader of the Law of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

9 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

10 Forasmuch as I consider things with pittie, I haue commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priests and Leuites which are in our kingdom, should goe with thee vnto Israel.

11 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together as it hath seemed good to me and my friends the counsellors,

12 That they may visit the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord,

13 And carie the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friends haue vowed: also all the gold and siluer, which shall bee found in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Ierusalem,

14 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, as well silver as gold, for bulles, and rammes, and lambes, and things thereunto pertaining.

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the Altar of the Lord their God, which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren wil do with the gold or silver, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things soeuer thou shalt remeber for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerxes haue commaunded the Treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoever Esdras the Priest and Reader of the Law of the Highest God, shal send for, they should giue it him with all speed, euen to the summe of an hundred talents of silver.

21 And likewise vnto an hundred cores of corne, and an hundred pices of wine, and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the hiest God according to the Law of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdom of the king and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commaunded, that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy fingers, or porters or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor tax be taken, nor that any haue power to taxe them in any thing.

24 Thou also Esdras, according to the wisdom of God, ordeine Iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Lawe of God and the King, bee diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penalty of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the Scribe said, Blessed bee the onely Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the king to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honoured me before the king and the counsellors, and all his friends, and gouernours.

28 ¶ * Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe vp with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the King.

30 Of the sonnes of Phinees, Gersom, of the sonnes of Ithamar, Gamael, of the sonnes of 41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called * Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbred them.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites, 43 I sent to Eleazar, and beholde, there came ¶ Maafman, and Alnathan, and Sarnaiian, and ¶ Ioribon, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian and Mosollamon the chiefe, and best learned.

44 And I bade them to go to Daddeus the captain, which was in the place of the treasury.

45 With charge to bid Daddeus and his brethren, and the treasures that were there, to send to vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hand of our lord, learned men of the sonnes of Moli, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ¶ Cisebebran and his sonnes, & his brethren being eightene.

47 And Afebia, and ¶ Annon, and Ofaian his brethren of the sonnes of ¶ Canaineus with their sonnes twenty persons.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit ministers of the Temple, two hundreth and twenty of whom all the names were registred.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the King footmen, or horsemen, or conduct for safegard against our enemies:

51 Because wee had sayd to the King, that the power of our Lord should bee with them that fought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lord againe, according to these things, whom we found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, as wit,
 || Or, Serubias. || Esdras and Asanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the siluer and the gold, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the King and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them fixe hundreth and fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundreth talents, and an hundreth talents of gold.

56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of brasce, of fine brasce shining like gold.

57 And I said to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold, and the siluer is a vowe to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch and keepe them, till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem, in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites toke the siluer and the gold, and the vessels, and caried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mighty power of our Lord with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the gold was deliuered in the House of our Lord to || Marmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri,

|| Or, Marimoth, the sonne of Iouri of Vrie.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, euē twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes fourescore and sixteene, 65 Lambes threescore and twelue, twelue goates for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the comandements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouernors of Coelosyria and Phenice who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

* Ezra 9. 1.

67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priests, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, and the Chetites, and Pherefites, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumians:

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seed is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue been pattakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the hair off mine head, & off my beard, and sate me downe sorrowfull and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were mouied with the word of the Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose fro the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees, and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, * O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our finnes are increased about our heads, & our ignorāces are lifted vp to heauen, 75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our finnes therefore, and our fathers wee with our brethren, with our kings and Priests haue been giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercie bin, O Lord, that there should be left vs a root, and name in the place of thy holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when wee were in bondage, wee were not left of our God, but hee gaue vs fauour before the kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, & giue vs assurance in Iudea & Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shal we say, ha- uing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giue by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

82 * Because the land, which ye goe to in- herite, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filchinesse,

83 Therefore now ye shall not ioyn their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that yee may bee made strong, strong, and ease the good things of the land, and let us be for an inheritance to your children for ever.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workers, and for our great sinnes: yet Lord thou hast forgiven our sinnes.

86 And hast given us such a tober, that we againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe with the uncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with vs to destroy vs, for that thou shouldst neither leave vs roote, nor seed, nor name?

88 O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, and into this day.

89 Behold, wee are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we tride before thee for these things.

90 And as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and young children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Isacharias the sonne of Ioseph of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, said, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: we haue taken in marriage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull therefore let vs make an oath concerning this to the Lord, to put away all our wiues, which are strange, which thib children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all others that obey the law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, and made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests and Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would do thus: and they swore.

96 And Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Iorannan the sonne of Eliasib.

97 And being lodged there, he did eate no bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

98 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem.

99 And that all they which should not meet there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattel confiscate to the Temple, and bee cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

1 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda and Benjamin, came together within three dayes into Ierusalem: this was the fourth month, and twentieth day of the moneth.

2 And all the multitude like in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

3 Then Esdras rose and said to them, Yee haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

4 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers.

5 And doe his will, and separate your selves from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

6 Then all the multitude cried out and said with a loud voyce, We will doe so as thou hast said.

7 But because the multitude was great, and the time is winter, so that wee cannot stand without, and the worke is more of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter.

8 Let the chiefe men of the multitude and all they which haue strange wiues of our families, tarie:

9 And let the Priests and Iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appealed the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

10 Then Ionathas Afaels sonne, and Ezechias sonne of Ioseph were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam and Sabates us did helpe them.

11 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

12 Esdras the Priest also chose him certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

13 And they made an ende of the things pertaining to them that had married strange wiues, in the first day of the first moneth.

14 And there were found of the Priests, which had married strange wiues, 15 Of the sonnes of Iesus, the sonne of Iosedec, and of his brethren, Mathelas, and Eleazar, and Ioribus, and Ionadan.

16 Who also gaue their hands to cast out their wiues, and offered a ramme for their reconciliation in their purgation.

17 And of the sonnes of Emmer, Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Cane, and Sameius, & Hiercel, and Azarias.

18 And of the sonnes of Phaisu, Ellionas, Mathias, Esmaelus, and Nathanael, and Ocide-lus, and Talsas.

and to all the Priests; that they might hear the Law the first day of the seventh moneth.

41 And hee read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women; and all the multitude hearkened unto the Law.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law, stood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there stood by him Margathias,

Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezecias,

Balaianus at his right hand;

44 And at his left hand Phaldaius, and Sail,

Melchias, Aothasaphus, Nabarias,

45 Then Esdras took the booke of the Law before the multitude (for hee saue honourably before them all)

46 And they all stood vpright when he expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God; the most mighty God of hosts.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

48 Then Iesus and Anus, and Sarabias, and Adimus, and Iacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maianias and Calitas, Azarias, and Iozabudus and Ananias, and Barias the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worshipped the Lord.

49 And taught the Lawe of the Lord; and stood also earnestly vpon the reading.

50 Then said Artathates to Esdras the chiefe Priest and reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things: This day is holy vnto the Lord; and all haue wept in hearing of the Law,

51 Go therefore and eate the fat meates, and drinke the sweet dringes, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and be not sorie: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commaunded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eat and drink, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheare.

55 For they were yet filled with the words wherewith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

II. ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

8 The people is reprooued for their unfaithfulness. 30 God will haue another people, if these will not be reformed.

* Esdras 7.1.

He second booke of the Prophet
* Esdras, the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sadanias, the sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob,

2 The sonne of Achias, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Heli, the sonne of Amerias, the sonne of Arie, the sonne of Marimoth, the sonne of Arua, the sonne of Ozias, the sonne of Borith, the sonne of Abisei, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar,

3 The sonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Le-ui) ui.) which Ephraim was prisoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artaxerxes King of Persia.

1. And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2. Goe, and shew my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against me: that they may tell their childrens children.

3. For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten mee, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

4. Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

5. Pull thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Law, but they are a rebellious people.

6. How long shall I forbear them, vnto whom I haue done so much good?

7. Many Kings haue I destroyed for their sake: Pharaoh with his seruants and all his army haue I smitten downe.

8. All the nations haue I destroyed before them: I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countreys Tyrus & Sidon, and haue slaine all their enemies.

9. Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord,

10. I haue led you thorow the Sea, and haue giuen you a sure way, since the beginning: I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

11. I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord.

12. Thus saith the Almighty Lord, The quailles were a token vnto you: I gaue you tents for safegard, wherein ye murmured:

13. And ye triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmure still.

14. Where are the benefits, that I haue done for you? when yee were hungry in the wilderness, did yee not crie vnto me,

15. Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wilderness, to kill vs? it had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this wilderness.

16. I had pitie vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eate: so ye did eate Angels foode.

17. When ye were thirstie, did not I cleave the stone, and waters did flow out to satisfie you? from the heate I couered you with the leaues of the trees.

18. And I gaue you fat countreys: I cast out the Canaanites, the Pheresites, and Philistims before you: what shall I doe more for you, saith the Lord?

19. Thus saith the Almighty Lord, When ye were in the wilderness at the bitter waters, being athirst, and blaspheming my Name,

20. I gaue you not fire for the blasphemies, but cast a tree into the water, and made the water sweet.

21. What shall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob? thou Iuda wouldst not obey: I will turne me to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my Lawes.

22. Seeing ye haue forsaken mee, I will also forsake you: when ye aske mercy of mee, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

23. When ye call vpon me, I will not heare you: for ye haue defiled your hands with blood, and your feet are swift to commit murder.

24. Although ye haue not forsaken me, but your owne selues, saith the Lord.

25. Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her young babes,

26. That yee would bee my people, as I am your God, and that yee would be my children, as I am your Father?

27. I gathered you together, as a henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what shall I doe vnto you? I will cast you out from my sight.

28. When you bring gifts vnto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feast dayes, your new moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

29. I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets, whom yee haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will reuenge, saith the Lord.

30. Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Your house shall be desolate: I wil cast you out as the wind doeth the stubble.

31. Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commandement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

32. Your houses wil I giue vnto a people to come, who shal belecue me, though they heare mee not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracles, shall doe the things that I command them.

33. Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

34. I will declare the grace that I wil doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they belecue the things that I say.

35. Nowe therefore brother, behold what great glory, and see the people that come from the East.

36. Vnto whom I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Joel, Abdias, Ionas,

37. Naum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias, (which is called also the messenger of the Lord.)

C H A P. II.
The Synagogue findeth fault with her own children. 18. The Gentiles are called.

THUS saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandements by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnes, but with sorrow and heauinesse haue I lost you: for yee haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and aske mercy of the Lord.

5 And thee, O Father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant, 6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoile, that their kinned be not continued.

7 Let their names be scattered among the heather: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.

8 Gen. 19. 24.* Woe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hidest the vnihtous in thee: O wicked people, remember what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorrah.

9 Whose land is mixed with cloudes of pitch and hapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that haue me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ierusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and giue them the euerlasting Tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life, smelling of oyntment: they shal neither labour nor be wearie.

13 Goe ye, and yee shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shortned: the kingdome is alreadie prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I lue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I wil send thee my seruants Esay and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits, 19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke & honey, and seuen mighty mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blind come into the light of my clearenesse.

22 Keep the old and the yong that are within thy wals.

23 Wherefoer thou findest the dead, Isa. 27. take them and burie them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse: stablish their feet.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seake them from among thy number.

27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse commeth, other shall weepe and be sorrowfull, but thou shalt be merrie and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shall doe nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Bee ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, sayeth the Lord.

31 Remember thy children, that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shew mercy vnto them: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shew mercy vnto them: for my fountaines run ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I should goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Waite for your shepheard, who shal giue you euerlasting rest: for hee is neere at hand, that shall come in the end of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdom: for the euerlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadow of this world: receiue the ioy of your glory: I testifie my Sauour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thanks vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise, and stand vp, and behold the number ber of those that are sealed for the seat of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadow of the world, & haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 * I Esdras saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all prayed the Lord with songs.

43 And in the middes of them there was a yong man higher in stature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heads he set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much marueiled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and said, Who are these, my Lord?

45 Who answered, and said vnto me, These be they, that haue put off the mortal clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered and said vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then beganne I greatly to commend them, that had stood so strongly for the Name of the Lord:

48 Then the Angel said vnto me, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderful workes which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Esdras marueileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which are yet sinners also.

IN the thirtieth yere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to mine heart,

2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was sore moued, so that I beganne to speake fearefull words to the most High, and said,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning, when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

5 * And a body vnto Adam, without soule, who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee,

6 And leddest him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth brought forth.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediatly thou appointedst death to him and his generations, of whome came nations, tribes, people and kinreds out of number.

8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commandements. Gen. 6.12.*

9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them. Gen. 7.10.*

10 So that by the flood that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam.

11 Yet thou ledest one, emen Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous men. 1. Pet. 3.20.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiply, and the number of the children, people and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, *thou diddest chuse thee a man from among them, whose name was Abraham. Gen. 12.1.

14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom onely thou shewedst thy will. Gen. 17.5.*

15 And madest an euerlasting couenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seed.

16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, *vnto Isaac also thou gauest Iacob and Esau, *and diddest chuse Iacob, and cast off Esau, and so Iacob became a great multitude. Gen. 21.2,3. *Gen. 25.25,26. *Mala. 1.2,3. Rom. 9.13.

17 And when thou ledst his seed out of Egypt, thou broughtst them vp to mount Sina, Exod. 19.1.

18 And enclinedst the heavens, and bowedst downe the earth, and diddest moue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and didst astonish the world. Dan. 4.10.*

19 And thy glory went thorow foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and cold, that thou mightest giue the Lawe vnto the seed of Iacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Law might bring forth fruit in them.

21 For Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was overcome and vanquished, and al they that are borne of him. Gen. 3.6.

22 Thus remained weakenesse ioyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeeres were brought to an end, till thou diddest raise thee vp a seruant called Dauid, 1. Sam. 16.13.

24 Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice. 2. Sam. 5.1. and 7.5,13.

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee, 26 Following the waies of Adam and all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

Qq q 3 28 But

*2. Cor. 7.9.

*Gen. 2.7.

|| Or, vnto forward

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and saw their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yeere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, & preserved thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue how this cometh to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleueed thy testimonies, as Iacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone here and there throughout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy Commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednesse now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy Commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely find that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reprimeth Esdras, because he seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

And the Angel that was sent vnto mee, whose name was Vriel, answered,

2 And sayd, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the Highest.

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered mee, and sayd, I am sent to shew thee three wayes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way, that thou desirest to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I said, Tell on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Go thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the wind, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is borne, that can doe that, which thou requierest me, concerning these things?

7 And he sayd vnto me, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the middes of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peradventure thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hee, neither did I ever climbe vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answer of them.

10 He said moreover vnto me, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not knowe?

11 How should thy vessel then bee able to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, & now outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that wee should liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and riot to know wherefore.

13 And he answered me, & said, I came to a forest in the plaine, where I trees a counsell.

14 And said, Come, Let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell and said, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrey for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sand flood vp & stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and said, Verely it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he mee, and said, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudget thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea for his floods, so they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are about the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and said, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to enquire of thine high things, but of such as we dayly meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people, whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the Law of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why wee are tossed to and fro through the world as the grasshoppers, and our life is a very feare, and wee are not thought worthy to obtaine mercy.

25 But what wil he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer iys? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then

26 Then answered hee mee, and sayd, The more thou searcest, the more thou shalt maruell: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrighteousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to delare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is sowen, be not turned vpside downe, and if the place wher the euill is sowen, passe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euill seede hath beene sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath hee brought vp vnto this time? and how much shal he bring forth vntill the haruest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruit of wickednesse the corne of euill seed bringeth forth.

32 And when the stalkes shal be cut down, which are without number, how great an haruest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered and sayd, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Hastenot to be aboute the most High: for thou labourest in vaine to bee aboute him, though thou endeavour neuer so much.

35 Did not the foules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when commeth the fruit of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and said, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for he hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shal not be moued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and sayd, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake peraduenture the haruest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me, and sayd, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when she hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then said I, No, Lord, thee cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of foules are like the wombe.

42 For as she that is with child, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauell, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them, 43 That which thou desirest to see, shall be shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and sayd, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meete therefore,

45 Shew mee whether there be more to come then is past, or moe things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stood, and behold, a hote burning ouen passed before mee: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and behold, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before me a watric cloude, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the drops, and the smoke were much.

51 Then I prayed, and sayd, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered mee, and said, Of the tokens whereof thou askest mee, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times truth shall bee hid. 10 Vnrighteousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 23 Israel is reiected, and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all things in season.

Neuerthelesse, concerning the tokens, behold, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shalbe taken in a great number, and the way of the trueth shall be hid, and the land shall be barren from faith,

2 And iniquitie shall be increased more then thou hast scene now, or hast heard in time past.

Matth. 24. 12.*

3 And it shall come to passe, that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God grant thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the Sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, and the Moone three times a day.

5 Blood shal droppe out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voice, and the people shall be moued.

6 And he shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the foules shall change place.

7 And the sea of Sodome shal cast out fish, and make a noise in the night, which many shal not knowe, but they shall all heare the voice thereof.

8 There shall be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters.

9 And

9 And salt waters shall bee found in the sweete, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall vnrighteousnesse and voluptuousnes haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land shall also aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weepe as now and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held me, comforted me, and set me vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto mee, saying, Where hast thou been? and why is thy countenance so heauy?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueth his flocke in the hands of the cruell wolues.

19 Then sayd I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning and weeping, as Vriel the Angel had commaunded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grievous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe, 23 And said, O Lord, Lord: of euery forest of the earth, and of al the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all lands of the world thou hast chosen thee one pit, and of al the flowers of the ground thou hast chosen thee one Lillie.

25 And of al the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, & of al builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of al the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of all the cattel that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a law, that is prooued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one root thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstand thy promises, and beleue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou didst so much hate thy people, they should haue bin punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these words, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And sayd vnto me, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and hearken, that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I sayd, Speake on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better, then he doth that made them?

34 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorrow haue I spoken: for my reines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And he sayd vnto me, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne: or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Iacob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he said vnto me, Number vnto me the things that are not yet come, or gather me the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring mee forth the windes that are shut vp therin: shew me the image of a voice, and then will I declare thee the thing that thou askest, and labourest to know.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto mee, Like as thou canst doe none of these things that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I sayd, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue been before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he sayd vnto me, I wil compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, & sayd, Couldst thou not make at once those that haue been, those that are now, & those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered he me, The creature, sayd he, cannot prevent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once that shall be created therein.

45 And I sayd, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also containe all men at once.

46 And he said vnto mee, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue done before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth tenne at once.

47 And I sayd, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times, when seede is sown ypon it.

49 For as a yong childe begetteth not, that that belongeth to the age, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and sayd, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I wil proceed to speake before thee: for our mother, whome thou hast told me is yong, draweth thee neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that trauelleth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whom thou hast now brought forth) like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shall answer thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were born in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that ye are lesse of stature, then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then ye, as the creatures which now begin to be olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant by whom doest thou gouerne thy worke-manship?

CHAP. VI.

*God hath for seene all things in his secret counsell, and is author thereof, and hath created them for his children: 25
The felicitie of the age to come.*

AND hee said vnto mee, In the beginning when the round world was made, & before the borders of the world were set, and before the windes blew one against another.

2 Before the noise of thunders founded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were layd:

3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were established, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the aire were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimneys in Sion were hot:

5 Before the present yeeres were sought out, & before the affections of them that now sinne were turned away, and they that haue layd vp the treasure of faith were sealed,

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by mee also they shall bee ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and said, What shall be the diuision of times? or when shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And he sayd vnto me, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him, * Jacobs hand held first the heele of Esau. * Gen. 25. 26.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Ia-cob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele & the hand. Other thing, Esdras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, and said, O Lord,
Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight,

12 I beseech thee, make an end to shew thy seruant thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst me part the last night.

13 So he answered me, and said, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mighty sounding voyce.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not bee moued.

15 And therefore when he speaketh, be not afraid: for of the end shalbe the word, & of the foundation of the earth shall it be vnderstood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vp-on my feet, and hearkened, and behold, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:

18 And it said, Behold, the dayes come that I will come and enquire of them that dwell vp-on the earth,

19 And when I begin to enquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnes haue hurt others,
and when the affliction of Sion shalbe fulfilled,

20 And the world, that shall vanish away, shall bee sealed, then will I shew these signes:
the bookes shall be opened before the heauen,
and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yeece olde shall speake with their voyces: the women with childe shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths old, and they shal liue that are raised vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sown places appeare as the vn-sown, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friendes fight with friends, as with enemies, and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Whoseouer remaineth from all these things that I haue told thee, shall be saued, and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shal see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall bee changed changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For evil shall be put out, and deceit shall be quenched.

28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shall be overcome, and the truth which hath been so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 And when hee talked with mee, he holde, I look'd a little vpon him before whom I stood.

30 And these wordes sayd he vnto me, I am come to thee when the time of the night is come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen dayes more, I will tell thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voice is heard before the Highest: surely the mighty hath seene thy righteousness dealing: hee hath seene also thy chastity, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, & to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not.

34 And haue not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe and fasted seuen dayes in like maner, that I might fulfil the three weekes, which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creatiō (euen the first day) and commandedst that the heauen & the earth should be made, and the worke followed thy word.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darkenes was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heavenly aire, and commandedst it, that going betweene, it should make a diuision betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commandedst that the waters should be gathered together in the seuenth part of the earth: sixe parts diddest thou drie, and kept them, to the intent that of these there should bee that should serue thee, being sowed of God and tilled.

43 As soone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediately great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, and flowers of vchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderful smell, and these things were created the third day.

45 Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the starres.

46 And gauest them charge, to doe their duty, euen vnto man that was first to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saydest vnto the seuenth part, where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beastes, as foules and fishes: and it was so.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life brought forth liuing things at the commandement of God, that the nations might praise thy wondrous workes.

49 Then diddest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leviathan.

50 And diddest separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part, where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that hee should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Leviathan thou gauest the seuenth part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the first day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beastes, cattell and creeping things.

54 And besides this, Adam whom thou madest lord ouer all the workes, which thou hast created, of him come we all, and the people also whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but bee like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessel.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And wee thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy seruient louer) are given into their hands:

59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall wee suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God aduertiseth all in time. 28 The comming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement. 43 After the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodness of God.

And when I had made an ende of these words, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had been sent downe to mee the nights afore.

2 And hee sayd vnto mee, Vp Esdras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I sayd, Speake on, my God. Then sayd

* Gen. 1. 1.

* Gen. 1. 14.

sayd he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great; but

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuer's

5 Who could go into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it, if he went not thotow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and set vpon a broad field, and is ful of all good things;

7 The entrance thereof is narrow and in a dangerous place: to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left;

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, even betwixt the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there;

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thotow the peril before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?

10 And I sayd, Is it so, Lord? Then sayd he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the worlde made narrow, full of sorrow and trauaile: they are but few, and euil, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore world were wide and sure, and brought in mortall fruit:

14 If then they that are liuing labour not to enter by these straight and brittle things, they can not attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord? seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Lawe, that the righteous should inherite these things, and that the vngodly should perish;

18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he said vnto me, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue, to auoid punishment.

22 Neuertheless, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselves by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his workes, 25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Behold, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue told thee, shall come to passe, and the hide shall appeare, and she shall come forth, and be seche that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoever shall escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundred yeeres.

29 After these same yeeres, shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue liued.

30 And the world shall be turned into the old silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an end.

34 Iustice onely shall continue: the truth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed: the good deedes shall be of force, and vnrighteousnes shall beare no more rule.

36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and * Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wilderness.

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz, and Samuel, 38 And * David for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuary.

39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 40 * And Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then hee answered me, and said, This present life is not the end: oft times honour is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weak.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the ende of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44. Insuperancie shall passe away in fidelitie shall haue out offe righteousnesse that grow vp, and the vertue shall spring vnto him.

45. Then shall no man bee able to smite him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victorie.

46. I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had beene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Admy, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he should not haue sinned.

47. For what profite is it for men in this present life to see in heauynesse, and after death to see punishment?

* Rom. 5. 18.

48. O Lord, what hast thou done? for in that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall hath reached vnto vs that come of thee.

49. For what profite is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortal life, when wee doe the workes that bring death?

50. And that an euertlasting hope should be promised vs, seeing that wee decide our selues to deadly vanitie?

51. And that these should be appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if we haue liued wickedly?

52. And that the glory of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if wee haue walked in the wicked way?

53. And that an eternall Paradise should be shewed whose fruit remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safety and health, if we will not enter into it?

54. (For we haue been conuersant in vnpleasant places.)

55. And that the faces of them, which haue abstained, should shine more then starrs, if our faces be blacker then darkenesse?

56. For while we liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighteously, that we should suffer after death.

57. Then answered he me, and sayd, This is the manner of the battell, which man, that is borne in the earth, shall fight,

58. That if he be overcome, hee should suffer as thou hast said: but if he get the victorie, he should receiue the thing that I said.

59. For this is the life, whereof Moyse spake vnto the people while hee liued, saying,

* Deut. 30. 19.

* Chuse thee life that thou mayest liue. 60. Neuerthelesse, they beleued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor mee also which haue sayd vnto them,

61. That heauynesse should not so be to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whom saluation is perswaded.

62. I answered then, and said, I know, Lord, that the most High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercie vpon them, which are not yet come to that world,

63. And that hee hath pitie on those that walk in his law,

64. And that he is patient: for he long suffereth those that haue sinned at his treasures,

65. And that he is libell: for hee will giue as much as needeth.

66. And that he is of great mercy: for hee outcometh in incopiable that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67. For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68. He pardonech also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they which haue done euill, might be deliued from their wickednesse, the teene thousand part of men should not remaine aliue.

69. And if hee, being Iudge, forgue not those that be headed with his sword, and tooke away the multitude of sinners.

70. There should peradventure be very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAPTER VIII.

1. The number of the world is thank, & the workes of God are revealed. 2. Esdras prayeth for him and for his people. 3. The promise of saluation is shewed. 4. The promise of the reuenge.

And he answered mee, saying, The most High made this world for many, but the world to come for fewe.

I will tell thee a similitude, O Esdras, As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pots, but little dust that gold cometh of, so is it with the workes of this world.

3. There be many created, but few shall be saved.

4. Then answered I, and said, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule, and deuoure vnderstanding.

5. For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6. O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that wee may intreate thee, that thou mayest giue seede vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruit of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set himselfe for man?

7. For thou art alone, and we all are one workmanship of thine hands, as thou hast said.

8. For when the body is fashioned now in the wombe, & thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preferred by fire and water, and the worke created by thee, doeth suffer nine moneths the creature which is fashioned in it.

9. But the thing that containeth, and that which is contained, shall both bee preferred, and when time is come, the wombe being preferred, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10. For thou hast commaunded the members, euen the breasts, to giue milke vnto the fruit appointed to the breasts.

11. That the thing which is created, may be be nourished for a time, till thou disposeth it to thy mercie.

13 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousness, nuturest it in thy law, and reformatest it with thy iudgement.

14 Thou slayest it as thy creature, and givest it life as thy worke.

15 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy commaundement that the thing also which is made, might be preferred.

16 Now therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in general) thou shalt rather prouide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am forie, 17 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne, for Israel, for whom I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieved.

18 For them will I pray before thee, as wel for my selfe, as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

19 But I haue heard the sudden coming of the Iudge, which is to come.

20 Therefore heare my voice, and vnderstand my words, which I will speake before thee. I be beginning of the words of Esdras, before he was taken vp.

21 O Lord, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

22 Whose throne is inestimable, and his glory incomprehensible, before whom the host of the Angels stand with trembling, 23 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fire, whose word is true, and sayings stedfast: whose commaundement is strong, and gouernment terrible.

24 Whose looke drieth vp the depths, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witness.

25 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, & receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

26 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answere.

27 Looke not vpon the finnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

28 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deeds of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

29 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

30 Let it not be thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beasts, but looke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Law.

31 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beasts, but loue them that alway put their trust in thy righteousness and glory.

32 For we and our fathers haue all the same sicknesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

33 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towards vs which haue no workes of righteousness.

34 For the righteous which haue layd vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

35 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so grieved towards it?

36 * For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse. ^{1. King. 3. 46.} ^{2. Chron. 6. 36.}

37 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousness and thy goodnesse shall be payed, if thou bee mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good workes.

38 I then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy words it shall be.

39 For I will not verely consider the works of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

40 But * I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I wil remember the pilgrimage, the saluation & the reward that they shal haue. ^{Gen. 4. 4.}

41 Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe.

42 For as the husbandman soweth much seed vpon the ground, & planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sown cometh not vp in time, neither yet doth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shal they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

43 I answered then and said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

44 Like as the husbandmans seede perissheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it bee destroyed with too much raine:

45 So perissheth man, which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his patterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

46 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

47 Then answered he mee, and said, The things present, are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

48 For thou art far off, that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue mee: but I haue oft times drawn neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

49 In this also thou art marueilous before the Highest,

50 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is plained: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnesse made ready: the citie is builded, and rest is prepared, perfect goodnesse and absolute wiselome.

53 The roote of euil is sealed vp from you: the weaknes and moth is destroyed from you, and into he lieth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his Lawe and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreover, they haue troden downe his righteous,

and 53. 1.

58 Saying in their heart, that there was no God: though they knew that they should die.

59 For is the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish.

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the Name of him that made them, and are vnto ankefull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Behold now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this world haue a beginning and an end. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Lewes ingratitude. 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

HE answered me then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visit the world which he made.

* Matt. 24. 7.

3 Therefore when there shall be seene an earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people,

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For at all that is made in the world hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest:

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, and shall be deliuered by his works, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleueed,

8 Shall be preserved from the said perils, and shall see my saluation in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept mee holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pity of themselves, which now haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue received benefits, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my law, while they were yet in liberty, and when they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstand but despised it, 12 They must bee taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more careful, to know how the vngodly shall bee punished, but enquire how the righteous shall be saued, & whose the world is, & for whom it is, & when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore said that which I say now, and will speake it hereafter, that there be many more of them which perish, then of them that shall be saued.

* Chap. 1. 3.
math. 20. 16.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And hee answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seede: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the manners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seede, and by a Law, whereout they cannot rid themselves.

20 So I considered the world, and behold there was perill, because of the deuises, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept mee one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuerthelesse, if thou wilt cease seuen dayes more (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the floures of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the floures onely, 25 And pray vnto the most High continually) then I will come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as he had commanded me, into the field, which is called Ardath, and there I sate among the flowers, and did eat of the herbes of the field, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seven dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vnto within mee, as afore,

28 I reported my birth, and began to talke before the most High, and so say,

29 O Lord, when thou wouldst shew thy selfe vnto vs: I thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wilderness, in a place, where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt.

30 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying,
Hear me, O Israel, and make my words, thou seed of Jacob.

31 For behold, I sowe my Law in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for ever.

32 But our fathers which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 For they that receiued it, perished, because they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

34 And lo, it is a custome when the ground receiueh seed, or the sea a ship, or a vessel meat and drinke; if that perish wherein a thing is sown, or wherein any thing is put;

35 Likewise the thing that is sown, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, do not remaine with vs: but in vs it cometh not so to passe.

36 For wee that haue receiued the Law perish in sin, and our heart also which receiued it.

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, and vpon the right side I saw a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a lowde voice, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes; and shee had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I lest my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her,

40 And said vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in minde?

41 And she said vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorrow: for I am sore vexed in my minde, and brought very low.

42 Then I said vnto her, What aileth thee?
tell me.

43 And she said vnto me, I thy seruant haue been barren, and haue had no child, having an husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And every houre, and every day these thirtie yeeres I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard mee thine handmaide, and looked vpon my misery, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him, so was mine husband also, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great traile.

47 So when he grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

And the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

When my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lights, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should bee quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fled, and am come into this field as thou seest.

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eat nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast vntill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was,
and spake to her angerly, and said,

6 Thou foolish woman about all other, seest thou not our heavinesse, and what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull and is sore afflicted; and mourneth extreemly.

8 Seeing we be all now in heavinesse, and make our mone (for wee be all sorrowfull) art thou sory for one sonne?

9 Demanded the earth, and shee shall tell thee that it is shee which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning al men are borne of her, and other shall come, and behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shal be destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, shee that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sory but for one?

12 But if thou wouldst say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruit of my wombe, which I brought forth with heavinesse, and bare with sorowes,

13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth; and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with traile, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withhold thy sorrow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt bee commended therein.

17 Go thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 Then shee said vnto mee, I will not, I will not go into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said, 20 Doe not so, but be counselled: for how many fals hath Sion? Bee of good comfort because of the sorrow of Ierusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuary is laid waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed.

22 Our psalterion faimeth, and the song cealeth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our Candlesticke is quenched, and the Arke of our covenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, & our Priests are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgines are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weake, 23 And which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great beaunesse, and put away the multitude of sorrowes, that the Almighty may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beauty shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her and nused what it might be.

26 And behold, immediatly she cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cried with a lowde voyce, and said, 28 Where is Vriel the Angel* which came to mee at the first? for hee hath caused mee to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and hee tooke me by the right hand and comforted me, and set mee vpon my feete, and said vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorry?

32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, & I haue done* according vnto thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnes.

35 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 O is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doeth my minde, being haury, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I will informe thee, and tel thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

39 He hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art forie continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a little while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganest to comfort her.

42 But now seest thou the likenesse of the woman no more; but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas she told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, shee is Sion: and whereas she told thee (euen she which thou seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that she said vnto thee, that shee was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirtie yeeres wherein there was no offring offred in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon built the citie, and offred offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas she told thee, that she nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem.

48 But whereas shee tolde thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when shee came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Ierusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her son, thou beganest to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the most High seeth, that thou art forie in thy mind, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clearenesse of her glory, and the fairenesse of her beauty.

51 And therefore I bad thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building cannot stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And

* Chap. 4. 1.

* Chap. 3. 20.

55 And the forest are not, neither let thing be afraid, but go in, and see the beaute and greatness of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eyes may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed about many, and art called with the most High among the sages.

58 But to morrow at night thou shalt remaine here.

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another as he had commanded mee.

CHAP. XI.

The vision of an Eagle climbing fowles of the skie, and of bee fowlers. 37. Of a Lion running out of the forest.

Then saw I a dreame, and behold, there came vp from the sear an Eagle, which had twelue feathered wings and three heads.

2 And I saw and behold, shee spread her wings ouer all the earth, & all the winds of the ayre blew on her, and gathered themselves.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became little feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, & the head in the mids was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreover, I saw that the Eagle flew with his fethers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, & no man spake against her, nor no one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the Eagle stood vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not altogether: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preserued for the last.

10 Neuerthelesse, I sawe that the voyce went not out of her heads, but from the midst of her body.

11 Then I numbered her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, & as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voice vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more,

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third and reigned as the other before, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and behold in processe of time the feathers that followed, stood vpon the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and behold, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the Eagles body, but two heads that rested and six wings.

24 Then saw I also that two wings diuided themselves from the fixe, and remained vnder the head that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnder wings thought to set vp themselves, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselves to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the middes: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I sawe, that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them that were with it, and did eat vp the two vnderwings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwell vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had been.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the middes suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwell therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon the right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voice which said vnto me, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I sawe, and behold as it were a Lion that roareth, running hastily out of the woods: and I saw that he sent out a mans voice vnto the Eagle, and spake and said,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that that of the foure beasts remainest, whom I made to reign in my world, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath overcome all the beasts that were past, & hath power over the world with great fearefullnesse, and over the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit.

41 For thou hast not iudged the world with truth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the mecke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loosed liars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and hast cast downe the wals of such as did thee no harme.

43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp to the most High, and thy pride vnto the Mighty.

44 The most high also hath looked vpon the proud times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou Egle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine body.

46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe as one deliuered from thy violence, and that she may hope for the iudgment and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former vision.

And when the Lion spake these words to the Egle, I saw,

2 And behold, the head that had the vpper hand, appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselves to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vprores.

3 And I sawe, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Egle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and said vnto my spirit, 4 Loe, this hast thou done vnto me in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Loe, yet am I weary in my minde, and very weak in my spirit, & litle strength is there in me, for great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now will I beseech the most High that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deede be come vp before thy face, 8 Comfort me, and shew mee thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou maiest perfectly comfort my soule.

9 Seeing thou hast iudged me worthy to shew me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The Egle whom thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the * kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Behold the dayes come that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared before all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue Kings reigne one after another.

15 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doeth the twelue wings, signifye which thou sawest.

17 As for the voice that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not goe out from the heads, but from the mids of the bodie thereof, this is the interpretation.

18 That after the time of that kingdome there shall arise great strife, and it shall be in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder-wings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight Kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yeeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there shall be foure kept a time; whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation, 23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call again many things into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth.

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much grieve about all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Egle:

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sworde shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shall hee fall by the sword himselfe, 29 And whereas thou sawest two vnder-wings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation.

30 These are they whome the most High hath preferred for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood & roaring, & speaking vnto the Egle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the words that thou hast heard, 32 This is the winde which the most High hath kept for them, and for their wickednesse.

nesse vnto the end, and he shall reprove them, and cast before them their spoiles.

33 For he shall set them alive in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For he wil deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preserved vpon my borders, and he shall make them ioyfull, vntill the coming of the day of iudgement, wherof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou only hast bene meet to know this secret of the most High.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene in a booke, and hide them.

38 And teach them the wife of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But wait thou here yet seuen daies more, that it may be shewed thee whatsoener it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee, and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceived that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto me, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee? or what euil haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou only art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as a hauen or ship preserved from the tempest.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs, sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it been for vs, that we had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For we are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a loud voyce. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heavy, thou house of Iacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercy for the low estate of your Sanctuary.

49 And now go your way home euery man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the field seuen dayes, as he had commanded me, and did eate onely of the flowers of the field, and had my meate of the herbes in thole dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a winde coming forth of the sea, 3 Which became a man. 5 His property and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

AND after the seuen dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a wind from the sea, and it moued all the waies thereof.

3 And I looked, and beholde, there was a mightie man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feelleth the fire.

5 After these things I sawe, and beholde, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the four windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and beholde, he graued him selfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the Countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I sawe after these things, and beholde, all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuerthelesse, when hee saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, he listed not vp his hand: for hee held no sword, nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely as I sawe, hee sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lippes the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, when this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust, and smel of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 Afterward sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offred: and I was sicke thow great feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, woe vnto them that shall be left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left, were in heuineffe.

18 Nowe vnderstand I the things that are laid vp in the later daies, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behind.

19 There-

19 There bre are they come into great perils and many necessities; as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that he that is in danger, should fall into these, and foresee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered he me, and sayd; The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation.

23 Hee that shall beere the danger in that time, he shall keepe himselfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith toward the most Mightie.

24 Know therefore, that they which be left behinde, are more blessed then they that bee dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, Whereas thou sawest a man comming vp from the mids of the sea.

26 The same is hee whom the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and hee shall order them that are left behinde.

27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast with fire and storme, 28 And that he neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse hee destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation.

29 Behold, the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And hee shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, and place against place, * and nation against nation, and realme against realme.

* Math. 24. 7.

32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my sonne be reueiled, whom thou sawest goe vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voice, euery man shall in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that bee willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But hee shall stand vpon the top of mount Sion, 36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen foorth without any hands.

37 And this my sonne shall rebuke the wicked inuengions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest,

38 And into torments like to flame where-by they shall be tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them, euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were carried away captiues out of their owne land, in the time of Oseas the king, whom Salmanasar the king of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and carried them beyond the River: so were they brought into another land.

41 But they tooke this counsell to themselves, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further countrey, where neuer mankinde dwelt;

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred into the narrow passages of the River Euphrates.

44 For the most High then shewed them signes, * and stayed the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer.

* Esd. 14. 11.
Isa. 3. 15, 16.

45 For thorow the countrey there was a great Iourney, euen of a yeere and a halfe, and the same region is called Assareth.

[Or, Arach]

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the later time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The most High shall hold still the springs of the River againe, that they may goe thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that be left behind of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when he destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, hee shall defend the people that remaine, 50 And then shall he shew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shew me this, wherefore haue I seene the man comming vp from the middes of the sea?

52 And he said vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my Sonne, or those that be with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne Law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisdom, and hast hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewards with the most High: and after three other dayes I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wondrous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praising the most High for the wonders which he did in time,

58 Which he gouerneth, and such things as come in their seasons: and there I sate three dayes.

C H A P. XIIII.
How God appeared to Daniel in the bush. All things decline to age. 15 The later times worse than the former. 20 The ingratitude of Israel. 31 The resurrection and judgement.

Vpon the third day I sate vnder an oke, and behold, there came forth a voice vnto me out of the bush, and said, Esdras, Esdras.

And I said, Heare am I, Lord, and stood vp vpon my feete.

Then said hee vnto me, In the bush I reuealed my selfe, and spake vnto Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt.

And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long season.

And I tolde him many wonders, and shewed him the secrets of the times, and the end, and commanded him, saying,

These wordes shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.

And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.

For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine hencefoorth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, vntil the times be ended.

For the world hath lost his youth, and the times begin to waxe olde.

For the world is diuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature,

And set aside thy most grievous thoughts, and hast thee to depart from these times.

For greater euils then those which thou hast seene now shall they commit.

For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the euils be increased vpon them that dwell therein.

For the trueth is fledde farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

¶ Then answered I, & said before thee,

Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people which are present: but they that shall be borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein are without light.

For thy Law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that shall be done.

But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into me, and I will write all that hath beene done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy Law, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes may liue.

And he answered me, saying, Goe, and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fortie dayes.

But prepare thee many booke tables, and take with thee these five, Sares, Dabria, Selema, Ecanus, and Afiel, which are ready to write swiftly.

And come higher, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not bee put out till the things be perfourmed which thou shalt begin to write.

And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfect men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morrow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

Then went I forth, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and said,

Heare these wordes, O Israel,

Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt; from whence they were deliuered,

And receiued the Law of life, which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after them.

Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most High commanded you.

And for so much as hee is a righteous Iudge, hee tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

Therefore if so be that you will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, yee shall be kept aliue, and after death shall ye obtaine mercy.

For after death shall the iudgement come, when we shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shall be declared.

Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fourtie dayes.

So I tooke the five men, as he commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

The next day, behold, a voice called me, saying, Esdras, open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke.

Then opened I my mouth, and behold, he reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had had drunken mine heart vnderstanding, and wisdom grew in my breast: for my spirit was strengthened in memory.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gave vnderstanding vnto the five men, that they wrote the like things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but spake by day, & held not my tongue by night.

44 In fourtie dayes they wrote two hundred and foure booke.

45 And when the fourtie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vniuersal may readie.

46 But keepe the secretie fast, that thou mayst giue them to the wise among the people.

47 For in this is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisdom, and the riuier of knowledg: and I did so.

CHAPTER. XV.

1 The prophete of Esdras is certayne. 2 The oules that shall come on the world. 3 The Lord will avenge the innocent blood. 4 Egypt shall lament. 5 Sedition. 6 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 7 Cursed are they that sime. 8 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 9 God is the avenger of his self.

BEhold, speake thou in the eares of my people the words of prophecie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

1 And cause them to be written in letters for they are faithfull and true.

2 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulness of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

3 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulness.

4 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death and destruction:

5 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked workes are fulfilled.

6 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednes (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

7 Behold, the innocent and righteous blood crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

8 I will surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto mee all the innocent blood from among them.

9 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt,

10 But I will bring them out with a mighty hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the land thereof.

11 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall be smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

12 The ploughmen shall till the ground, shall mourne: for their seeds shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

13 Woe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

14 For the sword & their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swords in their hands.

15 For there shall be sedition among men, and one shall smite another: they shall not regard their King, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

16 A man shall desire to go into a citie, and shall not be able.

17 Because of their pride the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall be afraid, and men shall feare.

18 A man shall haue no pity vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall be spoiled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

19 Behold, saith God, I haue gathered all the Kings of the earth to reuerend me, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to come vpon them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

20 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompence them in their bosome: thus saith the Lord God.

21 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

22 The fire is gone out from his wrath and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw that is kindled.

23 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandements, saith the Lord.

24 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuary.

25 For the Lord knoweth all them that sin against him, and therefore deliuereth hee them vnto death and destruction.

26 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, and ye shall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because yee haue sinned against him.

27 Behold, an horrible vision cometh from the East,

28 Where generations of Dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charrets, and the multitude of them shall be caried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

29 Euen the Carmanians, raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the bores of the Forrest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

30 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shall turne about, & conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall theemie besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their hoste shall be feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Behold clouds from the East, and from the North vnto the South, & they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of barres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shall bee from the sword vnto the belly.

36 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shall bee great fearefulnesse and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shall be afraid, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shall winds arise, and shall open it with the cloud, which he raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West winde, shall be destroyed.

40 And the great and mighty cloudes shall be lift vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraid, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery high place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation.

41 As fire and haile, and flying swordes, and many waters, that all fields may be full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the me-dowes, and their corne.

43 And they shal goe with a straight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraid.

44 They shall come to her, and besiege her, and shal powre forth the constellation, and all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke go vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall do seruice vnto them that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her perfon, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glory in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredom with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inentions: therefore saith God, 49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widow-hood, pouertie, and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glory of thy power shalbe dried vp as a flower when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wite that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mightie and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and said ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set forth the beautie of thy countenance?

55 The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that bee in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eate their owne flesh, and drinke their own blood for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou as vnhappy, shalt come thorow the sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall be to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy lande, and thy mountaines: all thy woods, and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they cary away captiue, and shall spoile thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, and Egypt, and Syria. 18. 38 Of the euils that shall come vpon the world, with admonitions how to gouerne themselves in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselves to the Lord. 55 Whose mightie providence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

Woe to thee, Babylon and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Gird your selues with sacke and haire-cloth, and mourne your children, and be sory: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away an hungry lyon in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mighty Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? He shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not utterly be broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea riseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord, and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bow: his arrowes that hee shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not bee put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shot of a mighty archer, returneth not backward: so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in these dayes?

14 The beginning of sorrowes, and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great dearth: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plague come?

15 Behold, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor bee alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, vitayles shall be so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselves to be in good case: but then shall the euils bud forth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwel vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall be cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shall bee no man left to till the earth, and to sow it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shall be ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voice.

22 For of one city there shall be tenne left, and two of the field, which shall hide themselues in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rockes.

23 As when there remaine three or foure olives in the place where olives grow, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall be three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

26 And the earth shall be left waste, and the fields thereof shall waste old, and her wayes, and all her paths shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauell thither any more.

27 The virgines shall mourne, hauing no bridgemen: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridgemen be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, ye seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Behold the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whom the Lord speaketh: behold, the plagues draw neere, and are at hand.

31 As a travelling woman which is in the ninth month bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, & when the childe commeth to the birth, they tary not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues bee slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorrowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my worde: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 Hee that selleth, let him be as hee that selleth his way: and hee that buyeth as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as hee that winneth not: and hee that buildeth, as hee that shall not dwell therein:

36 Hee that soweth, as one that shall not reape: hee that cutteth the vine, as hee that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marrie, as they that shall get no children: and they that marrie not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruits, and spoile their goods, and ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more will I be angry against them for their finnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whore enuies an honest and vergious woman.

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when she decketh her selfe, and shal accuse her openly, when he shall come that shal bridle the author of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the works thereof: for or euer it be long iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I have not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

46 Beholde, the Lord * knoweth all the workes of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts.

47 For as soone as he said, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them.

49 Hee searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: hee hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 Hee hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his word hath he hangd the earth vpon the waters.

51 He spreadeth out the heauen like a vau:
vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath hee made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountains, to powre out floods from the high rocks to water the earth.

53 Hee made man, and put his heart in the mids of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

54 And the Spirit of the Almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when yee sinne and would hide your finnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your works, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your finnes are brought forth before men, ye shall be confounded, and your owne finnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, or how will ye hide your finnes before God and his Angels?

59 Behold, God himselfe is the iudge: feare him: keepe from your finnes, and forget your iniquities, & meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all troubles.

60 For behold, the heare of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall say, you formeate to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision and in reproch, and troden vnder foot.

62 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoile and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoile their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the triall of my chosen ap-peare, as the gold is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord: behold, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not ye afraid: doubt not, for God is your Captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your finnes weigh you downe, and let not your in-quities lift themselves vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their finnes and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, and the path thereof couered with thorns, whereby no man may trauel: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

Galilee about Afer.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with mee to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Israel, being but yong, al the tribe of Nephthalim my father fel from the house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated, and built vp for all ages.

And when I saw abundance of meate, I said to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt finde of our brethren which doeth remember God; and loe, I will care for thee.

CHAP. III.

The prayer of Tobit. Sarra Raguel daughter, and the things that she said to her father Raguel.

Then I, being sorrowfull, did weep, and in my sorrow prayed, saying,

O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy works, and all thy wayes are merite and truth, and thou iudgeth truly and iustly for euer.

Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my sinnes, nor in the scales, or thy fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

For they haue not obeyed thy commandments: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs from spoyle, and into captiuitie, or to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed: and now thou hast many and iust causes.

To doe with me according to my sinnes, and my fathers: because we haue not kept thy commandments, neither haue walked in thy wayes before thee.

Now therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, and commaund my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolved, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorrowfull: commaund therefore that I may be dissolved out of this distres-se, and goe into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

It came to passe the same day, that in Ecbatane a cite of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maides.

Because she had bene married to seuen husbands, whom Asmodeus the euill spirit had killed before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not know, said they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had now seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

Wherefore dost thou beare vs for them?
if they be dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

When she heard these things, she was very sorrowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And she said, I am the only daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the grauel with sorrow.

Then she prayed toward the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee,

And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may haue no more any reproch.

Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captivity: I am the only daughter of my father, neither hath hee any man-child to become of him, neither any I haue known, or child borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, and why should I liue? But if it please thee, that I should die, commaund to looke on me, and to pity me, that I doe no more heare reproch.

To the prayers of them both were heard before the mặttie of the great God.

And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that he might take away the whitenesse of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Asmodeus the euill spirit, because shee belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. III.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

In that day Tobit remembered the silver which hee had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a cite of Media.

And sayd with him selfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my son
Tobias that I may admonish him before I die?

And when hee had called him, hee said,
My sonne, after that I am dead, burie mee, and despise not thy mother, but honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her nor.

Remember, my sonne, how many dangers shee sustained when thou wast in her wombe.

And when she dieth, bury her by me in the same graue.

My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will bee set to sinne or to transgresse the commandments of God. Doe vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrighteousnesse: for if thou deale truly, thy doings shall prosperously succede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

Giue almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

Giue almes according to thy substance:
if thou haue but a little, be not afraid to giue a little almes.

For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessity.

Tobias delivered from the fish. 7. Raphael sheweth him certaine medicines. 10. He conducteth him toward Sarra.

And as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.

3 And when the yong man went to wash himself, a fish leaped out of the riuer, & would haue deuoured him.

4 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man tooke the fish, and drew it to land.

5 To whom the Angel said, Cutt the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

6 So the yong man did, as the Angel commanded him: and when they had rosted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

7 Then the yong man said to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

8 And he said vnto him, Touching the heart, and the liuer, if a deuill or an euill spirit trouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and he shall be no more vexed.

9 As for the gall, any one a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shall be healed.

10 And when they were come neere to Rages,

11 The Angel said to the yong man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: he also hath one onely daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that she may be giuen thee for a wife.

12 For to thee doeth the right of her pertaine, seeing thou hast art the reuenger of her kinned.

13 And the maide is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, and I will speake to her father, that wee may make the marriage when we are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another according to the Law of Moyses: els he should deserve death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

14 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maide hath bin giuen to seven men, who all died in the marriage chamber:

15 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am affraide, lest I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which hurteth no body but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare lest I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of mee, in the grave with sorrow: for they haue no other sonne to burie them.

16 Then the Angel said vnto him, Dost thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldst marrie a wife of thine owne kinned? wherefore beate mee, O my brother: for she shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shall she be giuen thee in marriage.

17 And when thou shalt goe into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hot coales for perfume, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish.

18 Which if the spirit do smell, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pitie on you, and save you: feare not, for she is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and she shall go with thee: moreover, I suppose that shee shall beare thee children: Now when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

And when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel, and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this yong man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they said, that they were of the tribe of Nephtalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Ninus.

4 Then he said to them, Doe ye know Tobit our kinsman? And they said, Wee know him: Then said he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped and kissed him, and wept.

7 And blessed him, and said vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, hee was sorrowfull and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreover, they received them with a ready mind, & after that they had killed a ram of the flocke, they set rich meat on the table. Then said Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth these things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

Tobias asketh Raguel's daughter to wife.

Raguel, and Raguel said to Tobias, Eat, and drinke and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marrie my daughter: neuertheless, I will declare vnto thee the truth.

11 I have giuen my daughter in marriage to seuen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheless, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias said, I will eate nothing here, vntill yee bring her hither, and betroth her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and she came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the Law of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them.

14 And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a booke and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as hee had bidden her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, & her mother wiped away her daughters teares.

18 And said vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy sorow: bee of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4 Hee prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel blesteth the Lord.

And when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as hee went, hee remembered the words of Raphael, & tooke coles for perfumes, and put the heart & the liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the euill spirit had smelled, he fled into the utmost parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and said, Sister, arise, and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, & blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankind: thou hast said, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto himselfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therefore grant me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And she said with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come to his house,

12 Hee said to his wife Edna, Send one of the maids, and let them see whether he be aliue: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

13 So the maid opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe, 14 And came foorth, and told them that he was aliue.

15 Then Raguel praised God, and sayd, O God, thou art worthy to bee praised with all pure, and holy praise: therefore let thy Saints praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praise thee for euer.

16 Thou art to bee praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyful, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercy.

17 Thou art to be praised because thou hast had mercie of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercie, O Lord, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercy.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fil the graue.

19 And he kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an oath, that he should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the mariage were expired, 21 And then he should take the halfe of his goods and returne in safetie to his father, and should haue the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Tobias to Tobias marriage.

Then Tobias called Raphael, and said vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring mee the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very sory.

5 So Raphael went out and came to Gabael, & gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, & gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went foorth, both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with child.

The Angel sendeth Tobias.

NOW Tobit his father counted every day and when the dayes of the journey were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit sayd, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabriel dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore he was very sory.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarieth: and she began to bewaile him, and said,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead, and thee went out every day by the way, which they went, neither didst thou eate meate on the day time; and didst consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias vntill the foortene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that hee should tary there. When Tobias said to Raguel, Let me goe for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tarry with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me goe to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money.

11 And hee blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father, & thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and hee kissed them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, & grant that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold now, I comit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not entreat her euill.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 2 How hee was received. 3 His father bath his sight restored and praiseth the Lord.

AFTER these things Tobias went his way, praising God that hee had giuen him a prosperous journey, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way til he drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael sayd to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, how thou diddest leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house.

4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dogge followed them.

5 Now Anna sat in the way, looking for her sonne.

6 Whom when she saw comming, shee said to his father, Behold, thy sonne cometh, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, hee shall rubbe and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobias also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him,

11 And tooke hold of his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father, 12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when hee saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke, 14 And he wept and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pity on mee: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad, went in, and told his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in law, reioycing and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him goe, manieled, because hee had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pitie on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in law, hee blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome daughter: God bee blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed bee thy father: and there was great ioy among al his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias mariage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

1 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him, & the which hee would recompense. 2 Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

THEN Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and said vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And hee said vnto him, O father, it shall not grieue me to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For hee hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then

The Angel goeth on Tobias message.

The Angels send to Tobias,

4. Then the old man sayd, It is due vnto him.

6 So hee called the Angel, and sayd vnto him, Take halfe of all that yee haue brought, and goe away in silence. But hee took of them both a part, and said vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, & praise him for the things which hee hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name: and to shewe forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not wroth to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honourable to reuile the workes of God: doe that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes and righteousness. A little with righteousness, is better then much with varietie of almes: it is better to giue almes, then to lay vp golde.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doeth purge all sinne. These which exercise almes and righteousness, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely, I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I said it was good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but that it was honourable to reuile the workes of God.

12 Now therefore when thou diddest pray, and Sarra thy daughter in law, I did bring to memory your prayer before the holy one: and when thou diddest bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieved to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deede was not hid from mee: but I was with thee.

14 And now God hath sent mee to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael one of the seven holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he said vnto them, Feare not, for it shall go well with you: prayse God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

19 * All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you saw it in vision.

20 Now therefore giue God thanks: for I goe vp to him that sent mee: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they arose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull worke of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.
 A thanksgiving of Tobie, who ascribed all to prayer to the Lord.

1 Then Tobie wrote a prayer of reioicing, and said, Blessed be God that liued for euer, and blessed be his kingdom for euer.

2 * For he doth scourge, and hath pity: he leadech to hell, and bringech vp, neither is there any that can avoid his hand.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, yee children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God, and our Father for euer.

5 He hath scourged us for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whom wee are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vprightly before him, then will he turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what he will doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, & praise the Lord of righteousness, and extoll the euerlasting King.

7 I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power, and greatnesse to a sinfull nation. O yee sioners, turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercy, and haue pitie on you?

8 I will extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the King of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.

9 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousness.

10 O Ierusalem the holy citie, hee will scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but hee will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

11 Giue praise to the Lord duly, and praise the euerlasting King, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

12 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lord God, with giftes in their hands, euen gifts to the King of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.

13 Curfed are all they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

14 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shalbe gathered, and shall blisse the Lord of the iust.

15 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shal reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorrowful for al thy scourges: for they shal reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

16 Let my soule blisse God the great King

16 For

He that will be acceptable to God, must be proued with temptation.

* Gen. 18, 8 and 19, 3 iudges 13, 16.

16 For Ierusalem shall be built vp with Saphires, and Emeraude, and thy wall es with precious stones, and thy towers, and thy bulwarks with pure gold.

17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shall be paved with Berall, and Carbuncle, and stones of Opur.

18 And all her streets shall say, Halleluiah, and they shall praise him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled it for euer.

C H A P. XIII. Of the destruction of Nineue, and the restoring of Ierusalem, and the Temple; 1. The death of Tobie, and his wife. 2. Tobias goes and death.

SO Tobie made an end of praising God. And he was eight and fiftie yeere old when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and he gave almes, and hee continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when he was very aged, hee called his sonne, and sixe of his sonnes sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life).

4 Goe into Media, my sonne; for I surely beleue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shalbe destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shalbe scattered in the earth from that good land, and Ierusalem shalbe desolate, and the House of God in it shalbe burned, and shalbe desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God will haue pitie on them, & bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age bee fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and build vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the House of God shalbe built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truly, and shal bury their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people and all those which loue the Lord in truth & iustice, shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercie to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the Commandements, and shew thy selfe merciful and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And burie me honestly, and thy mother with me; but tarie no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of sight he brought him into darkenesse, and how hee rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was laued, but the other had his reward: for hee went downe into darkenesse. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him: but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousness doeth deliuer. When he had said these things, he gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundred and eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honourably.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in law.

13 Where he became old with honour, and he buried his father and mother in law honourably, and he inherited their substance and Tobie his father.

14 And he dyed at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundred and seuen and twentie yeere old.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

IV D E T H.

C H A P. I.

2 The building of Ecbatane. 3. Nebuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and overcame him. 12 Hee threateneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walls round about, of hewen stone, three cubits broad, and sixe cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuentie cubites, and the breath thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it of an hundred cubites, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubites.

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on high, seuentie cubites and the breadth of them fortie cubites, for the going forth of his mightie armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen)

5 Euen in those dayes, King Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arphaxad, in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris and Hydaspes, and the country countrey of Amur, the King of the Elimeans, and very many more, assembled themselves to the battell of the sonnes of Chusod.

And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Syria, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, in Damascus, and Libanus, and in Melibanus, and to all that dwelt upon the sea coast,

And to the people that were in Carmel, and Canad, and in the Galle, and the great field of Esdraim,

And to all that were in Samaria, and the cities thereof, and beyond Iordan vnto Ierusalem, and Betan, and Chellus, and Cades, and the river of Egypt, and Iaphnes, and Ramene, and all the land of Gaden, Vntil one come to Padie, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and all one come to the mountanes of Ethiopia.

But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, hee was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, and swore by his throne and kingdome that he would surely be auenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Indea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

Then hee marched in battell aray with his power against King Arphaxad in the seuenteenth yeere, and hee preuailed in his battell: for he ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horsemen, and all his chariots.

And hee wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbarane, and tooke the towers, and spoiled the streetes thereof, and turned the beautie thereof into shame.

Hee tooke also Arphaxad in the mountanes of Ragau, and smote him through with his darts, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

So hee returned afterward to Nineue, both he and all his companie with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there he passed the time, and banketted, both he, and his army an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people should be brought in subiection, 6 And to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor

King of the Assyrians, that he should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

So he called vnto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the manner of the earth.

Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

And when hee had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

Thus sayeth the great King the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen, an hundreth and twentie thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

And thou shalt goe against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commandement.

And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will goe forth in my wrath against them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will smite them as a spoile vnto them.

So that their wounded shall fill their valleyes, and their rivers, and the flood shall overflow, being filled with their dead.

And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmost parts of all the earth.

Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their countrey: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them wheresoeuer thou goest.

For as I liue, and the power of my kingdome, whatsoever I haue spoken, that will I doe by mine hand.

And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commandements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Assur.

And he mustred the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundreth and twentie thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

And hee set them in aray according to the manner of setting a great armie in aray.

And he tooke camels and asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their prouision,

And vitaille for euery man of the armie, and and very much gold and silver out of the kings house.

19 Then hee went forth and all his power, to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to cover all the face of the earth Westward, with their charrets, and horsemen, and chosen footmen, 20 A great multitude also of sundrie sortes came with them like grasshoppers, and like the grasse of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three dayes iourney toward the countrey of Beethleth, and pitched from Beethleth neere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then he tooke all his armie, his footmen and horsemen, and charrets, and went from thence into the mountaines.

23 And he destroyed Phud and Ludy, and spoiled al the children of Rasses, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wilderness at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then hee went ouer Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the high cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntill one come to the sea.

25 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South and ouer against Arabia.

26 Hee compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their Tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

27 Then hee went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheate harvest, and burnt vp all their fieldes, and destroyed their flockes and the heards: hee robbed their cities, and spoiled their countrey, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the Sea coast, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur & Ocina, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. 8 He destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might onely be worshipped.

So they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great king: we lye downe before thee: vfe vs as shalbe good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and all our places, and al our fieldes of wheate, and our flockes, and our heards, and all our lodges and Tabernacles lye before thy face: vfe them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Behold, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee,

5 So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he downe toward the Sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garisons in the high cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them, with crownes, and dances, and with timbrels.

8 Yet hee brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was entoyed him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor onely, and that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also hee came against Esdraclon, neere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great strait of Iudea.

10 And hee pitched betweene Geba, and a city of the Sythians, and there he taried a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. III.

The Israelites were afraid and defended their countrey. 6 Ioachim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they should fortifie themselves. 9 They cried to the Lord, and humbled themselves before him.

Now the children of Israel that dwelt in Iudea, heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coasts of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethora, and Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the tops of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitails for the prouision of warre: for their fieldes were of late reaped.

6 Also Ioachim the hie Priest which was in those dayes in Ierusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Esdraclon toward the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entrie into Iudea, and it was easie to let them that would come vp, because the passage was strait for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Ioachim the hie Priest had commanded them, with the ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Ierusalem,

9 Then

9 Then cryed every man of Israel to God with great seruencie, & their soules with great affliction.

10 Both they, and their wives, and their children, and their castell, and every stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their loines.

11 Thus every man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar, 12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that he would not giue their children for a pray, and their wives for a spoile, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuarie to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Iudea and Ierusalem before the Sanctuarie of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Iosim the high Priest, and all the Priests that stode before the Lord, and ministered vnto the Lord, had their loines girt with sackcloth, & offered the continual burnt offering with prayers and the free gifts of the people.

15 And had fishes on their miters, and cried vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Israelites.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had wall'd all the tops of the high hilles, and had laide impediments in the champion country.

2 Where with he was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he said vnto them, Shew me, O ye sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength & their power? and what king or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to mee mee, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

* Chap. 11. 7, 9.

5 ¶ Then said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers; which were in the lande of Chaldees.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and silver, and with very much cattell.

10 But when a famine covered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linages.

11 Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them lowe with labouring in bricke, and made them slaves.

12 Then they tryed vnto their God, and he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the Egyptians cast them out of their fight.

13 And God dried the red sea in their presence,

14 And brought them into mount Sina and Cades barne, and cast forth all that dwelt in the wilderness.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Efebon, and passing ouer Iordan they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pherefites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sichem, & all the Gergesites: and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.

18 But when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, and were ledde captiues into a land that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, and haue possessed Ierusalem where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there be any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and we shall overcome them.

21 But

21 But if there be none iniquity in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwell by the sea side and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For say they, was scarce not to mee the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O lord Olofernes, and thou shalt be meate for thy whole armie.

CH. A. P. VI.
Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 14 Achior is delivered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

And when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell, was ceased, Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, sayd vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim, 25 Because thou hast prophecied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, because their God will defend them: and who is God but Nabuchodonosor?

26 He will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustaine the power of our heries.

27 For we will tread them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall be drunken with their blood, and their fields shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not bee able to stand before vs: but they shall vterly perish.

28 The King Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth, hath said, euen he hath said, None of my words shall be in vaine.

29 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these words in the day of thine iniquity, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

30 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue me, passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

31 And my seruants shall carie thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the high cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

32 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy minde, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fail: I haue spoken it, and none of my wordes shall be in vaine.

33 Then commanded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

34 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middest of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

35 And when the men of the cite saw them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the cite vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from coming vp, by casting stones against them.

36 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foot of the hill, and returned to their lord.

37 Then the Israelites came downe from their city, and stood about him, and loosed him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their cite.

38 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the sonne of Gorthomel, and Charimis the sonne of Melchiel.

39 And they called together all the Ancients of the cite, & all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the mids of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

40 And hee answered and declared vnto them the words of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the words that hee had spoken in the mids of the princes of Assur, and what soeuer Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

41 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cried vnto God, saying, 42 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercie on the basenesse of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

43 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

44 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Olofernes doeth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and others against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

The next day Olofernes commaunded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoue their campes against Bethulia, and that they should rake all the straites of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their camps in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thousand and seuentie footemen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were alsoote among them a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountains, and they spread abroad toward Dothaim vnto Belhaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdraelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and said euery one to his neighbour, Now will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the high mountaines, nor the valleys, nor the hills are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towres, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day, Olofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their city, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them and set garisons of men of warre ouer them, and remooued towards his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, and said, 9 Let our captaine now heare a word, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore my lord fight not against them in battell ray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the country that commeth forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shal thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and wee and our people wil go vp to the tops of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children shall be consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall bee ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these words pleased Olofernes and all his souldiers, and hee appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fise thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of themselves toward the South, and toward the East, out against Rebel, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuier Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the field, and covered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cried vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their footmen, chariots and horsemen, foure and thirtie dayes: so that euery all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wiues and yong men failed for thirst, and fel downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cried with a loud voice, and said before all the Elders.

24 The * Lord iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue not required peace of the children of Assur.

25 For now wee haue no helper: but God hath sold vs into their hands, that we should be throwen downe before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a spoile to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoile vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will be his seruants that wee may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witnesse against you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers, which punisheth vs according to our finnes and the finnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great criec of all with one consent in the middes of the assembly, and they cried vnto the Lord God with a loud voyce.

30 Then said Ozias to them, Brethren, bee of good courage: let vs wait yet fise dayes, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercy toward vs: for he will not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

So he separated the people; every one into their charge; and they went into the walls and towers of their Citie; and sent their wives and their children into their houses; and they were very low brought in the citie.

CHAP. VII.

The parentage, life and conversation of Iudeth. 1. She rebuketh the faintness of the gouernour. 14. She sheweth that she should not despise God; but waite vpon him for succour. 33. Her intercession against the enemies.

NOW in that time, Iudeth heard thereof which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Oz, the sonne of Iosaph, the sonne of Ozaiel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gideon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Ario, the sonne of Ehu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salsadai, the sonne of Israel.

And Manasses was her husband, of her stock & kindred, who died in the Barley haruest. For as hee was diligent ouer them that bound sheaves in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, and died in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field between Dothaim and Balamo.

So Iudeth was in her house a widowe three yeeres and foure moneths.

And she made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackcloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparell.

And she fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath and the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feasts and solemne dayes of the house of Israel.

She was also of a goodly countenance and very beautiful to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold and silver, and men seruants, and maide seruants, and cattell, and possessions, where she remained.

And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for she feared God greatly.

Now when she heard the euill words of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lack of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the words that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fise dayes)

Then she sent her maide, that had the gouernment of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the Ancients of the citie.

And they came vnto her, and she said vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that yee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this oath which yee made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

And now who are you that haue tempted God this day? and see your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now you seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot find out the depth of the heart of man, neither can yee perceiue the things that hee thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if hee will not helpe vs within these fise dayes, hee hath power to defend vs, when he will, even every day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore bind the counsels of the Lord our God: For God is not as man that he may bee threatened, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs waite for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs; and he will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath been aforetime.

19 For the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoyle, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust that he will not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when wee shall be taken, shall Iudea be so famous: for our Sanctuary shall be spoyled, and hee will require the profanation thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance will he turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, where soeuer we shalbe in bondage, and wee shall be an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shall not bee directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuary, and the House, and the Altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things hee did to Abraham, and how he tried Isaac, and all that he did to Iacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when he kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

27 For he hath not tried vs as he did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come nere to him.

28 ¶ Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is known, but from the beginning of thy life all the people have known thy wisdom: for the device of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirstie, and compelled vs to do vnto them as we haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an oath which we may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing, which shall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You shall stand this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmaide: and within the dayes that ye haue promised to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will visite Israel by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine act: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things bee finished that I doe.

35 Then said Ozias and the princes vnto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth her selfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

Then Iudeth fell vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, and put off the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that euening was offered in Ierusalem in the house of the Lord, Iudeth cried with a lowd voice, and said,

* Gen. 34. 3, 25.

2 O Lord God of my father * Simeon, to whom thou gauest a sword to take vengeance of the stranger which opened the wombe of the maid, and defiled her, and discovered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou haddest commanded that it should not so be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gauest their princes to the slaughter, for they were deceiued and washed their beds with blood) and hast striken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours, vpon their thrones,

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray, and their daughters to bee captiues, and all their spoyle for a bootie to the children that thou louedst: which were moued with thy zeale, & abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for aide, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Behold, we are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknown.

7 Behold, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselves with horses and horsemen: they glory in the strength of their footmen: they trust in shield, speare and bow, and sling, and doe not know that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and break their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuary, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast down with weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widowe, the strength that I haue conceiued.

10 * Smite by the deceite of my lips the seruant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

11 * For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, and the protector of them that are forsaken, and the Sauour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the Creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer, 13 And graunt mee words and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprize cruell things against thy Couenant, and against thine holy House, and against the top of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art the God of all power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her selfe and goeth forth of the citie. 11 Shee is taken of the watch of the Assyrians and brought to Olofernes.

Now after shee had ceased to crie vnto the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these words,

2 Shee rose where shee had fallen downe, and called her maide, and went downe into the house, in the which shee abode in the Sabbath dayes and in the feast dayes,

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherewith

with shee was glad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, she washed her body with water, and anoynted it with much oymntment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith shee was clad during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and sleeues, and rings, and eareings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then shee gaue her maide a bottell of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with flowre, and with drie figs, and with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together, and laid them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charnis.

7 And when they saw her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto the Command the gates of the citie to be opened vnto me, that I may goe forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they commanded the yong men to open vnto her, as shee had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, she and her maide with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill she was gone downe the mountaine, and till shee had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went straight soorth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And shee said, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall be giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shew before him the way whereby hee shall goe and winne all the mountaines, without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beauty, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hastened to come downe to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, and hee will entreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundred men, and prepared a chariot for her and her mayd, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro, throughout the campe: for her coming was bruited among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for shee stood without the tent of Olofernes vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beautie, and wondered at the children of Israel because of her, and euery one said vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes guard went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and gold and emerauds, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and he came forth vnto the entry of his tent, and they caried lamps of siluer before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and she fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Olofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 And asketh the cause of her coming, 5 She deceiveth him by her faire words.

Then said Olofernes vnto her, Woman, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the King of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwel- leth in the mountaines, had not despised mee, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselves.

3 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: bee of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreat thee well, as they doe the seruants of King Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth said vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine hand- mayd to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmayd, God wil bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the each Iudeth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shall be made subject to him by thee, but also the beasts of the fields, and the cattell, and the fowles of the heauen shall live by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For we haue heard of thy wisdom and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderful knowledge, and in seases of warre maruailous.

9 Now concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy counsell, wee haue heard his words: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, reiect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sword preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore, lest my lord should be frustrate, and voyde of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may bee taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not becomming,

12 (For because their vitailles faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, & haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his Lawes.)

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheate, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserved and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawful for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreouer, they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwel there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senaate)

15 Now when they shal bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaid, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoever shall heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let mee remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant go out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reuile vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes, 18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall bee none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will leade thee through the mids of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throne in the mids thereof, and thou shalt drine them as sheepe that haue no shepherd, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her words pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they maruiled at her wisdom, and said, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisdom of words.

22 Likewise Olofernes said vnto her, God hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy words: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt bee renoumed throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles. 3 Shee maketh her request that shee might goe out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

Then he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were laid, and bad that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth sayd, * I may not eate of them, lest there should be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

3 Then Olofernes sayd vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile, how should we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then sayd Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaid shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that hee hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thine handmaid may goe forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commanded his guard that they should not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that hee would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So shee returned, and remained pure in the these, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

13 ¶ And in the fourth day, Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

14 ¶ Then sayd hee to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge ouer all that he had, Goe and perswade this Hebrew woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs and eate and drinke with vs.

15 ¶ For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.

16 ¶ Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and said, Let not this faire maide make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

17 ¶ Then sayd Iudeth vnto him, Who am I know, that I should gainsay my Lord? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall bee my ioy vnto the day of my death.

18 ¶ So shee arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maide went, and spred soorth her skins on the ground ouer against Olofernes, which she had receiued of Bagoas for her dayly vse, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

19 ¶ Now when Iudeth came and sat down, Olofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was moued, and he desired greatly her company: for hee had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had seen her.

20 ¶ Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be merrie with vs.

21 ¶ So Iudeth sayd, I drinke now my Lord because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

22 ¶ Then shee tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things, that her maide had prepared.

23 ¶ And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine, then he had drunken at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 Shee smiteth off Olofernes necke. 10 Shee returned to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

Now when the euening was come, his seruants made halte to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all weary, because the feast had been long.

2 ¶ And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

3 ¶ Now Iudeth had commanded her mayd to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her comming forth as she did dayly: for she sayd, she would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 ¶ So all went soorth in her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, sayd in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine hands for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 ¶ For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 ¶ Then shee came to the post of the bed, which was at Olofernes head, and tooke down his fauchin from thence,

7 ¶ And approached to the bed, and tooke hold of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day.

8 ¶ And shee smote twise vpon his necke, with all her might, and shee tooke away his head from him,

9 ¶ And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after shee went forth, and gaue Olofernes head to her maide,

10 ¶ And shee put it in her scrip of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and pressing through the tents, went about by that valley, and went vnto the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ ¶ Then sayd Iudeth as farre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shew his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 ¶ Now when the men of her citie heard her voice, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 ¶ And they ranne altogether both small and great: for it was aboue their expectation, that she should come. So they opened the gate, and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 ¶ Then shee sayd to them with a lowde voyce, Praise God, praise God: for he hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 ¶ So shee tooke the head out of the scrip and shewed it, and sayd vnto them, Beholde the head of Olofernes, the chiefe Captaine of the armie of Assur, and behold the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkenesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 ¶ As the Lord liueth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction: & he hath not committed sin with me by any pollution or villeny.

17 ¶ Then

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, & bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most high God above all the women of the earth, & blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turned these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visited thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Judeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes. 10 Achior wynneth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites goe out agaynst the Assyrians.

* 2 Mac. 15. 35.

Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare mee also my beethren, and take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your walles.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare and the Sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would go downe into the field, toward the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, & shall goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not find him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coasts of Israel, shall pursue them, and ouerthrowe them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, cal me Achior the Ammonite, that hee may see, and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when hee was come and sawe the head of Olofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, he fel down on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, he fell at Iudeths feete, and reuerenced her, and said Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name, shall be astonished.

8 Now therefore tell mee all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the mids of the people all that she had done from the day that shee went forth, vntill that houre she spake vnto the.

9 And when she had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voice, and made a noise of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleued in God vnfainedly, and circumcised the foreskinne of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 As soone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straites of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent, and sayde to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue been bold to come downe against vs to battel, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that hee had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cryed with a lowd voyce, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty crie, and rent his garments.

17 After, hee went into the tent of Iudeth where she vsed to remaine, and found her not: then he leaped out to the people and cried, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednesse: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes lyeth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the Captaines of the Assyrians army heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a crie and a very great noise throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraid, and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioachim the high Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Iudeth, and to praise God for her.

And when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amafed, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia were put to flight: then the children of Israel euery one that was a warriour among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coasts coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Chobab: likewise also they that came from Ierusalem, and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the camp of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galilee chased them with a great slaughter vntill they came to Damascus: and to the coast thereof.

And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Ioachim the high Priest, and the Ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Hierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people sayd, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirtie dayes, and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his silver and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and shee tooke it and layd it on her mules, and made ready her charets, and layd them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a daunce among them for her, and shee tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with oliues, and her that was with her, and shee went before the people in the daunce, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth praiseth God with a song. 19 Shee offereth to the Lord Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her continencie, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

Then Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loude voice.

2 And Iudeth sayd, Begin vnto my God with timbrels: sing to my Lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a Psalme: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the middes of his people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines forth of the North: hee came with thousands in his armie, whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemen haue couered the valleys.

5 He said that he would burne vp my borders, and kill my young men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgines a spoile.

6 But the Almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mightie did not fall by the yong men, neither did the sons of Titan smite him, nor the high giants inuade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For shee put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with oyntment, and bound vp her haire in a coiffe, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie tooke his minde prisoner, and the sauchin passed through his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnesse, and the Medes were troubled with her hardinesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voice and turned backe.

12 The children of maides pierced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battel of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lorde a song and praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, marueilous and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirit, and he made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voice.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rockes melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweete sauour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kined: the Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feeble them and weepe for euer.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lord, & as soon as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offrings, and their free offrings, & their gifts.

19 Iudeth

19 Iudeth also offered all the stuffe of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gave the canopy which shee had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuary, for the space of three moneths, and Iudeth remained with them.

21 After this time, every one returned to his owne inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the dayes of her life after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to his fathers.

hered to his people.

23 But shee increased more and more in honour, and waxed old in her husbands house, being an hundredth and fife yere old, and made her mayde free: so shee died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the grave of her husband Manasses.

24 And the house of Israel lamented her seven dayes, and before shee died shee did distribute her goods to all them that were neere of kinred to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neere of her kinred.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the dayes of Iudeth, nor a long time after her death.

ESTHER

Certaine portions of the story of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations:

Which follow the tenth Chapter.

IHen Mardocheus said, God hath done these things.

2 For I remember a dream, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

3 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the Sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther whom the King married, and made Queene.

4 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

5 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the Name of the Iewes.

6 And my people is Israel which cryed to God, and are saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, & the Lord hath deliuered vs from all these euils, and God hath wrought signes, and great wonders, which haue not been done among the Gentiles.

7 Therefore hath hee made two lottes, one for the people of God, another for all the Gentiles.

8 And these two lottes came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

9 So God remembered his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

10 Therefore those dayes shalbe vnto them in the moneth Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly and ioy, and with gladnes before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who said he was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolemeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of Phrurai, which they said Lyfimachus the sonne of Ptolemeus, which was at Ierusalem, interpreted.

2 In the second yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes: in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mardocheus the sonne of Iarus, the sonne of Semei, the son of Cis of the tribe of Benjamin had a dreame.

3 A Iew dwelling in the Citie of Susis, a noble man that bare office in the Kings Court.

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon brought from Ierusalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame. Beholde, a noyse of a tempest with thunders, and earthquakes and uproare in the land.

6 Behold, two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their crie was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darknes and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amased, and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the little well grew into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light and the Sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, & deuoured the glorious.

12 Now when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, he awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would do, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the Kings court with Bagathas & Thara, the the kings eunuchs and keepers of the palace.

2 But when he heard their purpose, and their imaginations, hee perceived that they went about to lay their hands vpon the King Artaxerxes, and so hee certified the King thereof.

3 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuchs with torments, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to be put in the Chronicles, Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the King commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the court, and for the advertisement, he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the King, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two Eunuchs of the King that were put to death.

CHAP. XIIII.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

THe copie of the letters was this, The great King Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces.

1 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentlenesse to gouerne my subiects, and wholly to set them in a peaceable life and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely goe thorow on euery side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellers, how these things might bee brought to passe, one that was conuerfant with vs, of excellent wisdom, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to bee of sure fidelity, which had the second place in the kingdom, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to al people, and haue alway despised the commandements of kings, and so that this generall empire, that wee haue begun, cannot be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing now we perceiue, that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and go about to establish wicked matters that our kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue we commanded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordained ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wiues and children bee destroyed and rooted out with the sword of their enemies without al mercie, and that none be spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere.

7 That they which of olde, and now also haue euer beene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him.

9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King Almighty (for all things are in thy power) and if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heaven and earth, and all the wondrous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee which art the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory, that I did this, and not bow downe to proud Aman.

13 For I would haue beene contented with good will for the saluation of Israel, to haue kissed the sole of his fete.

14 But I did it, because I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, & would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God and King, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance that hath beene thine from the beginning.

16 Despise not the portion, which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorrow into ioy, that wee may liue, O Lord, and praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like maner cried most earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her and her people.

Queene Esther also, being in danger of death, resorted vnto the Lord,

And layd away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious ointment, shee scattered ashes, and dung vpon her head: and shee humbled her bodie greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled shee with the haire that shee pluckt off.

3 And shee prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou onely art our King: helpe me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee, 4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel

Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their predecessors for a perpetual inheritance; & thou hast performed that which thou diddest promise them.

6 Now Lord, wee have sinned before thee: therefore hast thou given vs into the hands of our enemies.

7 Because wee worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheless, it satisfieth them not, that wee are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue stricken hands with their idoles.

9 That they wil abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordained, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praise thee, & to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar.

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshly king for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, lest they laugh vs to scorn in our misery: but turne their deuise vpon themselves and make him an example, that hath begun the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shewe thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Giue mee an eloquent speech in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemies, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and help me that am solitary, which haue no defence but onely thee.

15 Thou knowest all things, O Lord: thou knowest, that I hate the glory of the vniuersal, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head: what time as I must shewe my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe.

17 And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the Kings feast: nor dunke the wine of the drinke offerings.

18 And that I thine handmaide haue no joy since the day that I was brought hither, vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mighty God above all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe in to the King, and make intercession for her people. 9 And she performeth his request.

Mardocheus also bade Esther to goe in vnto the King, and pray for her people, and for her country.

2 Remember, sayth hee, the dayes of thy low estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the King hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, and speake for vs vnto the King, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when shee had ended her prayer, she layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell.

5 And deckt her selfe goodly: after that shee had called vpon God, which is the beholder and sniour of all things, and tooke two handmaidens with her.

6 Vpon the one she leant her selfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull and amiable, but her heart was sorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then she went in thorow all the doores, and stood before the King, and the King sate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold and precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then he lift vp his face, that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leant her selfe vpon the head of the mayd that went with her.

11 Neuertheless, God turned the Kings minde that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till shee came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheere, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come neere.

14 And so hee held vp his golden scepter, and layd it vpon her necke.

15 And kissed her, and said, Talke with me.

16 Then sayd shee, I saw thee, O Lord, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderful art thou, O Lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the King was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

1 He great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India, vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred and seuen and twenty prouinces, sendeth sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

To/eph. antiq. lib. 11 cap. 6.

2 There be many that through the goodnesse of princes and honourous giftes vnto them, become very proud.

3 And indeubur not onely to hurt our subiects, but also to contrarie to his owne mealt, do also imagine destruction against those that doe them good.

4 And take not onely all thankfullnesse away from men, but also pride and presumption, as they that bee vnmindfull of benefite, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, what feare all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oftentimes many, which be set in office, and vnto whome their friends cause are committered, by vaine enticement do wrappe them in calamities that cannot bee remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood.

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie, and gentleness of princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestiferous, as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore we must take heed hereafter, that we may make the kingdom peaceable for all men, what change soeuer shal come.

9 And discern the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentleness.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being in deede a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse, was receiued of vs.

11 And hath proued the friendship that we beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the king.

12 But he could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to deprive vs of the kingdom, and of our life.

13 With manifold deceit also hath hee desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent. Either the partaker of our kingdom, with all her nation.

14 For his mind was (when hee had taken them out of the way) to lay wayt for vs, and by this meane to translate the kingdom of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we find that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man, that they might be destroyed) at no euill doers, but we most iust lawes.

16 And that they bee the children of the most High and Almighty and euerliuing God, by whom the kingdom hath bin preserved vnto vs and our progenitors in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall doe well, if ye doe not put in execution those letters, that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For hee that inuented them, hanged at Susis before the gates, with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deserting.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copie of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And ye shall aide them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged of the, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy the day wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne dayes, ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse.

23 That both now and in time to come this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly be destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beasts and foules for euer.

THE WISEDOME OF SALOMON.

CHAP. I.

1 How we ought to search and enquire after God. 2 Who be those that find him. 3 The holy Ghost. 11 Wee ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 12 Whereof death commeth. 15 Righteousnesse and vnrightheousnesse.

Loue *righteousnesse, ye that be iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

2 * For he will be found of them that tempt him not, and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tried, reprooueth the vnwise.

4 Because wisdom cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwel in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.

5 For the holy * Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth,

6 For the Spirit of wisdom * is louing, and wil not absolue him that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witnesse of his reines, and a a true beholder of his heart; and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lord filleth all the world: and the same that maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voice.

8 Therefore he that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot be hid: neither shall the iudgement of a reproch bechimespall.

9 For inquisition shall be made for the thoughts of the vn godly, and the sound of his words shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the fire of ielousie heareth all things, and the noise of the grudgings shall not be hid.

11 Therefore be ware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing: and reframe your tongue from slander: for there is no word so secret, that shall goe for nought, and the mouth that speaketh lies, slayeth the soule.

12 Seeke not death in the error of your life: * destroy not your selues through the works of your owne hands.

13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath hee pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things, that they might haue their being, and the generations of the world are preserued, and there is no poyson of destruction in them, and the kingdome of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousness is immortal, but vnrighteousnesse bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly call it vnto them both with hands and words: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are considerate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

1 The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their counsel against the faithfull.

For the vngodly say, as they falsely imagine with themselves, * Our life is short and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouerie, neither was any kowen that hath returned from the graue.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, & we shalbe hereafter as though we had neuer been: for the breath is as smoke in our nostrils, and the words as a sparke raised out of our heart,

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the Spirit vanisheth as the soft aire.

4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloude, and come to nought as the mist that is driuen away with the beames of the Sunne, and cast downe with the heat thereof. Our name also shalbe forgotten in time, and no man shall haue our works in remembrance.

5 * For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man commeth againe.

6 Come therefore, and let vs enjoy the pleasures, that are presently, and let vs choose fully the pleasures in youth.

7 Let vs fill our selues with costly wine and ointments, and let nothing flowe of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs rowne our selues with rose buds, as for they be withered.

9 Let vs all bee partakers of our vngodnesse: let vs release the conscience of our pleasure in every place, for that is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppress the poore that is righteous: let vs not spare the widow, nor reuerence the white haire of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our strength be the law of vnrighteousnesse: for the thing that is feeble, is reproued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraud the righteous: for he is not for our profit, and hee is contrary to our doings, he checketh vs for offending against the Law, and blameth vs as transgressors of discipline.

13 He maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God: and he calleth himselfe the son of the Lord.

14 He is made to reprove our thoughts.

15 It grieveth vs also to looke vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.

16 He counteth vs as bastards, and he withdraweth himselfe from our wayes as from filthinesse: hee commendeth greatly the later end of the iust, and boasteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs see then if his words be true: let vs proue what end he shall haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the * sonne of God, he will help him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.

19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes and torments that we may know his meeknes, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shamefull death: for he shall be presented as he himselfe saith.

21 Such things doe they imagine, and goe astray: for their own wickednes hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousness, nor can discern the honour of the soules that are faultlesse.

23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the * image of his owne likenesse.

24 * Neuertheless, through enuy of the deuill came death into the world: and they that hold of his side proue it.

But the ¹ soules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.

² In the sight of the vnwise they appeared to die, and their end was thought grievous. And their departing from vs, destruction, but they are in peace.

³ And though they suffer paine before men, yet is ⁴ their hope full of immortallitie.

⁵ They are punished but in few things, yet in many things shall they bee well rewarded: for God proueth them, & findeth them meet for himselfe.

⁶ He trieth them as the gold in the furnace, and crucieth them as a perfit fruit offering.

⁷ And in the time of their vision they shall shine, and runne thorow as the sparks among the stubble.

⁸ They shall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lord shall reigne for euer.

⁹ They that trust in him shall vnderstand the trueth, and the faithfull shall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercy is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

¹⁰ But the vngodly shall be punished according to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

¹¹ Who so despiseth wisdom and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their works vnprofitable.

¹² Their wiues are vndiscreete, and their children wicked, their offering is cursed.

¹³ Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinful bed: she shall haue fruit in the visitation of the soules.

¹⁵ For glorious is the fruit of good labors, and the roote of wisdom shall neuer fade away.

¹⁶ But the children of adulterers shall not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shall be rooted out.

¹⁷ And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall be without honour.

¹⁸ If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.

¹⁹ For horrible is the ende of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue, and the commoditie thereof. ¹⁰ The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

Better is barrenesse with vertue: for the memoriall thereof is immortall: for it is known with God and with men.

² When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it:

it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battel, and the vndefiled rewards.

³ But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe root, nor lay any fast foundation.

⁴ For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, yet they shall be shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shall be rooted out.

⁵ For the vnperfect braches shall be broken, and their fruit shall be vnprofitable & sowe to eat, and meet for nothing.

⁶ For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witness of the wickednes against their parents when they be asked.

⁷ But though the righteous be prevented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

⁸ For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

⁹ But wisdom is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the old age.

¹⁰ He pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas hee liued among sinners, he translated him.

¹¹ Hee was taken away, lest wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceive beguile his mind.

¹² For wickednesse by bewitching, obscurereth the things that are good, and the vnsteadfastnesse of concupiscence peruerteth the simple minde.

¹³ Though he was soone dead, yet fulfilled he muchtime.

¹⁴ For his soule pleased God: therefore hastened hee to take him away from wickednesse.

¹⁵ Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace and mercy is vpon his Saints, and his providence ouer the elect.

¹⁶ Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are living: and the youth that is soone brought to an end, the long life of the vnrighteous.

¹⁸ They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne, ¹⁹ So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voyce shall hee burst them & cast them down, and shake them from the foundations, so that they shall be vterly wasted, and they shall be in sorrow, and their memoriall shall perish.

²⁰ So they being afraide, shall remember their finnes, and their owne wickednesse shall come before them to conuincethem.

C H A P. V.

1 The chastitie of the righteous before their persecutions. 14 The hope of the unfaithfull is vaine. 15 The blessedness of the Saints and godly.

Then shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shall be vexed with horrible feare, and shall be amazed for his wonderfull deliniance,

3 And shall change their mindes, and sigh for griefe of mind, and say within themselves, This is he whom we sometime had in derision and in a parable of reproch.

* Chap. 3. 2.

4 Wee foolcs thought his life madnesse, and his end without honour.

5 How is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore wee haue erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousness hath not shined vnto vs, and the Sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and wee haue gone through dangerous wayes: but we haue not knowen the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profit hath the pumpe of riches brought vs?

12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the ayre, which immediatly commeth together againe, so that a man cannot knowe where it went thorow.

13 Euen so wee, as soone as we were borne, we began to draw to our end, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednesse.

14 For the *hope of the vngodly is like the dust that is blown away with the winde, and like a thinne fume that is scattered abroad with the storme, and as the smoke, which is dispersed with the wind, and as the remembrance of him passeth, that tarieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, & the most High hath care of them.

16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shall hee couer them, and with his arme shall hee defend them.

17 He shall take his ielousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousness for a breastplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

16 He will take holinesse for an inuincible shield.

20 Hee will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against the vawife.

21 Then shall the thunderbolts goe straight out of the lightnings, and shall flee to the marke as out of the bent bow of the clouds, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile be cast, and the water of the sea shall be vnto against them, and the floods shall mightily ouerflow.

22 And a mightie winde shall stand vp against them, & like a storme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shall bring al the earth to a wilderness, and wickednesse shall ouerthrowe the thrones of the mightie.

C H A P. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes and iudges, which are also exhorted to searh wisedome.

Hearc therefore, O yee Kings, and vnderstand: learne, yee that be iudges of the ends of the earth.

2 Giue care, yee that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of people.

3 For the rule *is giuen you of the Lord, *Rom. 13. 1. and power by the most High, which will trie your works, & searh out your imaginations.

4 Because that yee being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the will of God,

5 Horribly and suddenly will he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgment shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For he that is most low is worthy mercy but the mightie shall be mightily tormented.

7 For he that is Lord ouer all, will spare no *person, neither shall he feare any greatnesse: for he hath made the small & great, and careth for all alike.

8 But for the mightie abideth the sorer trial.

9 Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, doe I speake, that ye may learne wisedome, and not goe amisse.

10 For they that keepe holinesse holily, shall be holy, and they that are learned there, shall finde a defence.

11 Wherefore set your delight vpon my words and desire them, & ye shall be instructed.

12 Wisedome shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, and found of such as seeke her.

13 Shee preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew her selfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shall haue no great trauaile: for he shall finde her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfect vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shall be found without care.

16 For she goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth her selfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: & the care of discipline is lower.

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortalitye.

19 And immortalitye maketh vs nere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisdom leadeth to the kingdomes.

21 If your delight be then in thrones, and scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisdom that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tell you what wisdom is, and whence it cometh, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seek her out from the beginning of her naturie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the truth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with confounding enuie: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisdom.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preservation of the world: and a wise King is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my wordes, and ye shall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

I My selfe am alfo mortall, and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to bee flesh in tenn moneths: I was brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that cometh with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common aire, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature: crying and weeping at the first as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swadling clothes and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherefore I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen mee: I called, and the spirit of wisdom came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters & thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all gold is but a little grauell in respect of her, and siluer shall be counted but clay before her.

10 I loued her aboue health and beauty, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11 All good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches thorow her hands.

12 So I was glad in all, for wisdom was the author thereof, and I knew not that shee was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vofainedly, & communicated without enuy, & I do not hide her riches.

14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my minde, & to iudge worthily of the things that are giuen me: for hee is the leader vnto wisdom, and the director of the wise.

16 For in his hand are both wee and our words, and all wisdom, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For hee hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I know how the world was made, and the powers of the elements.

18 The beginning and the ende, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, and the change of the seasons.

19 The course of the yeere, the situation of the starres, 20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnesse of beasts, the power of the windes, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And all things both secret & knowen do I know: for wisdom the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the Spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifolde, subtile, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good.

23 Courteous, itable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellectuall, pure and subtile spirits.

24 For wisdom is nimbler then all nimble thing: she goeth thorow and attaineth to all things, because of her purenesse.

25 For shee is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

26 For she is the brightnesse of the euerglasting light, the vndefiled mirrour of the maiestie of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being one, she can do all things, and remaining in her selfe, renueth all, and according to the ages she entreteth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisdom.

19 For she is more beautiful then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

20 For night cometh vpon it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisdom.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisdom.

She also reacheth from one end to another mightily, and comely doeth shee order all things.

21 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marrie her, such loue had I vnto her beauty.

22 In that she is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

23 For she is the scoolemistres of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his workes.

24 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, that worketh all things?

25 For if prudence worketh, what is it among all things, that worketh better then she?

26 If a man loe righteousness, her labours are vertuous: for she teacheth sobernesse and prudence, righteousness and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

27 If a man desire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, and discern things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of words, and the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeeth the signes & wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

28 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that she would counsell mee good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

29 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, and honour among the Elders though I be yong.

30 I shall be found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall bee marueilous in the sight of great men.

31 When I hold my tongue they shall abide my leisure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

32 Moreover, by her I shall obtaine immortallitie, and leaue an euerlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

33 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

34 Horrible tyrants shall bee afraide when they heare me: among the multitude I shal be counted good, and mighty in battell.

35 When I come home, I shal rest with her: for her company hath no bitternesse, and her fellowship hath no rediousnesse, but mirth and ioy.

36 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, & pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdom is immortallity,

37 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudence, and glory by communing with her, I went about seeking how I might take her vnto me.

38 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

39 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndeified body.

40 Neuerthelesse, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her, except God gaue her, (and that was a point of wisdom also, to knowe whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart, I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Solomon to obtaine wisdom.

O God of fathers, & Lord of mercy, which hast made all things with thy word,

1 And ordeined man through thy wisdom, that he should haue dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made,

2 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousness, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart,

3 Glue me that wisdom, which fitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children,

4 For I thy seruant, and sonne of thine handmaid, am a feeble person, and of a short time, & yett lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgement and the lawes.

5 And though a man bee neuer so perfect among the children of men, yett if thy wisdom be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded.

6 Thou hast chosen me to bee a King of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.

7 Thou hast commaunded mee to build a Temple vpon thine holy Mount, and an Altar in the citie wherein thou dwellest, a likenes of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

8 And thy wisdom with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy Commandements,

9 Send her out of thine holy heauens, and send her from the throne of thy Maiestie, that shee may be with mee, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

10 For she knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and shee shall leade mee soberly in my workes, and preferue me by her glory.

11 So shall my workes be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be meeete for my fathers throne.

12 For what man is hee that can know the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is?

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are fearefull, and our forecasts are vncertaine, 15 Because a corruptible body is heavy vnto the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can we discern the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour find wee out the things which are before vs: who can then seek out the things that are in heauen?

17 Who can knowe thy counsell, except thou giue him wisdome, and send thine holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preferred through wisdome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisdome.

Shee preferred the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when hee was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

2 And gaue him power to rule all things,
3 But the vrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.

4 For whose cause the earth was overflowen, but wisdome preferred it againe, governing the iust man by a little woode.

5 Moreover, when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, she knew the righteous, and preferred him faultlesse vnto God, and kept him sure, because she loued him tenderly as a sonne.

6 She preferred the righteous, when the vngodly perished, when hee fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the five cities.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimonie, and the trees that beare fruite that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaitfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisdome, had not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisdome deliuered them that serued her.

10 When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the couetousnes of such as defrauded him, she stood by him & made him rich

12 Shee saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in waite, and she gaue him the prize in a mightie battell, that he might know that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 When the righteous was sold, she forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: she went downe with him into the dungeon,

14 And failed him not in the bands, till she had brought him the scepter of the Realme, and power against those that oppressed him, and them that had accused him, shee declared to be liars, and gaue him perpetuall glory.

15 Shee deliuered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.

16 She entered into the soule of the seruant of the Lorde, and stood by him in wonders, and signes against the terrible kings.

17 She gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them forth a marueilous way: on the day time shee was a shadow vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 She brought them thorow the red sea, and caried them thorow the great water, 19 But shee drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottom of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoiles of the vngodly, and praised thine holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hand with one accord.

21 For wisdome openeth the mouth of the dumbe, and maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 21 The great power and mercy of God.

He prospered their workes in the hands of thine holy Prophet.

2 They went thorow the wilernes that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

3 They stood against their enemies, and were auenged of their aduersaries.

4 When they were thirstie, they called vpon thee, and water was giuen them out of the high rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their need.

6 For in stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnlooked for.

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time, how thou haddest punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercy, they knew how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and prooued them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous king, when thou didst examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceived that through their torments good came vnto them, they left the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondered at him, whom afore they had cast out, denied and derided: for they had another thirst then the lust.

13 Because of the foolish deuises of their wickednesse wherewith they were deceived, and worshipped serpents, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beastes, thou sendest a multitude of vnreasonable beastes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

14 For vnto thine Almighty hand, that made the world of * nought, it was not vnpossible to send among them a multitude of beares or fierce Lyons.

15 Or furious beastes newly created, and vnknewen, which should breathe out blasts of fire, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not onely destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue beene cast down, with one wind, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number, and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength and might, and Who can withstand the power of thine arme!

19 For as the small thing that the ballance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dewe, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, and makest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, and hastest none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou hadst hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or how could any thing be preserued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of soules.

C H A P. XII.

2 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The workes of God are vnreproueable. 19 God giueth leisure to repent.

For thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou diddest hate them.

4 For they committed abominable works, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying of their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banquetting, where the raging Priests shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest above all other, might bee a meete dwelling for the children of God.

8 Nevertheless, thou sparedst them also as men, and sendest the forerunners of thine hoste, euen horners to destroy them by little and little,

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beastes, or with one rough worde to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little and little, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well, that it was an vnrighteous nation, & wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seede from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, * What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men?

13 For there is none other God but thou, * that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright.

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them whome thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserued to be punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfite power, thou declarest thy power, and reproouest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgeth with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shewe thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, & hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

10 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserved death with so great consideration, and requesting unto them, giving them time and place that they might change from their wickedness.

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercy.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

24 *For they went astray very farre in the wayes of error, & esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the maner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they should be in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that will not be reformed by those scornfull rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things, when they suffered, they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they saw themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whom afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreame damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

SVrely all men are vaine by nature, and are Signorant of God, *and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes, the workemaster.

2 *But they thought the fire, or the winde, or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to be gouernours of the world, and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowen, how much more excellent he is that made them: for the first author of beautie hath created these things.

4 For if they marueiled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, how much he that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would find him, and yet peradventure doe erre.

7 For *they goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discern the worlde, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, gold, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beasts, or any vaine fount that hath beene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 *Oras when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the vse of life.

12 And the things that are cut off from his worke, he bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe.

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobs) hee carueth it diligently at his leisure, and according as he is expert in cunning, hee giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man.

14 Or, maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with redde, and painteth it, and couereth every spot that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron.

16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for hee knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath need of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake for health: hee prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to go, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires he requireth furtherance of him, that hath no manner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The detestation and abomination of images. 8 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatrie proceeded. 23 What evils come of idolatrie.

AGaine, another man purposing to sayle, and intending to passe throw the raging waues, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the ship that carieth him.

2 For as as for it, couetousnes of money hath found it out, and the craftesman made it by cunning.

3 But thy prouidence, O Father, gouerneth it: *for thou hast made away euen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues. *Exod. 14. 22.

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea, without meanes.

5 Neuerthelesse thou wouldest not, that the workes of thy wisdom should be vaine, and and therefore doe men commit their liues to a small piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormy sea in a ship, and are saued.

* Gen. 6. 4, and 7. 10.

6 * For in the olde time also when the proud gyants perished, the hope of the world went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left seede of generation vnto the world.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteousnes commeth.

* Psal. 115. 8. baruch. 6. 3.

8 But that is cursed that is made with hands, both it, and he that made it: he, because hee made it, and it beeing a corruptible thing, because it was called God.

* Psal. 5. 5.

9 * For the vngodly, and his vngodlines are both like hated of God: so truly the worke and hee that made it, shall be punished together.

* Ier. 10. 8. habac. 2. 18.

10 Therefore shall there be a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blockes vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feet of the vnwise.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for euer.

13 The vainglory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grievously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whom now he worshippeth as a god, & ordained to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by procelle of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a law, and idoles were worshipped by the commandment of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had been present.

17 Again the ambition of the craftesman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For hee peradventure willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so thorow the beauty of the worke the multitude was allured, and so tooke him now for a God, which a little afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in seruitude, through calamitie and tyrannie ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreouer, this was not enough for them that they cited in the knowledge of God: but whereas they lived in great wars of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

22 For either they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or used secret ceremonies, or raging dissolutenes by strange rites.

* Dan. 18. 10. ierem. 7. 3. and 19. 4.

23 And so kept neither life, nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or else vexed him by adultery.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and slaughter, theft and deceits, corruption, vnfaithfulness, tumults, perjury.

25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulness, desiring of soules, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adultery and vncleanness.

26 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause and the end of all euill.

27 For either they be mad when they be meretricious, or propheticallies, or liue vngodly, or else lightly forswear themselves.

28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they swear falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, adding themselves vnto idols, and because they swear vnjustly to deceiue, and despise holiness.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they swear, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

C H A P. XV.

The voyce of the faithfull, praising the mercie of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

BVt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercie.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfect righteousness, and to know thy power is the roote of immortality.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours,

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that he couereth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things are worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

7 The * potter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessell with labour to our vse: but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels that serue to cleane vses, and the contrary likewise: but whereto euery vessell ferueth, the potter is the iudge.

* Rom. 9. 1.

8 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a vaine

vaine god of the same clay: euen hee, which a little afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a little while after goeth thither againe whence hee was taken: * when hee shall make account for the lone of his life.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour he taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluer-smithes, and counterfeith the coppersmiths, and taketh in for an honour to make deceivable things.

10 His heart is alhes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For hee knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pasinge time, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill means.

13 Now he that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eyesight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and hee that bath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that he maketh with vnrighteous hands: hee himselfe is better then they whom he worshippeth: for hee liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, & which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beautie to be desired in respect of other beasts: for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20. The benefites done vnto the faithfull.

Therefore by such things they are worthily punished and * tormented by the multitude of beasts.

2 In stead of the which punishment thou hast bene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meate of a strange taste, euen * quailles,

3 To the intent that they that desired meate, by the things which were shewed and sent among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, and that they which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a new taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vfed tyrannie, should fall into excreame povertie, and that to these only it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

5 * For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruell serpents.

6 Thy wrath indured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a little season, that they might be reformed, hauing a * signe of saluation, to remember the commandement of thy Lawe.

7 For hee that turned toward it, was not healed by the things that he saw, but by thee, O Saviour of all.

8 So in this thou shewdest our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.

9 * For the biting of grasshoppers and flies killed them, and there was no remedie found, for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

10 But the teeth of the venomous dragons could not overcome thy children: for thy mercie came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy wordes, and were speedily healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulness, that they could not be called backe by the benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and ledest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe.

14 A man in deed by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can he call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 * For the vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest, that they could not auoid, and were consumed with fire.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which queneth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beasts, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see and know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the mids of the water aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generatio of the vniust land.

20 * In the stead whereof thou hast fedde thine owne people with Angels food, and sent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it, and was meet for all tastes.

21 For

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetness vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that took it, and was meet to that that euery man would.

*Exod. 9. 3. 22 Moreover the snow and yce abode the fire and melted not, that they might knowe, that the fire burning in the haile, and sparkling in the raine, destroyed the fruite of the enemies.

23 Again it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that serueth thee which ate the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous, but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to sende thy grace, which nourisheth all things according to the desire of them that had need thereof.

*Deut. 8. 3. 26 That thy children whom thou louest, O Lord, might know, that it is not the increase of fruite that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, which preserveth them that trust in thee.

27 For that which could not be destroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a little with the sunne beames, melted.

28 That it might be knowen that we ought to preuent the sunne rising to giue thanks vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day spring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankfull shall melt as the winter yce, and flow away as vnprofitable waters.

C H A P. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

For thy iudgements are great, and cannot be expresse: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiectiō, they were bound with the band of darkenesse, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the rooffe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.

3 And while they thought to be hidde in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulnesse, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorrowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afraid of this vision, which they could not see, they thought the things, which they saw, to be worse.

*Exod. 7. 12. and 8. 7. 19. 7 And the illusions of the magicall artes were brought down, & it was a most shamefull reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.

8 For they that promised to drive away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beasts which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and said they saw not the are, which by no meanes can be avoided.

10 For it is a fearefull thing, when malice is condemned by her owne testimonie, and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing else but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doeth he effeme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe.

14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoever fell downe, he was kept and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, hee must suffer this necessity, that he could not auoid:

17 (For with one chaine of darknesse were they all bound) whether it were an hissing winde, or a sweete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water, 18 Or a great noise of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beasts, that could not be seene, or the noise of cruell beasts that roared, or the sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindred in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fell an heauie night, an image of that darkenesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselves more grieuous then darkenesse.

But thy Saints had a very great light, whose voice because they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

^{14. 2. 105. 3. 9.} Therefore thou gavest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the unknown way, and made the sunne that it burned not them in their honourable journey.

4 But they were worthy to bee deprived of the light, and to be kept in darknesse, which had kept thy children shut up, by whom the incorrupt light of the Law should be given to the world.

^{Exod. 1. 16} 5 Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one child that was cast out, and presumed to represent them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, & destroyed them all together in the night water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had given credit, might be of good cheere.

^{Exod. 14. 24. 25} 7 Thus thy people received the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered scarcely, and made a Law of righteousness by one consent, that the Saints should receive good and euill in like manner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

10 But a disagreeing cry was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noyse for the children that were bewailed.

^{Exod. 11. 5}
^{and 11. 29.} 11 For the * master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the King.

12 So they all together had innumerable that died with one kind of death: neither were the living sufficient to bury them: for in the twinkling of an eye the noblest of spring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleue nothing, because of the enchantments, confessed this people to be the children of god, in the destruction of the first borne.

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the midst of her swift course.

15 Thine Almighty word leapt downe from heaven out of thy royal throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed.

16 And brought thine vnfained commandment as a sharpe sword, and stood vp & filled all things with death, and being come downe to earth, it reached vnto the heavens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearefulness came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

^{Numb. 16. 46.} 20 Nowe temptation of death touched the righteous also, and * among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen prayer, and the reconciliati- on by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an end, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For he ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he subdued him that punished, alleaging the oathes and covenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, hee stood in the mids, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from coming to the living.

24 For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the toure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiesty in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrews. 11 The meate that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the elements serue the will of God.

AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercie vnto the end: for he knew what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent, and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorrow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had cast out afore with prayer.

4 For the destinie whereof they were worthy, brought them to this end, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments,

5 Both that thy people might trie a mar- uelous passage, and that these might finde a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kind was fash- ioned of new, and serued in their owne offices enioined them, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

7 For the cloud ouershadowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe be- came a greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous marueiles.

9 For they || neyed like horses, and leaped like lambes, praising thee, O Lord, which hadst deliuered them. ^{Or, were fild.}

things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought forth flies in stead of cattel, and how the river crawled with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

12 * For the quail came forth of the sea unto them for comfort; but punishments came upon the sinners not without signes that were given by great inundings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickedness, because they shewed a cruel hatred toward strangers.

¶ Or, Egyptian.

13 For the one sort would not receive them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things, some would not suffer that any regard should be had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had received them with great banqueting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness, as in old time certain were at the doores of the righteous, so that every one being compassed with darkness, sought the entrance of his doore.

* Gen. 19. 11.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one tune is changed upon an instrument of musick, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceived by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, was upon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary unto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kind to quench.

20 Again, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beasts that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to be Ice, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortal creature.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in every time and place.

THE WISEDOME OF IESVS THE SONNE of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

THIS ARGVMENT WAS FOVND IN A CERTAINE GREEKE COPIE.

This Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and he lived in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdom among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graine sentences of wise men, that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdom. So this first Iesus died, and left this which hee had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISEDOME, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of wisdom to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darre sentences, and similitudes with certaine divine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approoued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreouer, what benefits the Lord had bestowed upon his people, and what plagues hee had heaped upon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeede.

The Prologue of the Wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

Whereas many and great things haue bene given vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisdom, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned themselves, but also maybe able by the diligent studie thereof to be profitable unto strangers both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Lawe and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write something pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselves to these things, might profite much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good woorth, though we seeme to some in

in some things, not able to attain to the interpretation of such wordes as are hard to be expressed: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselves then when they are translated into another tongue, and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Law, inelise, and the Propheers, and other booke haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt vnder King Euergetes, and continued there, I found a Copie full of great learning, and I thought it necessary, to bestow my diligence and trauaile to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply themselves vnto good manners, and liue according to the Law.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisdomme commeth of God. 11 A praise of the feare of God. 29 The meannys come by Wisdomme.

Wisdomme commeth of the Lord, and hath bene euer with him, and is with him for euer.

2 Who can number the sand of the sea, and the drops of the raine, and the dayes of the world? [who can measure] the height of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisdomme [of God which hath bene before all things?]

4 Wisdomme hath bene created before all things, & the vnderstanding of prudence from euerlasting.

5 [The word of God most high, is the fountaine of wisdomme, and the euerlasting commandements are the entrance vnto her.]

6 *Vnto whom hath the roote of wisdomme bene declared? or who hath knowen her wise counsels?

7 [Vnto whom hath the doctrine of wisdomme bene discovered and shewed? and who hath vnderstood the manifold entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wise [euen the most high Creatour of all things, the Almighty, the King of power] and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 Hee is the Lord, that hath created her [thorow the holy Ghost:] he hath scene her, numbred her, [and measured her.]

10 Hee hath powred her out vpon all his works, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory, & gladnesse, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a merrie heart, and giueth gladnesse & ioy, and long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lord, it shall go well with him at the last, and he shall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wisdomme, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great works thereof.]

15 * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisdomme, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [she goeth with the chosen women, and is known with the righteous and faithfull.]

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy knowledge.

17 Holinesse shall preserve, and iustifie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnesse.

18 Who so feareth the Lord, shall prosper, and in the day of his end he shall be blessed.]

19 Shee hath built her euerlasting foundations with men, and is giuen to bee with their seed.

20 To feare God, is the fulnesse of wisdomme, and filleth men with her fruits.

21 She filleth their whole house with [all] things desireable, and the garners with the things that she bringeth forth, and both twaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisdomme, and giueth peace and perfect health: he hath scene her, and numbred her.

23 [She raineth downe knowledge and vnderstanding of wisdomme, and hath brought vnto honour, them that possessed her.]

24 The feare of the Lord is the roote of wisdomme, and her branches are long life.

25 [In the treasures of wisdomme is vnderstanding, and holy knowledge, but wisdomme is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sinne: & when she is present, she driueth away anger.

27 [For wicked anger can not bee iustified: for his rashnesse in his anger shall be his destruction.]

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 Hee will hide his words for a time, and many mens lips shall speake of his wisdomme.

30 In the treasures of wisdomme are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisdomme, keepe the Commandements, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdomme and discipline: hee hath pleasure in faith and meeknesse.

33 Bee not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 [Be not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heed what thou speakest.]

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted, for he beleueh not: therefore shall he not be defended.

15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, [and haue forsaken the right wayes, and are turned backe into froward wayes:] for what will ye doe when the Lord shall visite you?

16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his word: and they that *loue him, will keepe his wayes. *Iohn 14. 23, 24.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall be fulfilled with his Law.

18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, & humble their soules in his sight.

19 [They that feare the Lord, keepe his Commandements, and will be patient till hee see them, 20 Saying, If we doe not repent] we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.

21 Yet as his greatnesse is, so is his mercy.

CHAP. III.

1. To our father and mother ought we to give double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

THE children of wisdom are the Church of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his finnes shall be forgiven him, [and hee shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his dayly desires.]

5 And hee that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 He that honoureth his father, shall haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doeth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame, 12 Seeing that mans glory cometh by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.

13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not, as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, & despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall bee a fortresse for thee against sins, [and for thy mothers offence, thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be founded for thee in righteousness.]

16 And

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy finnes also shall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame; and hee that angreth his mother is cursed of God.

18 My sonne, performe thy doings with meeknesse, so shalt thou bee beloved of them that are approued.

19 The greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things,] and thou shalt find fauour before the Lord.

20 Many are excellent and of renowne: but the secrets are reueiled vnto the meeke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great; and he is honoured of the lowly.

22 Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee; neither search the things rashly which are too mighty for thee.

23 [But] what [God] hath commaunded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence; [and be not curious in many of his works:] for it is not needefull for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.

24 Bee not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee about the capacite of men.

25 The meddling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceiued their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therfore that thou hast not.

27 A stubborne heart shall feare euill at the last: and hee that loueth danger shall perish therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and hee that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shall bee laden with sorowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proude is without remedie, and his steps shall be plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken roote in him, [and he shall not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding shall perceiue seeret things, and an attentive care is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, wil abstaine from sinne, and shall prosper in the workes of righteousness.]

33 Water queneth burning fire, *and almes taketh away finnes.

34 And hee that rewardeth good deedes, will remember it after ward, and in the time of the fall, he shall find a stay.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Almes must hee done with gentlenesse. 12 The studie of wisdom and her fruit. 20 An exhortation to eschew euill, and to doe good.

MY sonne, defraud not the *poore of his liuing, and make not the needy eyes to waite long.

2 Make not an hungry soule sorowfull, neither vex a man in his necessity.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieved, and deferre not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: *turne not away thy face from the poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if hee curse thee in the bitterness of his soule, his soule shall bee heard of him that made him.

7 Bee courteous vnto the company [of poore, and humble thy soule vnder the Elder,] & bow downe thine head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bow downe thine eare vnto the poore; [but pay thy debt] and giue him a friendly answer.

9 Deliuere him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressor, and be not faint hearted [when thou iudgest.]

10 Be as a father to the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the sonne of the most High: and he shall loue thee more then thy mother doth.

11 Wisdome exalteth her children, and receiuerh them that seeke her, [and will goe before them in the way of righteousness.]

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, & they that seeke life in the morning shall haue great ioy.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherite glory: for vnto whom shee entreth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the Holy one, and them that loue her, the Lord doth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and he that goeth vnto her shall dwell safely.

16 He that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first shee will walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him vnto feare, and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill she haue tried his soule, and haue prooued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will shee returne the straightway vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, & vnderstanding of righteousness.]

19 But if hee goe wrong, shee will forsake him, and giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.

20 [My sonne,] make much of time, and *eschew the thing that is euill, 21 And be not ashamed [to say the trueth] for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine own conscience, that thou be not confounded to thine owne decay, [and forbear not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wisdom when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdom knowne, and learning by the words of the tongue, [and counsell, wisdom and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the workes of righteousness.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of trueth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and resist not the course of the riuer.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mighty.

28 Striue for the crueth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Bee not hasty in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy workes.

30 Bee not as a Lion in thine owne house, neither beate thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor oppresse them that are vnder thee.]

31 *Let not thine hand be stretched out to receiue, and shut when thou shouldest giue,

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may wee not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

TRUST not vnto thy *riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life. [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

2 Follow not thine owne minde, and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neither say thou, [How haue I had strength?] or who will bring me vnder for my workes? for God the auenger will auenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath come vnto me? for the Almighty is a patient rewarder, but hee will not leaue thee unpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiven, bee not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: he will forgive my manifold sinnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation commeth downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarrying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy security thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shal not helpe thee in the day of punishment [and vengeance.]

9 Bee not caried about with euery winde, and goe not into euery way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding [and in the way, and knowledge of the Lord] and haue but one maner of word, [and follow the word of peace and right conscience.]

11 Bee humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answer with wisdom.

12 Bee swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answer.

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answer thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [least thou be trapped in an vndiscreete word, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Bee not counted a *talebearer, and lie not in waite with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the thiefe, and an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued:

[but hee that is a backbiter, shall be hated, enuied, and confounded.]

16 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the property of a sinner to be euill tongued. 6 Offend not thy friend. 33 Desire to be laughed.

BE not of a friend [thy neighbours] enemy: for such shall haue an euill name, shame and reproche, and hee shall be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Be not proud in the deuice of thine owne minde, lest thy soule rent thee as a bull,

3 And eate vp thy leaues, and destroy thy fruite, and so thou be left as a drie tree [in the wilderness.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, & maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweete talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that bee at variance,] and a sweete tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Hold friendship with many, neuertheless haue but one counsellor of a thousand,

7 If thou gettest a friend, proue him first, and be not hasty to credite him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enmitie, and taketh part against thee, and in contention he will declare thy shame.

10 Again, some *friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperitie hee will bee as thou thy selfe, and will vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought low, he will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such a one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the waight [of gold and silver] is not to be compared to the goodnesse [of his faith.]

16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] and they that feare the Lord shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou finde wisdom [which shall endure] till thine olde age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and wait for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but little labour in her worke; but thou shalt eate of her fruits right soone.

20 How exceeding sharpe is she to the vnlearned! hee that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one shee is as a fine touchstone, and hee casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisdom, but there be but few that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that know her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue care my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not weary of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and she shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shall be turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] and her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shall put her vpon thee, as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt be taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the Elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

36 ¶ Desire to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou seest a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy foot weare the steps of his doores.

38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be continually * occupied in his commandements: so shall hee stablish thine heart, and giue thee wisdom at thine owne desire.

CHAP. VII.

¶ Wee must forsake euill, and yet not iustifie our selues. 23
The behauiour of the wise towards his wife, his friend, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

DO no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sow not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnesse, lest that thou reape them seuen folde.

4 Aske not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the king the feat of honour.

5 ¶ Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: [for hee knoweth thine heart,] and boast not thy wisdom in the presence of the king.

6 Seek not to be made a iudge, lest thou be not able to take away iniquity, and lest thou fearing the person of the mightie, shouldest commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 ¶ Bind not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most high God, he will accept it.

10 Be not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauiness of his soule: for [God which seeth all things] is hee * that can bring downe, and set vp againe.

12 Sow not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 Vse not to make any maner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many words when thou art among the Elders, neither * repeate a thing in thy prayer.

15 Hate not laborious * worke, neither the husbandrie, which the most High hath created.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy mind greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the golde of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wise and good woman. [that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord:] for her grace is about golde.

20 ¶ Whereas thy seruant worketh truly, intreate him not euill, nor the hireling that belittow-

7 Be not glad of the death of thine enemy, but remember that we must die all, [and so enter into ioy.]

9 Go not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, and of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, and to make answer in the time of neede.

10 Kindle not the coles of sinners, [when thou rebukest them,] lest thou be burnt in the fiery flames [of their finnes.]

CHAP. IX.

Of ielousie. 12 An old friend is to be preferred before a new. 18 Righteous men should be bidden to thy table.

Be not ielous ouer the wife of thy bosome, neither teach her by thy meanes an euill lesson.

2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, lest shee overcome thy strength, [and so thou bee confounded.]

3 Meete not an harlot, lest thou fall into her snares.

4 Vse not the company of a woman that is a singer, [and a dancer, neither heare her,] lest thou betaken by her craftinesse.

5 Gaze not on a * maid, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her. * Gen. 6. 1. 2. and. 14. 2.

6 * Cast not thy mind vpon harlots [in any maner of thing,] lest thou destroy [both thy selfe and] thine heritage. * Prov. 5. 2.

7 Goe not about gazing in the streets of the the citie, neither wander thou in the secret places thereof.

8 * Turne away thine eye from a beautifull woman; and looke not vpon others beautie: for many have perished by the beautie of women: for through it, loue is kindled as a fire.

9 [Euerie woman that is an harlot, shall be troden vnder foote as dung, of euerie one that goeth by the way.]

10 Many wondring at the beauty of a strange woman, haue bene cast out: for her words burne as a fire.

11 Sit not at all with another mans wife, [neither lie with her vpon the bed,] nor banquet with her, lest thine heart incline vnto her, and so through thy desire fall into destruction.

12 Forlake not an olde friend: for the new shall not bee like him: a new friend is as new wine: when it is isolde, thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

13 * Desire not the honour [and riches] of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shall bee his ende.

14 Delight not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, but remember that they shall not be found iust vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slay: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, lest he take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the mids of inares, and that thou walkest vpon the towers of the citie.

16 Trie thy neighbour as nere as thou canst, * and aske counsell of the wise.

17 * Let thy talke bee with the wise, and al thy communication in the Lawe of the most High.

18 Let iust men eate and drinke with thee, and let thy reioicing bee in the feare of the Lord.

19 In [the hands of the craftsmen shall the workes be commended, and the wise prince of the people by his word, [and the word by the wisdom of the Elders.]

20 A man full of wordes is dangerous in his citie, and he that is rash in his talking, shall be hated.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and Iudges. 7 Pride and couetousnesse are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praised.

A wise Iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are all they that dwell therein.

3 * An vnwise king destroyeth his people, but where they that bee in authority, are men of vnderstanding, there the citie prospereth.

4 The gouernement of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he will set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperity of man, and vpon the Scribes will he lay his honour.

6 * Be not angry for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by iniurious practices.

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquitie.

8 * Because of vnrighteous dealing, and wrongs, and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdom is translated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proud, O earth and ashes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for such one would euen sel his soule, and for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyrannie is of small indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grievous to the Physician.]

11 The Phylician cutteth off the fore disease, and hee that is to day a King, to morrow is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proud, seeing that when a man dieth, he is the heire of serpents, beasts and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride is, to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his Maker.

14 For pride is the originall of sinne, and he that hath it, shall powre out abomination, till at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the perswasions [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the end.

15 The Lord hath * cast downe the thrones of the [proud] princes, and set vp the meeke in their stead.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the [proud] nations, and planteth the lowly with glory among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the lands of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: he causeth them to wither away, and destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to cease out of the earth.

18 [God destroyeth the memoriall of the proude, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man which is an honourable seede: the honourable seede are they that feare the Lorde: there is a seede of man, which is without honour. the seede without honour, are they that transgresse the commandements of the Lord: it is a seede that remaineth which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a seede without honour, that despise the Lawe, and a deceiueable seede that breake the commandements.

21 He

31 He that is chiefe among brethren, is honourable: for are they that feare the Lord in his sight.

32 The feare of the Lord causeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by crafty and pride.

33 The feare of the Lord is the glory as well of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

34 It is not meete to despise the poore man that hath understanding, neither is it convenient to ingaine the rich that is a wicked man.

35 The great man and the iudge and the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater then hee that feareth the Lord.

36 Vnto the seruant that is wise, shall they that are free doe seruice: hee that hath knowledge, shall not grudge when he is reformed, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour.]

37 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldest doe thy worke, neither bee ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

38 Better is hee that laboureth and hath plenteousnesse of all things, then hee that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

39 My sonne, get thy selfe praise by meeknesse, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deservest.

40 Who will count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him, that dishonoureth his owne soule?

41 The poore is honoured for his knowledge, [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reprobation because of his goods.

42 He that is honourable in pouertie, how much more shall hee be when he is rich: and he that is vnknowne being rich, how much more will hee be so when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought wee not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are made to be brought into thine house.

Wisedome lifteth vp the head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men.

2 Commend not a man for his beauty, neither despise aitt in his vtter appearance.

3 The Bee is but small among the foules, yet doeth her fruit passe in sweetenesse.

4 Be not proud of clothing and rayment, and exalt not thy selfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lord are wonderfull, [and glorious,] secret, [and vnknowne] are his workes among men.

5 Many tyrantes haue sit downe vpon the earth, and the vnlikely hath worne the crowne.

6 Many mightie men haue been brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue been deliuered into other mens hands.

7 ¶ Blame no [man] before thou haue enquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then reioyce [righteously.]

8 ¶ Give no sentence, before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the middes of their tales.

9 Strive not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not bee blamelesse, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.

11 ¶ There is some man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he hasteth, the more he wanteth.

12 Againe there is some that is slothfull, and hath neede of helpe: for hee wanteth strength, and hath great pouertie, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his low estate.

13 And he lifteth vp his head: so that many men marueile at him, [and giue honour vnto God.]

14 ¶ Prosperitie and aduersitie, life and death, pouertie and riches come of the Lord.

15 Wisedome and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lord: loue and good works come of him.

16 Error and darknesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselves in euill, waxe old in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and niggardship, and this is the portion of his wages, 19 In that hee saith, I haue gotten rest, and now will I eate continually of my goods, yet hee considereth not, that the time draweth neere, that he must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Maruell not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profite and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shall I haue hereafter?

24 Againe, say not, I haue enough, and possesse many things, and what euill can come to me hereafter?

25 ¶ In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lorde in in the day of death to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans ende, his workes are discovered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shall be knownen by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like stomackes that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a partrich is taken vnder a basket, [and the hinde is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in waite and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthie praise he will finde some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sinfull man layeth waite for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and hee will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, and driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

2 For whom wee ought to doe good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

When thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou bee thanked for thy benefites.

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High.

3 He cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercie vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: hold backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, lest hee overcome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twice as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend cannot be knownen in prosperitie, neither can an enemy be vnknownen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieveth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemy: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as he that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt knowe that all his rust hath not been well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, lest he destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, lest he seeke thy rouse, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and bee pricked with my sayings.

14 * Binde not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be unpunished.

15 Who will haue pitie of the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the beasts? so is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will hee bide with thee: but if thou stumble he tarieth not.

17 * An enemy is sweete in his lippes: hee can make many good wordes, and speake many good things: yea, hee can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth how to throwe thee into the pit: and if he may find opportunitie, hee will not bee satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though hee pretend to helpe thee, yet shall hee vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clappe his hands, and will make many wordes, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proude and of the rich are to bee chewed. 15 The love of God. 17 Like doe company with their like.

Hee * that toucheth pitch shall bee defiled with it: and hee that is familiar with the proude shall be like vnto him.

2 Burthen not thy selfe about thy power, whilest thou liuest, and company not with one that is mightier and richer then thy selfe: for how agree the kettle and the earthen portogather? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

3 The rich dealeth varrighteously, and threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the rich haue done wrong, hee must yet bee intreated: but if the poore haue done it, hee shall straightwayes be threatned.

4 If thou be for his profit, he vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, he will liue with thee: yea, hee will makethee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6 If he haue neede of thee, he will defraud thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good wordes, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will hee shame thee in his meate, vntil he haue supt thee cleane vp twise or thrise and at the last he will laugh thee to scorne: afterward, when hee seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [Submit

8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou bee not dectured in thine owne conceite, and brought downe by thy simplicitie: [be not too humble in thy wisdom.]

10 If thou be called of a mighty man, absent thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.

11 Praise not thou vnto him, that thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speech, but beleue not his many wordes: for with much communication will he tempt thee: and laughingly will he groke thee.

13 He is vnderfull and keepeth not promise: he wil not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in priken.

14 Beware, and take good heede for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 Euery beast loueth his like, and euery man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man will keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What fellowship hath hyena with a dogge? and what peace is betwene the rich and the poore?

20 As the wild Ass is the Lions pray in the wilderness, so are poore me the meat of the rich.

21 As the proude hate humility, so doe the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends driue him away.

23 If a rich man offend, he hath many helpers: hee speaketh proud wordes, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, and though he speak wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what he sayth, they prayse it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speak, they say, What fellow is this? and if he doe a iustice, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A chearefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to knowe the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The offence of the tongue, 17 Man is but a vaine thing
21 Happy is he that continueth in wisdom.

Blessed is the man that hath not fallen by [the word of] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorrow of sinne.

2 Blessed is hee that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a niggard, and what should an enuious man doe with money?

4 Hee that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheare with his goods.

5 Hee that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whom will he be good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieeth himselfe: and this is a reward of his wickednesse.

7 And if he doe any good, he doeth it, not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hath neuer enough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A wicked eye enuieeth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table.

11 My sonne, doe good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due offerings.

12 Remember that death carrieth not, and that the covenant of the graue is not shewed vnto thee.

13 Doe good vnto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine habilitie stretch out thine hand, and giue him.

14 Defraud not thy selfe of the good day, and let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy traualles vnto another, and thy labours for the diuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue and take and sanctifie thy soule: [workethou righteousnesse before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

17 All flesh waxeth olde, as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death.

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some grow, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one commeth to an ende, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.

20 [Euery excellent worke shall be iustified, and he that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.]

21 Blessed is the man that doth meditate honest things by wisdom, [and exerciseth himselfe in iustice,] and he that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding.

22 Which considereth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secrets.

23 Goe thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lie in waite in her wayes.

 sit at her doores, with his eyes upon her.

11 He shall abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her wallee: he shall pitch his tent beside her, and shall be as a pillar of fire.

12 And he shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall see his children vnder her couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.

13 By this he shall be couered from the heat, and in her gloe shall he dwell.

14 C H A P. XV.

1 The goodness that followeth him which feareth God. 2 God shall be as a father to the fatherless, and as a mother to the widow.

3 He that feareth the Lord, will doe good:
 and hee that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keep in it.

4 As an [honourable] mother shall she meete him, and she, as a wife married of a vir-gine, will receiue him.

5 With the bread [of life] and vnderstand-ing shall she feede him, and giue him the water of [wholesome] wisdom to drinke.

6 He shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not be moued, and shall hold himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.

7 She shall exalt him aboue his neighbors, and in the mids of the Congregation shall shee open his mouth: [with the spirit of wisdom and vnderstanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

8 She shall cause him to inherit ioy, and the crowne of gladnesse, and an euerlasting name.

9 But foolish men will not take hold vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding, will meet her:] the sinners shall not see her.

10 For she is farre from pride [and deceit,] and men that lie, cannot remember her: [but men of truth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

11 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

12 But if praise come of wisdom, [and be plenteous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lord will prosper it.

13 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to doe the things that he hateth.

14 Say not thou, He hath caused me to erre:
 for he hath no need of the sinfull man.

15 The Lord hateth all abomination [of error:] and they that feare God, loue it not.

16 He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsell, [and gaue him his commandements and precepts.]

17 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the com-mandements, and testifie thy good will.

18 He hath set water and fire before thee:
 stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

19 Before man is life and death, [good and euill:] what him liketh shall be giuen him.

20 For the wisdom of the Lord is great, and he is mightie in power, and beholdeth all things [continually]

21 And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and hee knoweth all the works of man.

22 He hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath he giuen any man licence to sinne: [for he desireth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.]

C H A P. XVI.

1 Of the vngodly and wicked children, 2 No man can hide himselfe from God. 3 An exhortation to the receiving of instruction.

1 Desire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord bee with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, & better it is to die without children, then to leaue behind him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the city bee inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shall be wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire be kindled, and among vnfaitfull people shall the wrath be set on fire.

7 He spared not the old giants which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength.

8 Neither spared he where as Lot dwelt, those whom he abhorred for their pride.

9 Hee had no pitie vpon the people that were destroyed, and puffed vp in their finnes.

10 And so hee preserved the sixe hundred thousand footmen, that were gathered in the hardnesse of their heart, in afflicting them and plying them, in smiting them and healing them, with mercy, and with chastisement.

11 Therefore if there be one stifnecked among the people, it is maruella if he escape vnpunished: for mercie and wrath are with him:
 he is mightie to forgiue, and to powre out displeasure.

12 As his mercy is great, so is his punishment also: he iudgeth a man according to his works.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoile, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 Hee will giue place to all good deedes,
 & euery one shall find according to his works,
 [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage]

15 The Lord hardened Pharaos, that hee should not knowe him, and that his workes should be knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercy is knowen to all creatures:
 he hath separate his light from the darkenesse with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide myself from the Lord: for who will thicke vpon mee from about? I shall not bee knowne in so great an heape of people: for what is my soul among such an infinite number of creatures?

* 1 Pet. 3. 10.
1. King. 8. 17.
2. Chron. 6. 18.

18 Behold the heaven and the heaven of heavens, which are for God, the depth and the earth, and all that therein is, shall be moved when he shall visit.

19 All the world which is created & made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 These things doeth no heart vnderstand, nor can they be knowne: neither can they be searched out, nor can they be counted.

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the home that no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousness? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is for euer off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an vnwise and erroneous man casteth his minde vpon foolish things.

24 My sonne, hearken vnto me, and learne knowledge, and marke my wordes with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee weightie doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath he sundred from the other when he first made them.

27 Hee hath garnished his workes for euer, and their beginnings so long as they shall endure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindreth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his wordes.

29 After this the Lord looked vpon the earth and fille it with his good things.

30 With all maner of liuing beasts hath he couered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

I The creation of man, and the goodnesse that God hath done vnto him. 20 Of almes, 22 And repentance.

5. 2. w. 2. 2. 3.
and 7. 1. 6. 1. cor.
11. 7. col. 3. 10.

The Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe.

2 Hee gaue him the number of dayes and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

3 He clothed them with strength, as they had need, & made them according to his image.

4 He made all flesh to feare him, so that he had the domination ouer the beasts and foules.

* Gen. 2. 22.
1. cor. 11. 9.

5 [He created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe] and gaue them discretion and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and fixtly he gaue them a spirit, and seuenthly he gaue them speech to declare his workes,

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good & euill.

7 He set his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble workes.

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they should prudently declare his wisdom, and that the elect should praise his holy Name together.

9 Besides this, he gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the lawe of life for an heritage, that they might now knowe that they were mortall.

10 He made an everlasting covenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes saw the multitude of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voyce.

12 And hee said vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things. He gaue euery man also a commandement concerning his neighbour.

* Exod. 20. 16.
17. and 22. 3.

13 Their wayes are euer before him, and are hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, & their stonie hearts cannot become flesh. He appointed a ruler vnto euery people, when he diuided the nations of the whole earth.

15 And he did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom he nourisheth with discipline as his first borne, & glorieth him most in louing light, and doeth not forsake him.

* Deut. 4. 19.
and 10. 15.

17 All their workes are as the sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hidde from him, but all their sins are before the Lord.

19 And as he is mercifull, and knoweth his worke, hee doeth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

20 The almes of a man, is as a thing sealed vp before him, and he keepeth the good deeds of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their sonnes and daughters.

* Ier. 3. 13.

25 [Know the righteousness and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, & in the praiser of the most High God, and goe in the parts of the holy world with such as be liuing and confesse God.]

26 Who can praise the most High in the hell, as doe all they that liue and confesse him?

* Psal. 138. 19.

27 [Abide

27 [Abide not thou in the error of the vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.]

28 Thankfulness perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the living, and hee that is found of heart, prayeth the Lord, [and rejoiceth in his mercy.]

29 How great is the lovingkindnes of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holiness!

30 For all things cannot be in men, because the sonne of man is not immortall, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.]

31 What is more cleare then the sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euill, [shall be reprobud.]

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

The marvellous workes of God. 6. The miserie and wretchednesse of man. 9. Against God we ought not to complaine. 21. The performing of vowes.

1 He that liueth for euer, made all things together: the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and hee remaineth victorious king for euer.]

2 He ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he governeth all things by his power, & diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath hee giuen power to expresse his workes? who will seeke out the ground of his noble acts?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatnesse? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercie?

5 As for the wonderful workes of the Lord, there may nothing be taken from them, neither can any thing bee put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, hee must begin againe, and when hee thinketh to come to an end, he must go again to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man? whereto serueth hee? what good or euill can hee doe?

8 ¶ If the number of a mans dayes be an hundred yeere, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the sea, & as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sand, so are a thousand yeeres to the dayes euerlasting.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and powreth out his mercie vpon them.

11 He saw & perceiued, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euill: therefore heaped hee vp his mercie vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousness.]

12 The mercie that a man hath reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercie of the Lord is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth & nutureth, and teacheth and bringeth backe, as a sheepeheard his flocke.

13 He hath mercy of them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My sonne when thou doest good, re-prooue not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shall not the dewe asswage the heat? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Loe, is not a word better then a good gift? but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproch churlishly, and a gift of the eniuous putteth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousness before thou come to iudgement: learne before thou speak, and vse physicke or euer thou be sicke.]

19 ¶ Examine thy selfe before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt finde mercie.

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and while thou mayest yet sinne, shew thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vow in time, & deferre not vnto death to be reformed: [for the reward of God endureth for euer.]

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the *wrath that shall be at the ende, and the houre of vengeance, when he shall turne away his face.

24 ¶ When thou hast inough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouertie and need.

25 From the morning vntil the evening the time is changed, and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression he keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Euery wise man knoweth wisdom, & knowledge, & praiseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in wordes: [they vnderstand the trueth and righteousness,] and powre out with modestie graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

30 ¶ ¶ Follow not thy lusts, but turne thee from thine owne appetites.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that eniue thee, to laugh thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnesse, and intangle not thy selfe with such company.

33 Become not a begger by making banquetts of that that thou hast borrowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse: else thou shouldest slanderously lie in waite for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and whoredom bring men to pouertie. 6 In thy word vse discretion. 22 The difference of the wisdom of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayest know what is in man.

Alabouring man that is giuen to drunkennesse, shal not be rich: and he that con-temneth small things, shall fall by little and little.

2 * Wine and women lead wife men out of the way [an I put men of vnderstanding to reproofe.]

3 And he that companieth adulterers, shal become impudent: rottenesse and wormes shall haue him to heritage, and hee that is too bolde shall be taken away, and be made a publique example.

* Job. 22. 11, 12.

4 * He that is hastie to giue credit, is light-minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednes, shal be punished: [he that hateth to bee reformed his life shall be shortened, and hee that abhorreth babbling of words, quencheth wickednesse] but he that resisteth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.

6 He that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a trouble some man, and hee that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Rehearse not to another, that which is told vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindred.

8 Declare not other mens maners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not vnto thee, reueale it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, he will hate thee.

* Chap. 22. 22.
and 27. 17.

10 * If thou hast heard a word [against thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and bee sure it will not burie thee.

11 A foole traueileth when he hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

so is a word in a foolles heart.

14 Reproue a friend that he may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that hee say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a slander is raised, and giue no credence to euery word.

* Am. 3. 2.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: *and who is hee, that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisdom obtaineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the Commaundements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruite of immortalitie.

20 The feare of the Lord is al wisdom, and the performing of the Law is perfect wisdom and the knowledge of his Almighty power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not do as it pleaseth thee, though after ward he doe it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednesse is not wisdom, neither is their prudence whereas the counsell of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is void of wisdom.

23 Hee that hath small vnderstanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisdom, and transgresseth the Law of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Lawe: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that being about wicked purposes, doe bowe downe themselues, & are sad, whose inward parts burne altogether with deceit: hee looketh downe with his face, and saineth himselfe deafe: yet before thou per-ceiue, he will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be so weake that he can doe thee no harme, yet when he may finde opportunitie, he will doe euill.

27 ¶ A man may be known by his looke, and one that hath vnderstanding, may bee perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

ter, and going, declare what person he is.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24
The theefe and the murderer. 28 Gifts blind the eyes of the wise.

There is some rebuke that is not comely:
agaime some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.

2 It is much better to reprove, then to beare euill will: and hee that acknowledged his fault shall be preserued from hurt.

3 As * when a gelded man through lust would defile a maide, so is hee that vseth violence in iudgement.

* Chap. 10. 20.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproved, to shew repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilfull sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue because he hath not to answer: and some keepeth silence waiting a conuenient * time.

* Eccles. 3. 7.
* Chap. 12. 4.

7 * A wise man will hold his tongue till he see opportunitie: but a trifler and a foole will regard no time.

8 He that vseth many words, shall be abhorred, and hee that taketh authoritie to himselfe, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, & sometime a thing that is found bringeth losse.

10 There

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is some gift, whose reward is double.

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humbleness lifeth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a little price: for she which he payeth seuen times more.

13 * A wife man with his wordes maketh himselfe to be loued: but the merrie tales of fooles shall be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious, for his importunitie: for he looketh to receiue many things for ones: he giueth little, and hee vpbraideth much: hee openeth his mouth like a towne-crier: to day he lendeth, to morrow asketh he againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole saith, I haue no friend: I haue no thanks for all my good deeds: and they that cate my bread, speake euill of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shall hee be laughed to scorne? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pavement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as foolish tale, which is oft told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wife sentence looseth grace when it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of povertie, and yet is not griued when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons loseth it.

22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemy of him for naught.

23 * A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A thiefe is better then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of liars are vn honest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wife man shal bring himselfe to honor with his words, & he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 * He that tillerh his land, shall increase his sheape: [he that worketh righteousnes, shal be exalted,] and hee that pleaseth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquity.

28 * Rewards and gifts blind the eyes of the wife, and make them dumbe, that they cannot reprove faults.

29 Wisedome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profit is in them both?

30 Better is he that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisdom.

31 The necessarie patience of him, that fol-loweth the Lord, is better then he that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 2 The prayer of the afflicted.

6 To hate to be reprov'd. 17 The mouth of the wise man.

26 The thought of the foole.

MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, *but pray for the sore finnes [that they may be forgiven thee.]

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou comest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a Lion, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquity is as a two edged sword, the wounds thereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proud shall be desolate.

5 * The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, commeth vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed, is in the way of sinners: but hee that feareth the Lord, conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen a farre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 * The Congregation of the wicked is like towe wrapped together: their end is a flame of fire to destroy them.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hell, [darknes and paines.]

11 He that keepeth the law of the Lord, ruleth his owne affections therby: & the increase of wisdom is the end of the feare of God.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternesse.

13 The knowledge of the wise shal abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

14 * The inner parts of a foole are like a broken vessell: hee can keepe no knowledge while he liueth.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wife word, he will commend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he will disallow it, and cast it behind his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelines in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, and they shall ponder his words in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisdom vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feete, and like manacles vpon the right hand.

20 * A foole listeth vp his voice with laughter, but a wise man doeth scarce smile secretly.

21 Learning is vnto a wife man a leuell of gold and like a bracelet vpon his right hand.

22 A foolish mans foote is loose in his [neighbours] house: but a mans experience is alwayes to looke in.

23 A foole will peep into the doore into the house, but he that is well nurtured, will stand without.

24 It is the plote of a foolish man to heare at the doore: for he that is wise will be grieved with such dishonour.

25 The lips of talkers will bee telling such things as pertain not vnto them, but the words of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When the vngodly curseth Saron, hee curseth his owne soule.

*Chap. 18. 13.

28 *A backbiter defileth his owne soule, and is hated wheresoeuer he is: [but hee that keepeth his tongue, and is discreet, shall come to honour.]

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the slothfull. 12 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience is a man's treasure.

A Slothfull man is like a filthy stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slothfull man is to bee compared to the dongue of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euill nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but she that lueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 She that is bold, dishonoureth both her father & her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly, but they both shall despise her.]

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisdom knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that glueh a pot-sheard together, and as he that waketh one that sleepeth, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, and haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proud, with hautines and foolishnes they defile the nobility of the kinned.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisdom is as a man which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

*Chap. 38. 16.

11 *Weepe for the dead, for he hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.

12 Seuen dayes doe men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole, and vngodly, [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Take not much with a foole: & go not to him that hath no vnderstanding: beware of him, lest it turne thee to paine, and lest thou be defiled: when hee shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt find rest, and shalt not receiue sorow by his foolishnesse.

*Chap. 12. 11.

14 What is heauier then lead? and what other name should a foole haue?

15 *Sand, and salt, and a lump of iron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, foolish and vngodly man.

*Prov. 17. 3.

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot be losed with shaking, so the heart that is established by aduised counsell, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discreete wisdom, is as a faire plaistering on a plaine wall.

18 As reeds that are set vp on high, cannot abide the wind, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 He that hurteth the eye, bringeth forth teares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and hee that vpbraideth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sworde at thy friend, yet despaire not: for there may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou hast opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbraiding, or pride, or disclosing of secrets, or a traitorous wound do not let: for by these things euery friend will depart.

23 Be faithful vnto thy friend in his paueritie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest bee heire with him in his heritage: for paueritie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the rich that is foolish to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapor and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill wordes rebukes and threatnings [goe] before blood-shedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should doe me harme: who soeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

26 Who shall set a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisdom vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of the blasphemy, & vnwise communication. 16 Of three kinds of sinnes. 23 Many sinnes proceed of adultery. 27 Of the feare of God.

7 My

7 My dwelling is above in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone have gone round about the compass of heaven, and have walked in the bottom of the depth.

9 I possessed the waves of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nations: [and with my power have I troden down the hearts of all, both high and low.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creatour of all things gave me a commandment, & he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Jacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and root thy selfe among my chosen.

* Tran. 3. 3. 12 * Hee created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile:

* Exod. 31. 3. * In the holy habitation have I served before him, and so was I established in Sion.

* Psal. 132. 8. 13 * In the welbeloued citie gave hee me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke root in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on high like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

* Or. in Cades. 16 I am exalted like a palme tree | about the bankes, and as a rose plant in Iericho, as a faire oliue tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinnamon, and as a bag of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best myrrhe, as galbanum, and onix, and sweet storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the terebinth, have I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

* Iohn 15. 1. 19 * As the vine have I brought forth [fruit] of sweet sauour, and my flowres are the fruit of honour and riches, 20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.]

22 Come vnto me all ye that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruites.

* Psal. 119. 10, 11. 23 * For the remembrance of me is sweeter then honie, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the honie combe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.]

24 They that eate me, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: [they that make me to be knownen, shall haue euermore life.]

* Exod. 20. 1, and 24. 3. deut. 4. 1. and 29. 9. 26 All these things are the booke [of life,] and the couenant of the most high God, [and the knowledge of the trueth,] * and the Law that Moyses [in the precepts of righteousness] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Jacob, [and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.]

27 Be not wearie to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that hee may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord Almighty is but one God, and besides him there is none other Saviour.

28 [Out of Dauid his seruant he ordained to raise vp a most mightie King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 He filleth all things with his wisdom, as * Phylon, and as Tygris, in the time of the * Gm. 2. 11. new fruits.

30 He maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates, and as * Iorden, in the time of * Isa. 3. 15. the harvest.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and overfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowen her perfectly: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdom [haue cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuier: I runne into Paradise as a water conduit.

35 I said, I wil water my faire garden, & wil water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will pierce thorowall the lower parts of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophetic, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

39 * Behold, that I haue not laboured for * Chap. 33. 16. my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisdom.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of the three which bee hateth. 7 Of nine things that be not to bee suspected. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

Three things reioyce me, and by them am I beautified before God and men: * Gm. 13. 35. the vnitie of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a * Ps. 119. 109 man and wife that agree together.

2 ¶ Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud: a rich man that is a liar, and an olde adulterer that doteth.

3 ¶ If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 ¶ Oh, how pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, & when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely a thing is wisdom vnto the aged men, and vnderstanding and prudence to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 ¶ There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to bee happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while hee liueth hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 ¶ Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and hath not ferued such as are vnworthy of him.

9 Well is him that fineth prudence, and hee that speaketh in the eares of them that will heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is he that findeth wisdom: yet is there none about him, that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 ¶ Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God, vnto whom shall he be likened that hath attained it.

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyued vnto him.

14 ¶ The greatest heauinesse is the heauinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.

15 Giue mee any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman.

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemy.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is nowrath about the wrath of an enemy.

18 ¶ I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as a sacke.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her hee figheth sore or hee beware.

21 All wickednesse is but little to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing vp of a sandie way is to the feet of the aged, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.

23 ¶ Stumble not at the beauty of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, she is angry and impudent and full of reproch.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sory heart, an heauie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake handes and feeble knees, and cannot comfort her husband in heauinesse.

26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a little,] neither giue a wicked woman liberty to goe out.

28 If shee walke not in thine obedience, [shee shall confound thee in the sight of thine enemies.] Cut her off then from thy flesh:

* Giue her and forsake her.

^a To wit, the bill of diuorcement.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 2 Of the feare of threashings, and of the fourth. 3 Of the ielous and drunken woman. 4 Of two things that cause sorrows, and of the third which moueth wrath.

Blessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shall bee double.

An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and shee that fill the yerres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall be giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whither a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth, treason in a city: the assembly of the people, and false accusation: al these are heavier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorrow and grieve of the heart is a woman that is ielous ouer another: and shee that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers wayes: hee that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as cannot be tamed, is a great plague: for she cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be knowne in the pride of her eyes, and eyelids.

10 ¶ * If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, lest she abuse herselfe through ouermuch libertie.

11 Take heed of her that hath an vnshamefast eie: and marueile not if shee trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirstie, so shall she open her mouth, and drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall she sit downe, and open her quiver against euery arrow.

13 The grace of a wise wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to bee compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beauty of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlestick, so is the beauty of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of silver, so are faire faces with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that be laid vpon a strong rocke: so are the commandments of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My ionne, keepe the strength of thine ageable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fields, sow it with thine owne seed, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall growe, trusting in the great liberalitie of thine nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sow: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towre against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shameles woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dogge: but shee that is shamefast reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wise of all: but she that despiseth him, shall be blazed for her pride.

28 A loud crying woman & a babler, let her besought out to driue away the enemies: the minde of every man that liueth with such, shall be conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There bee two things that grieve mine heart, and the third maketh me angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouertie: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousnesse vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things, which me thinke to be hard and perillous.] A merchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The vnconstantnesse of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be uttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill, which turneth vpon himselfe.

BEcause of pouertie haue many sinned: and hee that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

2 As a naile in the wall sticketh fast betweene the ioynts of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the buying.

3 If he hold him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone bee ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifreth the filthinesse remaineth in the sieue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace proueth the potters vessell: so doeth [temptation] trie mens thoughts.

6 The fruite declareth if the tree haue beene trimmed: so the word [declareth] what man hath in his heart.

7 Praise no man, except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the trial of men.

8 If thou followest righteousnesse, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [and shalt dwell with her, and she shall defend thee for ever: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt finde steadfastnesse.]

9 The birds resort vnto their like: so doth the truth turne vnto them, that are practised in her.

10 As the lyon waiteth for the beast, so doth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdom: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiscreet, obserue the time, but haunt still the assembly of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is gricuous, and their sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

14 The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: and to strue with such stoppeth the eares.

15 The strife of the proud is bloodshedding, & their scoldings are gricuous to heare.

16 Who so discovereth secrets, loseth his credite, and findeth no friend after his will.

17 Loue thy friend, and be faithfull vnto him: but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemy, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a bird goe out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for he is too farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]

21 As for wounds they may bee bound vp againe, and an euill word may bee reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credite.

22 Hee that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and hee that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art present, hee will speake sweetely, and praise thy wordes: but at the last he will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on hie, casteth it vpon his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

18 Mocketh & reproch follow the proud, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

19 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shall be taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

20 Despise & anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof. 2 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

1 Hee that seeketh vengeance, shall find vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his sinnes.

2 Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that he hath done to thee, so shall thy sinnes be forgiven thee also, when thou prayest.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and desire forgiveness of the Lord?

4 He will shew no mercie to a man which is like himselfe: and will hee aske forgiveness of his owne sinnes?

5 If hee that is but flesh, nourish hatred (and aske pardon of God,) who will intreat for his sinnes?

6 Remember the ende, and let enimitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but perseuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandements: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the covenant of the most High, and forgiue his ignorance.

8 * Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angry man kindleth strife.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friends and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

10 * As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is the more is he inflamed.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheddeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witness, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 * Abhorre the slanderer, and double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace.

14 The double tongue hath disquieted many, and driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houses of great men [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and bene the decay of mightie nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer findereft, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh marks in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There bee many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawen in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brass.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shal they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein: and it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy siluer and gold, and weigh thy words in a balance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a sure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in waite, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money, and doe almes. 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

1 Hee that will shew mercie, shall lendeth to his neighbour: and he that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandements.

2 * Lend to thy neighbour in time of his neede, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 Keepe thy worde, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt all way finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckened it to be found, and grieved them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his handes, and for their neighbours good they humble their voice: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, & giue a carelesse answer, & make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though hee be able, yet giueth hee scarce the halfe againe, and rekeneth the other as a thing found: else he deceiueth him of his money, and maketh him an enemy without a cause: hee payeth him with cursing and rebuke, and giueth him euill wordes for his good deede.

7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconvenience, fearing to be defrauded without cause.

8 Yet have thou patience with him that humbleth himselfe, and deferre not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandments sake, and turne him not away because of his pouertie.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake; and let it not rust under a stone to thy destruction.

11 Bestow the treasure after the commandment of the most High, and it shall bring thee more profit, then golde.

12 Lay thine almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall keepe thee from affliction.

13 A mans limes is as a purse with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterwarde shall arise, and pay every man his reward vpon his head.

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mightie.

15 An honest man is suretie for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy surety: for he hath laid his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deed of his suretie.

18 The wicked will not become suretie: and he that is of an vnthankfull minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 Some man promisseth for his neighbour: and when he hath lost his honestie, hee will forsake him.

20 Suretiship hath destroyed many a rich man, and reioiced them as the waues of the sea: mightie men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandment of the Lord, shall fall into suretiship: and hee that medleth much with other mens businesse, is intangled in controuersies.

22 Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

23 The chiefe thing of life is water, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame.

24 The poore mans life in his owne lodge is better then delicate fare in another mans.

25 Be it little or much, holde thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou dardest not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and feed vnthankfull men, and after shalt haue bitter wordes for the same, saying, 28 Come thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast readie.

29 Give place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother commeth to be lodged, and I haue neede of mine house.

30 These things are heauie to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpraising of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the extraction of children: 24. Of the commendation of health. 27. Death is better then a sorrowfull life. 32. Of the key and serue of the heart.

He that loueth his sonne, causeth him off to feele the rod, that he may haue ioy of him in the end.

2 Hee that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 Hee that teacheth his sonne, grieueth the enemy, and before his friends he shall reioyce of him.

4 Though his father die, yet is hee as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behind him that is like him.

5 In his life hee sawe him, and had ioy in him, and was not sorie in his death, neither was he ashamed before his enemies.

6 Hee left behind him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is grieued at euery crie.

8 An vntamed horse will be stubburne, and a wanton childe will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, he shall make thee afraid: and if thou play with him, he shall bring thee to heauinesse.

10 Laugh not with him lest thou bee sorie with him, and lest thou gnash thy teeth in the end.

11 Give him no libertie in his youth, and winke not at his folly.

12 Bow downe his necke while he is yong, and beate him on the sides, while he is a childe, lest he waxe stubburne, and be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorow to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy child, and be diligent therein, lest his shame grieue thee.

14 Better is the poore, being whole and strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body.

15 Health and strength is aboue all golde, and a whole body aboue infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sound body, and no ioy aboue the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, and long rest then continuall sicknesse.

18 The good things that are powred on a mouth shut vp, are as messes of meate set vpon a graue.

19 What good doeth the offering vnto an idole? for hee can neither eate nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lord, and beareth the reward of iniquitie.

Waking after riches pineth away the 1128 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sickness breaketh the sleepe.

1129 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest hee is filled with pleasures.

1130 The poore labourereth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is still poore.

1131 He that loueth gold, shall not be iusti-fied, and hee that followeth corruption, shall haue enough thereof.

 1134 Blessed is the rich which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after gold, for he hoped in his money and treasures.

1135 Who is he, and we will commend him?
 for wonderfull things hath he done among his people.

1136 Who hath been tried therby, and found perfite? let him be an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

1137 Therefore shal his goods be established, and the congregation shal declare his almes.

Temperancie.
 1138 If thou sit at a costly table, open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Beholde much meate.

1139 Remember that an euill eye is a shrew:
 and what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for every cause.

1140 Stretch not thine hand wherefoeuer it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

1141 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

1142 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not lest thou be hated.

1143 Leave thou off first for natures sake, and be not insatiable, lest thou offend.

1144 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

1145 How little is sufficient for a man well taught? and thereby hee belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feeleth any paine.]

1146 A wholesome sleepe cometh of a temperate belly: hee riseth vp in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching and cholericke diseases, and pang of the belly are with an insatiable man.

1147 If thou hast been forced to eate, arise go forth, vomite, and then take thy rest [so thou shalt bring no sicknesse to thy body.]

1148 My sonne, heare me, and despise me not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy works be quicke, so shall there no sicknesse come vnto thee.

1149 Who so is liberal in his meate, men shall blesse him: and the testimony of his honesty shall be beleued.

1150 But against him that is a niggard of his meate, the whole citie shal murmure: the testimonies of his niggardnesse shall be sure.

1151 Shew not thy valiantnesse in wine: for wine hath destroyed many.

1152 The fornace proueth the edge in the tempering: so doeth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkennesse.

1153 Wine soberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is ouer-come with wine?

1154 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [and not for drunkennesse.]
 Wine measurably drunken and in time, bringeth gladnes and chearefulnesse of the minde.

1155 But wine drunken with excessse, maketh bitternesse of mind with brawlings and scouldings.

1156 Drunkennesse encreaseth the courage of a foole, till he offend: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

1157 Rebuke not thy neighbor at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despitefull wordes, and presse not vpon him with contrary wordes.

7 [Giue eare, and be still, and for thy good behaviour thou shalt be loved.]

8 Thou that art yong speake if neede bee, and yet scarcely when thou art twise asked.

12 Stand vp betimes, and bee not the last: but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy pastime, and doe what thou wilt, so that thou doe none euill, or vse proud words.

14 But aboue all things, giue thanks vnto him that hath made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lord, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall find fauour.

16 He that seeketh the Law, shall be filled therewith, but the hypocrite will be offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lord, shall find that which is righteous, and kinde iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsell: but a lewde and proude man is not touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.

20 [My sonne,] do nothing without aduise-ment: so shal it not repent thee after the deed.

21 Go not in the way where thou mayest fall, nor where thou mayest stumble among the stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine own children, [and take heed of thie that be thine own household.]

23 In euery good worke bee of a faithfull heart, for this is the keeping of the commandments.

¶ Or, the Law.

24 Whoso beleueth in the Lord, keepeth the commandments: and he that trusteth in the Lord, shall take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answer of the wife. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter. 23 Of euill seruants.

¶ The feare of God.

Here shall no euill come vnto him that feareth the Lord: but when he is in temptation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Lawe: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a ship in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Lawe is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answer, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answer. The heart of the foolish is like a cart-wheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axletree.

*Chap. 31.16.

6 As a wild horse neyeth vnder enery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornfull friend.

6 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the lights of the dayes of the yere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lord hath parted them asunder, and hee hath by them disposed the times and solempne feasts.

9 Some of them hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath he put among the dayes in number.

10 And all men are of the *ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

*Gen. 1.28, and 2.7.

11 Some of them hath hee blessed and exalted, and some of them hath hee sanctified, and appropriate to himselfe: but some of them hath hee cursed, and brought them low, and put them out of their estate.

12 As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creator, so that hee may reward them as liketh him best.

*1a. 45.9, 10m. 9. 26, 21.

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the most High thou mayest see that there are euery two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my wine presse like a grape gatherer.

16 Behold, how I haue not laboured onely for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge.

*Chap. 34.39.

17 Heare me, O ye great men of the people, and hearken with your cares, yee rulers of the Congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friend, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreate for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldest looke vp to the hands of thy children.

a There is, let no man vie thee as his seruant, when thou hast committed all thy goods into his hands.

21 In all thy workes be excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained.

23 At the time when thou shalt ende thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correction and worke, vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt finde rest: but if thou let him goe idle, he shall seeke liberty.

25 The yoke and the whip bow downe the hard necke: so tame thine euil seruant with the whips and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that he goe not idle: for idleness bringeth much euill.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, ¶ put on more heauie fetters.

28 But be not excessiue toward any, and without discretion doe nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithful seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreate him as thy brother: for thou hast neede of him, as of thy selfe. If thou intreate him euil, and he run away, wilt thou seeke him?

CHAP. XXXIII.

Of dreames. 13 The praise of them that feare God. 18 The offerings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needie. 27 God doeth not allow the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

THe hope of a foolish man is vaine & false, ¶ and dreames make fooles to haue wings.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the wind.

3 Euen so is it with the appearings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be clenfed by the vncléane? or what trueth can be spoken of a lyar?

5 Southsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, and a mind that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Where as such visions comenot of the most High to trie thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The Law shall be fulfilled without lies, and wisdom is sufficient to a faithful mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and he that hath good experience, can talke of wisdom.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 When I wandred to and fro, I saw many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirite of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

14 Who so ¶ feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth he his trust? who is his strength?

16 * For the eyes of the Lord haue respect vnto them, that loue him: hee is their * mighty protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heat, and a shadow for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, and an helpe from falling.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lighteneth the eyes: he giueth health, life and blessing.

18 ¶ He that * giueth an offering of vnrighteous goods, offereth a mocking sacrifice, and the gifts of the vnrighteous, please not him.

19 [But the Lord is theirs onely, that patiently abide him in the way of truth and righteousness.]

20 The most High doth not allow the ¶ offerings of the wicked, * neither is he pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore: he that defraudeth him thereof, is a murderer.

23 He that taketh away his neighbours liuing, slayeth him, * and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodshedder.

24 ¶ When one buildeth, and another breaketh downe, what profite haue they then but labour?

25 When one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voice will the Lord heare?

26 * He that washeth himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what auaileth his washing?

27 * So is it with a man that fasteth for his finnes, and committeth them againe: who will heare his prayer? or what doeth his fasting helpe him?

Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherlesse, and of the widow, and him that humbleth himselfe.

Who so keepeth the Law, * bringeth offerings ynow: he that holdeth fast the commandments, ¶ offereth an offering of saluation.

2 Hee that is thankfull to them that haue well deserued, offereth fine flowre: * and hee that giueth almes, sacrificeth praise.

3 To depart from euill, is a thankful thing to the Lord, and to forsake vnrighteousnesse, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 * Thou shalt not appeare emptie before the Lord.

5 For all these things are done because of the commandment.

6 * The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweet before the most High.

22 The beautie of a woman cheareth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there bee in her tongue gentlenesse, meekenesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

24 He that hath gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begun to get a possession: shee is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

^{The praise of a good woman.}

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoiled: and he that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro mourning.

26 Who

26 Who will trust a chiefe that is alway ready and wandreth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth, wherefoeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellors. 23 To keep his company that feareth God.

Offhandship.

Every friend saith, I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is only a friend in name.

2 Remaينeth not there heauinesse vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemy?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceit?

Chap. x. 10.

4 * There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemy.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

Of whom wee should take counsell.

7 Seeke no counsell at him of whom thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

Chap. x. 19. and 9. 16.

8 * Euery counsellor prayeth his owne counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

Of whom wee should take counsell.

9 Beware of the counsellor, and be aduised afore whereto thou wilt vse him: for hee will counsell for himselfe, lest he cast the lot vpon thee.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsell for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice.] nor of a woman touching her of whom she is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a merchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankfulness, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindnesse, [nor of an vn-honest man of honestie,] nor of the slothful for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But bee continuall with a godly man whome thou knowest to keepe the commandments of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sory for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee then it.

14 For a mans mind is somewhat more accustomed to shew more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an hie towre.

15 And aboue all this, pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in trueth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernment ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is witty, & hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in words, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all foode.

Or, wisdom.

20 Because grace is not given him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisdom.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruits of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruits of his wisdom faile not.

23 A wise man shal be plenteously blessed, & all they that see him, shal thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shal obtaine credite among his people, and his name shal be perpetuall.

26 My sonne, prooue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

28 Be not greedy in all delights, and bee not too hasty vpon all meates: Of temperance.

29 * For excessse of meates bringeth sickness, and gluttonie commeth into cholericke diseases. Chap. 31. 19, 20 30 By surfeit haue many perished: but hee that dieteth himselfe, prolongeth his life. Or, taketh his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physician is commendable. 16 To burie the dead. 24 The wisdom of him that is learned.

Honour the Physician with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessity: for the Lord hath created him. Of Physicians and phylicke.

2 For of the most High cometh healing, and he shal receiue gifts of the King.

3 The knowledge of the Physician listeth vp his head, and in the sight of great men hee shall be in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the water made sweete with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof? Exod. 15. 25.

6 So he hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might bee glorified in his wonderous workes.

7 With such doeth hee heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the Apothecary make a confession, and yet he cannot finish his owne workes: for of the Lord cometh prosperity and wealth ouer all the earth.

*1sa. 38. 2, 3.

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sicknesse, but *pray vnto the Lord, and hee will make thee whole.

10 Leauē off from sinne, and order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednesse.

¶ God befloweth first his benefits, and we must render a portion thereof to such uses as he ap-pointeth.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine flowre for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the first giuer.

12 Then giue place to the Physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou hast neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lord, that hee would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their physicke for the prolonging of life.

*Chap. 22. 11.

[Of mourning.

[Or, the custome.

15 He that sinneth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the Physician.

16 My sonne, *powre forth teares ouer the dead, || and begin to mourne, as if thou hadst suffered great harme thy selfe, and then couer his body according to his || appointment, and neglect not his buriall.

*Prov. 15. 13.
and 17. 22.

17 Make a grievous lamentation, and bee earnest in mourning, and vse lamentation, as hee is worthy, and that, a day or two, lest thou bee euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

18 * For of heauinesse commeth death, and the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength.

19 Of the affliction of the heart commeth sorrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauinesse to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shall be likewise, vnto me yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

*2 Sam. 12. 20.

23 * Seing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisdomē of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his own matters and labour, may come by wisdomē.

25 How can hee get wisdomē that holdeth the plough, and he that hath pleasure in the goade, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breede of bullockes?

26 He giueth his mind to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter, and workman, that laboureth night & day: and they that cut, and graue seales, and make fundry diuersities, and giue themselues to counterfeit image, and watch to performe the worke.

28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anvil, and doth his diligence to labor the yron: the vapour of the fire drieth his flesh, and he must fight with the heate of the fornace: the noise of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that he maketh: hee setteth his minde to make vp his workes: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth the wheele about with his feete: he is careful allway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to cleanse the oven.

31 All these hope in their hands, and euery one bestoweth his wisdomē in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities be maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they high in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the law, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good good things profite, but vnto the euill euill things are euill.

Hee onely that applieth his minde to the Lawe of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the wisdomē of all the ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the propheties.

[Of true wisdomē.

2 He keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entreth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 Hee seeketh out the mysterie of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 He shall serue among great men, and appeare before the prince: he shal trauaile thorow strange countreys: for hee hath tried the good and the euill among men.

5 Hee will giue his heart to resort earely vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and wil open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his finnes.

6 When the great Lord will, hee shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may powre out wise sentences, and giue thanks vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 ¶ He shall direct his counsell and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

[Or, the Lord.

8 He shall shew forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shal commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shal continue from generation to generation.

chap. 44. 15. 10 * The Congregation shall declare his wisdome, and shew it.

11 Though he be dead, he shal leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shall get the same.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto me ye holy children, and bring forth fruit, as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field, for libani. 14 And giue ye a sweete smell as Iincense, and bring forth flowres as the lilly: giue a smell and sing a song of praise: blesse the Lord in all his workes.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shew forth his praise with the songs of your lippes, and with harpes, and yee shall say after this manner,

Gen. 1. 1.
Eccl. 1. 17. 16 * All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time conuenient they shall all be sought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselves.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 Hee seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, & there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man neede not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall runne ouer as the streame, and moisten the earth like a flood.

23 As he hath turned the waters into salt-nesse, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 ¶ For the good, are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

chap. 39. 21. 26 * The principall things for the whole vse of mans life, is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigor lay on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shewe forth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

chap. 40. 9, 10. 29 * Fire, and haile, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde beasts, and the scorpions, and the serpents, & the sword execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall be glad to doe his commandements: and when need is, they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

33 * All the workes of the Lord are good, Gen. 1. 31. and hee giueth euery one in due season, and when need is:

34 So that a man neede not to say, This is worse then that, for in due season they are all worthy praise.

35 And therefore praise the Lord with whole heart and mouth, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous, and prerogative of the feare of God.

¶ The miseries of mans life.
Great ¶ trauaile is created for all men, and in heavy yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day that they returne to the mother of all things,

2 Namely, their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they wait for, and the day of death.

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blew filke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuy, trouble, and vnquietnesse, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watchtowre in the day: hee is troubled with the visions of his heart as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, hee awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seuen fold to the vngodly:

9 Moreouer, * death and blood, and strife, chap. 39. 29, 30 and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their takes came the * flood also. Gen. 7. 11.

11 * All things that are of the earth, shall Gen. 3. 19. turne to earth againe: and they that are of the chap. 41. 10. * waters, shall returne into the sea. Eccles. 1. 7.

12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shall be put away: but ¶ faithfulness shall endure for euer. ¶ Faithfulness.

13 The substance of the vngodly shall bee dried vp like a riuer, & they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When

14 When hee openeth his hand, he reioyceth: but all the transgressours shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vnclean roots are as vpon the high rockes.

16 Their tender stalke by what water soe-uer it be or water banke, it shall be pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlines is as a most plentifull garden of pleasure, and mercy endureth for ever.

18 To labour and to be content with that a man hath, is a sweet life: but he that findeth a treasure is about them both.

19 Children, and the building of the citie maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted about them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the heart:
but the loue of wisdom is about them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noyse: but a pleasant tongue is about them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beautie:
but a greene seede time rather than them both.

23 A friend and companion come together at opportunitie: but about them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble, but almes shall deliuer more than them both.

25 Golde and siluer fasten the feete: but counsell is esteemed about them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the minde:
but the feare of the Lord is about them both:
there is no want in the feare of the Lord, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing: and there is nothing so beautiful as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, leade not a beggers life:
for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life:
for hee tormenteth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nurtured, will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Lawe of God.
11 Good name and fame. 24 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisdom. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

¶ Of death. O Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vex him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that is yet able to receiue meate!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudge-ment vnto the needfull, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience.

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue been before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou be against the pleasure of the most High? whether it be ten, or an hundred, or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shal perish, and their posteritie shall haue a perpetuall shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngod-ly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe be vnto you, O ye vngodly, which haue forsaken the Lawe of the most high God:
for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shall be borne to cursing: if ye die, the curse shall be your portion.

10 ¶ All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: so the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shall bee put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shall continue with thee about a thousand treasures of golde.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbred:
but ¶ a good name endureth for ever.

14 My children, keepe wisdom in peace:
¶ for wisdom that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profit is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisdom.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my wordes: for it is not good in all things to bee ¶ ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: bee ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authoritie.

18 Of sinne before the Iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people:
of vnrighteousnesse, before a companion and friend,

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trueth of God and his couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the ¶ bread, or to be reprooued for giuing or taking,

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to bee euill minded toward another mans wife,

22 Or to sollicite any mans maide, or to stand

stand by her bed, or to reproch thy friendes with wordes,

23 Or to vpbraide when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueale secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well bee shamefast, and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

2 The Law of God must bee taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secrets of the heart.

In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

OF these things bee not thou ashamed, neither haue regard to offende for any person:

2 Of the Lawe of the most High and his couenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, and of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To be diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or litle.

5 To sell merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beat an euill seruant to the blood.

6 To set a goodlocke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are.

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned and the vnwise, and the aged, that contend against the yong: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approved of all men living.

9 ¶ The daughter || maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnesse that hee hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the youth, lest she should passe the flower of her age: and when shee hath an husband, lest she should be hated.

10 In her virginie, lest shee should be defiled, or gotten with child in her fathers house, and when she is with her husband, lest she misbehaue her selfe: and when she is married, lest she continue vnfruitfull.

¶ Chap. 16. 10.

11 * If thy daughter be vnshamefast, keepe her straitely, lest she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the citie, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

¶ Chap. 25. 23.

12 * Behold not euery bodies beautie, and company not among women.

¶ Gen. 3. 6.

13 For as the moth commeth out of garments, so doeth wickednes of the woman.

14 The wickednes of a man is better then the good entreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame and reproch.

15 ¶ I will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue scene: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The Sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is ful of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appointed that his Saints should declare all his wonderous works, which the Almighty Lord hath stablished to confirme all things by in his maiestie?

18 He seeketh out the depth, and the heart, and he knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the paths of things that are secret.

20 * No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him. ¶ Job 41. 4. 1/2. 29. 15.

21 He hath garnished the excellent works of his wisdom, and he is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be minished: he hath no neede of any counseller.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his workes, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They liue all, and endure for euer: and whensoever need is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double, one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25 The one || commendeth the goodnesse of the other, and who can bee satisfied with beholding Gods glory? ¶ Or, stablisheth.

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

THis high ornament || the cleare firmament, the beauty of the heauen so glorious to behold, ¶ The wonderfull workes of God.

2 The Sunne also a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth at his going out, the worke of the most High.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The Sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a furnace with continuall heate: it casteth out the fierie vapours, and with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement hee causeth it to runne hastily.

6 * The moone also hath hee made to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world. ¶ Gen. 1. 16.

7 * The feasts are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto the ende. ¶ Exod. 12. 2.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, & groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beauty of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the hie places of the Lord.

10 By the commaundement of the Holy one they continue in their order, and faile not in their watch.

11 ¶ Looke vpon the rainbowe, and praise ¶ Gen. 9. 13, 14.

*Isa. 40. 12.

praise him that made it: very beautifull is it in the brightnesse thereof.

12 * It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the handes of the most High haue bended.

13 ¶ Through his commandement he maketh the snowe to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the foules.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the cloudes, and broken the hailestones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth the earth: so doeth the storme of the North: the whirlewinde also, as birdes that flie, scattereth the snowe, and the falling downe thereof is as the grasshoppers that light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 He also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frozen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the cold North winde bloweth, an yce is frozen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a brestplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, and burneth the wilderness, and destroyeth that that is Greene, like fire.

22 The remedie of all these is when a cloud commeth hastily, and when a deaw commeth vpon the heate, it refresheth it.

23 [By his word hee stilleth the winde:] by his counsell hee appeaseth the deepe, and planteth ylanis therein.

24 They that saile ouer the sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we marvell thereat.

25 For there bee strange, and wonderous workes, diuers maner of beastes, and the creation of Whalus.

26 Through him are all things directed to a good ende, and are established by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, wee cannot attaine vnto them: but this is the sum of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue wee to praise him? for he is aboue all his works.

29 The Lord is terrible, and very * great, and marueilous is his power.

30 Praise the Lord, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth hee farre exceede: exalt him with all your power, and bee not weary, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 * Who hath seene him, that hee might tell? and who can magnifie him as he is.

32 For there are hidde yet greater things then these be, and wee haue seene but a few of his workes.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wisdom to such as feare God.

C H A P. XLIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob.

Let vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers of whom we are begotten.

1 The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

2 They haue borne rule in their kingdoms, and were renowned for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophecies.

3 * They governed the people by counsell, and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences.

4 They inuented the melodie of musicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

5 They were rich and mightie in power, and liued quietly at home.

6 All these were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

7 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shall bee spoken of.

8 There are some also which haue no memoriall, * and are perished, as though they had neuer bene, and are become as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them.

9 But the former were mercifull men, whose righteousness hath not bene forgotten.

10 For whose posterity a good inheritance is referred, and their seed is contained in the covenant.

11 Their stocke is contained in the covenant, and their posterity after them.

12 Their seed shall remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

13 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

14 * The people speake of their wisdom, and the congregation talke of their praise.

15 * Enoch pleased the Lord God: therefore was he translated for an example of repentance to the generations.

16 * Noe was found perfit, and in the time of wrath hee had a reward: therefore was he left as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came.

17 An euermore covenant was made with him, that all flesh should * perish no more by the flood.

18 Abraham was a * great father of many people: in glory was there none like vnto him.

19 He kept the Law of the most High, and was in covenant with him, and he set the covenant in his flesh, and in tentation hee was found faithfull.

20 Therefore hee assured him by an * othe, that hee would blesse the nations in his seed, and and that hee would multiplie him as the dust of the earth, and exalt his seede as the starres, and cause them to inherite from sea to sea, and from the Riuer vnto the end of the world.

22 * With Isaac did hee confirme likewise for Abraham his fathers sake, the blessing of all men, and the couenant, 23 And caused it to rest vpon the head of Jacob, and made himselfe knowne by his blessings, and gaue him an heritage, and diuided his portions, and parted them among the twelues tribes.

24 And hee broughe out of him a mercifull man, which found fauour in the sight of all flesh.

CHAP. XLV.

The prayse of Moyse, Aaron, and Phinees.

And Moyse, the * beloued of God and men, brought hee forth, whose remembrance is blessed.

1 He made him like to the glorious Saints, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies.

2 By his words he caused the wonders to cease, and he made him * glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commaundements for his people, and shewed him his glory.

3 He sanctified him with faithfulness, and meekenesse, and chose him out of all men.

4 Hee caused him to heare his voice, and brought him into the darke cloude, and there he gaue him the commaundements before his face, euen the Lawe of the life and knowledge, that hee might teach Jacob the couenant, and Israel his iudgements.

5 He exalted Aaron an holy man like vnto him, euen his * brother of the tribe Leui.

6 An euerlasting couenant made hee with him, and gaue him the Priesthood among the people, & made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

7 He put perfect ioy vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

8 He compassed him about with belles of gold, and with many belles round about, * that when he went in, the sound might bee heard, and might make a noyse in the Sanctuary, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people.

9 And with an holy garment, with gold also, and blue filke, and purple, and diuers kindes of works, and with a brestlap of iudgement, and with the * signes of truth.

10 And with worke of scarlet cunningly wrought, and with precious stones grauen like scales, and set in golde by goldsmithes worke for a memoriall, with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel,

11 And with a crowne of gold vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holinesse, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

12 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on but onely his children, and his childrens children perpetually.

13 Their sacrifices were wholly consumed every day twise continually.

14 * Moyse filled his hands, and anointed him with holy oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenant, and to his seede, so long as the heauens should remaine, that he should minister before him also to execute the office of the Priesthood, and blesse his people in his Name.

15 Before all men liuing the Lorde chose him, that hee should present offerings before him, and a sweete saueur for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

16 He gaue him also his commaundements and authority according to the Lawes appointed, that hee should teach Jacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Lawe.

17 * Strangers stood vp against him, and enuied him in the wildernesse, euen the men that tooke Dathans and Abirams part, and the company of Core in furie and rage.

18 This the Lorde sawe, and it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: hee did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fierie flame.

19 But he made Aaron more honourable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

20 For the Priests did eate of the sacrifices of the Lord, which hee gaue vnto him and to his seede.

21 * Els he had none heritage in the land of his people, neither had hee any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

22 The third in glory is * Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because hee had zeale in the feare of the Lord, and stood vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned bake, and made reconciliation for Israel.

23 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him, that hee should bee the chiefe of the Sanctuary and of his people, and that he and his posteritie should haue the dignitie of the Priesthood for euer, 24 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdom should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should bee to the onely sonne of his sonne, and to his seed. God giue vs wisdom in our heart to iudge his people in righteousness, that the good things that they haue be not abolished, and that their glory may endure for their posteritie.

16 Howbeit some of them did right, and some heaped vp sinnes.

18 * In his time came Sennacherib vp, and sent Rabfaces, and lift vp his hand against Sion, and boasted proudly.

19 Then trembled their hearts and hands, so that they sorowed like a woman in trauell.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is mercifull, & lift vp their hands vnto him, and immediately the Holy one heard them out of heauen.

22 * Hee smote the hoste of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

23 For Ezekias had done the thing that pleased the Lord, and remained stedfastly in the wayes of Dauid his father, as Esai the great Prophet, and faithfull, in his vision had commanded him.

24 * In his time the sunne went backward, and he lengthened the Kings life.

25 He saw by an excellent Spirit what should come to passe at the last, & he comforted them that were sorowfull in Sion.

26 He shewed what should come to passe for euer, & secret things, or euer they came to passe.

Of Simon the sonne of Onias. 22. An exhortation to praise the Lord. 27. The author of this booke.

¶ Simon the sonne of Onias the hie Priest, which in his life set vp the house againe, and in his dayes established the Temple.

2 Vnder him was the foundation of the double height laid, and the high walles that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the brasie was about in measure as the sea.

4 He took care for his people, that they shuld not fall, and fortified the city against the siege.

5 How honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when he came out of the house couered with the vaille!

6 He was as the morning starre in the mids of a cloud, and as the moone when it is full.

7 And as the sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most High, and as the rainebow that is bright in the faire cloudes,

8 And as the flower of the roses in the spring of the yeere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of Summer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessel of massie golde, set with all maner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire olive tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth vp to the clouds.

11 When he put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with all beautie, he went vp to the holy altar, and made the garment of holiness honourable.

12 When he tooke the portions out of the Priests hands, he himselfe stood by the herth of the Altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glory, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the Congregation of Israel.

14 And that he might accomplish his ministerie vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High, and Almighty, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, & powred of the blood of the grape, & he powred at the foot of the altar a perfume of good sauour vnto the most high King of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brasen trumpets, and made a great noyse to bee heard, for a remembrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together hastened, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God Almighty & most High.

18 The fingers also sang with their voyces, so that the sound was great, and the melodie sweet.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most High, with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went he downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole Congregation of the children of Israel, that they shoud giue praise with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his Name.

21 Hee began againe to worship, that hee might receiue the blessing of the most High.

22 Now therefore giue praise all yee vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our daies fro the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercy,

23 That hee would giue vs ioyfulness of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in old time, 24 That he would confirme his mercy with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two maner of people, that mine heart abhorreth, & the third is no people:

26 They that sit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philistims, & the foolish people that dwell in Sicinus.

27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Syrach, the sonne of Eleazarus, of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wisdom of his heart.

28 Blessed

28 Blessed is hee that exerciseth himselfe therein: and he that layeth vp these in his heart, shall be wise.

29 For if he doe these things, hee shall bee strong in all things: for hee setteth his steps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisdom to the godly. The Lord be praised for evermore: So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iosue the sonne of Sirach.
I Will confesse thee, O Lord and King, and I praise thee O God, my sauour: I will giue thanks vnto thy Name.

1 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserued my body from destruction, and from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,

2 And hast deliuered me according to the multitude of chy mercie, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure mee, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions, which I had,

3 And from the fire that choked me round about, and from the mids of the fire that I burned not,

4 And from the bottome of the belly of hel, from an vnclean tongue, from lying words, from false accusation to the King, and from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.

5 My soule shall praye the Lord vnto death: for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

6 They compassed me on euery side, and there was no man to helpe me: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

7 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, O Lord, and vpon thine actes of olde, how thou deliuerest such as waite for thee, and sauest them out of the hande of the enemies.

8 Then lifted I vp my praier from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

9 I called vpon the Lord the Father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proud, without helpe.

10 I will praise thy Name continually, and wil sing praise with thanksgiuing: and my prayer was heard.

11 Thou saudest me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks, and praise thee, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

12 When I was yet yong, or euer I went abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer:

13 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countries: & she was as a grape that waxeth right out of the flower.

14 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foote walked in the right way, & from my youth vp sought I after her.

15 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, & receiued her, and gare me much wisdom:

16 And I profited by her: therefore wil I ascribe the glory vnto him, that giueth me wisdom.

17 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I will be ielous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

18 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine hands on hie, and considered the ignorances thereof.

19 I directed my soule vnto her, & I found her in purenesse: I haue had my heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.

20 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

21 The Lord hath giuen mee a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.

22 Draw neere vnto me, ye vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.

23 Wherefore are yee slow? and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are very thirlye?

24 I opened my mouth, and said, *Buy her *Isa. 55.1. for you without money.

25 Bow downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: she is ready that ye may find her.

26 Behold with your eyes, *how that I haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest. *chap. 6.18.

27 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much gold.

28 Let your soule reioyce in the mercy of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.

29 Do your duetie betimes, and he will giue you a reward at his time.

BARUCH.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Iechonias and all the people. 10 The Jewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

And these are the wordes of the booke which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of Asadias, the sonne of Helcias, wrote in at Babylon,

2 In the fift yeere, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did reade the wordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Ioachim king of Iudah might heare, and all the people that were come to heare the booke,

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, of the Kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto

the highest, before all them that dwell at Babylon by the river || Sud.

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.

6 They made a collection also of money, according to every mans power.

7 And sent it to Jerusalem vnto Iqarim the sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom priest, and vnto the other Priests, and to all the people which were with him at Jerusalem.

8 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the month || Siuan, to wit, silver vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Iofias King of Iudah had made.

9 After that Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon had led away Iechonias from Jerusalem, and his princes, and his nobles, prisoners, and the people, and caried them to Babylon.

10 And they sayd, Behold, we haue sent you money, where with ye shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, & incense, & prepare a meat offering, and offer ypon the altar of the Lord our God, 11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their daies may be ypon earth as the dayes of heauen.

12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that wee may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne that we may long doe them seruice, and finde fauour in their sight.

13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God, (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the fury of the Lord and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

14 And reade this booke (which wee haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.

15 Thus shall yee say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

16 And to our Kings, and to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers,

17 Because we haue sinned before the Lord our God,

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the lande of Egypt, euen vnto this day, wee haue bene disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and we haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

20 * Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moses his seruant at the time that hee brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and honie, as appeareth this day.

21 Neither the lesse, wee haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the Prophets, whom he sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAPTER II

The lewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes, The true confession of the Christians. 1. The lewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 2. He promisseth that hee will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a new and everlasting Testament.

Therefore the Lord our God hath performed his word, which hee pronounced against vs, and against our iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our princes, and against the men of Israel and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things that were * written in the Lawe of Moyses,

3 That some among vs should eate the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his owne daughter.

4 Moreouer, he hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdomes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproch and desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath, and not aboue, because we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

6 * To the Lord our God appertaineth righteousness, but vnto vs and our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue we not prayed before the Lord, that we might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lord hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet wee haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandements of the Lord that he hath giuen vnto vs.

11 * And now, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and an high arme, and with signes and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, 12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: wee haue done wickedly: wee haue offended in all thine ordinances.

15 That all the earth may knowe that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Israel and vpon their posteritie.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatnesse of sinne, and he that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule will giue thee prayse and righteousnesse, O Lord.

19 For wee doe not require mercie in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousnesse of our fathers, or of our kings.

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy seruants the Prophets, saying, of thy seruants.

² ier. 17. 19.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Bow downe your shoulders, and serue the king of Babylon: so shall ye remaine in the lande, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if ye will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the king of Babylon, 23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shall be desolate of inhabitants.

24 But we would not hearken vnto thy voice, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the words that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophets: namely, that the bones of our Kings, & the bones of our fathers should be caried out of their places.

25 And loe, they are cast out to the heate of the day and to the coulde of the night, and are dead in great misery with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie.

28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moses, in the day when thou diddest commaund him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

31 And know that I am the Lord their God: then will I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares, 32 And they shall heare, and prayse me in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backs, and from their euill works for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an oath vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and they shall be Lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an euermlasting couenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more driue my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begun for their deliuerance. 2 He prayeth wisdom vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Only God was the finder of wisdom. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, cryeth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pitie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for euer, and we vtterly perish.

4 O Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, & of their children which haue sinned before thee and not hearkened vnto the voice of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that wee should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuitie: for we haue considered in our mindes all the wickednes of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to bee a reproch and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learn wisdom.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen old in a strange country?

11 And art defiled with the dead? & art counted with them that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisdom.

13 For if thou hadst walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for ever.

14 Learn, where is wisdom, & where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest knowal: of from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with the fowles of the heauen, that hoarded vp silver and gold, wherein men trust, and made none end of their gathering?

18 For they that coyned silver, and were so carefull of their worke, and whole inuention had none end, 19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, & other men are come vp in their steads.

20 When they were yong, they sawe the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceived the pathes thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bin heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it bin scene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisdom vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Nerran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisdom haue knowne the way of wisdom, neither do they thinke vpon the pathes thereof.

24 O Israel, how great is the house of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none end: it is hie, and vnumeasurable.

26 There were the gyants, famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, and perished through their owne foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to find her, and hath brought her, rather then fine gold?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is he which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with foure footed beasts. 33 When hee sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when hee calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce: When he calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefulnesse they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 He hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Iacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward he was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. III.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Law, & the punishment of them that despise it. 2 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 3 A complaint of Ierusalem and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 4 A consolation and comforting of the same.

This is the booke of the Commandements of God, and the Law that endureth for ever: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel, wee are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which art the memoriall of Israel.

6 Ye are sold to the nations, not for your destruction: but because ye prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For yee haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils and not to God.

8 Ye haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, and ye haue grieved Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When she saw the wrath comming vpon you from God, shee said, Hearken, yee that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought mee into great heauinesse.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the Euerlasting will bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widowe, and forsaken of many, which for the finnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They would not know his righteousnes, nor walke in the wayes of his commandements: neither did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousness.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes and and daughters, which the euerlasting hath brought vpon them,

15 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from far, an impudent nation, & of a strange language, 16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the young: these haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing mee alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely hee that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon mee the sackcloth of prayer, and so long as I liue, I will call vpon the Euerlasting.

21 Bec of good comfort, O children: crie vnto God, and hee will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluatio through the Euerlasting, and ioy is come vpon me from the Holy one, because of the mercie, which shall quickly come vnto you from our euerlasting Saviour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping, and mourning: but with ioy and perpetuall gladnesse will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glorie, and brightnesse from the Euerlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and crie vnto God: for hee that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to goe astray from your God, so endeouour your selues tenne times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For hee that hath brought these plagues vpon you, wil bring you euerlasting ioy againe, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for hee which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is she that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as shee reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall she be fory for her owne desolation.

34 For I will take away the reioysing of her great multitude, and her ioy shalbe turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come vpon her from the Euerlasting, long to endure, and she shall be inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem, looke toward the East, and behold the ioy that commeth vnto thee from thy God.

37 Lo, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let go) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioysing in the word of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

Put off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour that commeth vnto thee from God for euermore.

1 Put on the garment of righteousness, that commeth from God, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glorie of the Euerlasting.

2 For God will declare thy brightnesse to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

3 And God will name thee by this name for euer, The peace of righteousness, and the glory of the worship of God.

4 Arise, O Ierusalem, and stand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the East, and behold thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the word of the holy One, reioysing in the remembrance of God.

5 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies, but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory as children of the kingdome.

6 For God hath determined to bring down euery high mountaine, and the long enduring rocks, and to fill the valleis, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honour of God.

7 The woods and all sweet smelling trees shall ouershadow Israel at the commandment of God.

8 For God shall bring Israel with ioy in the light of his maiestie, with the mercie and righteousness that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE that Ieremias sent vnto them that were ledde away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

Because of the sinnes that ye haue committed against God, ye shall be led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, king of the Babylonians.

2 So when yee be come into Babylon, ye shall remaine there many yeeres, and a long season: euen seven generations, and after that I will bring you againe peaceably from thence.

and 46.5, 7.
p/sal. 115.4.

3 Now shall yee see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of golde, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that yee in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when yee see th: multitude before them, and behind them worshipping them.

5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, we must worship thee.

6 For mine Angel shall be with you, and shall care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselves are gilded, and laid ouer with siluer: yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take gold for a maid that loueth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priestes themselves conuey away the gold, and siluer from their gods, and bestow it vpon themselves.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of gold, and of wood, with garments like men,

11 Yet cannot they be preserved from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, wherof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though hee were a certaine iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slay such as offend him.

14 Another hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet hee is not able to defend himselfe from battell, nor from thieues: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessel that a man seeth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they bee set vp in their Temples their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feete of those that come in:

|| Or, count.

17 And as the || gates are shut in round about vpon him that hath offended the King: or as one that should be led to be put to death: so the priests keep their temples with doores, and with lockes, and with barres, lest their gods should be spoiled by robbers.

18 They light vp candles before them, yea, more then for themselves, wherof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the posts of the Temple.

19 They confesse, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are black through the smoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, swallowes and birds flie vp on their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this yee may bee sure, that they are no gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the gold that is about them to make them beautiful, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto men, that they bee nothing worth: yea, and they that worship them, are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise vp againe of themselves, neither if one set them vp right, can they moue of themselves, neither if they bee bowed downe, can they make themselves streight: but they set gifts before them as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their Priestes sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed, touch their sacrifices: by these things yee may know that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence cometh it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring giftes to the gods of siluer, and golde, and wood.

30 And the priests sit in the temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are shauen, and being bare headed, 31 They roare, and cry before their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The priests also take away of their garments, and clothe their wiues and children.

33 Whether it be euill that one doeth vnto them or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set vp a King nor put him downe.

34 In like manner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vowe vnto them and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mightie.

36 They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his neede.

37 They can shew no mercy to the widow, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, gold, and siluer, are as stones, that bee hewen out of the mountaine, time, and they that worship them, shall be confounded.

39 How should a man then thinke or say that they are gods?

40 Moreover the Chaldeans themselves dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man that cannot speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that hee would make him to speake, as though hee had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand these things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sense.

42 Furthermore the women, girded with coards, sit in the streets, and burne straw.

43 And if one of them be drawn away, and lie with any such as come by, shee casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because shee was not so worthily reputed, nor her cord broken.

44 Whatsoeuer is done among them, is lies: how may it then bee thought or said, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmiths make them, neither bee they any other thing, but euen what the workeman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there commeth any warre or plague vpon them, the Priests imagine with themselves, where they may hide themselves with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they bee no gods, which can neither defend themselves from warre nor from plagues?

50 For * seeing they bee but of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, men shall know hereafter that they are but lies, and it shall be manifest to all nations and Kings, that they bee no gods, but the workes of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may bee knowen that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no King in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserue from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crows betwene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, & of gold, the priests will escape and saue themselves, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They cannot withstand any king or enemies: how can it then bee thought or said that they be gods?

56 Moreover these gods of wood, of gold, and of siluer, can neither defend themselves from thieves nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their gold and siluer, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselves.

58 Therefore it is better to be a King, and so to shew his power, or else a profitable vessell in an house, whereby hee that oweth it, might haue profite, then such false gods: or to bee a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as bee therein: then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the sunne, and the moone, and the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessarie vses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning, when it shineth, it is euident: and the winde bloweth in euery country.

61 And when God commandeth the clouds to goe about the whole world, they doe as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hilles and woods, it doth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke nor say that they be gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor do men good.

64 For so much now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse Kings:

66 Neither can they shewe signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.

67 The beasts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and doe themselves good.

68 So yee may be certified that by no manner of meanes, they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a skarrecrow in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer and of gold:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and golde and siluer are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead body that is cast in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightnesse, which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they bee no gods: yea, they themselves shalbe consumed at the last, and they shall bee a shame to the country.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall be farre from reproofe.

THE SONG OF THE THREE HOLY CHILDREN, WHICH

followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fierie fornace.

CHAP. III.

25 The prayer of Azarias. 26 The miracle of the King. 27 The flame consumed the Chaldeans. 28 The Angel of the Lord was in the furnace. 29 The three children praise the Lord, and promise all creatures to the same.

AND they walked in the middes of the flame, praising God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stood vp, and prayed on this manner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, sayd, 26 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be praised and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these things vpon vs, because of our sinnes.

29 For wee haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we trespassed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddest commanded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done vnto vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, and most hatefull traitours, and to an vnrighteous King, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And now we may not open our mouthes: we are become a shame and reproofe vnto thy seruants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy Names sake, wee beseech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercie from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake,

36 To whom thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiply their seede as the starres of heauen, and as the sand that is vpon the sea shore

37 For wee, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our sinnes.

38 So that now we haue neither prince, nor Prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first frutes before thee, that we might find mercy.

39 Neuerthelesse in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes and bullockes, and as in ten thousand of fat lambs, so let our offering bee in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them that put their trust in thee.

41 And now wee follow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnesse, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory, O Lord, 44 That all they that doe thy seruants euill, may be confounded: euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may knowe, that thou only art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now the kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the ouen hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with tow, and with fagors, 47 So that the flame went out of the fornace fortie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the fornace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the fornace with them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the fornace, 50 And made in the middes of the fornace like a moist hissing winde, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieved nor troubled them.

51 Then these three (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the fornace, saying,

52 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praised, and exalted aboue all things for euer, and blessed be thy glorious and holy Name, and praised aboue all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy holy glory, and praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed bee thou that beholdest the depths, and strest vpon the Cherubims, and praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed be thou in the glorious throne of thy kingdome, and praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed bee thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised aboue all things, and glorified for euer.

57 All ye workes of the Lord, blesse ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

58 O heauens, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

59 O Angels of the Lorde, blesse yee the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

67 O winter and summer, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer.

68 O dewes and stormes of snowe, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

69 O frost and colde, blesse ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

70 O yce and snowe, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

71 O nights and dayes, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

72 O light and darkenesse, blesse yee the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer, 73 O lightnings and cloudes, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer.

74 Let the earth blesse the Lord: let it praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

75 O mountaines and hilles, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer.

76 All things that grow on the earth, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

77 O fountaines, blesse yee the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

78 O Sea and floods, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

79 O whales, and all that mooue in the waters, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

80 All ye fowles of heauen, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer.

81 All yee beasts and cattell, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer.

82 O children of men, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

83 Let Israel blesse the Lord, praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

84 O Priestes of the Lord, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer.

85 O seruants of the Lord, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer.

86 O spirits and soules of the righteous, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

87 O Saints and humble of heart, blesse yee the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, and Misael, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer: for he hath deliuered vs from the hell, and saued vs from the hande of death, and deliuered vs out of the middes of the fornace, and burning flame: euen out the middes of the fire hath he deliuered vs.

89 Confesse vnto the Lord, that he is gracious: for his mercy endureth for euer.

90 All ye that worship the Lord, blesse the God of gods: praise him, and acknowledge him: for his mercy endureth worlde without ende.

Or, Sufanna.

THE HISTORIE OF SUSANNA, WHICH SOME IOYNE TO THE END OF DANIEL, AND MAKE IT THE THIRTEENTH CHAPTER.

¶ Here dwelt a man in Babylon called Ioachim, and his wife's name was Sufanna, the daughter of Helcias a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

¶ Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moses.

¶ Now Ioachim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Tewes, because hee was more honourable then all others.

¶ The same yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be iudges, such as the Lord speaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

¶ These haunted Ioachims house, and all such as had any thing to doe in the Law, came thither vnto them.

¶ Now when the people departed away at noone, Sufanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

¶ And the two Elders sawe her that shee went in daily and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

¶ Therefore they turned away their mind, and cast downe their eyes, that they should not see heauen, nor remember iust iudge-ments.

¶ And albeit they both were wounded with her loue, yet durst not one shewe another his griefe.

¶ For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her.

¶ Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

¶ And the one said to the other, Let vs go now home, for it is dinner time.

¶ So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came in to the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appointed they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

¶ Now when they had spied out a conuenient time, that shee went in, as her manner was, with two maides onely, and thought to waite her selfe in the garden (for it was an hore season)

¶ And there was no body there, saue the two Elders that had hid themselves, and watched for her.

¶ She said to her maides, Bring me oyle and sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me.

¶ And they did as she bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselves at a backe doore, to set the thing that she had commanded them: but they saw not the Elders, because they were hid.

¶ Now when the maides were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp and ranne vnto her, saying,

¶ Behold, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and wee burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

¶ If thou wilt not, we will beare witnesse against thee, that a young man was with thee:
and therefore thou didst send away thy maides from thee.

¶ Then Sufanna sighed, and said, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I doe this thing, it is death vnto mee: and if I doe it not, I cannot escape your hands.

¶ It is better for mee to fall into your hands, and not doe it, then to sinne in the fight of the Lord.

¶ With that Sufanna cryed with a lowde voyce, and the two Elders cryed out against her.

¶ Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

¶ ¶ So when the seruants of the house heard the crie in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

¶ But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed:
for there was neuer such a report made of Su-fanna.

¶ On the morrow after, came the people to Ioachim her husband, and the two Elders came also full of mischieuous imaginations against Sufanna, to put her to death.

¶ And said before the people, Send for Sufanna the daughter of Helcias Ioachims wife.
And immediatly they sent.

30 So she came with her father and mother, her children and all her kindred.

31 Now Sufanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commanded to vncouer her face (for shee was covered) that they might be so satisfied with her beauty.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders stood vp in the mids of the people, and layd their hands vpon her head, 35 Which wept and looked vp toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders said, As wee walked in the garden alone, she came in with two maids, whome she sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man, which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then we which stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ranne vnto them, and we saw them as they were together.

39 But we could not hold him: for he was stronger then we, and opened the doore, and leaped out.

40 Now when we had taken this woman, wee asked her what yong man this was, but shee would not tell vs: of these things are wee witness.

41 Then the assemblie beleued them, as those that were the Elders and Iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Sufanna cried out with a lowde voyce, and said, O euerlasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afore they come to passe.

43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witness against me, and behold I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voice.

45 ¶ Therefore when she was lead to be put to death, the Lord raised vp the holy spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cried with a lowde voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and said, What meane these words, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the mids of them, and said, Are ye such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the truth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witness against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders said vnto him, Come sit downe among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then said Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I wil examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder, one from another, hee called one of them and said vnto him, O thou that art old in a wicked life, now thy sinnes which thou hast committed aforetime are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guilty goe free, albeit the Lord saith, * The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. Exod. 23. 7.

54 Now then, if thou hast seene her, tell me, vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a lentiske tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verely thou hast lied against thine own head: for loe, the Angel of God hath received the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

56 So put he him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and said vnto him, O thou seed of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beauty hath deceived thee, & lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Now therefore tell me vnder what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a prime tree. 10. prime tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lied against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with a sword to cut thee in two and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cried with a lowde voyce, and praised God, which saueueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders (for Daniel had conuict them of false witness by their owne mouth.)

62 * And according to the Law of Moyses Deut. 19. 19. 20. 19. 5. they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbor, & put the to death. Thus the innocent blood was sau'd the same day.

63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife praised God for their daughter Sufanna, with Ioachim her husband, and al their kindred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And king Attyages was laid with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

THE HISTORIE OF BEL AND OF THE DRAGON, which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

Now when king Astyages was layd with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian received his kingdom.

2 And Daniel did eat at the Kings table, and was honoured above all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had an idol called Bel, and there were spent vpon him every day twelue great measures of fine flour, and fourtie sheepe, and sixe great pots of wine.

4 And the king worshipped it, and went dayly to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King said vnto him, Why dost thou not worship Bel?

5 Who answered and said, Because I may not worship doles made with hands, but the liuing God which hath created the heaven the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then said the king vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? Seest thou not how much hee eateth and drinketh every day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O king, be not deceived: for this is but clay within, and brasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the king was wroth, and called for his priests, and said vnto them, If yee tell me not, who this is that eateth vp these expences, yee shall die.

9 But if ye can certifie mee that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the king, Let it bee according to thy word.

10 (Now the Priests of Bel were threescore and ten, besides their wiues and children:) and the king went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels Priests said, Behold, we will goe out, and set thou the meate there, O king, and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet:

12 And to morow when thou comdest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, wee will suffer death, or else Daniel that hath lied vpon vs.

13 Now they thought themselves sure enough: for vnder the table they had made a priue entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout all the Temple, in the presence of the king alone: when they went out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the kings signet, and so departed.

15 Now in the night came the Priests, with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the king arose and Daniel with him.

17 And the king said, Daniel are the scales whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they bee whole.

18 And as soone as he had opened the doore, the king looked vpon the table, and cried with a lowde voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the king that he should not go in, and said, Behold now the pavement, and marke well whose footsteps are these.

20 And the king said, I see the footsteps of men, women and children: therefore the king was angry, 21 And tooke the Priests, with their wiues, and children, and they shewed him the priue doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore the king slew them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 Moreover, in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the King said vnto Daniel, Sayest thou, that this is of brasse also? loe, hee liueth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that hee is no liuing God: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel vnto the King, I will worship the Lord my God: for hee is the liuing God.

26 But giue me leaue, O King, and I will slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the King said, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and fat, and haire, and did seeth them together, and made lumps thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel said, Behold, whom ye worship.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the king, saying, The king ¶ Called Artaba, whereof euery one contained somewhat more then nine gallons, which make in all an hundred and eight gallons at least.

¶ Called Metretas, and euery one of these measures contained about tenne gallons, which in all make threescore.

is become a Jew: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Priests to death.

29 So they came to the king, and said, Deliver vs Daniel, or else we wil destroy thee and thine house.

30 Now when the king saw, that they pressed fore vpon him, and that necessity constrained him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lions den, where he was fixe dayes.

32 In the den there were seuen Lions; and they had giuen them every day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 Now there was in Iewry a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made portage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord sayd to Abbacuc, Go, carie the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lions denne.

35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I neuer saw Babylon, neither doe I know where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mighty winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then said Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon me, and thou neuerallest them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediatly.

40 Vpon the seuenth day, the king went to bewaile Daniel: and when he came to the den, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sate in the midst of the Lions.

41 Then cried the king with a lowde voice, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drew him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

THE FIRST BOOKE of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

The death of Alexander the king of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdom. 12 Many of the children of Israel make a couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem into his Dominion. 30 Antiochus setteth vp idoles.

After that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went forth of the land of Chettilm, and slew Darius king of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia,

2 He tooke great warres in hand, and wan strong holds, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went hee thorow the ends of the world, and tooke spoiles of many nations, in so much that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was haucie.

4 Now when he had gathered a mighty strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things, he fell sicke, and knew that he should die.

7 Then he called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had been brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdom among them while hee was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeres when he died.

9 And his seruants reigned euery one in his roome,

10 And they all caused themselues to be crowned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeres, and much wickednesse increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, even Antiochus Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had beene an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundreth and seuen and thirtieth yeere of the kingdom of the Greeces.

12 In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which intised many, saying, Let vs goe, and make a couenant with the heathen that are round about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorrow.

13 So this deuice pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready, and went to the king, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen.

16 And made themselues^a vncircumcised, and forooke the holy Couenant, and ioyned themselues to the heathen, and were sold to do mischief.

17 So when Antiochus kingdom was set in order, hee went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that he might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mighty company, with charets, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great nauie, 19 And mooued warre against Ptolemeus king of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, & fled, & many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus won many strong cities in the land of Egypt, & tooke away the spoiles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he returned againe in the hundreth forty and three yeere.

22 And went vp toward Israel and Ierusalem with a mighty people.

23 And entered proudly into the Sanctuary, and tooke away the golden altar, and the candlestick for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the table of the shew bread, and the pouring vessels, and the bowles, and the golden basins, and the vaille, and the crownes, and the golden apparell which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 Hee tooke also the silver and gold, and the precious iewels, and he tooke the secret treasures that he found, and when he had taken away all, he departed into his owne land.

25 After he had murdered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the young women, and the young men were made feeble, and the beauty of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegrome tooke him to mourning, and there that fate in the marriage chamber, was in heauinesse.

29 The land also was mooued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Iacob was couered with confusion.

30 After two yeeres the king sent his chiefe Taxmaster into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude.

31 Who spake peaceable words vnto them in deceit, and they gaue credit vnto him.

32 Then he fel suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when he had spoyled the citie, he set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and wals thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the citie of David with a great and thicke wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreover they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselves therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons and vitayles, and gathered the spoile of Ierusalem, and laid it vp there.

38 Thus became they a fore snare, and were in ambushment for the Sanctuary, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuary, and defiled the Sanctuary.

40 Insomuch that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom she had borne: for her owne children did leave her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wilderness: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproth, and her honour brought to nought.

42 As her glory had been great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorrow.

43 Also the King wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the King.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the King sent letters by the messengers, vnto Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they should folow the strange lawes of the country.

47 And that they should forbid the burnt offerings, and sacrifices, and the offerings in the Sanctuary.

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feasts.

49 And pollute the Sanctuary, and the holy men.

50 And to set vp altars, and groues, and chappels of idoles, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beasts.

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannesse, and pollute themselves that they might forget the Law, and change all the ordinances.

52 And that whosoever would not doe according to the commandement of the king, should suffer death.

53 In like manner wrote he throughout all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And hee commanded the cities of Iuda to doe sacrifice, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Law, and so they committed euill in the land.

56 And they droue the Israelites into secret places, euen wheresoever they could flee for succour.

57 The fifteenth day of Caslu, in the hundreth and fise and fourtieth yeere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Iuda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the streetes they burnt incense.

59 And the bookes of the Law, which they found, found, they burnt in the fire, and cast in pieces.

60. Whosoever had a booke of the Testament found by him, or whosoever consented vnto the Law, the kings commandment was, that they should put him to death by their authority.

61. And they executed these things every moneth vpon the people of Israel that were found in their cities.

62. And in the five and twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the head of the altar of sacrifices.

63. And according to the commandment, they put certaine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised.

64. And they hanged vpon the children at their neckes, and they spoiled their houses, and slew the circumcisers of them.

65. Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, & determined in themselves, that they would not care for these things.

66. But chose rather to suffer death, then to be defiled with those meates: so because they would not break the holy covenant, they were put to death.

67. And this tyrannie was very sore vpon the people of Israel.

CHAP. II.

The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy cite. 19 They refuse to doe sacrifice vnto idols. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the Lawe of God. 33 They are slain, and will not fight against the cause of the Sabbath day. 46 Mattathias dying, commended his sonnes to stick by the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

In those dayes floode vpon Mattathias the Priest, the sonne of Ioanias, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Ioab of Ierusalem, and dwelt in Modin.

1 And he had five sonnes, Ioanah called Gaddis,

2 Simon called Thami,

3 Iudas which was called Maccabeus,

4 Eleazar called Abaron, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphus.

6 Now he saw the blasphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Ierusalem:

7 And he said, Wo is me: wherefore was I borne to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy cite, and thus to see it deliuered into the hands of the enemies.

8 And the Sanctuary is in the hands of strangers, her Temple is as a man that hath no rehouse.

9 Her glorious vessels are caried away into captivity: her infants are slain in the streets, and her young men are fallen by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it that hath not some possession in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her spoiles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmaid.

12 Behold, our Sanctuary, and our beautie, and honour is desolate, and the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothe, he, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned very sore.

15 Then came men from the king to the city of Modin to compel them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.

17 Then spake the Commissioners of the king, and said vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honorable man, and great in this cite, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, and fulfill the kings commandment, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Iuda, and such as remaine at Ierusalem: so shalt thou and thy family be in the kings fauour, and thou and thy children shall be enriched with silver and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered, and said with a lowde voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the kings dominion, obey him, and fall away every man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandments, 20 Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren, walke in the covenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull vnto vs, that we forsake not the Law and the ordinances.

22 Wee will not hearken vnto the kings words to transgresse our religion, neither on the right side, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off speaking these words, there came one of the Iewes, in the sight of all to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the kings commandment.

24 Now when Mattathias saw it, hee was so inflamed with zeale, that his reines shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Law: therefore hee ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar.

25 And at the same time he slew the Kings commissioner that compelled him to doe sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Law of God, as Phinees did vnto Zambri the sonne of Salom.

27 Then cried Mattathias with a lowde voice in the cite, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the Law, and will stand by the covenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So he and his sonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the cite.

29 Then many that sought after iustice and iudgement,

30 Went downe into the wilderness to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wives, and their cattell: for the afflictions increased fore upon them.

31 ¶ Now when it was told vnto the kings servants, and to the garisons, which were in Ierusalem in the cite of David, that men had broken the kings commandement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wilderness, 32 Then many pursued after them, and hauing overtaken them, they camped against them, and set the battell in aray against them on the Sabbath day.

33 And said vnto them: Let this now be sufficient: come forth and do according to the commandement of the king, and ye shall liue.

34 But they answered: We will not goe forth, neither will we do the kings commandement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell. 81

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any one stone at them, or stopped the priuie places.

37 But said: We will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that ye destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus they gaue them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wives, and their children to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And said one to another, If we all doe as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our Lawes, then shall they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying: Whosoever shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, wee will fight against him, that we die not all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Asideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, joynded themselves vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger: but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about, and destroyed the altars, 46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they found within the coasts of Israel.

47 And they pursued after the proud men: and this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recovered the Law, out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

¶ Now when the time drew neere, which Mattathias should die, he said vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore my sonnes, bee ye zealous of the Law, and giue you lines for the covenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what acts our fathers did in their times: for shall ye receive great honour and an everlasting name?

52 Was not Abraham found faithfull in temptation, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousness?

53 Joseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandement, and was made the lord of Egypt.

54 Phinees our father, because hee was zealous and feruent, obtained the covenant of the everlasting Priesthood.

55 Jesus for fulfilling the word, was made the gouernour of Israel.

56 Caleb, because he bare witness before the Congregation, received the heritage of the land.

57 David, because of his merite obtained the throne of the kingdom for euermore.

58 Elias, because hee was zealous and feruent in the Law, was taken vp euen vnto heauen.

59 Ananias, Azarias and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

60 Daniel, because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lions.

61 And thus ye may consider throughout all ages, that whosoever put their trust in him, shall not want strength.

62 Feare not ye then the words of a sinfull man: for his glory is but dung and wormes.

63 To day is he set vp, and to morrow he shall not be found: for hee is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth.

64 Wherefore my sonnes take good hearts, and shew your selues men for the Law: for by it shall you obtaine glory.

65 And behold, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsel: giue care vnto him alwayes, he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Iudas Maccabeus hath been mighty and strong, even from his youth vp: let him be your captaine, and fight you the battell for the people.

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you all those that obserue the Law, and shall auenge the injuries of your people.

68 Recompenfully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commandement of the law.

69 So he blessed them, and was laid with his fathers.

70 And died in the hundredth, fortie and fixe yeere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

1 Iudas is made ruler over the Jews: 2 He killith Apollonius, and Seron, the princes of Syria: 3 The confidence of Iudas toward God. 4 Iudas determineth to fight against Lyfias, whom Antiochus had made capitaine over the Jews.

11 He went alſo thorow the cities of Iuda, and deſtroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.

12 So was he renowned vnto the endes of the earth, and he aſſembled together those that were ready to periſh.

20 But when they ſaw the armie coming against them, they ſaid to Iudas, How are wee able, being ſo fewe, to fight againſt ſo great a multitude, and ſo ſtrong, ſeeing we be ſo wearie, and haue faſted all this day?

21 Then ſaid Iudas, Is it an eaſie thing for many to be hurt vpon in the hands of fewe? and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deſtroy by a great multitude, or by a ſmall compaignie.

26 And when he had left off ſpeaking, hee leapt ſuddenly vpon them: ſo was Seron and his hoſte deſtroyed before him.

28 Then the feare and terrour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about.

29 So that his fame came vnto the King: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Iudas.

30 But when king Antiochus heard theſe tidings, he was angry in his minde: wherefore he ſent forth, and gathered all the power of his realme, a very ſtrong armie.

31 And opened his treaſure, and gaue his hoſte a yeeres wages in hand, commanding them to be ready for a yeere for all occaſions.

32 Neuertheleſſe, when hee ſawe that the money of his treaſures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were ſmall, becauſe of the diſſention and plagues that he had brought vpon the land, in taking away the lawes which had bene of olde time,

33 He feared leſt he ſhould not haue now at the ſecond time, as at the firſt, for the charges and gifts that hee had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberalitie he farre paſſed the other kings that were before him.

34 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Perſia, for to take tributes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

35 So hee left Lyfias a noble man, and of the kings blood, to ouerſee the kings buſines, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt, 36 And to bring vp his ſonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

37 Moreouer he gaue him halfe of his hoſte and elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done.

38 And concerning thoſe which dwelt in Iuda and Ieruſalem, that he ſhould ſend an armie againſt them, to deſtroy and roote out the power of Israel and the remnant of Ieruſalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place, 36 And to set strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, & part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke halfe of the hoste that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall city, in the yeere an hundredth fourtie and seuen, and passed the riuier Euphrates, and went thorow the hie countreys.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolemeus the sonne of Doriminius, & Nicanor, and Gorgias, mightie men, and the kings friends.

39 And sent with them fourtie thousand footmen, and seuen thousand horsemen, to go into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the King commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came & pitched by Emmaus in the plaine country.

41 Now when the merchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much siluer and golde, and seruants, and came into the campe to buy the children of Israel for slayes, and the strength of Syria, and of strange nations ioyned with them.

42 ¶ Now when Iudas and his brethren saw that trouble increased, and that the hoste drew neere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby he had commanded to destroy the people, and utterly abolish them, 43 They said one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuary.

44 Then the Congregation were soone readie gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercy and compassion.

45 As for Ierusalem it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderness. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuary was troden downe, and the strangers kept the fortresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Iacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered themselues together, and came to Maspha before Ierusalem: for in Maspha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Israel.

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackcloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heads, and rent their clothes.

48 And opened the booke of the Lawe, wherein the heathen sought to paint the likeness of their idoles, 49 And brought the Priestes garments, and the first fruites, and the tythes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cryed with a loude voice toward heauen, saying, What shall wee doe with these? and whither shall wee cary them away?

51 For the Sanctuary is troden downe and defiled, and thy Priestes are in heauinesse, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come against vs, to destroy vs: & thou knowest what thing they imagine against vs.

53 How can we stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cried with a loude voice.

55 And after this, Iudas ordained captaines ouer the people: euen captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreds, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer tens.

56 And they commanded them that builded houses, or married wiues, or planted vineyards, or were fearefull, that they should returne euery one into his owne house, according to the Law.

57 So the hoste reingoued, and pitched vpon the South side of Emmaus.

58 And Iudas said, Arme yourselves, and be valiant men, and be ready against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuary.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battell, then to see the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuary.

60 Neuenthelesse as the will of God is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. III.

¶ Iudas tooke Gorgias, which was his brother in lawe. 14 He tooke Gorgias, and his hoste to fight. 18 Lysias inuaded Iuda. 29 But Iudas driue him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple, and dedicateth the altar.

¶ Then tooke Gorgias five thousand footmen, and a thousand of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night.

¶ To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the fortresse were his guides.

¶ Now when Iudas heard it, hee remooued, and they that were valiant men, to smite the kings armie which was at Emmaus.

¶ Whiles yet the armie was dispersed from the campe.

¶ In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Iudas campe: and when hee found no man there, hee sought them in the mountaines: for said he, They flee from vs.

¶ But as soone as it was day, Iudas shewed himselfe in the field with three thousand men, which had neither harnesse nor swords to their mindes.

¶ And they sawe that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, and that these were expert men of warre.

¶ Then said Iudas to the men that were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, neither be afraid of their assault.

¶ Remember how our fathers were deliuered in the red Sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with an armie.

remember the covenant of our fathers, and wil destroy this hoste before our face this day:

11 So shall all the heathen know, that there is one, which deliuereth and saueth Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, and saw them coming against them,

13 And they went out of their tents into the battel, and they that were with Iudas blew the trumpets, 14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fell by the sword, and they pursued them vnto Gazeron, and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Azotus, and of Iamnia, so that there were slaine of them about three thousand men.

16 So Iudas turned againe with his hoste from pursuing them,

17 And sayde vnto the people, Bee not greedie of the spoiles: for there is a battell before vs,

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast against your enemies, and ouercome them: then may ye safely take the spoiles, 19 As Iudas was speaking these wordes, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines.

20 But when Gorgias sawe that his were fled, and that Iudas souldiers burnt the tents: (for the smoke that was seene declared what was done.)

21 When they saw these things, they were sore afraid, and when they saw also that Iudas and his hoste were in the field ready to set themselves in aray, 22 They fledde euery one into the land of strangers.

23 So Iudas turned againe to spoile the tents, where he gate much gold and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home & sung psalmes, and praised toward the heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

25 And so Israel had a great victorie in that day.

26 ¶ Now all the strangers that escaped, came, and tolde Lyfias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard these things, was sore afraid and discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as he would, neither such things as the king had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following, gathered Lyfias threescore thousand chosen foot men, and siue thousand horsemen to fight against Ierusalem.

29 So they came into Idumea, and pitched their tents at Bethsura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when hee saw that mightie armie, he prayed, and said, Blessed be thou, O Sautour of Israel, * which diddest destroy the fault of the mighty man by the hand of thy seruant Dauid, * and gauest the host of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

31 Shut vp this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraid, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee: then shall all they that know thy Name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lyfias hoste, siue thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lyfias seeing his armie put to flight, and the manlinesse of Iudas souldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered strangers, and when hee had furnished his armie, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Iudea.

36 Then said Iudas and his brethren, Beholde, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now goe vp to cleanse, and to reparaire the Sanctuary.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they saw the Sanctuary laid waste, and the altar defiled, and the doores burnt vp, and the shrubs growing in the courts as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priestes chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarme with their trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had cleansed the Sanctuary.

42 So he chose Priestes that were vndefiled, such as delighted in the Law,

43 And they clenfed the Sanctuary, & bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offerings, which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, lest it should be a reproach vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar, 46 And laid vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a Prophet, to shewe what should be done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Law, and builded a new altar according to the former.

48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, and the things things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also new holy vessels, and brought into the Temple the candlestick, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlestick, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vails, and finished all the workes that they had begun to make.

52 And vpon the five and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Chasseu, in the hundreth and eight and fortieth yeere, they arose vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offered sacrifice according to the Law, vpon the new altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day was it made new with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbals.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praising toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnesse, and offered sacrifices of deliuerance and praise, 57 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and shields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, & hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, and the reproch of the heathen was put away,

59 So Iudas and his brethren, with the whole congregation of Israel, ordained that the dayes of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the five and twentieth day of the moneth Chasseu, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with hie walles, and strong towres round about, lest the Gentiles should come, and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Iudas vanquished the heathen that goe about to destroy Israel, and is holpen of his brethren Simon and Ionathan, 50 He overthroweth the citie of Ephron, because they denied him passage thorow it.

NOWE when the nations round about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuarie renewed, as afore, they were sore grieved.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Iudas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at Arrabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and hee smote them with a great plague, and droue them to straits, and tooke their spoiles.

4 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Ben, which had been a snare and an hinderance vnto the people, when they lay in waite for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towres, and besieged them, and destroyed them utterly, and burnt their towres with fire, with all that were in them.

6 Afterward went he against the children of Ammon, where he found a mighty power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So he had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so he discomfited them.

8 And tooke Gazer with the townes thereof, and so turned againe into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castle of Datheman.

10 And sent letters to Iudas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs, 11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the forresse wherunto we are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

12 Come now therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine:

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are slaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, beholde, there came other messengers from Galile with their clothes rent, which tolde the same tidings, 15 And said, that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them.

16 When Iudas, and the people heard these wordes, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they besieged.

17 Then said Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I and my brother Ionathan will goe into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So he left Iosephus the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to bee captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Iudea, 19 And commanded them, saying, Take the the oversight of this people, and make no war against the heathen, vntill we come againe.

20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thousand men to goe into Galile, & to Iudas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And he pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were slaine of the heathen almost three thousand men: so he tooke their spoiles.

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galile and in Arbatis, with their wiues, and their children and all that they had, & brought them into Iudea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus also, and his brother Ionathan went ouer Iorden, and traualled three dayes journey in the wilderness,

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, and tolde them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,

26 And how that many of them were besieged in Bosorra, and Bosor, in Alemais, Chasbon, Maged, and Carnaim (all these cities are strong, and great)

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morrow they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these forts, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Iudas and his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wilderness toward Bosorra, and wanne the city, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, & tooke all their spoile, and set fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night hee remooued from thence, and went toward the fortress.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, behold, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the fort, and had assaulted them.

31 When Iudas saw that the battell was begun, and that the crie of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound, 32 Then he said vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went forth behinde them with three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cryed with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knewe, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and hee smote them with a great slaughter, so that there were killed of them the same day, almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Maspha, and laid siege vnto it, and wanne it, and slewe all the males thereof, and spoiled it, and set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went he and tooke Chasbon, Maged, and Bosor, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Iudas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that be round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great,

39 And he hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come and fight against thee. So Iudas went to meet them.

40 Then Timotheus said vnto the capitaines of his hoste, When Iudas and his hoste come neere to the flood, if hee passe ouer first vnto vs, we shal not be able to withstand him: for he will be too strong for vs.

41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, we will goe ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

42 Now when Iudas came neere to the flood, he caused the gouernors of the people, to remaine by the flood, & commanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to the battell.

43 So he went first ouer toward them, and all the people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, and cast away their weapons, and fled into the Temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which citie Iudas wanne, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Iudas.

45 ¶ Then Iudas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the least vnto the most, with their wiues and their children, and their baggage, a very great hoste, to come into the land of Iuda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great city by the way, and strongly defended: they could not passe, neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must goe thorow it.

47 But they that were in the citie, shutte themselves in, and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Iudas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorow your land, that we may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we will but onely goe thorow on foote: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Iudas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the hoste, that euery man should assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assaulted the citie all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slewe all the males with the edge of the sword, and destroyed it, and tooke the spoile thereof, and went thorow the citie ouer them that were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Iorden into the great plaine before Bethsan.

53 And Iudas gathered together those that were behinde, and gaue the people good exhor-exhortation all the way thorow, till they were come into the land of Iuda.

54 Thus they went vp with ioy and gladnesse vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

55 ¶ Now whilest Iudas and Ionathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolemais.

56 Ioseph the sonne of Zecharias, and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant actes, and battels which they had achieved, said, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hoste commandement and went toward Iamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight against them.

60 And Ioseph & Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Iudea: and there were slain that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great ouerthrow among the people of Israel.

61 Because they were not obedient vnto Iudas, and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of the stocke of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Iudas, and his brethren, were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, wheresoeuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Iudas forth with his brethren, and fought against the children of Esau in the land toward the South, where hee wanne Hebron, and the townes thereof, and he destroyed the castle thereof, and burnt the towres thereof round about.

66 Then remoued he to goe into the land of the strangers, and went thorow Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priests of the cities slaine in the battell, which would shewe their valiantnesse, and went forth to battell without counsell: and when Iudas came to Azotus in the strangers land, hee brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoiles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Iuda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus, willing to take the citie of Elimais, is driven away of the citizens. 8 He falleth into sickness, and dieth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made king. 34 The manner to promote elephants to fight. 43 Eleazar's valiant acte. 48 The siege of Sion.

Now when King Antiochus traualled thorow the high countreys, he heard that Elimais in the country of Persia was a city greatly renowned for riches, siluer and golde,

2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, wheras were coverings of golde, coate armours, and harness, which Alexander king of Macedonia the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherfore hee went about to take the citie, and to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter.

4 And rose vp against him in battell, and he fled and departed thence with great heavinesse, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreover, there came one which brought him tidings in the country of Persia, that the armies that went against the land of Iuda, were driuen away.

6 And that Lyfias, which went forth first with a great power, was driuen away of the Iewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoiles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed.

7 And that they had pulled down the abomination, which he had set vp vpon the altar at Ierusalem, and sealed the Sanctuary with his walles, as it was afore, and Bethsur his citie.

8 So when the king had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moued: therefore he layd him downe vpon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorrow, because it was not come to passe, as he had thought.

9 And there continued he many dayes: for his griefe was ever more and more, so that he saw he must needs die.

10 Therefore he sent for all his friends, and said vnto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduersitie am I come? and into what floods of miserie am I fallen now, whereas aforetime I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power?

12 And now doe I remember the euils that I haue done at Ierusalem: for I tooke all the vessels of gold and of siluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.

13 I know that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and behold, I must die with great sorrow in a strange land.

14 Then called he for Philip, one of his friends, whom he made ruler ouer all his realm, 15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that he should instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till hee might reigne himselfe.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundreth and fortie and ninth yeere.

17 ¶ When Lyfias knew, that the king was dead, he ordained Antiochus his sonne (whom hee had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator.

18 Now they that were in the castle at Ierusalem, kept in the Israelites round about the Sanctuary, and sought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Iudas thought to destroy them, them, and called all the people together to besiege them.

30 So they came together & besieged them in the hundredth and fiftieth yeere, and made instruments to shoote, & other engines of warre.

31 But certain of them that were besieged gat forth, (vnto whom some vngodly men of Israel ioynd themselves)

32 And they went vnto the king, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and avenge our brethren?

33 We haue bene ready to serue thy father; and to goe forward in those things that he appointed, and to obey his commandements.

34 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and wheresoeuer they found any of vs, they slew them, and spoyled our inheritance.

35 And they haue not onely laid hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

36 And behold, this day are they besieging the castle at Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuary; and Beth-sura.

37 And if thou doest not preuent them quickly, they will do greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to overcome them.

38 When the king heard this, hee was very angry, and called all his friends, the captaines of his armie, and his horsemen, 39 And bands that were hired, came vnto him from the kings, that were confederate, and the yles of the sea.

40 So the number of his armie was an hundredth thousand footmen, and twentie thousand horsemen, and two and thirtie elephants exercised in battell.

41 These came through Idumea, and drew neere to Beth-sura, & besieged it a long season, and made engines of warre: but they came out, and burnt them with fire, & fought valiantly.

42 Then departed Iudas from the castle, and remooued the host toward Beth-zacharias ouer against the kings campe.

43 So the king arose very early, & brought the armie & his power toward the way of Beth-zacharias, where the armie set themselves in array to the battell, and blew the trumpets.

44 And to prouoke the Elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberies.

45 And they set the beasts according to the ranges: so that by euery elephant there stood a thousand men armed with coates of maile, and helmets of brasse vpon their heads, and vnto euery beast were ordeined fise hundredth horsemen of the best,

46 Which were readie at all thimes wheresoeuer the beast was: & whither soeuer the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

47 And vpon them were strong towers of wood that couered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, and vpon e-uery one was two and shirty men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the valleyes.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shields, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lamps of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings army was spread vpon the high mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyse of their multitude, and the marching of the companie, & the rattling of the harnesse, were astonished: for the armie was very great and mighty.

42 Then Iudas and his host entred into the battell, and they slew six hundredth men of the Kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar, the sonne of Ioseph baron, sawe one of the elephants armed with royall harnesse, and was more excellent then all the other beastes, hee thought that the King should be vpon him.

44 Wherefore he icoparded himselfe to deliuer his people, & to get him a perpetual name, 45 And ran boldly vnto him through the mids of the hoste, slaying on the right hand and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went he to the Elephants feete, and gate him vnder him, and slew him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him, and there he died.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king, and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the kings armie went vp to meet them toward Ierusalem, and the King pitched his tents in Iudea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreouer, the King tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no vitailles there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested,

50 The King tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to keepe it, 51 And besieged the sanctuary many dayes, and made instruments to shoote, and other engines of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts and slings.

52 ¶ They also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vitailles: for it was the seuenth yeere, and then they that were in Iudea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store, 54 So that in the Sanctuary were fewe men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Now when Lysias heard that Philip (whom Antiochus the King, whiles he liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be King.)

156 Was come againe out of Persia and Media, & the kings lost with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things.

157 Hee made shaftes, and were feared forward by them in the castle to goe and tell the King, and the capitaines of the hoste, and to others, saying, We decrease daily, and our vitayles are but small, and the place that wee lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

Or, give hands.

158 Now therefore let vs agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their nation.

159 And grant them to liue after their Law, as they did afore: for they be grieued, and doe all these things, because we haue broken their Lawes.

160 So the King and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

161 When the King & the princes had made an oath vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortresse.

162 And the King went vp to mount Sion: but when he saw that the place was well defended, he brake his oath that he had made, & commanded to breake downe the wall round about.

163 Then departed he in all haste, and returned vnto Antiochia, where he found Philip having dominion of the city: so he fought against him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

Demetrius reigned, after he had killed Antiochus and Lyfias. 5 Hee troubleth the children of Israel through the counsell of certaine wicked persons. 37 The prayer of the Priests against Nicanor. 43 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after he had made his prayer.

Iosaph. Antig.
12. Chap. 5.

IN the hundredth, and one and fiftieth yeere, I departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a few men vnto a citie of the sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when he came into the possession of his fathers kingdome, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lyfias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was told him, he said, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdome, 5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Israel, whose capitaine was Alcimus that would haue bin the hie Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto the King, saying, Iudas and his brethren haue slaine all thy friends, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore send now some man, whom thou trustest, that hee may goe and see all the destruction, which he hath done vnto vs, and to the Kings land, & let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the king chose Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and sent him, 9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom hee made hie Priest, and commanded him to be a uenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the land of Iuda, and sent messengers to Iudas and his brethren deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they beleueed not their saying: for they saw that they were come with a great host.

12 Then a company of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus & Bacchides to intreat of reasonable points.

13 And the Asideans were the first that required peace among the children of Israel.

Or, Hasidim.

14 For said they, Hee that is a Priest of the seede of Aaron is come with this armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

15 Then he spake vnto them peaceably, and sware vnto them, and said, We will doe you no harme, neither your friends:

16 And they beleueed him: but hee tooke of them threescore men, and slew them in one day according to the words that were written,

17 They haue cast the bodies of thy Saints, and their blood round about Ierusalem, and there was no man that would bury them.

18 So there came a feare & a trembling among al the people: for they said, there is neither truth nor righteousness in them: for they haue broken the appointment, and othe that they made.

19 Then Bacchides removed from Ierusalem, & pitched his tent at Beth-zecha, where he sent forth and tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people whom he slew and cast into the great pit.

Or, Beth-zach, Beth-zab.

20 Then committed he the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of war with him to helpe him: so Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus stroue for the Priesthood.

22 And all such as troubled the people, resorted vnto him: in so much, that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 Now when Iudas saw all the mischief, that Alcimus & his company had done among the Israelites more then the heathen, 24 He went forth round about all the borders of Iudea, and punished those that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroad in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus saw that Iudas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, & knew that he was not able to abide them, he went againe to the king, and accused them of wicked things.

26 Then the King sent Nicanor one of his chiefe princes, which hated Israel deadly, and commanded him, that hee should destroy the people.

Iosaph. Antig.
12. cap. 16.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ierusalem with a great a great hoste, and sent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying, 28 Let there be no warre betweene mee, and you: I will come with few men, to see how ye doe, friendly.

29 So he came vnto Iudas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.

30 Neuerthelesse, it was told Iudas, that he came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore hee feared him, and would see his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceived that his counsell was bewrayed, he went out to fight against Iudas, beside Carphasalama.

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors hoste about fiftethousand men: so they fled vnto the citie of David.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priests, with the Elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuary to salute him peaceably, & to shew him the burnt offering that was offered for the King.

34 But hee laughed at them, and mocked them, and counted them prophane, and spake proudly, 35 And sware in his wrath, saying, If Iudas and his hoste bee not deliuered now into mine hands, if euer I come againe in safety, I will burne vp this house. With that, went hee out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and stood before the altar in the Temple, weeping, and saying,

37 Forso much as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this House, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people, 38 Be auenged of this man, and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Ierusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

40 And Iudas pitched in Adasa, with three thousand men, where Iudas prayed, saying, 41 O Lord, * because the messengers of King Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forth and slew an hundredth fourescore and fife thousand of them.

42 So destroy thou this hoste before vs to day, that all other may know that he hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuary, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and he himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Now when his armie saw that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes journey from Adasa vnto Gasera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the townes of Iudea round about, and rushed vpon them, and threw them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoyle, and the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hand, which he held vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.

49 And they ordeined to keepe yearly that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Iuda was in rest a little while.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas, considering the power and policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 2 The conditions of mutuall friendship sent to the Iewes.

Iudas heard also of the fame of the Romanes, that they were mighty, & valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them,

2 And that they were men of great power, and they told him of their battels, and their worthy acts which they did among the Galatians whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute,

3 And what they had done in the country of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and gold,

4 And that by their counsell and gentle behaviour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited, and giuen great overthrowes to the kings that came against them, from the vttermost part of the earth, and that others gaue them tribute euery yeere,

5 How they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Perfes Kings of the Macedonians, and others that arose against them, & how they ouercame them,

6 And how great Antiochus King of Asia that came against them in battell, hauing an hundredth and twenty elephants, with horsemen, and charets, and a very great armie, was discomfited by them,

7 And how they tooke him aliue, and ordeined him with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a separate portion,

8 Euen the country of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of his best countreys, which they tooke of him, and gaue them to king Eumenes.

9 Againe when it was told them that the Grecians were comming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a captain which gaue them battell, and slew many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wiues, and children, and spoiled them, & conquered their land, & destroyed their strong holds, and subdued them to be their bondmen vnto this day:

11 Moreouer, how they destroyed and brought into subiection other kingdomes and yles, whosoever had withstood them:

12 But they that kept amitie with their own friends and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both far and neere, in so much that whosoever heard of their renowne, was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, and whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most high authority.

14 Yet for all this that none of them wore a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordained themselves a counsell, wherein three hundred and twenty men consulted dayly, & provided for the common affaires, to gouerne them well,

16 And as they committed their government to one man every yeere, who did rule ouer all their country, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Iudas chose Eupolemus the son of Iohn, the sonne of Accus, and Iason, the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome to make friendship, and mutuall fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they saw that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the Senate, where they pake and sayd, 20 Iudas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship, and peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse and sent to Ierusalem, that they might haue by them a memoriall of the peace and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe bee to the Romanes, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea, and by land for euer, and the sword, and enemye be from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romanes, or any of their friends throughout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Iewes shall helpe them, as the time shall be appointed, with all their heart.

26 Also || they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheat nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, but || they shall keepe their couenants without taking any thing of them.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the nation of the Iewes, the Romanes shall helpe them with a good will, according as the time shall be appointed them.

28 Neither shall wheat be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, who will keepe these couenants without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these points the one partie or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures, and whatsoever they shall adde, or take away, shall be ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou thy heauie yoke vpon our friends and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against me, we will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

¶ After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his army against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slain. 31 Iason is put in the stead of his brother. 47 The battell between Iudas and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the palsey, and dieth. 68 He commeth vpon Iason by the counsell of certaine wicked persons, and is overcome. 70 The truce of Iudas with Bacchides.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor, and his host had giuen the battell, he sent Bacchides and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his || chiefe strength with them.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before, Mefaloth which is in Arbelis; and wan it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundredth fiftie and two yere, they laid their siege against Ierusalem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Berea, with twenty thousand foot men and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at Eleasa, and three thousand chosen men with him.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore afraid, & many conueyed themselves out of the host, so that there abode no mo of them, but eight hundred men.

7 When Iudas saw that his hoste failed him, and that he must needs fight, hee was sore troubled in minde, that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuerthelesse, hee said vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and goe vp against our enemies, if peradventure wee may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, We are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe now, seeing our brethren are are departed: for shall we fight against them, that are so few?

10 Then Iudas said, God forbid, that we should doe this thing, to flie from them: if our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

11 Then the host remoued out of the tents, and stood against them, who had diuided their horsemen into two troupes, & they that threw with slings, & the archers marched in the foreward, and they that fought in the foreward were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drew neere on both sides, and blew the trumpets.

13 They of Iudas side blew the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noyse of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Iudas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardie men, 15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Now when they which were of the left wing saw that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Iudas behinde, and them that were with him hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a fore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Iudas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Ionathan and Simon tooke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the cite of Modin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, saying, 21 How is the valiant man fallen which deliuered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Iudas, both the battells and the valiant acts that he did, and of his worthines, they are not written: for they were very many.

23 ¶ Now after the death of Iudas, wicked men came vp in all the coasts of Israel, & there arose all such as gaue themselves to iniquitie.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer them selues with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Iudas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them,

28 Then came all Iudas friends together, and said vnto Ionathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Iudas is dead, and there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs, 30 Therefore this day we chuse thee, that thou mayest be our Prince and captaine in his place, to order our battell.

31 So Ionathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Iudas.

32 But when Bacchides knew it, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Ionathan and Simon his brother, perceiuing that, fled into the wildernes of Thecua with all their company, and pitched their tents by the water poole of Asphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstood, he came ouer Iorden with all his hoste on the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Ionathan sent his brother Iohn, a captain of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

36 But the children of Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke Iohn, and all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Ionathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, & brought the bride from Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest Princes of Canaan.

38 Therefore they remembered Iohn their brother, and went vp, & hid themselves vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friends and his brethren met them with tymbrels and instruments of musicke, and many weapons.

40 Then Ionathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, and slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoiles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of their melody into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Iorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, hee came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Ionathan said vnto his company, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Behold, the battell is before vs, and behind vs, and the water of Iorden on this side and that side, and the marise and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore crie now vnto heauen, that ye may be deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Ionathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but hee turned aside from him and recoiled.

48 Then Jonathan, and they that were with him, leapt into Iorden, and swimmied ouer vnto the further bank: but the other would not passe through Iorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he returned againe to Ierusalem, and built vp the strong cities in Iuda, as the castle of Iericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, & Beth-el, and Thanpatha, Parathoni, and Tephos, with high walles, with gates, and with barres.

51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 Hee fortified also the cite Beth-sara, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of victuals.

53 Hee took also the chiefeest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Ierusalem to be kept.

54 Afterward in the hundredth fiftie and three yeeres, in the second moneth, Alcimus commaunded, that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuary should be destroyed, and hee pulled down the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindred, and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a pallsie, and could no more speake; nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the king, and so the land of Iuda was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, saying, Behold, Jonathan and his company dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and he will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him,

60 Who arose and came with a great host, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Iudea, to take Jonathan and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsel was knowne vnto them.

61 And they tooke fifty men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednesse, and slew them.

62 Then Jonathan and Simon with their company departed vnto Beth-basin which is in the wilderness, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his hoste, and sent word to them that were of Iudea.

64 Then came he, and laid siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.

65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the cite, and went forth into the countrey, and came with a certaine number,

66 And slew Odomeras and his brethren, and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so he began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also and his company went out of the city, & burnt vp the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsell and journey was in vaine.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, that gave him counsell to come into the countrey, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent Ambassadors vnto him, to intreate of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing he accepted, and did according to his desire, & made an oth that he would neuer doe him harme, all the dayes of his life.

72 So he restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforetime out of the land of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne land, neither did hee come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Machinas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Jonathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemus and Alexander.

IN the hundredth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemas, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, he gathered an exceeding great host, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathan with louing words, as though hee would preferre him.

4 For he said, we will first make peace with him, before he ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Els he wil remember all the euil that we haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so he gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an host, & to prepare weapons, & to be cōfederate with him, & commanded the hostages that were in the castle, to be deliuered vnto him.

7 Then came Jonathan to Ierusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castle.

8 Therefore they were sore afraid, because they heard that the king had giuen him license to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castle, deliuered the hostages vnto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and began to build and repaire the cite.

11 And he commanded the workmen to build the walles, and the mount Sion round about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: & so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castles which Bacchides had made, fled:

13 So that every man left his place, and went into his owne country.

14 Onely at Beth-sura remained certaine, which had forsaken the Law and the commandements: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when king Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, which he and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 Hee sayd, Might wee finde such a man? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Vpon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him with these words, saying, 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordeine thee to be the hie Priest of thy nation, and to be called the Kings friend: (and hee sent him a purple robe, and a crowne of gold,) that thou mayst consider what is for our profite, and keepe friendship toward vs.

21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundredth and threescore yeere, vpon the feast day of the Tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, hee was marueilous sorie, and said, 23 What haue wee done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewards, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIUS vnto the nation of the Iewes, sendeth greeting.

26 Wee haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelitie toward vs, & we will recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And will release you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, and free you from the customes of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the third part of the seed,

30 And from the halfe of the fruite of the trees which is mine owne duety, I so release them, that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda, or of the three governments which are added thereunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, from this day forth for euermore.

31 Ierusalem also with all the things belonging thereto, shall be holy and free from the tenths and tributes.

32 Also I release the power of the castle which is at Ierusalem, and giue it vnto the hie Priest, that he may set in it such men, as he shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreover I freely deliuer every one of the Iewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my realme, and every one of them shall be free from tributes, yea, euen their cattell,

34 And all the feasts, and Sabbaths, and newe Moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shalbe dayes of freedome and libertie for all the Iewes in my realme, 35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing, or to vex any of them in any maner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousand of the Iewes shall be written vp in the kings hoste, and haue their wages payed them as appertaineth to all them that are of the kings army: & of them shalbe ordeined certaine to keep the kings strong holds.

37 And some of them shall be set over the kings most secret affaires, and their gouernours and their princes shall bee of themselves, and they shall lue after their owne lawes, as the King hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the three governments that are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria, shall be ioyned vnto Iudea, and they shall be as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the high Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuarie at Ierusalem, for the necessarie expenses of the holy things.

40 Moreover, I will giue every yeere fifteene thousand sicles of siluer of the kings reuenues out of the places appertaining vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shall giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the five thousand sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the account appointed for the entertainment of the Sanctuarie these yeeres passed, euen these things shal be released because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, whosoever they be that flee vnto the Temple at Ierusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indebted to the King for any maner of thing; they shalbe pardoned, and all that they haue in my realme.

44 For the building also and repairing of the workes of the Sanctuarie, expenses shall be giuen of the kings reuenues.

45 And

45 And for the making of the walles of Ierusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holdes in Iudea may be built vp, shall also the costs be given out of the kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Jonathan and the people heard these words, they gaue no credite vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembered the great wickednesse that he had done in Israel, and how sore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for hee was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great hoste, and came ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioyned battell, but Demetrius hste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.

50 So that sore battell continued till the sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.

Ioseph. Antig. 13. cap. 6.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadors vnto Ptolemeus the king of Egypt with these words, sayin, 52 For so much as I am come againe to my realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen given him the battell, and he and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shal I be thy sonne in law, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptolemeus the king gaue answere, saying, Happy be the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meet me at Ptolemais that we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemeus went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundreth threescore and two yere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemais with great glory, as the maner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he should come and meet him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there he met the two kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine pestilent fellows of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they should take off the garments of Jonathan, and clothe him in purple: and so they did: and the King appointed him to sit by him, 63 And said vnto his princes, Goe with him into the mids of the city, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.

64 So when his accusers sawe his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that hee was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honour, and wrote him among his chiefe friends, and made him a duke, & partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Ierusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundreth threescore and fye yere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, he was very sory, & returned vnto Antiochia, 69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour of Cælosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Iamnia, and sent vnto Jonathan the high Priest, saying, 70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why doest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Now then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine field, and there let vs trie the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foot is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue been twice chased in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and foote men in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, hee was moued in his minde: wherefore hee chose ten thousand men, and went out of Ierusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Ioppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garison was in Ioppe.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wanne Ioppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen with a great hoste of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though hee would goe forward, and came immediatly into the plaine field, because he had so many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the army skirmished with his arriere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behinde them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knew that there was an ambush-ambushment behinde him; and though they had compassed in his hostes and shot darts at the people from the morning to the evening.

81 Yet the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them; till their horses were weary.

82 Then brought Simon forth his host, and set them against the bands; but the horses were weary, and he did comfort them; & they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the field.

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon: their idol, that they might there save themselves.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it; and tooker their spoiles; and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the hoste from thence; and camped by Asecalon, where the men of the cite came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Ierusalem with great spoiles.

88 And when king Alexander heard these things, he began to do Jonathan more honour.

89 And sent him a collar of gold; as the vse is to be giuen vnto such as are of the Kings blood: he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

The diffention betwene Ptolemus and Alexander his sonne in lawe. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemus. 22 Simon is besieged of Jonathan. 42 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his armie againe. 54 Tryphon wooeth Antiochus against Demetrius.

And the king of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the sand that lieth vpon the sea shore, and many ships; & went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne realme.

2 Vpon this hee went into Syria with friendly words; and was let into the cities, and men came forth to meet him: for king Alexander had commanded them to meet him, because he was his father in law.

3 Now when hee entered into the cite of Ptolemais, he left bands and garisons in euery cite.

4 And when he came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, & the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that he had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where he should passe.

5 And they told the king what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the king held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the king with great honour at Ioppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he returned againe to Ierusalem.

8 So King Ptolemus gat the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the seacoast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander.

9 And sent Ambassadors vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betwene vs; and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath; and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus hee slandered Alexander; as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And hee tooke his daughter from him; and gaue her vnto Demetrius; and forsooke Alexander; for his then hatred was openly knowen.

13 Then Ptolemus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his owne head of Asia and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him.

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him; and Ptolemus brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mightie power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head; and sent it vnto Ptolemus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemus died: and they that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundred threescore and seuenth yeere.

20 At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Iudea, to lay siege vnto the castle which was at Ierusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and told him that Jonathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it, he was angry, and immediately came vnto Ptolemais; and wrote vnto Jonathan, that hee should lay no more siege vnto it, but that he should meet him, and and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neuerthelesse when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it: he chose also certaine of the elders of Israel, and the priests; and put himselfe in danger.

24 And tooke with him siluer and golde, and apparell, and diuers presents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the king, and found fauour in his sight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the king intreated him as his predecessor deceffours had done, and promoted him in the fight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the high Priesthood with all the honourable things that hee had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan also desired the king, that hee would make Iudea free with the three governments, and the countrey of Samaria, and Jonathan promised him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gaue Jonathan writing of the same, containing these words, 30 KING DEMETRIUS vnto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting, 31 We send you here a copie of the Letter which we did write vnto our cousin Lathenes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lathenes his father, sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulness that our friends the nation of the Iewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towards vs, wee are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Iudea with the three governments, Apherea, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that sacrifice in Ierusalem: both concerning the payments which the king tooke yere aforetime, both for the fruites of the earth, and for the fruites of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenths and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, wee discharge them of all from hencefoorth.

36 And nothing hereof shall be reckoned from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that yee make a copie of these things, and deliuer it vnto Jonathan, that it may be set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this when Demetrius the king saw that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, hee sent away all his hoste, euery man to his owne place, except certaine bands of strangers, whom he brought from the Isles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when hee sawe that all the hoste murmured against Demetrius, hee went to Simalcue the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, 40 And lay fore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers stead: he tolde him also what great euill Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and hee remained there a long season.

41 Also Jonathan sent vnto king Demetrius to drive them out which were in the castle at Ierusalem, and those that were in the fortress: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Jonathan, saying, I will not onely doe these things for thee, and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee and thy nation.

43 Now therefore thou shalt doe me a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan sent him three thousand strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the king: wherefore the king was very glad at their comming.

45 But they that were of the citie, euen an hundred and twentie thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the city, and would haue slaine the king.

46 But the king fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streetes of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went abroad through the citie.

48 And slewe the same day an hundred thousand, and set fire vpon the citie, and tooke many spoiles in that day, & deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the city, and that they themselves were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 Grant vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from vexing vs and the citie. [Or, give vs the right hand]

51 So they cast away their weapons, and made peace: and the Iewes were greatly honoured before the king, and before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.

52 Then king Demetrius sate in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuerthelesse he dissembled in all that euer he spake, and withdrew himselfe from Jonathan, neither did he reward him according to the benefits which he had done for him, but troubled him very fore.

54 After this returned Tryphon with the yong childe Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the beasts, and wane Antiochia. [Or, Elephant]

57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathan, saying, I appoint thee to be the chief priest, and make thee ruler ouer the foure governments, that thou mayst be a friend of the kings.

58 Vpon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, & gaue him leaue to drink in gold & to weare purple, & to haue a collar of gold.

59 He

59 Hee made his brother Simon also captain from the coasts of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathan went forth and passed thorow the cities beyond the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him; for to helpe him: so hee came vnto Ascalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went hee vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore hee laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoiled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Jonathan, and hee made peace with them, and tooke of the Ionnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste; putposing to driue him out of the countrey.

64 He came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which hee graunted them, and afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his hoste came to the water of Gencsar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And beholde, the hostes of the || strangers met him in the plaine, and had laid ambushments for him in the mountaines.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places and skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Jonathans side, fled: & there was not one of them left; except Mattathias the sonne of || Abfalomus, & Iudas the sonne of Calphi the captaines of the hoste.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his own men that were fled, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to follow after all vnto their tents at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Jonathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jonathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 2 And to the people of Sparta, to renew their covenant of friendship.

24 Jonathan putteth to flight the princes of Demetrius.

40 Tryphon taketh Jonathan by deceit.

Jonathan now seeing that the time was meet for him, chose certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to establish and renue the friendship with them.

2 Hee sent letters also vnto || the Spartians and to other places, for the same purpose.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and said, Jonathan the high Priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renew friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gave them free passeports, that men should leade them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 ¶ And this is the copie of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians.

6 Jonathan the high Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priestes, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the high Priest, from || Arius, which then reigned among you, that ye would be our brethren, as the copy hereunder written speciifieth.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassadour honourably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, we need no such writings: for wee haue the holy bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuerthelesse wee thought it good to send vnto you for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest we should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that yee sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore we remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts and other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meet and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue beene enuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would wee not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederates, and friends in these warres.

15 For we haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and wee are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason, and sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renew the former friendship with them, and league.

17 Wee commaund them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renuing of our brotherhood.

18 And now yee shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answer of these things.

19 ¶ And this was the copie of the letters which Arius the king of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the high Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall doe well, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs we haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue wee commaunded to be shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Now when Jonathan heard, that Demetrius prince were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore.

25 He went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for hee gaue them not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And he sent spies vnto their tents, which came againe, and told him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore when the Sunne was gone downe, Jonathan commaunded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuerthelesse, Jonathan and his company knew it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Jonathan followed vpon them, but hee could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Jonathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and slew them, and tooke their spoile.

32 He proceeded further also, & came vnto Damascus, and went thorow all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Atalon, and to the next holds, departing vnto Lappe, and wanne it.

34 For hee heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Jonathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to builde vp the strong holds in Iudea, 36 And to make the walles of Ierusalem higher, and to make a great mount betwixt the castle and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might be alone, & that men should neither buy nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the citie: for part of the wall vpon the brooke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13 chap. 9.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to bee crowned when he had slaine the king Antiochus.

40 But hee was afraid that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore hee went about to take Jonathan, and to kill him: so he departed, and came to Bethsan.

41 Then went Jonathan forth against him to the battell with fortie thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon saw that Jonathan came with so great an hoste, hee durst not lay hand vpon him.

43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewards, and commaunded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to himselfe.

44 And said vnto Jonathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betwene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certainen men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my comming.

46 Jonathan beleued him, and did as hee said, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Iuda.

47 And retined but three thousand with him, whereof hee sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Now as soon as Jonathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, & slew all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen, and horsemen into Galile, and into the great plaine, to destroy all Ionathans company.

50 But when they knew that Jonathan was taken and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, saw that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, fought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memorie from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Jonathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 17 Tryphon, taking his children, and money for the redemption of Jonathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the Realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 Hee possesseth the tower of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

Now when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it,

2 And saw that the people was in great trembling and feare, he came vnto Ierusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation saying, Ye know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the Law and the Sanctuary, and the battels, and troubles that we haue seene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are flaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of troubles: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will avenge my nation, & the Sanctuary and our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these words the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cried with a lowde voice, saying, Thou shalt be our capitaine in stead of Iudas and Ionathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs we will doe it.

10 ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making haste to finish the walles of Ierusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent he Ionathan the sonne of Abisalomus with a great hoste vnto Ioppe, which droue them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the land of Iudea, and Ionathan was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at Addis vpon the open plaine.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stood vp in stead of his brother Ionathan, and that he would fight against him, he sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Ionathan thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in the kings account concerning the businesse that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundred talents of siluer, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten forth, he will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Neuerthelesse Simon knew that he dissembled in his words, yet commaunded he the money and children to be deliuered vnto him, lest he should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel:

18 Who might haue said, Because he sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Ionathan dead.

19 So he sent the children and an hundred talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Ionathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way that leadeth vnto Adora: but wheresoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castle, sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that he should make haste to come by the wilderness, and to send them vitales.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fel a very great snow, so that he came not because of the snow: but hee remoued and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when hee came nere to Balsama, he slew Ionathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Ionathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto, of hewen stone behind and before,

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren.

29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetuall memorie, & carned ships beside the armes, that they might be seene of men sailing in the Sea.

30 This sepulchre which he made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 ¶ Now as Tryphon went soorth with the young King Antiochus, hee slew him traitterously.

32 And reigned in his stead, and crowned himselfe King of Asia, and brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castles of Iudea, and compassed them about with high towres, and great wals, cuen with towres, & gates, and barres, and laid vp vitales in the strong holds.

34 Moreover, Simon chose certaine men and sent them to king Demetrius, that hee would discharge the land: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the king answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner.

36 DEMETRIUS the king vnto Simon the high Priest, and the friend of Kings, and to the Elders, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crowne, and ¶ precious stone that yee sent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers, to release you of the things wherein we made you free.

38 So the things that we haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holds which ye haue builded, shalbe your owne.

39 Also wee forgie the ouersights, and faults committed vnto this day, and the crowne taxe that yee ought vs: and whereas was any other tribute in Ierusalem, it shall bee now no tribute.

40 And they that are meeke among you to be written with our men, let them be written vp, that there may be peace betweene vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundred and seuenthy yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, & publike instruments, In the first yeere of Simon the hie and chiefe Priest, gouernour and prince of the Iewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where he set vp an engine of warre, and approched neere the citie, and beat a tower, and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the citie, and there was great trouble in the city.

45 In omuch that the people of the citie rent their clothes, & climed vpon the walles with their wiues, and children, and cried with a lowde voice, beseeching Simon to grant them peace, saying,

46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, and would fight no more against them, but put them out of the city, and clenfed the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entred thereunto with psalmes and thanksgiuing.

48 So when he had cast all the filthinesse out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now when they in the castle at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come forth nor goe into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, & many of them were famished to death.

50 In omuch that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he graunted them, and put them out from thence, and clenfed the castle from filthinesse.

51 And vpon the three and twentie day of the second moneth, in the hundreth seuentie and one yeere, they entred into it with thanksgiuing, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbals, and with viols, and with psalmes, and songs, because the great enemy of Israel was overcome.

52 And hee ordeined that the same day should be kept euery yeere with gladnesse, 53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castle where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that Iohn his sonne was now a man, he made him capitaine of all the hostes, and caused him to dwell in Gazaris.

CHAP. XIII.

Demetrius is overcome of Antiochus. 11 Simon being capitaine, there is great quietnesse in Israel. 18 The covenant of friendship with the Romans, and with the people of Sparta renewed.

In the hundreth seuenty and two yeere gathered king Demetrius his host, and departed vnto Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Antiochus the King of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him alive.

3 So he went, and overcame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Antioch, which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for he fought the wealth of his nation: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, & to do him worship alway.

5 Simon also won the citie of Ioppe to his great honour to be an haven towne, and made it an entrance to the Iles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreys.

7 Hee gathered vp many of their people that were prisoners, and hee had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castle, which he clenfed from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him.

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruit.

9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted all together for the common wealth, and the young men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 Hee provided vitales for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious fame was renowned vnto the end of the world.

11 Hee made peace throughout the land, and Israel had perfect mirth and ioy.

12 For euery man sate vnder his vine, and the figgetrees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the kings were overcome.

14 Hee helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: hee was diligent to see the Law kept, and he tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 Hee beautified the Sanctuarie, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romanes heard, and the Spartians had knowledge, that Jonathan was dead, they were very sorie.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made high Priest in his stead, and how hee had wonne the land againe with the cities in it, 18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse to renew the friendship, and bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Jonathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Ierusalem, and this is the copy of the letters that the Spartians sent,

20 THE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue due of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, we were glad of their comming.

22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publique records in this maner. N. V. M. E. N. T. V. S. the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iudas the Iewes ambassadours came vnto vs, to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people, that the men should be honourably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should be registred in the publique records, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: & a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of gold of a thousand pound weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstood, they said, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he & his brethren, and the house of his father haue established Israel, and overcome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasie, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, In the eight and twentieth day of the moneth || Elul, in the hundreth, seuentie and two yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the chiefe Priest.

28 In || Saramel in the great Congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the Elders of the country, we would signifie vnto you, that many battels haue bene fought in our country.

29 Wherein Simon the sonne of Mattathias (come of the children of Iarib) and his brethren put themselves in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuarie and Law might be maintained, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Ionathan gathered his nation together, and became their chiefe Priest, and is layde with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inuaded their country, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuarie.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 He fortified also the cities of Iudea, and Bethsura that lieth vpon the borders of Iudea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garison of the Iewes.

34 And he fortified Ioppe, which lieth vpon the Sea, and || Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus, (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessary for the reparatio thereof.

35 Now when the people saw the faith-fulnesse of Simon, and to what glory hee thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him the gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, because hee had done all these things, and for the vprightnesse, and fidelitie that hee had kept to his nation, and that sought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered well by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their country, and they also which were in the cite of David at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castle, out of the which they went, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And hee set Iewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land, and cite, and raised vp the walls of Ierusalem.

38 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his high Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friends, and gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romanes called the Iewes their friends, and confederates, and that they honourably received Simons Ambassadours, 41 And that the Iewes, and Priests consented, that Simon should be their prince, and hie Priest perpetually, till God raised vp the true prophet,

42 And that hee should bee their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and so set men ouer the workes, and ouer the country, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, and that should make provision for the holy things,

43 And that he should be obeyed of euery man, and that all the writings in the country should be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and weare gold, 44 And that it should not be lawfull for any of the people or Priests to breake any of these things, or to withstand his words, or to call any congregation in the country without him, or be clothed in purple, or weare a collar of gold.

45 And if any did contrary to these things, or breake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree, that it should bee done to Simon according vnto these words.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the captaine, and the Prince of the Iewes, and of the Priests, and to be the chiefe of all.

48 And they commaunded to set vp this writing in tables of brasie, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuarie in an open place, 49 And that a copie of the same should be laide vp in the treasure, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

1 Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Simon,

11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romanes write letters vnto

*into kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breake
th his covenant.*

Moreouer king Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the Iles of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

1 Conteyning these words, ANTIOCHVS the king vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

2 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vsurped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to challenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate; wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared ships of warre,

3 That I may goe thorow the country, and be auenged of them, which haue destroyed our country, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

4 Now therefore I doe confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the kings my progenitors haue discharged thee, and all the payments, whereof they haue released thee.

5 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stamp within thy country.

6 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuarie be free, and that all the weapons, that thou hast prepared, & the fortresses which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine hands, shall be thine.

7 And all that is due vnto the king, and all that shal be due vnto the king, I forgiue it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

8 And when we haue obtained our kingdome we wil giue thee, and thy nation, and the Temple great honour, so that your honour shal be knowne throughout the world.

9 In the hundreth, seuentie and foure yere, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the bands came together vnto him, so that few were left with Tryphon.

10 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Dora, which lieth by the sea side.

11 For he saw that troubles were toward him, and that the armie had forsaken him.

12 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundreth and twenty thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

13 So he compassed the city about, and the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the citie by land and by sea, insomuch that they suffered no man to goe in nor out.

14 In the meane season came Numenius, and his company from Rome, hauing letters written vnto the kings and countreyes, wherein were conteyned these words, 15 LVCIVS the Consul of Rome vnto king Ptolemeus sendeth greeting.

16 The Ambassadors of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friends, and confederates from Simon the hie Priest, and from the people of the Iewes to renew friendship, and the bond of loue, 18 Who haue brought a shield of gold weighing a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the kings and countreyes, that they should not go about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their country, neither to maintaine their enemies against them.

20 And we were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there bee any pestilent fellows fled from their country vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie priest, that he may punish them according to their owne law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, and to Attalus, and to Arathes, and to Arsaces, 23 And to all the countreyes, as Sampsamias, and to them of Sparta, and to Delus, and to Mindus, and to Sicion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaselis, and to Coos, and to Siden, and to Cortina, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the high Priest.

25 So Antiochus the King camped against Dora the second time euer ready to take it, and made diuers engines of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither goe in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and gold, and much furniture.

27 Neuerthelesse, hee would not receiue them, but brake all the covenant, which he had made with him afore, and withdrewe himselfe from him,

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends to commune with him, saying, Yee withhold Ioppe, and Gazara, with the castle that is at Ierusalem, the citie of my Realme, 29 Whose borders yee haue destroyed, and done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernment of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the cities, which yee haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that yee haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea, 31 Or else giue mee for them fife hundreth talents of siluer, and for the harme that ye haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fife hundreth talents: if not, we will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when he saw the honour of Simon, and the cupbord of gold and siluer plate, and so great preparation, hee was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and said vnto him, Wee haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which apperteineth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had ynrighteously in possession a certaine tyme.

34 But when we had occasion, we recouered the inheritance of our fathers.

Mr. complaineth concerning.

35 And whereas thou requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorow our country, yet will we giue an hundred talents for them. But Asienobius answered him not one word.

36 But turned againe angry vnto the King, and told him all these words, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that hee had scene, and the King was very angry.

37 In the meane tyme fled Tryphon by ship vnto Orcholias.

38 Then the King made Cendebeus Captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bandes of foote men and horsemen.

39 And commanded him to remooue the hoste toward Iudea, and to build vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people; but the King pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, & began to vex the people, & to inuade Iudea, and to take the people prisoners, and to slay them.

41 And he built vp Cedron, where hee set horsemen and garlions, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Iudea, as the King had commanded him.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus host, wrote to flatter by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemus the sonne of Abubus killed Simon and his two sonnes at a banquet. 25 Iohn killed them that he in wait for his life.

Then came Iohn vp from Gazara, and told Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and laid vnto them, I, and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and we haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am now old, and ye by Gods merite are of a sufficient age; be yee therefore in stead of me and my brother, and goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So hee chose twenty thousand fighting men of the country with the horsemen, which went soorth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine field: and behold, a mighty great hoste came against them both of foote men and horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his army ouer against him, and when he saw that the people was afraid to goe over the riuer, hee went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed thorow after him.

7 Then hee diuided his men, and set the horsemen in the midst of the footmen.

8 For the enemies horsemen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gate them to the fortress.

9 Then was Iudas Iohns brother wounded: but Iohn followed after them till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled into the towers that were in the fields of Azotus; & those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousand men of them: so he returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

11 Now in the field of Iericho was Ptolemus the sonne of Abubus made captain, and he had abundance of filuer and gold.

12 (For he had married the daughter of the high Priest.)

13 Therefore he waxed proud in his mind, and thought to rule the land, & thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about thorow the cities of the country, and studied carefully for them, he came downe to Iericho with Mattathias, and Iudas his sonnes, in the hundredth fuenty and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth which is the moneth Sabar.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by stratagem into a little hold, called Dochar, which he had built, where he made them a great banquet, and had hid men there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolemus stood vp with his men, and tooke their weapons, & entred into Simon in the banquet house, and slew him with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby he committed a great villenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemus these things, and sent to the king, that he might send him an host to helpe him, and so would deliuer him the country with the cities.

19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take Iohn, and sent letters vnto the captaine to come to him, and he would giue them filuer, and gold and rewards.

20 And to Ierusalem hee sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ranne before, and told Iohn in Gazara, that his father, and his brethren were slaine; and that Ptolemus had sent to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was sore astonished, and layd hands on them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for hee knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of Iohn, both of his warres, and of his noble acts (wherein he behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of wals which he made, and other of his decdes, 24 Behold, they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that hee was made high Priest after his father.

THE SECOND BOOKE of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they shew them to giue thanks for the death of Antiochus. 24 Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24 The prayer of Demetrius.

IN Brethren the Iewes, which bee at Ierusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto the brethren the Iewes, that are throughout EGYPT, send salutation, and prosperitie vnto you.

2 God be gracious vnto you and remember his covenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob his faithfull seruants.

3 And giue you all an heart, to worship him, and to do his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde.

4 And open your hearts in his Law, and commandments, and send you peace.

5 And heare your prayers, and be reconciled with you, and neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundredth thirtieth and ninth yeere, wee Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble, and violence that came vnto vs in those yeeres, after that Iason, and his company departed out of the holy land and kingdome.

8 And burnt the porch, and shed innocent blood: Then we prayed vnto the Lord, & were heard: we offered sacrifice and fine flowre, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.

9 Now therefore keepe ye the dayes of the feast of the Tabernacles in the month Chasseu.

10 In the hundredth fourescore and eight yeere, the people that was at Ierusalem, and in Iudea, and the counsell and Iudas, vnto Aristobulus king Ptolemeus master, which is of the stocke of the anointed priests, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sende greeting and health.

11 Inasmuch as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, as though we had ouercome the king.

12 For hee brought them into Persia by heapes, that fought against the holy citie.

13 For albeit the captaine, and the armie, that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Nanea, by the deceit of Naneas Priests.

14 For Antiochus, as though hee would dwell with her, came thither, he, and his friends with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowrie.

15 But when the Priests of Nanea had laid it forth, and he was entred with a small companie within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in,

16 And by opening a priue doore of the vaulte, they cast stones as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing bruiised them in pieces, they cut off their heads and threw them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked.

18 Whereas we are now purposed to keepe the purification of the Temple vpon the five and twentieth day of the month Chasseu, wee thought it necessary to certifie you therof, that yee also might keepe the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was hid in the Temple, after that hee had built the Temple, and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, the Priests, which sought the honour of God, tooke the fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollow pit, which was drie in the bottome, and there they kept it, so that the place was unknowne vnto euery man.

20 Now after many yeeres, when it pleased God that Neemias should bee sent from the King of Persia, hee sent of the posteritie of those Priests which had hid it, to fetch the fire, and as they told vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commanded he them to draw it vp, and to bring it: and when the things appertaining to the sacrifices were brought, Neemias commanded the Priests to sprinkle the wood, and the things layd thereupon, with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that eueryman marvelled.

23 Now the Priests, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Jonathan began, and the other answered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Neemias was after this maner, O Lord, Lord God maker of all things, which art fearefull and strong, and righteous, and merciful, and the onely and gracious King,

25 Onely liberall, onely iust and almightie and euerlasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, and hast chosen the fathers and sanctified them, 26 Receiue the sacrifice for thy whole people of Israel, and preserue thine owne portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together, that are scattered from vs: deliuer them that serue among the heathen: looke vpon them which are despised, and abhorred, that the heathen may know that thou art our God.

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place, * as Moyses hath spoken.

30 And

* Deut. 30. 5.

30. And the priests sang Psalmes therunto.

31. Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commaunded the great stones to bee sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32. Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light that shined from the altar.

33. ¶ So when this matter was knowne, it was tolde the king of Persia, that in the place where the Priests, which were ledde away, had hid fire, there appeared water, where-with Neemias and his companie had purified the sacrifices.

34. The king tried out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

35. And to them that the king fauoured, he gaue and bestowed many gifts.

36. And Neemias called the same place Ephthar, which is to say, purification: but many men call it Nephthar.

CHAP. II.

How Ieremie bid the tabernacle, the Arke and the altar in the hill. 22. Of the five bookes of Iason contained in one.

It is found also in the writings of Ieremias the prophet, that he commaunded them, which were caried away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commaunded them that were led into captiuitie.

2. * Giuing them a law that they should not forget the commaundements of the Lorde, and that they should not erre in their mindes, when they saw images of gold and siluer, with their ornaments.

3. These and such other things commaunded he them, and exhorted them that they should not let the law go out of their hearts.

4. It is written also, how the prophet, by an oracle that hee had, charged them to take the tabernacle and the arke, and followe him: and when he came vp into the mountain where Moyses went vp, * & saw the heritage of God,

5. Ieremias went foth and founde an hollow caue, wherein hee layd the Tabernacle, and the Arke, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6. And there came certaine of those that followed him, to marke the place: but they could not finde it.

7. Which when Ieremias perceiued, hee reprooued them, saying, As for that place it shall bee vnknown, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercie be shewed.

8. Then shall the Lord shewe them these things, & the maiestie of the Lord shal appeare and the cloude also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as * when Salomon desired, that the place might be honourably sanctified.

9. For it is manifest that hee, being a wise man, offered the * sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple.

10. * And as when Moyses prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the sacrifice: so, when Salomon prayed, * the fire came down from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering.

11. And Moyses sayd, Because the sinne offering was not eaten, therefore it is consumed.

12. So Salomon kept those eight dayes.

13. These things also are declared in the writings, and registers of ¶ Neemias, and how he made a librarie, and how he gathered the actes of the Kings, and of the Prophets, and the actes of Dauid, and the epistles of the kings concerning the holy gifts.

14. Euen so Iudas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15. Wherefore if yee haue neede thereof, send some to fetch them vnto you.

16. Whereas we then are about to celebrate the purification, wee haue written vnto you, and ye shal doe well if ye keepe the same dayes.

17. We hope also that the God, which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all and the kingdome, and the Priesthood and the Sanctuary,

18. * As hee promised in the Law, will shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for hee hath saued vs from great perills, and hath clensted the place.

19. As concerning Iudas Maccabeus, and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20. And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne,

21. And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stood for the Iewes religion: (for though they were but few, yet they ranne through whole countreys, and pursued the barbarous armies,

22. And repaired the Temple that was renowned throughout all the world, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to bee abolished, because the Lorde was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie.)

23. Wee will assay to abridge in one volume those things, that Iason the Cyrenian hath declared in five bookes.

24. For considering the wonderfull number, and the difficultie that they haue that woulde be occupied in the rehearfall of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters.

25. Wee haue endeouored, that they that would reade, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memorie, and that whosoever reade them, might haue profit.

26. Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both swear, and watching.

27. Like as hee that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens commoditie, hath no small labor: so we also for many mens sakes are very well

30. Bgeuol thinks for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a story to enter deeply into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in every part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten, to a few wordes, and to avoid those things that are curious therein.

dinge thus much to our former wordes; that it is but a foolish thing to abound in wordes before the story, and to be short in the story.

CHAPTER III

2 Of the holour done vnto the Temple by the Kings of the Gentiles: & Sheweth what treasure is in the Temple. 3 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 4 He is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

When I thinke of the holy cite was inhabited with all peace, & when the Lawes were very wel kept, because of the godlines of Othas the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednes.

It came to passe that euen the kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts.

3 Inſomuch that Seleucus king of Asia of his own rents, bare all the coſts belonging to the ſeruit of the ſacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning the iniquitie committed in the cite.

Or, the state and provision.

5 And when he could not ouercome Onias, he gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraseas, which then was gouernour of Coelosyria and Phœnice.

6 And told him that the treasure in Jerusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the provision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come into the Kings hands.

7 Nowe when Apollonius came to the king, and had shewed him of the money, as it was tolde him, the king chose out Heliodorus his treafurer, and sent him with a commandement to bring him the foresaid money.

8 Immediately Heliodorus tooke his journey as though hee would visite the cities of Coelosyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Ierusalem, and was courteously receiued of the hie Priest into the city, he declared what was determined concerning the money, & shewed the cause of his coming and asked if these things were so indeed.

10 Then the hie Priest told him that there were such things laid vp by the widowes and fatherlesse,

11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus ~~the~~ the ~~sonne~~ sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all there were but foure hundred talents of silver, and two hundredth of gold.

14 And that it were altogether impossible to do this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holiness of the place and Temple, which is honoured throughout the whole world for holiness and integrity.

13 But Heliodorus because of the Kings commaundement giuen him, sayd that in any wife it must be brought into the kings treasury

14 So he appointed a day, and went in to take order for these things: then there was no small griefe throughout the whole cite.

15 For the Priests fell down before the altar in the Priests garment, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Law concerning things giuen to bee kept, that they should be safely preferred for such as had committed them to be kept.

18 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart : for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorrow of his mind.

17 The man was wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorow he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And the women, girt with sackcloth vnder their breasts, filled the streetes, and the virgins that were kept in, ranne some to the gates, and some to the walles, and other looked out at the windows:

20 And all held vp their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of al sorts, and the expectation of the hie Priest being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almightie Lord, that he would keepe safe and sure the things, which were layd vp for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheles, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did he performe.

24 And as hee and his souldiers were now there present by the treasure, hee that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonishd at the power of God, and fell into feare and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horſe with a terrible mā ſitting vpon him, moſt richly barbed, and he ran fiercely, and ſmote at Heliodorus with his fore feet, & it ſeemed that he that ſate vpon the horſe, had harnesse of gold.

26 More-

26 Moreover, there appeared two yong men, notable in strength, excellent in beaurie, and comely in apparell, which stood by him on either side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many fore stirpes.

27 And Heliodorus fell suddenly vnto the ground, and was covered with great darknesse: but they that were with him, tooke him vp, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great company, and many souldiers into the sayd treasure, was borne out: for he could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did knowe the power of God manifestly, but hee was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope & health,

30 And they prayed the Lord that had honoured his owne place: for the Temple which a little afore was full of feare and trouble, when the Almighty Lord appeared, was filled with ioy and gladnesse.

31 Then straightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that he would call vpon the most high to grant him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the hie Priest, considering that the King might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Now when the hie Priest had made his prayer, the same yong men in the same clothing appeared, and stood beside Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias the hie Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord graunted thee thy life.

34 And seeing that thou hast been scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mightie power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him, which had granted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the King.

36 Then testified hee vnto euery man of the great works of God that he had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the King asked Heliodorus, who were meete to be sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he sayd, 38 If thou hast any enemy or traitour, send him thither, and thou shalt receiue him well scourged, if hee escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a special power of God.

39 For he that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and he bea- teth and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasure.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Iason obtaineth the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the King, 27 And was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias is slaine traiterously by Andronicus.

THIS Simon now, of whom we spake afore, being a bewrayer of the money and of his owne naturall countrey, reported euill of Onias, as though he had mooued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was he bold to call him a traitour that was so beneficiall to the citie, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that through one that belonged to Simon, murthers were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as hee that was the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 He went to the King not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both priuately and publicly.

6 For he saw it was not possible except the king tooke order, to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his follie.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus, called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdom, Iason the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull meanes to be high Priest.

8 For he came vnto the King, and promised him three hundredth and threescore talents of siluer, and of another rent, fourescore talents.

9 Besides this, hee promised him an hundredth and fiftie, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, and that they would name them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

10 The which thing when the King had granted, and he had gotten the superioritie, he began immediatly to drawe his kinsmen to the customes of the Gentiles, 11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the Kings, that the Iewes had set vp by Iohn, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: hee put downe their Lawes and policies, and brought vp new statutes, and contrary to the Lawe.

12 For he presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chief yong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare hattes.

13 So there began a great desire to follow the manners of the Gentiles, and they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Iason, not the hie Priest, but the vngodly perfon.

14 So that the Priests were now no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expences at the play after the casting of a stone.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came

|| Or, that hee would write the Antiochians that were in Ierusalem among them,

|| Or, buskins, in token of wickednesse as the Gentiles did,

|| This game was to trie strength by casting a stone that had an hole in the mids, or a peece of metall.

came vpon them: for they had them to be their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to bee like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the times following shall declare these things.

Or, Olympian sports which were games kept every fift yeere.

18 ¶ Nowe when the games that were vsed euery five yeere, were played at Tyrus, the king being present,

19 This wicked Iason sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundred drachmes of silver for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caried them, desired they might not bee bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So he that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were giuen to the making of galleys.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceiued that hee was euil affectioned toward his affaires, hee sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe and so came to Ierusalem.

22 Where hee was honourably receiued of Iason, and of the citie, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great shoutings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yere afterward Iason sent Menelaus, the foresayd Simons brother to beare the money vnto the king, and to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires: wherof he had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he, being commended to the king, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for he gaue three hundred talents of silver, more then Iason.

Or, commandments.

25 So hee gate the Kings letters patents, albeit hee had nothing in himselfe worthie of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruel tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

26 Then Iason, which had deceiued his owne brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money that he had promised vnto the king, he tooke none order for it, albeit Sostratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherfore they were both called before the King.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lyfimachus in his stead in the Priesthood, and Sostratus left Crates which was gouernour of the Cyprians.

30 ¶ While these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the Kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the King in all haste, to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus a man of authority to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus supposing that he had gotten a conuenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some hee solde at Tyrus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, he reprooued him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuary at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when he came to Onias, he counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hand with an oth: (howbeit he suspect him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so he slew him incontinently without any regard of righteousnesse.

35 For the which cause not only the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieved, and tooke it heauily for the vnrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the King was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the citie, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorrie in his mind, and he had compassion, and wept because of the modesty and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, he tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commaunded him to bee led throughout the citie, and in the same place where he had committed the wickednes against Onias, hee was slaine as a murderer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserved.

39 ¶ Now when Lyfimachus had done many wicked deedes in the citie, through the counsell of Menelaus, and the bruite was spread abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lyfimachus: for he had caried out now much vessell of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lyfimachus armed about three thousand, and began to vse vnlawfull power, a certaine tyrant being their capitaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit, then in age.

41 But when they vnderstood the purpose of Lyfimachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfulls of dust, which lay by, vpon Lyfimachus men, and those that inuaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe they killed besides the treasure.

43 For these causes, an accusation was layd laid against Menelaus.

44 And when the King came to Tyrus, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus being now convinced, promised to Ptolemy the sonne of Dorimenes much money, if he would perswade the King.

46 So Ptolemy went to the King into a court, whereas he was to coole himselfe, and turned the Kings minde.

47 Insomuch that he discharged Menelaus from the accusation (notwithstanding he was the cause of all mischief) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Scythians, they should haue been heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they soone punished vniu-ly, which followed vpon the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickednesse, and ministred all things liberally for their butiall.

50 And so through the couetousnesse of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authority, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

C H A P. V.
Of the signes and tokens seene in Ierusalem. 6 Of the ende and wickednesse of Iason. 11 The pursuit of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spoiling of the Temple. 27 Macabeus fleeth into the wilderness.

A Bout the same time, Antiochus vnder-tooke his second voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there seene throughout all the Citie of Ierusalem, fourtie dayes long, horsemen running in the ayre, with robes of gold, and as bands of speare men.

3 And as troupes of horsemen set in atay, encountring and coursing one against another with shaking of shields and multitude of darts, and drawing of swordes, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour seene, and harness of all sorts.

4 Therefore euery man prayed that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had been dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, and came suddenly vpon the citie, and they that were vpon the walles being put backe, and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the castle, but Iason slew his owne citizens without mercie, not considering, that to haue the aduantage against his kinsmen is greatest disaduantage, but thought that he had gotten the victory of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet he gate not the superioritie, but at the last receiued shame for the reward of his treason, and went againe like a vagabond into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally hee had this ende of his wicked conuersation, that hee was accused before Aretas the king of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie, being pursued of euery man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination as an enemy of his countrey and citizens, and was driven into Egypt.

9 Thus hee that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.

10 And he that had cast many out vburied, was throwen out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 ¶ Now when these things that were done, were declared to the King, he thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him; wherefore hee came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the city by violence.

12 He commanded his men of warre also, that they should kil, and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses.

13 Thus was there a slaughter of young men, and old men, and a destruction of men and women and children, and virgines, and infants were murdered:

14 So that within three dayes were slaine fourescore thousand, and fourtie thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many sold as were slaine.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durst goe into the most holy Temple of all the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the lawes, and to his owne countrey, to be his guide,

16 And with his wicked handes tooke the holy vessels, which other Kings had giuen for the garnishing, glory and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So haucie in his minde was Antiochus, that he considered not, that God was not a little wroth for the sinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not beene wrapped in many sinnes, hee, as soone as he had come, had suddenly been punished, & put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king sent to view the treasure.

19 But God hath not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it be partaker of the benefits of the Lord, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty, so when the great Lord shall be reconciled, it shall be set vp in great worship againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eighteen hundreth talents out of the Temple; he gate him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make them saile vpon the dry land, and to walke vpon the sea: such an hie mind had he.

22 But he left deputies to vex the people: at Ierusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in manners more cruell then he that set him there.

23 And

23 And Iar Garizin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more grievous to the citizens then the other, and was despitefull against the Jewes his citizens.

24 He sent also Apollonius a cruell prioe, with an armie of two and twentie thousand, whom he commanded to slay those that were toward marriage, and to sell the women, and the yonger sort.

25 So when he came to Ierusalem, hee fained peace, and kept him selfe with the holy day of Sabbath, and then finding the Jewes keeping the feast, he commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slew all them that were gone forth to the Jewes, and running through the citie with his men armed, hee murdered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wilderness, and lived there in the mountaines with his companie among the beasts, and dwelling there, & eating grasse, least they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Jewes were compelled to leave the Lawe of God. 4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 28 The grievous paine of Eleazar.

10 Or, Amiebia.

NOt long after this, sent the king an olde man of Athens, for to compel the Jewes to transgresse the Lawes of the fathers, and not to be governed by the Law of God.

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympiis, & that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter that keepeth hospitalitie.

3 This wicked government was fore and grievous vnto the people.

4 For the Temple was full of dissolution, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, and had to do with women within the circuite of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable, and forbidden by the Lawe.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbaths, nor to obserue their ancient feastes, nor plainely to confesse himselfe to be a Jew.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grievously compelled perforce euery moneth to banquet, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of yuie.

8 Moreouer through the counsell of Ptolemeus there went out a commandement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Jewes, that the like custome and banquetting should be kept.

9 And who so would not conforme themselves to the maners of the Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present miserie.

10 Or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed.

10 For there were two women brought forth that had circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had fed round about the citie (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them downe headlong over the walles.

11 Some that were run together into dens to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discovered vnto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day they were afraid to helpe themselves.

12 Now I beseech those which reade this booke, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnesse not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whom he punisheth when they are come to the fulnesse of their finnes.

15 But thus hee dealeth with vs, that our finnes should not be heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercy from vs: and though he punish with aduersitie, yet doth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 Eleazar then one of the principall Scribes, an aged man, and of a well fauoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth and to eat swines flesh.

19 But he desiring rather to die gloriously then to liue with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment, and spake it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banquet, for that old friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him, that he would take such flesh as was lawfull for him to vse, and as he would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the king, euen the flesh of the sacrifice.

22 That in so doing hee might be deliuered from death, and that for the old friendship that was among them, hee would receiue this fauour.

23 But he began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his aunient yeeres, and the honour of his gray haire, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childhood, but chiefly the holy Law made, and giuen by God: therefore he answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, said he, to dissemble, whereby many yong persons might thinke,

Dom, 3

Or, to another maner of life.

thinke, that Eleazar being fourescore yeres old and ten were now gone to another religion.

25 And so through mine hypocricie (for a litle time of a transitory life) they might be deceiued by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine old age.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither aliue nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, and will shew my selfe such as mine age requireth.

28 And so will leaue a notable example for such as be yong, to die willingly and courageously for the honourable and holy Lawes. And when he had said these words, immediately he went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the words that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as hee was ready to giue the ghost because of the stroks, he sighed and said, The Lord that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue bin deliuered from death, I am scourged and suffer these sore paines of my body: but in my mind I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this maner ended he his life, leaving his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memoriall of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seven brethren and of their mother.

I came to passe also, that seven brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the King against the Law, to taste swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whips.

2 But one of them, which spake first, said thus, What seekest thou? and what wouldest thou know of vs? we are ready to die, rather then to transgresse the Lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the king angry, and commanded to heat pannes and caldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he commanded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, & to slay him, and to cut off the vtmost parts of his bodie in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Now when hee was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to be brought aliue to the fire, and to fry him in the pan: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the panne, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to die courageously, saying in this maner,

6 The Lord God doeth regard vs, and in deed taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses declared in the song wherein he testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this maner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with the haire ouer his head, they asked him, if he would eate, or he were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But he answered in his owne language, and said, No. Wherefore he was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when he was at the last breath, he said, Thou murderer takest this present life from vs, but the King of the world will raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 ¶ After him was the third had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, he put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his hands boldly.

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Inasmuch that the king and they which were with him, marueiled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Now when he was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like maner.

14 And when he was now ready to die, he said thus, It is better that wee should change this which we might hope for of men, and wait for our hope from God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterward they brought the fifth also and tormented him.

16 Who looked vpon the king, & said, Thou hast power among men, and though thou be a mortall man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how he wil torment thee and thy seed.

18 After him also they brought the sixt, who being at the point of death, said, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthy to bee wondered at for our own sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt be vnpunished.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue all other, and worthy of honourable memory: for when she saw her seven sonnes flame within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Yea, she exhorted euery one of them in her own language, & being full of courage and wisdom, stirred vp her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and said vnto them,

22 I cannot tel how ye came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body.

23 But doubtles the Creator of the world, which formed the birth of man, and found out the beginning of al things, wil also of his owne mercy giue you breath & life againe, as ye now regard not yo^r own selues, for his lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himsele despised, and c^onsidering the iniurious words, while the yongest was yet aliue, he did exhort him not onely with words, but swore also vnto him by an oath that he would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forsake the Lawes of his fathers, and that he would take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the king called his mother, and exhorted that she would counsell the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with many words, she promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

27 So she turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell tyrant to scorne, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue pitie vpon me, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankind made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shew thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercy with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these words, the yong man said, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the kings commandement: but I wil obey the commandement of the Law that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

31 And thou that imaginest all mischief against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For we suffer these things, because of our sinnes,

33 But though the liuing Lord be angry with vs a litle while for our chastening and correction, yet will he be reconciled with his own seruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion, and most wicked of all men, list not thy selfe vp in vaine, which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, and listest thine handes against the seruants of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgment of Almighty God, which seeth al things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a litle paine, are now vnder the diuine Couenant of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgment of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God that he will soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that he is the onely God, 38 And that in mee and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him the the others, and tooke it grievously that he was mocked.

40 So he also died holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now be ynough spoken concerning the banquets, and extreme cruelties,

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his souldiers to combat. 20 Nicanor is overcome. 27 The Iewes giue thanks after they haue put their enemies to flight, diuiding part of the spoiles vnto the fatherlesse, and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor flieth vnto Antiochus.

Then Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinsfolks and friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion, and assembled fixe thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that he would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pitie vpon the Temple, that was defiled by wicked men,

3 And that he would haue compassion vpon the city that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, & that he would heare the voice of the blood that cried vnto him,

4 And that he would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, & the blasphemies committed against his name, and that he would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercy.

6 Therefore he came at vnwares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet he took the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially he vsed the nights to make such assaults, in so much that the bruit of his manlinesse was spread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philip saw that this man increased by litle & litle, and that things prospered with him for the most part, he wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the kings businesse.

9 Then sent he speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twenty thousand men, to root out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias

Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the king of two thousand talents, which the Romanes should haue, to bee taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediatly he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buy Iewes to bee their seruants, promising to sell fourescore and ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of Almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knewe of Nicanors comming, he told them that were with him, of the comming of the arme.

13 Now were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousness of God, but fled away, & abode not in that place.

14 But the other sold all that they had left, and besought the Lord together, to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had sold them, or euer he came neere them.

15 And though he would not do it for their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about fixe thousand, exhorting them not to be afraide of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them ynrighteously, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vnjustly done to the holy place, and the crueltie done to the citie by derision, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they said he, trust in their weapons and boldnes: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a beck can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreouer hee admonished them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundred and fourescore and fixe thousand vnder * Sennacherib,

20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon against the Galatians, how they came in all to the battell || eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were astonished, the eight thousand slew an hundred & twenty thousand through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefits.

21 Thus when he had made them bold with these words, & ready to die for the lawes & the country, he diuided his army into foure parts, 22 And made his owne brethren captaines ouer the army, to wit, Simoni & Ioseph and Ionathan, giuing each one fifteen hundred men.

23 And when || Eleazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the foreward, ioyned with Nicanor,

24 And because the Almighty helped them, they slew aboue nine thousand men, & wounded and maymed the most part of Nicanors hoste, and so put all to flight, 25 And tooke the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, & therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoyled the enemies, and kept the Sabbath, giuing thanks, and praying the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powdered vpon them the beginning of his mercie.

28 And after the Sabbath, * they distributed the spoiles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and diuided the residue among themselves and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a general prayer, they besought the mercifull Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward with one consent they sel vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and slew aboue twenty thousand, and wanne & strong holds, and diuided great spoiles, and gaue an equall portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to the aged persons also.

31 Moreouer, they gathered their weapons together, and laid them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoiles to Ierusalem.

32 They slew also Philarches a most wicked person, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feast of victory in their countrey, they burnt Calisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gares, which was fled into a litle house: so he receiued a reward meet for his wickednesse.

34 And that most wicked Nicanor, which had brought a thousand merchants to buy the Iewes:

35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lord brought downe of them whome he thought as nothing, in so much that he put off his glorious raiment, and fled ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia with great dishonour, through the destruction of his hoste.

36 Thus he that promised to pay tribute to the Romanes, by meanes of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a || defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to spoile Persepolis, is put to flight. 2 As he persecuteth the Iewes, he is stricken of the Lord. 13 The faigned repentance of Antiochus. 28 He dieth miserably.

AT the same time came Antiochus againe with dishonour out of the countrey of Persia.

|| Or, God their defender.

2 For when he came to Persepolis, & went about to robbe the Temple, and to subdue the citie, the people ran in a rage to defend themselves with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he vnderstood the things that had come vnto Nicenor, and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume, hee thought to impute to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commaunded his chariot man to driue continually, and to dispatch the journey: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had said thus in his pride, I will make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lord Almighty and God of Israel smote him with an vncurable and inuisible plague: for as soone as he had spoken these words, a paine of the bowels that was remedlesse came vpon him, and tore torments of the inner parts.

6 And that most iustly: for he had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit he would in no wise cease from his arrogancy, but swelled the more with pride, breathing out fire in his rage against the Iewes, and commaunded to haste the journey: but it came to passe that he fell downe from the chariot that ran swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus he that a litle afore thought he might command the floods of the sea (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the high mountaines in the balance, was now cast on the ground, and caried in an horse-litter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God.

* Mat. 12. 33.

9 * So that the wormes came out of the bodie of this wicked man in abundance: and whiles he was aliue, his flesh fell off for paine and torment, and all his armie was grieved at his smell.

¶ Or, rottenness.

10 Thus no man could beare because of his stinke, him that a litle afore thought he might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then he beganne to leaue off his great pride, and selfewill, when he was plagued and came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, & by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when hee himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, he said these words, It is meet to be subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortal should not thinke himselfe equal vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lord who would now haue no mercie on him.

14 And said thus that he would set at libertie the holy citie vnto the which he made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whom hee had iudged not worthy to bee buried, but would haue cast them out with their children to be deuoured of the foules and wilde beasts) hee would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And whereas hee had spoiled the holy Temple afore, hee would garnish it with great gifts, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that hee would also become a Jew himselfe, and go thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health, he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnderwritten, containing the forme of a supplication.

19 ¶ THE KING and Prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens, wisheth much ioy and health and prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things go after your mind, I giue great thanks vnto God, hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lie sicke, yet am I mindfull of your honor, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Persia, and fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safetie of all.

22 Not distrusting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sicknesse.

23 Therefore considering that when my father had led an host against the hie countries, he appointed who should succeed him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tidings were brought that were grievous, they in the land might know to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Againe, when I ponder how that the gouernours, that are borderers and neighbours vnto my kingdome, wait for all occasions, and look but for opportunity, I haue ordeined that my sonne Antiochus shall be king, whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the hie prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore I pray you, and require you to remember the benefits that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, & that euery man will be faithfull vnto mee & my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle, and loving vnto you according to my minde.

28 ¶ Thus the murder and blasphemous suffered most grievously, and as he had intreated other men, so hee died a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, caried away his body, who fearing the son of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

15. And Maccabeus with his company, and the Temple. 16. The Jews fight against the Idumeans. 17. Timotheus, Judas, and others, with whom Judas fought. 18. Five men appear to the Jews to the help of the Jews. 19. Timotheus, Judas, and others.

Maccabeus now & his company, through the help of the Lord, wanne the Temple, and the cite againe.

2 And destroyed the altars, & chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And cleansed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense two yeeres, and fixe moneths after, and set forth the lamps, and the Showbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lord, that they might come no more into such troubles: but if they sinned any more against him, that hee himselfe would chasten them with mercy, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemous and barbarous nations.

5 Now vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the temple, on the very same day it was cleansed againe, even the five & twentieth day of the same moneth, which is Challeu.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembering, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles: where they liued in the mountains and deuines like beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery yere those daies should be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Now will we declare the actes of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres, that followed.

11 For when hee had taken the kingdome, he made one Lysias which had bene capitaine of the hoste in Phenice, and Coelosyria, ruler ouer the affaires of the realme.

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Iewes for the wrong that had bin done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause he was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, & came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that he was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poysoned himselfe, and died.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, he entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Iewes.

15 Moreover the Idumeans that held the strong holds, which were meet for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, & by receiuing them that were driven from Ierusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus made prayers, and besought God, that hee would be their helper, and so they fel vpon the strong holds of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them fore, that they wane the places, & slew all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and slew no lesse then twenty thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castles, hauing all maner of things conuenient to susteine the siege, 19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Ioseph, and Zaccheus also, and those that were with them, which were ynow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessary.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnesse, were intreated for money (through certaine of those that were in the castle) and tooke seuentie thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, hee called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men, that they had sold their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he slew them when they were conuict of treason, & immediatly wane the two castles:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that he tooke in hand, hee slew in the two castles moe then twenty thousand.

24 Now Timotheus whom the Iewes had overcome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sorts, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to winne Iewrie by strength.

25 But when he drew nere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth, 26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and besought the Lord to be merciful to them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and to be an aduersary to their aduersaries, * as the Law declareth.

27 So after the prayer, they took their weapons, and went on further from the cite, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke heed to themselves.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victory, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battel waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen five comely men vpon horses with bridles of gold, and two of them led the Iewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them,

Eccc 3 and

and couered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darts, and lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindness, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of foot-men twenty thousand and five hundred, and six hundred horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, he fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong hold, wherein Chereas was capitaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his company layd siege against the fortresses with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible words.

¶ Or, the five and twenty day.

35 Neuertheles vpon the fifti day in the morning, twenty yong men of Maccabeus company, whose hearts were inflamed because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wall, and with bold stomacks smote downe those that they met.

36 Others also that climbed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, set fire vpon the towres, & burnt those blasphemers quick with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and receiued the rest of the army, and tooke the city.

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Chereas his brother with Apollophanes.

38 When this was done, they praised the Lord with Psalmes and thanksgiuing, which had done so great things for Israel, and giuen them the victory.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lyfias gath about to overcome the Iewes. 8 Succour is sent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lyfias vnto the Iewes. 20 The letter of King Antiochus vnto Lyfias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes vnto the Iewes.

Very shortly after this, Lyfias the Kings steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke sore displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when he had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the horsemen, he came against the Iewes, thinking to make the city an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the temple would he haue to get money by like the other temples of the heathen: for he would sell the Priests office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his fourescore Elephants,

5 He came into Iudea, & drew nere to Bethsura, which was a castle of defence, fure long from Ierusalem, & laid fore siege vnto it.

6 But when Maccabeus and his company knew that he had besieged the holds, they, and all the people made prayers with weeping, and teares before the Lord, that he would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would iopard themselves together with him to help their brethren: so they went forth together with a courageous minde.

8 And as they were these besides Ierusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white clothing, shaking his harness of gold.

9 Then they praised the mercifull God all together, & took heart, in so much that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruel beasts, & to breake downe the walls of Ixone.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like lions, they slew eleven thousand footmen, and sixtene hundred horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, and Lyfias himselfe fled away shamefully, and so escaped.

13 Who as he was a man of vnderstanding, considering what losse hee had, and knowing that the Hebrewes could not be overcome, because the Almighty God helped them, sent vnto them;

14 And promised, that he would consent to all things which were reasonable, and perswade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lyfias requests, hauing respect in all things to the commonwealth, and whatsoeuer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lyfias concerning the Iewes, the king granted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes from Lyfias containing these wordes, LYFIAS vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

17 Iohn and Abessalom, which were sent from you, deliuered mee the things that you demand by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meete to bee reported to the King himselfe, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if yee behaue your selues as friends towards his affaires, hereafter also I will endeour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue giuen commandment to these men, & to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare ye wel, the hundredth and eight and fourtie yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

22 ¶ Now the kings letter contained these wordes, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lyfias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated vnto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our realme realme line quietly, that every man may apply his owne affayres.

24 We vnderstand also that the Iewes would not consent vnto our father; for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles; but would keep their owne manner of living; for the which cause they require of vs, that we should suffer them to liue after their owne lawes.

25 Wherefore our mind is that this nation shall be in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to send vnto them, and grant them peace; that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort; and cheerefully go about their owne affayres.

27 And this was the kings letter vnto the nation: KARIS ANTI OCHAS vnto the Elders of the Iewes; and to the rest of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

28 I ye fare well, we haue our desire; wee are also in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne homie; and to applye your owne businesse.

30 Wherefore those that will depart, wee giue them free liberty; vnto the thirty day of the moneth of Panthicus;

31 That the Iewes may vse their owne manner of living and lawes like as afore, and none of them by any manner of wayes to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare ye well: the hundredth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 The Romanes also sent a letter containing these words, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and TITVS MANILIUS ambassadours of the Romanes; vnto the people of the Iewes send greeting.

35 The things that Lyfias the kings kinsman hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which he shal report vnto the king, send hither some with speede, when ye haue considered the matter diligently, that we may consult thereupon as shal be best for you: for we must goe vnto Antiochia, 37 And therefore make haste, and send some men that we may know your minde.

38 Farewell: this hundred and eight and fourty yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

2 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked deede of them of Ioppe against the Iewes. 6 Judas is annoyed of them. 9 He setteth fire in the haven of Iamnia. 10 The pursuit of the Iewes against Timotheus. 14 Timotheus is taken, and let goe vnburt. 32 Judas pursueth Gorgias.

When these couenants were made, Lyfias went vnto the king, and the Iewes tilled their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Ti- motheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Ierobeamus, and also Demophon, and besides them, Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them; to go with their wiues and children into the ships, which they had prepared, as though they had ought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduice of the citie, they obeyed them, & suspect nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deep, they drowned no lesse then two hundred of them.

5 Now when Judas knew of this cruelty shewed against his nation, he commaunded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And having called vpon God the righteous Iudge, he went forth against the murderers of his brethren, and set fire in the haven by night, and burnt the shippes, and those that fled thence, he slew.

7 And when the citie was shut vp, he departed as though he would come againe, and rooted out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when he perceiued that the Iamnites were minded to do in like manner vnto the Iewes which dwelt among them, 9 He came vpon the Iamnites by night, and set fire in the haven with the nauie, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundredth and forty furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs in their iourney toward Timotheus, about fife thousand men of foote, and fife hundredth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Judas through the helpe of God: the Nomades of Arabia being ouercome, besought Judas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certaine cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

12 And Judas thinking that they should in deed be profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon they shooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Judas also assaulted a citie called Caspis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kinds of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in store of victuals, that they were the slacker in their doings, reuiling them that were with Judas, and reproching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such words as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which without any instruments, or engins of warre did cast down the wals of Iericho, in the time of Iesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles.

16 And tooke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, in so much much that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flow with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seven hundred and fifty furlongs, and came to Characa unto the Iewes that are called Tubbien.

18 But they found not Timotheus there, for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, as he had left a garrison in a very strong holde.

19 But Dosithheus, and Sosipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forth and slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortreffe, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, and ringed his armie by bands, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundred and twenty thousand men of foote, and two thousand and five hundred horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas coming, he sent the women, and children, and the other baggage afore unto a fortreffe called Carnion (for it was hard to besiege and vneasie to come unto, because of the straits on all sides).

22 But when Iudas first band came in fight, the enemies were smitten with feare, and a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things, in so much that they fleeing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, & wounded with the points of their owne swords.

23 But Iudas was very earnest in pursuing, and slew those wicked men: yea, he slew thirty thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the hands of Dosithheus, and Sosipater, whom he besought with much craft to let him goe with his life, because he had many of the Iewes parents, and the brethren of some of them, which, if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when he had assured them with many words, and promised that he would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus toward Carnion, and Artagation, and slew five and twenty thousand persons.

27 And after that he had chased away and slaine them, Iudas remooued the hoste toward Ephron a strong citie, wherein was Lyfias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong yong men kept the walles, defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engines of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slew five and twenty thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth sixe hundred furlongs from Ierusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified, that the Scythopolitans dealt lovingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie;

31 They gaue them thanks, desiring them to be friendly still unto them, and so they came to Ierusalem, as the feast of the weekes approached.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Iudaea.

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foote, and foure hundred horsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a few of the Iewes were slaine.

35 And Dosithheus one of the Baccenors, which was on horsebacke and a mightie man, rooke Gorgias, and had hold of his garment, and drew him by force, because he would haue taken the wicked man alive: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Marisa.

36 And when they that were with Eserin, had foughten long, and were wearie, Iudas called vpon the Lord, that he would shew himselfe to be their helper & captaine of the field.

37 And then he began in his owne language, and sung Psalmes with a loud voice, in so much that straight wayes he made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Odolla: And when the seuenth day came, they cleansed themselves (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessity required, Iudas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to bury them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Now vnder the coates of euery one that was slaine, they found iewels that had bene consecrated to the idoles of the * Iamnites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Lawe. Then euery man saw, that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

41 And so euery man gaue shankes vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And they gaue themselves to prayer, and besought him, that they should not viterly be destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that, noble Iudas exhorted the people to keepe themselves from sinne, for so much as they saw before their eyes the things which came to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine, 43 And hauing made a gathering through the company, sent to Ierusalem about two thousand drachmes of siluer, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well and honestly that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if he had not hoped, that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had bene super-

From this verse to the end of this Chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certaine doctrine can be gathered thereby: Also it is euident that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it differeth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, and also the author of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmities, desireth pardon, if he haue not attained to that he should. And it seemeth, that this Iason the Cyrenian, out of whom hee tooke this abridgement, is Ioseph Ben-Gurion, who hath written in Hebrew five bookes of these matters, and intreating of this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib. 3. chap. 19. for it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes; even to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to prove that women might minister the Sacraments, Exod. 4. 25. or the example of Razis, that one might kill himselfe, whom this authour so much commendeth, Chap. 14. 41.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The coming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator, mooueth his souldiers vnto prayer. 15 Hee killeth fourteene thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

IN the hundredth fortie and nine yeere, it was tolde Iudas that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Iudea.

2 And Lyfias the steward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundredth and ten thousand men of foote of the Grecians, and fife thousand horsemen, and two and twentie elephants, and three hundred charrets set with hookes.

3 Menelaus also ioyned himselfe with them, and with great deceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the safegard of the countrey, but because hee thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of kings mooued Antiochus mind against this wicked man, and Lyfias informed the king that this man was the cause of all mischief, so that the king commaunded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death, as the maner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a tower of fiftie cubits high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned round, and on euery side it rolled downe into the ashes.

6 And there whosoever was condemned, of sacriledge, or of any other grieuous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Menelaus should want buriall.

8 For because hee had committed many sinnes by the altar, whose fire and ashes were holy: he himselfe also died in the ashes.

9 ¶ Now the king raged in his minde, and came to shew himselfe more cruell vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, hee commaunded the people to call vpon the Lord night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, hee would now helpe them, when they should be put from their law, from their countrey, and from the holy Temple:

11 And that hee would not suffer the people, which a little before began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this altogether, and besought the Lorde for mercie with weeping, & fasting, and falling downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themselves readie.

13 And hee being apart with the Elders, tooke counsell to goe forth, afore the king brought his hoste into Iudea, and should take the citie, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, he exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, even vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the Citie, their countrey, and the common wealth, and camped by Modin.

15 And so giuing his souldiers for a watchword, The victorie of God, hee piked out the manliest young men, and went by night into the kings campe, and slewe of the hoste fouretee thousand men, and the greatest elephant with all that sate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the king had tasted the manlinesse of the Iewes, he went about to take the holds by policie.

19 And marched toward Beth-sura, which was a strong holde of the Iewes: but hee was chased away, hurt and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessarie.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes hoste, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore he was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the king commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and tooke truce with them, departed, and ioyned battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.

23 But when hee vnderstood, that Philip (whom hee had left to be ouerseer of his busines at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so that hee yeelded himselfe to the Iewes, and made them an othe to doe all things that were right, & was appeased toward them, and offered sacrifice, and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.

25 Neuertheless, when he came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieued, they would that he should breake the couenants.

26 Then went Lyfias vp into the iudgement seate, and excused the fact as well as hee could.

¶ Or, gent and tooketh right hand.

could, and perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings iourney, and his returne.

CHAP. XIII.

Demetrius mooued by Alcimus sendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes, 19 Which he yet breaketh through the motion of the king. 27 Nicanor commandeth Razis to be taken, who slayeth himselfe.

After three yeares was Iudas enformed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and naue by the haue of Tripolis.

2 When he had wonne the countrey, and slaine Antiochus and his Lieutenant Lyfias.

3 Now Alcimus which had beene the hie Priest, and wilfully defiled himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes he could saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 He came to king Demetrius in the hundredth, fiftie and one yeare, presenting vnto him a crowne of gold, and a palme, and of the boughes, which were vsed solemnly in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what deuises or counsels the Iewes leaned vnto.

6 To the which he answered, The Iewes that be called Asideans, whose captaine is Iudas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the high Priesthood) am now come thither,

8 Partly because I was well affectioned vnto the kings affaires, and secondly, because I fought the profite of mine owne citizens: for all our people, through their rashnesse are not a little troubled.

9 Wherefore, O king, seeing thou knowest all these things, make prouision for the countrey, and our nation which is abused, according to thine owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When hee had spoken these words, other friends also hauing euill will at Iudas, set Demetrius on fire,

12 Who immediatly called for Nicanor, the ruler of the Elephants, and made him captaine over Iudea, 13 And sent him forth, commanding him to slay Iudas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus high Priest of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fledde out of Iudea from Iudas, came to Nicanor by flocks, thinking the harne & calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Iewes heard of Nicanors coming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselves with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appointed himselfe a people for euer, and did alwaies defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the captaine, they remoued straightwaies from thence and came to the towne of Dessan, 17 Where Simon Iudas brother had ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Neuertheless Nicanor hearing the manlinesse of them that were with Iudas, and the bould stomacks that they had for their countrey, durst not prooue the matter with bloodshedding.

19 Wherefore he sent Possidonius, || Theodorus, || Matthias before, to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long aduise-ment thereupon, and the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde, and consented to the covenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they set for euery man his steele.

22 Neuertheless Iudas commanded certaine men of armes to wait in conuenient places, lest there should suddenly arise any euill through the enemies: and so they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while hee abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

24 Hee || loued Iudas, and fauoured him in his heart.

25 Hee prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so he married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betweene them, and vnderstanding the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and tolde him that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hand, and ordained Iudas a traitour to the Realme to be his successour.

27 Then the king was displeased, and by the reports of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, saying, that he was very angry for the covenants, commanding him that hee should send Maccabeus in all haste prisoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When these things came to Nicanor, he was astonished & sore grieved, that hee should breake the things wherein they had agreed, seeing that that man had committed no wickednes.

29 But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the king, hee sought craftily to accomplish it.

30 Notwithstanding when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor began to bee rough vnto him, him, and that hee intreated him more rudely then he was wont, he perceiued that such rigour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a few of his men, and withdrew himselfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that hee was preuented by Maccabees worthy policy, came into the great and holy Temple, and commanded the Priests which were offering their vsuall sacrifice, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they sware that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought, 33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an othe in this manner, If yee will not deliuer me Iudas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, and will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these words hee departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this maner, 35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keep this house euer vndefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stoppe all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a loue of the city, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

38 For this man aforesometimes when the Iewes were minded to keepe themselves vndefiled and pure, being accused to be of the religion of the Iewes, did offer to spend his body and life, with al constancy for the religion of the Iewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Iewes, sent aboue fiftie hundreth men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Iewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his castle, & would haue broken the gates by violence, and commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was ready to be taken on euery side, he fell on his sword,

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproch ynworthy for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding, what time as he missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betweene the doores, hee ran boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude.

44 Which conueyed themselves lightly away, & gaue place, so that he fell vpon his belly.

45 Neuerthelesse while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, he rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very sore wounded, yet hee ranne thorow the midst of the people,

46 And gate him to the toppe of an high rocke: so when his blood was vtterly gone, he took out his own bowels with both his hands, and threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lord of life & spirit, that he would restore them againe vnto him, and thus he died.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day. 5 The blasphemie of Nicanor. 14 Maccabees exhorting vnto the Iewes the vision, encourageth them. 28 The prayer of Maccabees. 30 Maccabees commandeth Nicanors head & hands to be cut off, and his tongue to be giuen vnto the foules. 39 The authour excuseth himselfe.

NOW when Nicanor knew that Iudas and his company were in the countrey of Samaria, hee thought with all assurance to come vpon them vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuerthelesse, the Iewes that were compelled to go with him, said, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day, that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demaunded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they said, There is a liuing Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seuenth day to be kept,

5 Then he said, And I am mighty vpon earth to commaund them for to arme themselves, and to performe the kings businesse. Notwithstanding he could not accomplish his wicked enterprife.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, purposed to set vp a memoriall of the victory obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabees had euer sure confidence & a perfite hope that the Lord would help him,

8 And exhorted his people not to be afraid at the comming of the heathen, but alway to remember the help that had been shewed vnto them from heauen, & to trust now also that they should haue the victory by the Almighty,

9 Thus he encouraged them by the Law and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing,

10 And stirred vp their hearts, and shewed them also the deceitfulness of the heathen, and how they had broken their oathes.

11 Thus he armed euery one of them, not with the assurance of shields and speares, but with wholsome words and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthy to be beleueed, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And this was his vision, He thought that he saw Onias (which had been the high Priest, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behaviour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had been exercised in all points of godlinesse from a child) holding vp his hands toward heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 ¶ After

¶ As this private example ought not to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the word of God, although the author seeme hereto approve it: so that place as touching prayer, Chap. 11. 44 though Iudas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to proue a doctrine because it is onely a particular example.

13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wondrous full dignitie, and excellencie above him.

14 And Onias spake, and said, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy citie, to wit, Jeremias the Prophet of God.

15 Hee thought also that Jeremias held out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a sword of gold: and as he gaue it he spake thus.

16 Take this holy sword, a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wound the adueraries.

17 And so being comforted by the words of Iudas, which were very sweete and able to stirre them vp to valiantnesse, and to encourage the hearts of the yong men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageously to set vpon them, and manfully to assaile them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, because the citie and the Sanctuary and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues and children, and brethren, and kinsfolks, they set lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Again they that were in the citie, were carefull for the armie that was abroad.

20 Now while they all waited for the triall of the matter, and the enemies now met with them, and the host was set in aray, and the beasts were separated into conuenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings:

21 Maccabeus considering the coming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beasts, held vp his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victory commeth not by the weapons, but that he giueth the victory to them that are worthy, as seemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer he said after this maner, O Lord, * thou that diddest send thine Angel in the time of Ezechias king of Iudea, who in the hoste of Sennacherib slew an hundred and fourescore and fife thousand,

23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, O Lord of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let them bee discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these words he made an end.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drew neere with trumpets and shoutings for ioy.

26 But Iudas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountred with the enemies.

27 So that with their hands they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and slew no lesse then fife and thirty thousand men: for through the presence of God they were wondrously comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with ioy, they vnderstood that Nicanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shout and a crie, praising the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and mind, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commanded to smite off Nicanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.

31 And when he came there, he called all them of his nation, and set the Priests by the altar, and sent for them of the castell.

32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemer which he had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almighty, with proud braggies.

33 Hee caused the tongue also of wicked Nicanor to be cut in little pieces, and to be cast vnto the fowles; & that the rewards of his madness should be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euery man prayed toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he, that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 He hanged also Nicanors head vpon the hie castell, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established altogether by a common decree, that they would in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feast should bee the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the citie in possession. And here will I also make an ende.

39 If I haue done wel, & as the story required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the story. And here shall be the end.

THE PRINTER TO THE

DEERE READER

For as Christian Reader, in the intent thou mightest the better know the benefit of these marginal annotations upon the new Testament.
I thought it not amiss to declare unto thee the use of the same, and first for as much as the marginal notes of places of the Scriptures in the margin, which direct to other places, containing like Phrases or sense, have bin so placed, that none without great labour could find out the texts alluded. I have made this note, and have put the same in the margin, as in the text, so that thou mayest easily find that which thou desirest. For example in the first verse of the first Chapter of Matthew is placed this first marke " looking for the like marks in the margin, and there thou shalt find, Luke 1. 13.
which place agreeth to this of Matthew, and so like wise thou shalt find in the residue. But of many quotations belonging to one place, word or sentence the first is usually marked, and those that follow are marked appertaining to the same.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmetick, as 1. 2. 3. 4. &c.
throughout the Evangelists and Acts, declare the effect or summe of the doctrine contained betwene one of the said figures, and the next that followeth: as for example, from the figure 1. in the first line and first word of Matthew unto the figure 2. in the 18. verse of the same Chapter, the doctrine there gathered is set downe in the margin in this sort, Iesus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the stocke of Dauid, as God promised.

And in the Epistles in like sort they declare the methede and arte which the Apostles use, and how euery argument or reason dependeth one vpon another: these figures are begun againe at the beginning of euery Chapter. Lastly, the notes which goe by order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text, with the like answering vnto them in the margin, serue to expound and lighten the darke words and Phrases immediately following in them. As in the first line and second word, the letter a, being referred vnto a, directly against him in the margin, sheweth that this word, Booke, signifieth A rehearfall, as the Hebrewes vse to speake: as Gene. 5. 1. The booke of the generations. These letters begin at the beginning of euery Chapter, continuing vnto z, and so beginning againe with a, if there be so many Notes that they doe exceed in number the letters of one Alphabet. This haue I faithfully done for thy commoditie, reape thou the fruit, and giue the praise to God.

THE

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST ACCOR- DING TO S. MATHEW.

CHAP. I.

1 This Iesus is that Messiah, the Saviour promised to the Fathers. 18 The Nativity of Christ.

HE ¹ Booke of the generation of IESVS
CHRIST; the sonne
Dauid, the ² sonne of Abraham.

² * Abraham begate Isaac. * And Isaac begate Jacob. And * Iaccob begate Iudas and his brethren.

³ * And Iudas begate Phares, and Zara of Thamar. And * Phares begate Esrom. And Esrom begate Aram.

⁴ And Aram begate Aminadab. And Aminadab begate Naasson. And Naasson begate Salmon.

⁵ And Salmon begate Booz of Rachab.
And * Booz begate Obed of Ruth. And Obed begate Iesse.

⁶ And * Iesse begat Dauid the King. And
* Dauid the King begate Salomon of her that was the wife of Vrias.

⁷ And * Salomon begate Roboam. And Roboam begate Abia. And Abia begate Asa.

⁸ And Asa begate Iosaphat. And Iosa-phat begate Ioram. And Ioram begate Ho-zias.

⁹ And Hozias begate Ioatham. And Ioa-tham begate Achaz. And Achaz begate Ezekias.

¹⁰ And * Ezekias begate Manasses. And Manasses begate Amon. And Amon begate Iofias.

¹¹ And * Iofias begate Iakim. And Iakim begate Iechonias and his brethren, about the time they were caried away to Babylon.

¹² And after they were caried away into Babylon, * Iechonias begate Salathiel. * And Salathiel begate Zorobabel.

¹³ And Zorobabel begate Abiud. And A-biud begate Eliacim. And Eliacim begate A-zor.

¹⁴ And Azor begate Sadoc. And Sadoc begate Achim. And Achim begate Eliud.

¹⁵ And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Jacob.

¹⁶ And Jacob begate Ioseph the husband of Mary, of whom was borne IESVS, that is called Christ.

¹⁷ So ¹ all the generations from Abraham to Dauid, are fourteene generations. And from Dauid vntill they were caried away into Babylon, fourteene generations: & after they were caried away into Babylon vntill Christ, fourteene generations.

¹⁸ ¶ Now the birth of ² IESVS Christ was thus, When as his mother Mary was
* betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, she was found with childe of the holy Ghost.

¹⁹ Then Ioseph her husband being a iust man, and not willing to * make her a pub-like example, was minded to put her away secretly.

²⁰ But whiles he thought these things, be-holde, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph the sonne of Dauid, feare not to ¹ take Mary thy ² wife: for that which is ³ conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost.

²¹ And she shall bring ¹ forth a sonne, and thou shalt * call his Name IESVS: for he shall
* ¹ saue his people from their finnes.

²² And all this was done, that it might bee fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying,

²³ * Behold, a ¹ virgine shall be with child, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.

²⁴ ¶ Then Ioseph, being raised from sleep, did as the Angel of the Lord had inioyned him, and tooke his wife.

²⁵ But he knew her not, ¹ till she had brought forth her first borne Sonne, and hee called his Name IESVS.

Virgine. 1 This little word Till, in the Hebrew tongue, giueth vs to vnderstand also, that a thing shall not come to passe in time to come: as Michol had no children Till her death day, 2 Sam. 6. 23. And in the last Chapter of this Euangelist: Behold, I am with you Till the end of the world.

*1 All these which are reckoned up in this pedigree of Dauid's stocke,
as they begate one another in their
in their degrees.*

*2 Christ the true
Immanuel, and therefore, Iesus (that is, Saviour) is conceiued in the Vir-gine by the holy Ghost as it was foretold by the Prophets.*

*3 Luke 1. 73.
4 Dem. 24. 1.
5 Receive her at her parents and kindsfolk's hands.*

6 Which was promised and made sure to shew to be thy wife.

7 Of the mothers substance by the holy Ghost.

*8 Christ is born of the same vir-gine which neuer knew man, and is called Iesus of God
himselfe, by the Angel.*

*9 Luke 1. 31.
10 After 4. 13.
11 Deliver, and thou shalt see vs
the meaning of this Name Iesus.*

CHAP. II.

The wise men, who are the first fruits of the Gentiles, worship Christ. 14 Joseph fleeth into Egypt with Iesus and his mother. 16 Herod slayeth the children.

^a Luke 2.6.
¹ Christ poore child, laid downe in a crib, and nothing set by of his owne people, receiveth notwithstanding a noble witness of his diuinity from heaven, and of his kingly estate of strangers: which his owne also vnwittingly allow of, although they doe not acknowledge him.
^a For there was another in the tribe of Zabulon.
^b Wife and learned men: It is a Persian word which they vsed in good part.
^c Was much moved, for he was a stranger, and came to the kingdom by force: and the Iewes were troubled: for wickedness is a mad and raging.
^d The chiefe Priests, that is, such as were of Aarons familie, which were diuided into foure and twenty orders, 1. Chro. 24. 5. and 2. Chron. 26. 14.
^e They that expound the Law to the people: for the Hebrewes take this word of another which signifies as much as to expound and declare.
^f Micah. 5. 2. Iohn 7. 42.
^g Though thou be a small town, yet shalt thou be very famous and noble through the birth of the Messiah, who shall be borne in thee.
^h That shall rule and gouerne: for Kings are fitly called feeders and shepherds of the people.
ⁱ A kind of humble and lowly reverence.
^j The rich and costly presents, which they brought him.
^k God warned and told them of it, when as they asked it not.
^l Christ being yet scarce borne, beginneth to be crucified for vs, both in himselfe, and also in his members.
^m Hose. 11. 1.

When Iesus then was borne at Beth-leem in Iudea, in the dayes of Herod the King, beholde, there came ^a Wife men from the East to Hierusalem.

Saying, Where is that King of the Iewes that is borne? for we haue seen his starre in the East, and are come to worship him.

When King Herod heard this, hee was troubled, and all Hierusalem with him.

And gathering together all the chiefe Priests and ^a Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

And they sayd vnto him, At Beth-leem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

* And thou Beth-leem in the land of Iuda, art not the least among the Princes of Iuda: For out of thee shall come the gouernour that shall feede my people Israel.

Then Herod priuily called the Wisemen, and diligently enquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

And sent them to Beth-leem, saying, Goe, and search diligently for the Babe: and when yee haue found him, bring mee word againe, that I may come also and worship him.

¶ So when they had heard the King, they departed: and loe the starre which they had seen in the East, went before them, till it came and stood over the place where the Babe was.

And when they saw the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy,

And went into the house, and found the Babe with Mary his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, ^a euengold, and frankincense, and myrrhe.

And after they were ^a warned of God in a dreame, that they should not go againe to Herod, they returned into their countrey another way.

¶ After their departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the Babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee word: for Herod will seeke the Babe to destroy him.

So he arose, and tooke the Babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt.

And was there vnto the death of Herod, that that might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the ^a Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my Sonne.

¶ Then Herod, seeing that he was mocked of the Wisemen, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth-leem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two yeere old and vnder, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wisemen.

Then was that fulfilled which is spoken by the Prophet Ieremias, saying,

In Rhama was ^a a voyce heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: ^a Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted because they were not.

And when Herod was dead, behold, an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dreame to Ioseph in Egypt, Saying, Arise and take the Babe and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the Babes life.

Then hee arose vp, and tooke the Babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.

But when hee heard that Archelaus did reigne in Iudea, in stead of his father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dreame, hee turned aside into the parts of Galile,

And went and dwelt in a citie called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, ^a which was, That he should be called a Nazarite.

CHAP. III.

Iohn preacheth. 4 His apparell and meate. 5 He baptizeth. 8 The fruits of repentance. 10 The axe at the roote of the tree. 12 The fan and the chaffe. 13 Christ is baptizeth.

And in those dayes, ^a Iohn the Baptist came and preached in the ^b wilderneffe of Iudea,

And said, ^a Repent: for the ^a kingdom of heauen is at hand.

For this is hee of whom it is spoken by the Prophet Efaias, saying, ^a The voyce of him that crieth in the wilderneffe, Prepare yee the way of the Lord: ^a make his pathes straight.

* And this Iohn had his garment of camels haire, and a girdle of a skinne about his loines: his meate also was ^a locusts and wilde honie.

* Then went out to him ^a Hierusalem and all Iudea, and all the region round about Iordan.

And they were baptized of him in Iordan, ^a confessing their finnes.

* Now when hee saw many of the Pharises, and of the Sadduces come to his baptisme, he sayd vnto them, ^a O generations summe of the Gospel, which in short space after should be deliuered more fully.

^j Chap. 12. 34.

3 True repentance, is an inward thing, which hath its seat in the mind and heart.

4 The faith of the fathers availeth the vobelewing children nothing at all; and yet for all that God playeth not the liar, nor dasheth vainly in his league which he made with the holy fathers.

9 And I thinke not to say with your selues, * We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able euen of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

10 And now also is the axe put to the root of the trees: * therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

11 In deed I baptize you with water to amendment of life, but he that cometh after me, is mightier then I, whose shooes I am not worthy to beare the will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

13 Then came Iesus from Galile to Iordan vnto Iohn, to be baptized of him.

14 But Iohn earnestly put him backe, saying, I haue neede to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?

15 Then Iesus answering, sayde to him, Let bee nowe: for thus it becommeth vs to fulfill all righteousnesse. So hee suffered him.

16 And Iesus when he was baptized, came straight out of the water. And loe, the heauens were opened vnto him, and Iohn saw the Spirit of God descending like a doue, and lighting vpon him.

17 And loe, a voice came from heauen, saying, * This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Christ is tempted. 4 Hee vanquisheth the deuill with Scripture. 11 The Angels minister vnto him. 12 Hee preacheth repentance, and that himselfe is come. 18 The calling of Peter, Andrew, 21 Iames and Iohn. 23 Hee preacheth the Gospel, and healeth the diseased.

Then * was Iesus ledde aside of the Spirit into the wildernesse, to bee tempted of the deuill.

2 And when hee had fasted fortie dayes, and fortie nights, he was afterward hungry.

3 Then came to him the tempter, and said, If thou be the Sonne of God, command that these stones be made bread.

4 But hee answering, said, It is written, * Man shall not liue by bread onely, but by euery word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

5 Then the deuill tooke him vp into the holy Citie, and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple,

6 And said vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe: for it is written, * that he will giue his Angels charge ouer thee, and with their hands they shall lift thee vp, lest at any time thou shouldest dash thy foote against a stone.

7 Iesus sayd vnto him, It is written againe, * Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

8 Again the deuill tooke him vp into an exceeding high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, and the glory of them.

9 And said to him, All these will I giue thee, if thou wilt fall downe and worship me.

10 Then said Iesus vnto him, Auoid Satan: for it is written, * Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him onely shalt thou serue.

11 Then the deuill left him: and behold, the Angels came and ministered vnto him.

12 And when Iesus had heard that Iohn was committed to prison, he returned into Galile.

13 And leauing Nazareth, went and dwelt in Capernaum, which is neere the sea in the borders of Zabulon and Nephthali, 14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying,

15 The land of Zabulon, and the land of Nephthali by the way of the sea, beyond Iordan, Galile of the Gentiles:

16 The people which sat in darkenesse, saw great light: and to them which sat in the region, and shadow of death, light is risen vp.

17 From that time Iesus began to preach, and to say, Amend your liues: for the kingdom of heauen is at hand.

18 And Iesus walking by the sea of Galile, saw two brethren, Simon which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers.)

19 And he sayd vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.

20 And they straightway leauing the nets, followed him.

21 And when he was gone forth from thence, he saw other two brethren, Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother in a ship with Zebedeus their father, mending their nets, and he called them.

22 And they without tarying, leauing the ship and their father, followed him.

23 So Iesus went about all Galile, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the kingdom, and healing euery sicknesse, and euery disease among the people.

i Synagogues, that is, the Iewes Churches. k Of Messias. l Diseases of all kindes, but not euery one: that is, as we say, some of euery one. m The word signifieth properly, the weaknesse of the stomacke: but here it is taken for those diseases which make men faine and weary away, that haue them.

^a The word signifieth properly the stone where with gold is tried and by a borrowed kind of speech, is applied to all kind of examination by torture, when as by rough dealing and torment, we get a heart to draw out the truth of men, which otherwise they would not confesse: and in this place it is taken for those diseases, which put sick men to great wearisome: Which at every full Moon, or the change of the Moone, are sorely troubled and diseased. ^p Weak and feeble men, who have the parts of their body loosed, and so weakened, they are neither able to gather them up together, nor put them out as they would.

24 And his fame spread abroad thorow all Syria: and they brought vnto him all sickle people, that were taken with diuers diseases and torments, and them that were possessed with deuils, and those which were lunaticke, and those that had the palsy: and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galile, and Decapolis, and Ierusalem, and Iudea, and from beyond Iordan.

CHAP. V.

1 Who are blessed. 13 The Apostles are the salt and light of the world. 14 The cities set on an hill. 15 The candle. 16 Good works. 19 The fulfilling of Christ's commandments. 21 What killing is. 23 Reconciliation is set before sacrifice. 27 Adultery. 29 The plucking out of the eye. 30 Cutting off the hand. 31 The bill of diuorcement. 33 To swear. 43 To love our enemies. 48 Perfection.

And when he saw the multitude, he went vp into a mountaine: and when he was set, his disciples came to him.

2 And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,

3 * Blessed are the poore in spirit, for theirs is the kingdome of heauen.

4 * Blessed are they that mourne: for they shall be comforted.

5 * Blessed are the mecke: for they shall inherite the earth.

6 * Blessed are they which hunger and thirst for righteousness: for they shall be filled.

7 Blessed are the mercifull: for they shall obtaine mercy.

8 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

9 Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.

10 Blessed are they which suffer persecution for righteousness sake: for theirs is the kingdome of heauen.

11 * Blessed shall yee be when men reuile you, and persecute you, and say all manner of euill against you for my sake, falsely.

12 Reioyce and be glad, for great is your reward in heauen: for so persecuted they the Prophets which were before you.

13 * Yee are the salt of the earth: but if the salt haue lost his salour, wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be troden vnder foot of men.

14 Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill, cannot be hidde.

15 * Neither doe men light a candle, and put it vnder a bushell, but on a candlestick, and it giueth light vnto all that are in the house.

16 Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good workes, and glorifie your Father which is in heauen.

17 Think not that I am come to destroy the Law, or the Prophets. I am not come to destroy them, but to fulfill them.

18 For truly I say vnto you, Till heauen and earth perish, one iote or one title of the Law shall not escape, till all things be fulfilled.

19 Whosoever therefore shall breake one of these least commandments, and teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdome of heauen: but whosoever shall obserue and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdome of heauen.

20 For I say vnto you, Excepte your righteousness exceede the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharises, ye shall not enter into the kingdome of heauen.

21 Yee haue heard that it was said vnto them of olde time, Thou shalt not kill: for whosoever killeth, shall be culpable of iudgement.

22 But I say vnto you, Whosoever is angry with his brother vnadulterably, shall be culpable of iudgement. And whosoever sayth vnto his brother, Raca, shall be worthy to be punished by the Council. And whosoever shall say, Foole, shall be worthy to be punished with hell fire.

23 If then thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberst that thy brother hath ought against thee, 24 Leaueth thine offering before the altar, and goe thy way: first bee reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 Agree with thine aduersary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him, lest thine aduersarie deliuer thee to the Iudge, and the Iudge deliuer thee to the sergeant, and thou be cast into prison.

come out thence, till thou hast prayed the ver-most farthing.

37 * Ye haue heard that it was sayd to them of old time, * Thou shalt not commit adulterie.

38 But I say vnto you, that whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her, hath committed adulterie with her already in his heart.

39 * Wherefore if thy right eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out, and cast it from thee, for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

40 * If thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

41 It hath bene said also, * Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him giue her a bill of diuorcement.

42 But I say vnto you, whosoever shall put away his wife (except it be for fornication) causeth her to commit adulterie: and whosoever shall marrie her that is diuorced, committeth adulterie.

43 * Againe, ye haue heard that it was said to them of old time, * Thou shalt not forswear thy selfe, but shalt performe thine othes to the Lord.

44 But I say vnto you, Swear not at all: neither by heauen, for it is the throne of God:

45 Nor yet by the earth: for it is his foote-stool: neither by Ierusalem: for it is the citie of the great King.

46 Neither shalt thou sweare by thine head, because thou canst not make one haire white or blacke.

47 * But let your communication be: Yea, yea: Nay, nay. For whatsoeuer is more then these, commeth of euill.

48 * Ye haue heard that it hath been said,
An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth.

49 But I say vnto you, * Resist not euill:
but whosoever shall smite thee on the right cheeke, turne to him the other also.

50 And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coate, let him haue thy cloke also.

51 And whosoever will compell thee to goe a mile, goe with him twaine.

52 * Giue to him that asketh, and from him that would borrow of thee, turne not away.

53 Yee haue heard that it hath bene said,
* Thou shalt loue thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy.

54 But I say vnto you, * Loue your enemies: blesse them that curse you: doe good to them that hate you, * and pray for them which hurt you, and persecute you, father that is in heauen: for hee maketh his sunne to arise on the euill, and the good, and sendeth raine on the iust, and vniust.

46 For if ye loue them, which loue you, what reward shall you haue? Do not the Publicanes euen the same?

CHAP. VI.

1 Almes. 5 Prayers. 14 Forgiving our brother. 16 Fasting. 19 Our treasure. 20 We must succour the poore.
24 God and riches. 25 Carefull seeking for meate and drinke, and apparell, forbidden. 33 The kingdom of God and his righteousness.

Take heed that ye giue not your almes before men, to bee seene of them, or else ye shall haue no reward of your Father which is in heauen.

2 * Therefore when thou giuest thine almes, thou shalt not make a trumpet to bee blown before thee, as the hypocrites doe in the Synagogues and in the streets, to be praised of men. Verely I say vnto you, they haue their reward.

3 But when thou doest thine almes, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth,

4 That thine almes may bee in secret, and thy Father that seeth in secret, hee will reward thee openly.

5 * And when thou prayest, be not as the hypocrites: for they loue to stand, and pray in the Synagogues, & in the corners of the streets, because they would be seene of men: Verely I say vnto you, they haue their reward.

6 But when thou prayest, enter into thy chamber: and when thou hast shut thy doore, pray vnto thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.

7 Also when ye pray, vse no vaine repetitions as the heathen: for they thinke to bee heard for their much babling.

8 Be yee not like them therefore: for your Father knoweth whereof ye haue neede, before ye aske of him.

9 * After this manner therefore pray yee,
* Our Father which art in heauen, hallowed be thy Name.

10 Thy kingdome come. Thy will be done euen in earth, as it is in heauen.

11 Giue vs this day our daily bread.

12 And forgiue vs our debts, as we also forgiue our debtors.

13 And lead vs not into temptation, but deli-uer vs from euill: for thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glory for euer. Amen.

14 For if ye doe forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

15 But if ye doe not forgive men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

16 Moreover, when ye fast, looke not fowle as the hypocrites: for they disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Verely I say vnto you, that they haue their reward.

17 But when thou fastest, annoint thine head, and wash thy face, 18 That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.

19 Lay not vp treasures for your selues vpon the earth, where the moth and canker corrupt, and where theeuces digge thorow and steale.

20 But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the moth nor canker corrupteth, and where theeuces neither digge thorow nor steale.

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 The light of the body is the eye: if then thine eye bee single, the whole body shalbe light.

23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy bodie shall bee darke. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkenesse, how great is that darkenesse?

24 No man can serue two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other, or else he shall loue to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

25 Therefore I say vnto you, Bee not carefull for your life, what ye shall eate or what ye shall drinke: not yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth then meate? and the body then raiment?

26 Behold the fowles of the heauen: for they sowe not neither reape, nor carie into the barnes: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better then they?

27 Which of you by taking care is able to adde one cubite vnto his stature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Learne how the lilies of the field doe grow: they are not wearied, neither spin.

29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Salomon in all his glorie was not arrayed like one of these.

30 Wherefore if God so clothe the graske of the field which is to day, and to morrow is cast into the ouen, shall he not doe much more vnto you, O ye of little faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall wee eate? or what shall we drinke? or wherewith shall we be clothed?

32 (For after all these things seeke the Gen-titles) for your heavenly Father knoweth, that ye haue neede of all these things.

33 But seeke ye first the kingdome of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be ministred vnto you.

34 Care not then for the morrow: for the morrow shall care for it selfe: the day hath enough with his owne griefe.

CHAP. VII.

1 We may not giue iudgement of our neighbour, 6 nor cast that which is holy to dogges. 13 The broad and strait way. 15 False prophets. 18 The tree and fruites. 24 The house build on a rocke. 26 And on the sand.

Iudge not that ye be not iudged. For with what iudgement ye iudge, ye shall be iudged, and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you againe.

3 And why seeest thou the mote that is in thy brothers eye, and perceiuest not the beame that is in thine owne eye?

4 Or how sayest thou to thy brother, Suffer me to cast out the mote out of thine eye, and behold, a beame is in thine owne eye?

5 Hypocrite, first cast out that beame out of thine owne eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brothers eye.

6 Giue ye not that which is holy to dogges, neither cast ye your pearles before swine, lest they tread them vnder their feet, and turning againe, all to rent you.

7 Aske, and it shall bee giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shalbe opened vnto you.

8 For whosoever asketh, receiueth: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

9 For what man is there among you, which if his sonne aske him bread, would giue him a stone?

10 Or if he aske fish, will he giue him a serpent?

11 If ye then, which are euill, can giue to your children good gifts, how much more shall your Father which is in heauen, giue good things to them that aske him?

12 Therefore whatsoeuer ye would that men should doe to you, euen so doe ye to them: for this is the Law and the Prophets.

13 Enter in at the strait gate: for it is the wide gate, and broad way that leadeth to destruction: and many there be which goe in thereat.

14 Because the gate is strait, and the way narrow that leadeth vnto life, and few there be that finde it.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The leper cleansed. 5 The Centurions faith. 11 The calling of the Gentiles; 12 and casting out of the Iewes. 14 Peters mother in law healed. 19 A Scribe desirous to follow Christ. 23 The tempest on the sea. 28 Two possessed with deuils, cured. 32 The deuils goe into swine.

NOW when he was come downe from the mountaine, great multitudes followed him.

2 ¶ And loe, there came a leper, and worshipped him, saying, Master, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

3 And Iesus putting forth his hand, touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane: and immediatly his leprosie was cleansed.

4 Then Iesus said vnto him, See thou tell no man, but goe, and shew thy selfe vnto the Priest, and offer the gift that *Moses commanded, for a witness to thee.

5 ¶ *2 When Iesus was entred into Capernaum, there came vnto him a Centurion, beseeching him,

6 And said, Master, my seruant lieth sicke at home of the palsie, and is grievously pained.

7 And Iesus sayd vnto him, I will come and heale him.

8 But the Centurion answered, saying, Master, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come vnder my rooffe: but speake the word onely, and my seruant shall be healed.

9 For I am a man also vnder the authoritie of another, and haue souldiers vnder mee: and I say to one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

10 When Iesus heard that, hee marueiled; and said to them that followed him, Verely, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, euen in Israel.

11 But I say vnto you, that many shall come from the East and West, and shall sit downe with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob, in the kingdome of heauen.

12 And the children of the kingdome shall be cast out into vtter darknesse: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

13 Then Iesus said vnto the Centurion, Goe thy way, and as thou hast beleueed, so be it vnto thee. And his seruant was healed the same houre.

14 ¶ *3 And when Iesus came to Peters house, hee saw his wiues mother layd downe, and sicke of a feuer.

15 And hee touched her hand, and the feuer left her: so shee arose, and ministred vnto them.

16 *When the Euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with deuils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sicke, 17 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by *Esaia the Prophet, saying, Hee tooke our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses.

18 ¶ *4 And when Iesus saw great multitudes of people about him, hee commanded them to goe over the water.

19 ¶ Then came there a certaine Scribe, and said vnto him, Master, I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest.

20 But Iesus said vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birds of the heauen haue nests, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to rest his head.

21 ¶ *5 And another of his disciples said vnto him, Master, suffer me first to goe, and bury my father.

22 But Iesus said vnto him, Follow me, and let the dead bury their dead.

23 ¶ *6 And when he was entred into the ship, his disciples followed him.

24 And behold, there arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the shippe was couered with waues: but he was asleepe.

25 Then his disciples came and awoke him, saying, Master, saue vs: we perish.

26 And he said vnto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the windes and the sea: and so there was a great calme.

27 And the men marueiled, saying, What man is this, that both the windes and the sea obey him?

28 ¶ 7 And when he was come to the other side into the countrey of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with deuils which came out of the graues very fierce, so that no man might goe by that way.

29 And behold, they cryed out, saying, Iesus the sonne of God, what haue we to do with thee? Art thou come hither to torment vs before the time?

30 Now there was f asarre off from them, a great heard of swine feeding.

31 And the deuils besought him, saying, If thou cast vs out, suffer vs to goe into the heard of swine.

32 And he said vnto them, Goe. So they went out and departed into the heard of swine: and behold, the whole heard of swine ran headlong into the sea, and died in the water.

33 Then the herdmen fled: & when they were come into the citie, they told all things, and what was become of them that were possessed with the deuils.

34 And beholde, all the citie came out to meete Iesus: and when they saw him, they besought him to depart out of their coasts.

CHAP. IX.

1 One sicke of the palse is healed. 5 Remission of sinnes. 9 Matthew is called. 10 Sinners. 17 New wine. 18 The rulers daughter raised. 20 A woman healed of a blood issue. 28 Two blinde men by faith receive sight. 32 A dumbe man possessed is healed. 37 The harvest and workemen.

Then he centred into a ship, and passed ouer, and came into his owne citie.

2 And ¶ Joe, they brought to him a man sicke of the palse, laid on a bed. And Iesus seeing their faith, sayd to the sicke of the palse, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

3 And behold, certaine of the Scribes said with themselves, This man blasphemeth.

4 But when Iesus saw their thoughts, hee said, Wherefore thinke ye euill things in your hearts?

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgiue sinnes, (then said he vnto the sicke of the palse,) Arise, take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

7 And he arose, and departed to his owne house.

8 So when the multitude saw it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giuen such authority to men.

9 ¶ 11 And as Iesus passed soorth from thence, hee saw a man sitting at the custome, named Matthew, and said to him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him.

10 And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at meate in his house, behold many Publicanes and sinners, that came thither, sate downe at the table with Iesus and his Disciples.

11 And when the Pharises sawe that, they said to his Disciples, Why eateth your Master with Publicanes and sinners?

12 Now when Iesus heard it, hee said vnto them, The whole neede not a Physician, but they that are sicke.

13 But goe yee and learne what this is, * I will haue mercie, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

14 ¶ 13 Then came the Disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why doe wee and the Pharises fast oft, and thy Disciples fast not?

15 And Iesus said vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber mourne as long as the bridegrome is with them? But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shalbe taken from them, and then shall they fast.

16 Moreouer no man pieceth an olde garment with a peece of new cloth, for that that should fill it vp, taketh away from the garment, and the breach is worse.

17 Neither doe they put new wine into old vessels: for then the vessels would breake, and the wine would be spilt, and the vessels should perish: but they put new wine into new vessels, and so are both preferred.

18 ¶ 14 While hee thus spake vnto them, behold, there came a certaine ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is now deceased, but come and lay thine hand on her, and shee shall liue.

19 And Iesus arose, and followed him with his Disciples.

20 (And behold, a woman which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres, came behinde him, and touched the hemme of his garment.

21 For shee said in herselfe, If I may touch but his garment onely, I shalbe whole.

22 Then Iesus turned him about, and seeing her, did say, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made the whole. And the woman was made whole at that same moment.)

23 ¶ 15 Now when Iesus came into the rulers house, and saw the minstrels and the multitude making noise, 24 He said vnto them, Get you hence: for the Maide is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorne.

25 And when the multitude were put soorth, hee went in and tooke her by the hand, and the Maide arose.

26 And this brute went throughout all that land.

27 And as Iesus departed thence, two blind men followed him, crying, and saying, O sonne of David, haue mercy vpon vs.

28 And when he was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Iesus said vnto them, Bidde me what ye desire to doe this.

29 And they said vnto him, Yes, Lord.

30 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it vnto you.

31 And their eyes were opened, and Iesus gaue them great charge, saying, See that no man knowe.

32 But when they were departed, they spread abroad his fame through out all the land.

33 And as they went out, behold, they brought to him a dumbe man possessed with a deuill.

34 And when the deuill was cast out, the dumbe spake: then the multitude marvelled, saying, The like was neuer seene in Israel.

35 But the Pharisees said, He casteth out deuils, through the prince of deuils.

36 And Iesus went about all cities and townes, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the kingdome, and healing every sickenesse, and every disease among the people.

37 But when he saw the multitude, hee had compassion vpon them, because they were dispersed, and scattered abroad, as sheepe hauing no shepheard.

38 Then said hee to his disciples, Surely the harvest is great, but the labourers are few.

39 Wherefore pray the Lord of the harvest, that hee would send forth labourers into his harvest.

CHAP. X.

1 The gift of healing given to the Apostles. 2 They are sent to preach the Gospel. 3 Peace. 4 Shaking off the dust. 5 Affliction. 6 Continuance vnto the end. 7 Flying from persecution. 8 Reare. 9 Two specimens. 10 Hares of our head. 11 To acknowledge Christ. 12 Peace and the sword. 13 Variance. 14 Love of parents. 15 The crosse. 16 To lose the life. 17 To receive a preacher.

And he called his twelue disciples vnto him, and gaue them power against vncleane spirits, to cast them out, and to heale every sickenesse, and every disease.

2 Now the names of the twelue Apostles are these. The first is Simon, called Peter, and Andrew his brother: James the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother.

3 Philip and Bartlemew: Thomas, and Matthew that Publicane: James the sonne of Alphaeus, and Lebbeus whose surname was Thaddeus.

4 Simon the Cananite, and Iudas Iscariot, who also betrayed him.

5 These twelue did Iesus send forth, and commanded them, saying, Goe not into the way of the Gentiles, and into the cities of the Samaritanes enter ye not.

6 But goe rather to the lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

7 And as ye goe, preach, saying, The kingdome of heauen is at hand.

8 Heale the sick, cleanse the lepers: raise vp the dead: cast out the deuils. Freely ye haue received, freely giue.

9 Possesse not golde nor siluer, nor money in your girdles, 10 Nor a scrippe, for the iourney, neither two coats, neither shoes, nor a staffe: for the workeman is worthy of his meate.

11 And into whatsoever cite or towne ye shall come, enquire who is worthy in it, and there abide till ye goe thence.

12 And when ye come in into an house, salute the same.

13 And if the house bee worthy, let your peace come vpon it: but if it be not worthy, let your peace returne to you.

14 And whosoever shall not receiue you, nor heare your words, when ye depart out of that house, or that cite, shake off the dust of your feete.

15 Truly I say vnto you, It shall be easier for them of the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of iudgement, then for that cite.

16 Behold, I send you as sheepe in the mids of the wolues: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and innocent as doves.

17 But beware of men, for they will deliuer you vp to the Councils, and will scourge you in their Synagogues.

18 And yee shall be brought to the gouernours and Kings for my sake, in witnesse to them, and to the Gentiles.

19 But when they deliuer you vp, take no thought how or what yee shall speake: for it shall be giuen you in that houre, what yee shall say.

20 For it is not ye that speake, but the spirit of your father which speaketh in you.

21 And the brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

22 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Name: but he that endureth to the end, hee shall be saued.

23 And when they persecute you in this cite, flee into another: for verily I say vnto you, ye shall not goe ouer all the cities of Israel, till the sonne of man be come.

24 The disciple is not aboue his Master, nor the seruant aboue his Lord.

25 It is enough for the disciple to be as his Master is, and the seruant as his Lord. If they haue called the Master of the house Beelzebub, how much more them of his household?

2 Iohn sendeth his disciples to Christ. 7 Christs testimony of Iohn. 13 The Law and the Prophets. 18 Christ and Iohn. 21 Chorazin, Bethsaida. 25 The Gospel reveiled to children. 28 They that are weary and laden.

And it came to passe that when Iesus had made an end of commanding his twelve disciples, hee departed thence to teach and to preach in their cities.

2 * And when Iohn heard in the prison the workes of Christ, he sent two of his disciples, and said vnto him,

3 Art thou hee that should come, or shall we looke for another?

4 And Iesus answering, sayd vnto them, Goe, and shew Iohn, what things yee heare, and see.

5 The blinde receive sight, and the halte do walke: the lepers are cleansed, and the deafe heare: the dead are raised vp, and the poore receive the Gospel.

6 And blessed is he that shall not be offended in me.

7 * And as they departed, Iesus began to speake vnto the multitude of Iohn, What want ye out into the wilderness to see? A reede shaken with the winde?

8 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they that were so, are in Kings houses.

9 But what went ye out to see? A Prophet? Yea, I say vnto you, and more then a Prophet.

10 For this is he of whom it is written, * Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verely, I say vnto you, Among them which are begotten of women, arose there not a greater then Iohn Baptist, notwithstanding he that is the least in the kingdom of heauen, is greater then he.

18 For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a deuill.

19 The sonne of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold a glutton and a drinker of wine; a friend vnto Publicanes and sinners: but wisdome is iustified of her children.

20 * Then began he to vpbraide the cities, wherein most of his great workes were done, because they repented not.

21 Woe be to thee, Chorazin: Woe be to thee, Bethsaida: for if the great workes which were done in you, had bene done in Tyrus and Sidon, they had repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.

22 But I say to you, It shall be easier for Tyrus and Sidon at the day of iudgement, then for you.

And whosoever shall speake a word against the Sonne of man, it shall be forgiven him: but whosoever shall speake against the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come.

33 Either make the tree good, and his fruit good: or else make the tree evil, and his fruit evil: for the tree is known by the fruit.

34 O generation of vipers, how can you speake good things, when ye are evil? For of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.

35 A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good things: and an evil man out of an evil treasure bringeth forth evil things.

36 But I say unto you, that of every idle word that men shall speake, they shall give account thereof at the day of judgement.

37 For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy wordes thou shalt be condemned.

38 ¶ Then answered certaine of the Scribes and of the Pharisees, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee.

39 But he answered and said to them, An evil & adulterous generation seeketh a signe, but no signe shall be given unto it, save that signe of the Prophet Jonas.

40 For Jonas was three dayes and three nights in the whales belly: so shall the Sonne of man be three dayes and three nights in the heart of the earth.

41 ¶ The men of Nineue shall rise in judgement with this generation, and condemne it: for they repented at the preaching of Jonas: and behold, a greater then Jonas is here.

42 ¶ The Queen of the South shall rise in judgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for she came from the utmost parts of the earth to heare the wisdom of Solomon: and behold, a greater then Solomon is here.

43 ¶ Now when the wicked spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh throughout drie places, seeketh rest, and findeth none.

44 Then he saith, I will returne into mine house from whence I came: and when he is come, he findeth it empty, swept, & garnished.

45 Then he goeth, and taketh unto him seven other spirits worse then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: and the end of that man is worse then the beginning. Euen so shall it be with this wicked generation.

46 ¶ While hee yet spake to the multitude, behold, his mother & his brethren stood without, desiring to speake with him.

47 Then one said unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to speake with thee.

48 But he answered, and said to him that told him, Who is my mother? and who are my brethren?

And he stretched forth his hand toward his disciples, and said, Behold my mother and my brethren.

For whosoever shall doe my Fathers will which is in heaven, the same is my brother and sister and mother.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ Jesus spake in parables, saying, Behold, I sowe unto you the seede. 1. Of the sower. 2. Of the seed. 3. Of the ground. 4. Of the fruit. 5. Of the harvest. 6. Of the day of judgement.

The same day went Iesus out of the house, and saith by the sea side.

And great multitudes resorted unto him, so that hee went into a ship, and sat downe: and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

¶ Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, I sowe unto you the seede.

¶ And as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the fowles came & devoured them up.

¶ And some fell upon stony ground, where they had not much earth, & anon they sprung up, because they had no depth of earth.

¶ And when the Sunne was up, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.

¶ And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprung up, and choked them.

¶ Some againe fell in good ground, and brought forth fruit, one an hundred fold, some thirtie fold, and another thirty fold.

¶ He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

¶ ¶ Then the disciples came, and said to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables?

¶ And he answered, and said unto them, Because it is given unto you to knowe the secrets of the Kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given.

¶ ¶ For whosoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away, even that he hath.

¶ ¶ Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seeing, doe not see: and hearing, they heare not, neither understand.

¶ ¶ So in them is fulfilled the prophesie of Esaias, which prophesie saith, By hearing, yee shall heare, and shall not understand: and seeing, yee shall see, and shall not perceive.

¶ ¶ For this peoples heart is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they have winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should understand with their hearts, & should returne that I might heale them.

¶ ¶ But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare.

see those things which yee see, and haue not seene them, and to heare those things, which yee heare, and haue not heard them.

18 ¶ Hearc yee therefore the parable of the sower.

19 Whensoever any man heareth the word of that kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, that euill one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sowne in his heart: and this is he which hath receiued the seede by the way side.

20 And he that receiued seede in the stonie ground, is he which heareth the word, and incontinently with ioy receiueith it, 21 Yet hath he no root in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And he that receiued the seede among thornes, is hee that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulnesse of riches choketh the word, and he is made vnfruitfull.

23 But he that receiued the seed in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundred fold, some fixtie folde, and some thirtie folde.

24 ¶ Another parable put he forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his field.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemy, and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the housholder, and said vnto him, Master, sowedst thou good seede in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And hee sayd to them, Some enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants said vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe and gather them vp?

29 But he said, Nay, least while yee goe about to gather the tares, yee plucke vp also with them the wheate.

30 Let both grow together vntill the harvest, and in time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, and binde them in sheaues to burne them: but gather the wheat into my barn.

31 ¶ Another parable he put forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustard seede, which a man taketh and soweth in his field:

32 Which indeede is the least of all seedes: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come and builde in the branches thereof.

33 ¶ Another parable spake he to them, * Luke 13. 31.

The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three peckes of meale till all be leauened.

34 ¶ All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables * Marke 4. 33.

35 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, I will open my mouth in parables, and will vtter the things which haue beene kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of that field.

37 Then answered he, and said to them, He that soweth the good seede, is the Sonne of man.

38 And the field is the world, and the good seede are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of that wicked one.

39 And the enemy that soweth them, is the deuill, * and the harvest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shall it be in the end of this world.

41 The Sonne of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which doe iniquitie, 42 And shal cast them into a furnace of fire. There shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

43 Then shall the iust men shine as the sunne in the kingdome of their Father. He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44 ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treasure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, hee hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth, and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

45 ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like to a merchant man, that seeketh good pearles, 46 Who hauing found a pearle of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it.

47 ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a draw-net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kindes of things.

48 Which, when it is full, men draw to land, and sit and gather the good into vessels, and cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be at the end of the world. The Angels shall goe forth, and seuer the bad from among the iust, 50 And shal cast them into a furnace of fire: there shal be wailing, and gnashing of teeth.

Mark 6. 54.

The Genesareth was a lake which is called the Sea of Galilee. The country is full of cities and villages. In them the Christ taught the people, and that we are bound not only to runne our selues, but also to bring others vnto him.

54 ¶ And when they were come ouer, they came into the land of Genesareth.

55 ¶ And when the men of that place knew him, they sent out into all that countrey round about, and brought vnto him, all that were sick, 56 And besought him that they might touch the hemme of his garment onely; and as many as touched it, were made whole.

57 ¶ Then said Iesus vnto the people, I am not the Christ, but I am the Son of man.

3 ¶ But hee answered and saide vnto them, Why doe ye also transgresse the commandment of God by your tradition?

4 ¶ For God hath commanded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: and he that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye say, whosoever shall say to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profice,

8 ¶ This people draweth nere vnto mee with their mouth, and honoureth me with the lips, but their heart is farre off from me.

9 But in vaine they worship me, teaching for doctrines mens precepts.

10 ¶ Then he called the multitude vnto him, and said to them, Heare and vnderstand.

11 ¶ That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which cometh out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 ¶ Then came his disciples, and sayd vnto him, Perceiuest thou not, that the Pharises are offended in hearing this saying?

13 But he answered and said, ¶ Euery plant which mine heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted vp.

18 But those things which proceed out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of the heart come euil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimony, slanders.

20 These are the things, which defile the man: but to eat with vnwashed hands, defileth not the man.

21 ¶ And Iesus went thence, and departed into the coastes of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 ¶ And beholde, a woman a Canaanite came out of the same coastes, and cried, saying vnto him, Haue mercie on mee. O Lord, the sonne of Dauid: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuill.

23 ¶ But he answered her not a word. Then came to him his disciples, and besought him, saying, Send her away, for she crieth after vs.

24 But hee answered, and sayd, I am not sent but vnto the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

25 ¶ Yet she came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, helpe me;

26 And hee answered, and said, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to whelpes, 27 But she said, Truth, Lord: yet indeede the whelpes eat of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 ¶ Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ ¶ So Iesus went away from thence, and came nere vnto the sea of Galile, and went vp into a mountaine and sat downe there.

2 But he answered, and said vnto them, When it is euening, ye say, Faire weather: for the skie is red.

3 And in the morning, ye say, To day shall be a tempest: for the skie is red and lowering. O hypocrites, ye can discerne the face of the skie, and can ye not discerne the signes of the times?

5 And when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread with them.

6 Then Iesus said vnto them, Take heed and beware of the leauen of the Pharises and Sadduces.

7 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is because we haue brought no bread.

8 But Iesus knowing it, said vnto them, O ye of little faith, why reason ye thus among your selues, because ye haue brought no bread?

9 Doe ye not yet perceiue, neither remember the ^d five loaves, when there were ^e five thousand men, and how many baskets tooke ye vp?

10 Neither the seuen loaves when there were ^f foure thousand men, and how many baskets tooke ye vp?

11 Why perceiue ye not that I sayde not vnto you concerning bread, that ye should beware of the leauen of the Pharises and Sadduces?

12 Then vnderstood they that he had not sayd that they should beware of the leauen of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharises, and Sadduces.

13 Now when Iesus came into the coasts of ^g Cesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, 14 Whom doe men say that I, the sonne of man, am?

15 And they sayd, Some say, Iohn Baptist: and some, Elias: and others, Ieremias, or one of the Prophets.

16 He sayd vnto them, But whom say ye that I am?

17 Then Simon Peter answered, and said, Thou art that Christ, the sonne of the living God.

18 And Iesus answered, and said to him, Blessed art thou Simon, the sonne of Jonas: for flesh and blood hath not reuealed it vnto thee, but my Father which is in heauen.

19 And I say also vnto thee, that thou art ^h Peter, and vpon this rocke I will build my Church: and the gates of hell shall not overcome it.

20 And I will giue vnto thee the keyes of the kingdome of heauen, and whatsoever thou shalt bind vpon earth, shall be loosed in heauen.

21 Then hee charged his disciples, that they should tell no man that he was Iesus the Christ.

22 From that time forth Iesus began to shew vnto his disciples, that hee must goe vnto Hierusalem, and suffer many things of the Elders, and of the hie Priests, and Scribes, and be slaine, and be raised againe the third day.

23 Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him, saying, Master, pittie thy selfe: this shall not be vnto thee.

24 Then he turned backe, and said vnto Peter, Get thee behind mee, Satan: thou art an offence vnto mee, because thou vnderstandest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

25 Iesus then said to his disciples, If any man will follow me, let him forsake himselfe, and take vp his crosse, and follow me.

26 For whosoever will saue his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, shall find it.

27 For what shall it profit a man though he should win the whole world, and lose his selfe?

little childe in my name receiveth me.

6 ¹² But whosoever shall offend one of these little ones which beleue in mee, it were better for him, that a millstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

7 Woe be unto the world because of offences: for it must needs be that offences shall come, but woe be to that man by whom the offence cometh.

8 * Wherefore, if thy hand or thy foote cause thee to offend, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life, halt, and maymed, then having two hands, or two feet, to be cast into euill lasting fire.

And if thine eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out, and leaue it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, then hauing two eyes to be cast into hell fire.

To * See that yee despise not one of these little ones: for I say vnto you, that in heauen their * Angels alwaies behold the face of my Father which is in heauen.

¶ For the Sonne of man is come to saue that which was lost.

13 How thinke yee? * If a man haue an hundreth sheepe, and one of them be gone astray, doeth he not leaue ninetie and nine, and goe into the mountaines, and seeke that which is gone astray?

13 And if so be that he finde it, verely I say vnto you, hee reioyceth more of that sheepe, then of the ninety and nine which went not astray :

14 So is it not the will of your Father which is in heauen, that one of these little ones should perish.

15 ¶ *5 Moreouer, if thy brother trespassse against thee, goe and tell him his fault be-twene thee and him alone: if hee heare thee, thou hast wonne thy brother.

16 But if hee heare thee not, take yet with thee one or two, that by the ^{*f} mouth of two or three witnesses every word may bee confirmed.

17 ⁶ And if he ^b refuse to hear them, tell it vnto the ⁱ Church: and if he refuse to heare the Church also, let him bee vnto thee as ^k an heathen man, and a Publicane.

18 Verely I say vnto you,* Whatsoeuer ye binde on earth, shall be bound in heauen: and whatsoeuer ye loose on earth, shall be loosed in heauen.

19 Again, verely I say vnto you, that two of you shall agree in earth vpon any thing, whatsoeuer they shall desire, it shall be giuen them of my Father which is in heauen.

20 For where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the midst of them.

31. Then came Peter to him, & said, Master, how oft shall my brother sinne against me, and I shall forgive him? seven times?

22 Iesus said vnto him, I say not vnto thee, Vnto seven times, but, Vnto fouentie times seven times.

23 Therefore is the kingdome of heauen likened vnto a certaine King, which would take an account of his seruants.

24 And when he had begunne to reckon, one was brought vnto him, which ought him ten thousand talents.

25 And because he had nothing to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and his children, and all that he had, and the debt to be paid.

26 The seruante therefore fell downe, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, reframe thine anger toward me, and I will pay thee all.

27 Then that Seruaunts Lord had compaffion, and loofed him, and forgaue him the debt, 28 But when the servant was departed, he found one of his fellow servants, which ought him an hundred pence, and he laid hands on him, and thrustled him, saying, Pay mee that thou owest.

29 Then his fellow ſervant fell downe at his feet, and beſought him, ſaying, Refraine thine anger towards me, and I will pay thee all.

30 Yet hee would not, but went, and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.

31. And when his other fellow seruants saw what was done, they were very sory, and came, and declared vnto their Lord all that was done.

32. Then his Lord called him vnto him, and said to him, O euill seruant, I forgauē thee all that debt, because thou prayedst me.

33 Oughtest not thou also to have had pitie on thy fellow seruant, euen as I had pitie on thee?

34 So his Lord was wroth, and deliuered him to the tormentors, till hee should pay all that was due vnto him.

35 So likewise shall mine heavenly Father doe vnto you, except yet forgive from your hearts, each one to his brother their trespasses.

lawfull for a man to put away his wife vpon every occasion.

4 And hee answered and said vnto them, Haue ye not read, that he which made them at the beginning, made them male and female,

5 And said, For this cause shall a man leaue father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife, and they which were two, shall be one flesh?

6 Wherefore they are no more twaine, but one flesh. Let ad man therefore put a vnder him, which God hath coupled together.

7 They said to him, Why did then Moses command to giue a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away?

8 He said vnto them, Moses, because of the hardnesse of your heart, suffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it was not so.

9 I say therefore vnto you, that whosoever shall put away his wife, excepte it bee for whoredome, and marry another, committeth adultery: and whosoever marieth her which is diuorced, doth commit adultery.

10 Then sayd his disciples to him, If the matter be so bet weene man and wife, it is not good to marry.

11 But he said vnto them, All men cannot receiue this thing, saue they to who it is giuen

12 For there are some Eunuches, which were so borne of their mothers belly: and there be some Eunuches which be gelded by men: and there be some Eunuches, which haue gelded themselves for the kingdom of heauen. He that is able to receiue this, let him receiue it.

13 ¶ Then were brought to him little children, that he should put his hands on them, and pray: and his disciples rebuked them.

14 But Iesus said, Suffer the little children, and forbid them not to come to me: for of such is the kingdom of heauen.

15 And when he had put his hands on them, he departed thence.

16 ¶ And behold, one came and said vnto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may haue eternal life?

17 And he said vnto him, why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, euen God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keepe the commandments.

18 He said to him, Which? And Iesus said, These, Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness:

19 Honour thy father and mother: and, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

20 The yong man said vnto him, I haue obserued all these things from my youth: what lacke I yet?

21 Iesus said vnto him, If thou wilt be perfect, goe sell that thou hast, add giue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come and follow me.

22 And when the yong man heard that saying, he went away sorrowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 ¶ Then Iesus said vnto his disciples, Verely I say vnto you, that a rich man can hardly enter into the kingdom of heauen.

24 And againe, I say vnto you, It is easier for a Camel to go thorow the eye of an needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

25 And when his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saved?

26 And Iesus beheld them, and sayd vnto them, With men this is ynpossible, but with God all things are possible.

27 ¶ Then answered Peter, and sayd to him, Behold, we haue forsaken al, and followed thee: what therefore shall we haue?

28 ¶ And Iesus said vnto them, Verely I say to you, that when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his maiesty, ye which followed me, in the regeneration, shall sit also vpon twelue thrones, and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel.

29 And whosoever shall forsake houses, or brethren, or sister, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my Names sake, he shall receiue an hundred fold more, and shall inherite euertlasting life.

FOR the kingdom of heauen is like vnto a certaine housholder, which went out at the dawning of the day to hire labourers into his vineyard.

2 And he agreed with the labourers for a penie a day, and sent them into his vineyard.

3 And he went out about the third houre, & saw other standing idle in the market place;

4 And said vnto them, Go ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, I will giue you: and they went their way.

5 Again he went out about the sixth and ninth houre, and did likewise.

6 And he went about the eleuenth houre and found other standing idle, and sayd vnto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle?

7 They sayd vnto him, Because no man hath hired vs. He said to them, Go ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, that shall ye receiue.

8 ¶ And when euen was come, the master of the vineyard said vnto his steward, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning at at the last, till thou come to the first.

9 And they which were hired about the eleventh houre came and receiued euery man a penie.

10 Now when the first came, they supposed that they should receiue more, but they likewise receiued euery man a penie.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house, 12 Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equal vnto vs, which haue borne the burden and heat of the day.

13 And he answered one of them, saying, Friend, I doe thee no wrong: didst thou not agree with me for a penie?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and goe thy way: I will giue vnto this last as much as to thee.

15 Is it not lawfull for me to doe as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye euill, because I am good?

16 * So the last shalbe first, and the first last: for many are called, but few chosen.

17 * And Iesus went vp to Hierusalem, and tooke the twelve disciples apart in the way, and said vnto them,

18 Behold, we goe vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall bee deliuered vnto the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, 19 And shall deliuer him to the Gentiles, to mocke, and to scourge, and to crucifie him, but the third day he shall rise againe.

20 Then came to him the mother of Zebedeus children with her sonnes, worshipping him, and desiring a certaine thing of him.

21 And he said vnto her, What wouldest thou? She said to him, Grant that these my two sonnes may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdom.

22 And Iesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye aske. Are ye able to drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and to bee baptized with the baptisme that I shalbe baptized with? They said to him, We are able.

23 And he said vnto them, Ye shall drinke indeed of my cup, and shall be baptized with the baptisme that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is not mine to giue: but it shall bee giuen to them for whom it is prepared of my Father, 24 * And when the other tenne heard this, they disdained at the two brethren.

25 Therefore Iesus called them vnto him, and said, Ye know that the lords of the Gentiles haue dominatiou ouer them, and they that are great, exercise authoritie ouer them.

26 But it shall not bee so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your seruant.

27 And whosoever will be chiefe among you, let him be your seruant.

28 * Euen as the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ransom of many.

29 ¶ And as they departed from Iericho, a great multitude followed him.

30 And behold, two blinde men, sitting by the way side, when they heard that Iesus passed by, cried, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should holdeth their peace: but they cryed the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

32 Then Iesus stood still, and called them; and said, What will ye that I should doe to you?

33 They said to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 And Iesus moued with compassion, touched their eyes, and immediately their eyes receiued sight, and they followed him.

of God, and cast out all them^a that sold and bought in the Temple, and overthrow the tables of the money changers, and the seats of them that sold doves, 13 And said to them, It is written, ^b My house shall be called the house of prayer: but ye haue made it a denne of theetues.

14 Then the blinde, and the halt came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

15 But when the chiefe Priests & Scribes saw the maruiles that he did, and the children crying in the Temple, and saying, Hosanna to the Sonne of Dauid, they did disdain, 16 And said vnto him, Hearest thou what these say? And Iesus said vnto them, Yea: read ye neuer, ^c By the mouth of babes & sucklings thou hast made perfect the praise?

17 ¶ So he left them, and went out of the citie into Bethania, and lodged there.

18 And in the morning, as he returned into the citie, he was hungry.

19 And seeing a figge tree in the way, came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaues onely, and sayd to it, Neuer fruit growe on thee henceforwards. And anon the fig tree withered.

20 And when his disciples sawe it, they marueiled, saying, How soone is the fig tree withered!

21 And Iesus answered and saide vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, if yee haue faith, and doubt not, ye shall not onely doe that, which I haue done to the figge tree, but also if yee say vnto this mountaine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, it shall be done.

22 And whatsoeuer ye shall aske in prayer, if ye beleue, ye shall receiue it.

23 ¶ And when hee was come into the Temple, the chiefe Priests, and the Elders of the people came vnto him, as he was teaching, and said, By what authoritie doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie?

24 Then Iesus answered & said vnto them, I also will aske of you a certaine thing, which if you tell me, I likewise will tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

25 The^m baptisme of Iohn, whence was it? fromⁿ heauen, or of men? Then they^o reasoned among themselues, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say vnto vs, Why did yee not then beleue him?

26 And if we say, Of men, wee feare the multitude, ^p for all hold Iohn as a Prophet.

27 Then they answered Iesus, and saide, We cannot tell. And he said vnto them, Neither tell I you by what authoritie I doe these things.

28 ¶ But what thinke yee? A certaine man had two sonnes, and came to the elder, and sayd, Sonne, goe and worke to day in my vineyard.

29 But he answered, and sayd, I will not:

yet afterward he repented himselfe, and went.

30 Then came he to the second, and sayd likewise. And hee answered, and sayd, I will, Sir: yet he went not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the will of the father? They said vnto him, The first. Iesus said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that the Publicanes and the harlots^q go before you into the kingdome of God.

32 For Iohn came vnto you in the way of righteousness, and ye beleueed him not: but the Publicanes, and the harlots beleueed him, and ye, though yee sawe it, were not moued with repentance afterward, that ye might beleue him.

33 ¶ Heare another parable, There was a certaine housholder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and made a wine presse therein, and built a rowre, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange cuntry.

34 And when the tins of the fruit drewe neere, he sent his seruants to the husbandmen to receiue the fruits thereof.

35 And the husbandmen tooke his seruants, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Againe he sent other seruants, moethen the first: and they did the like vnto them.

37 But last of all hee sent vnto them his owne sonne, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen sawe the sonne, they said among themselues, ^r This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and let vs take his inheritance.

39 So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

40 When therefore the Lord of the vineyard shall come, what will he doe to those husbandmen?

41 They said vnto him, Hee will cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard vnto other husband men, which shall deliuer him the fruits in their seasons.

42 Iesus said vnto them, Read yee neuer in the Scriptures, ^s The stone which the builders refused, the same is made the head of the corner? This was the Lords doing, and it is marueilous in our eyes.

43 Therefore I say vnto you, The kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and shall be giuen to a nation, which shall bring foorth the fruits thereof.

44 And whosoever shall fall on this stone, he shall be broken: but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will dash him in pieces.

45 And when the chiefe Priests and Pharises had heard his parables, they perceiued that he spake of them.

46 And they seeking to lay hands on him, feared the people, because they tooke him as a Prophet.

And Iesus went out, and departed from the Temple, & his disciples came to him, to shew him the building of the Temple.

2 And Iesus said vnto them, See ye not all these things? Verely I say vnto you, there shall not bee here left a stone vpon a stone, that shall not be cast downe.

3 And as hee sat vpon the mount of Oliues, his disciples came vnto him apart, saying, Tell vs when these things shall bee, and what signe shall be of thy comming, and of the ende of the world.

4 And Iesus answered, & said vnto them, Take heed that no man deceiue you.

5 For many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many.

6 And yee shall heare of warres, and rumours of warres: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to passe, but the end is not yet.

7 For nation shall arise against nation, and realme against realme, and there shall bee famine, and pestilence, and earthquakes in diuers places.

8 All these are but the beginning of sorrows.

9 Then shall they deliuer you vp to bee afflicted, and shall kill you, and ye shall be hated of all nations for my Names sake.

10 And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.

11 And many false prophets shall arise, and shall deceiue many.

12 And because iniquitie shall be increased, the loue of many shall be cold.

13 But he that endureth to the ende, he shall be saved.

14 And this Gospel of the kingdom shall be preached thorow the whole world for a witnesse vnto all nations, and then shall the end come.

19 And woe shall be to them that are with childe, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes.

6 And when Iesus was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper, 7 There came vnto him a woman, which had a box of very costly ointment, and powdered it on his head, as he sat at the table.

8 And when his disciples saw it, they had indignation, saying, What needed this waste?

9 For this ointment might have bene sold for much, and bene giuen to the poore.

10 And Iesus knowing it, said vnto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for shee hath wrought a good worke vpon me.

11 For ye haue the poore alwayes with you, but me shall ye not haue alwayes.

12 For in that she powdered this ointment on my body, shee did it to burie me.

13 Verely I say vnto you, Whereſoeuer this Gospel shall be preached thorowout all the world, there shall also this that she hath done, be spoken of for a memorie of her.

14 ¶ Then one of the twelue, called Iudas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe Priests, 15 And said, What will ye giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? and they appointed vnto him thirtie pieces of siluer.

16 And from that time, hee sought opportunity to betray him.

17 ¶ Now on the first day of the feast of unleavened bread the disciples came to Iesus, saying vnto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eate the Pasche?

18 And hee said, Goe ye into the citie to such a man, and say to him, The Master saith, My time is at hand: I will keepe the Pasche at thine house with my disciples?

19 And the disciples did as Iesus had giuen them charge, and made readie the Pasche.

20 So when the euen was come, hee fate downe with the twelue.

21 And as they did eate, hee said, Verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorrowful, and began euery one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master?

23 And hee answered, and said, Hee that dippeth his hand with me in the dish, he shall betray me.

24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if hee had neuer bene borne.

¶ This was the fourteenth day of the first moneth: and the first day of unleavened bread, for Iudas had bene the sycamore, but because this dayes evening (which after the manner of the Romans was referred to the day before) did belong by the Lawes manner to the day following, therefore it is called the first day of unleavened bread. Luke 22. 14. b Because the Law appointed therto be shed, and haue their staves in their hands, as though they were in haste, thereby it is to be gathered, that they fate not downe when they did eate the Pasche, but stood, for otherwise when they went to meate, they put off their shoes: therefore he saith here in this place, not of the Pasche, but of the Supper which was celebrated after that the Pasche was solemnly done. Mark 14. 8. John 13. 21. c That is to say, whom I vouchsafed to come to my table, alluding to the place, Psal. 41. 10. which is not so to be understood, as though at the selfe same instant that the Lord spake these words, Iudas had had his hand in the dish (for that had bene an vnadvised taken) but it is meant of this tabling and eating with him.

25 Then Iudas which betrayed him, answered and said, Is it I, master? Hee sayd vnto him, Thou hast said it.

26 ¶ And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had blessed it, he brake it, and gaue it to the disciples, and sayd, Take, eate: this is my body.

27 Also he tooke the cup, and when hee had giuen thanks, he gaue it them, saying, Drinke ye all of it.

28 For this is my blood of the new Testament, that is shed for many for the remission of sinnes.

29 I say vnto you, that I will not drinke henceforth of this fruite of the vine vntill that day, when I shall drinke it new with you in my Fathers kingdom.

30 And when they had sung a Psalm, they went out into the mount of Oliues.

31 ¶ Then said Iesus vnto them, All ye shall bee offended by mee this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheepe of the flocke shall be scattered.

32 But after I am risen againe, I will goe before you into Galile.

33 But Peter answered, and said vnto him, Though that all men should be offended by thee, yet will I neuer be offended.

34 Iesus said vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denie me thrice.

35 Peter said vnto him, Though I should die with thee, I wil in no case denie thee: Likewise also said all the disciples.

36 ¶ Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, and sayd vnto his disciples, Sit ye heere, while I go, and pray yonder.

37 And he tooke vnto him Peter, and the two sonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waxe sorrowfull, and grievously troubled.

38 Then said Iesus vnto them, My soule is very heauy, euen vnto the death: tarry ye heere and watch with me.

39 So he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed saying, O my Father, if it be possible let this cup passe from me: neuertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 After, hee came vnto his disciples, and found them asleepe, and sayd to Peter, What?

could ye not watch with me one houre?

41 Watch, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit in deed is ready, but the flesh is weak.

42 Again he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cuppe cannot passe away from mee, but that I must drinke it, thy will be done.

43 And hee came, and found them asleepe againe, for their eyes were heauie.

44 So he left them, and went away againe, and prayed the thrid time, saying the same words.

45 Then came hee to his disciples, and said vnto them, Slepe hencefoorth, and take your rest: behold, the houre is at hand, & the Sonne of man is giuen into the hands of sinners.

46 Rise, let vs goe: behold, hee is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 And while he yet spake, loe Iudas one of the twelue came, and with him a great multitude with swords and stauers, from the high Priests and Elders of the people.

48 Now hee that betrayed him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kisse, that is he, lay hold on him.

49 And forthwith hee came to Iesus, and said, God saue thee, Master, and kissed him.

50 Then Iesus said vnto him, Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they and laid hands on Iesus, and tooke him.

51 And behold, one of them which were with Iesus, stretcheth out his hand, and drew his sword, & strooke a seruant of the hie Priest, and smote off his eare.

52 Then said Iesus vnto him, Put vp thy sword into his place: for all that take the sword, shall perish with the sword.

53 Either thinkest thou, that I cannot now pray vnto my Father, and he wil giue me moe then twelue legions of Angels.

54 How then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?

55 The same houre said Iesus to the multitude, Ye be come out as it were against a thief, with swords and stauers to take me: I fate dayly teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled. Then all the disciples forooke him and fled.

57 And they tooke Iesus, and led him to Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.

58 And Peter followed him afarre off vnto the high Priests hall, and went in, and sate with the seruants to see the end.

59 Now the chiefe Priests and the Elders, and all the whole Councill sought false witness against Iesus, to put him to death.

60 But they found none, and though many false witnesses came, yet found they none: but at the last came two false witnesses, 61 And said, This man said, I can destroy the Temple of God, and build it in three dayes.

62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and said to him, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witness against thee?

63 But Iesus held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and said to him, I charge thee sweare vnto vs by the liuing God, to tell vs, If thou be that Christ the Sonne of God, or no.

64 Iesus sayd to him, Thou hast sayd it: neuerthelesse I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man, sitting at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of the heauen.

65 Then the high Priest rent his clothes, saying, Hee hath blasphemed; what haue we any more neede of witnesses? behold, now ye haue heard his blasphemie.

66 What thinke ye? They answered, and said, He is guiltie of death.

67 Then spet they in his face, and buffeted him, and other smote him with rods, 68 Saying, Prophecie to vs, O Christ, Who is he that smote thee?

69 Peter sate without in the hall, and a maide came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galilee.

70 But hee denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.

71 And when he went out into the porch, another maide saw him, and sayd vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazareth.

72 And againe he denied with an othe, saying, I know not the man.

73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stood by, and said vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speech bewrayeth thee.

74 Then began hee to curse himselfe, and to sweare, saying, I know not the man. And immediatly the cocke crew.

75 Then Peter remembered the wordes of Iesus, which had sayd vnto him, Before the cocke crow thou shalt denie me thrice. So he went out, and wept bitterly.

5 And when he had cast downe the siluer pieces in the Temple, hee departed, and went, and hanged himselfe.

11 ¶ And Iesus stood before the gouernour, and the gouernour asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Iewes? Iesus said vnto him, Thou sayest it.

12 And when he was accused of the chiefe Priests and Elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then said Pilate vnto him, Hearest thou not how many things they lay against thee?

14 But he answered him not to one word, in so much that the Gouernour marueiled greatly.

15 Now at the feast, the gouernour was wont to deliuer vnto the people a prisoner whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner called Barabbas.

17 When they were then gathered together, Pilate said vnto them, Whether will yee that I let loose vnto you Barabbas, or Iesus which is called Christ?

18 (For hee knew well, that for enuie they had deliuered him.

19 Also when hee was set downe vpon the iudgement seate, his wife sent to him, saying, Haue thou nothing to doe with that iust man: for I haue suffered many things this day in a dreame by reason of him.)

20 * But the chiefe Priests and the Elders had perswaded the people that they should aske Barabbas, and should destroy Iesus.

21 Then the gouernour answered, and said vnto them, Whether of the twaine will yee that I let loose vnto you? And they said, Barabbas.

22 Pilate said vnto them, What shall I doe then with Iesus, which is called Christ? They all said to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then said the gouernour, But what euill hath he done? Then they cried the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

24 ¶ When Pilate saw that hee auailed nothing, but that more tumult was made, hee tooke water and swashed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this iust man: looke you to it.

25 Then answered all the people and said, His blood be on vs and on our children.

26 Thus let he Barabbas loose vnto them, and scourged Iesus, and deliuered him to be crucified.

27 ¶ Then the souldiers of the gouernour tooke Iesus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band,

28 And they stripped him, and put about him a skarlet robe,

29 And platted a crowne of thornes, and put it vpon his head, and a reede in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God saue thee king of the Iewes,

30 And spitted vpon him, and tooke a reede, and smote him on the head.

31 Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne raiment on him, and ledde him away to crucifie him.

32 And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his crosse.

33 ¶ And when they came vnto the place called Golgotha, (that is to say, the place of dead mens skulles)

34 They gaue him vineger to drinke, mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drinke.

35 ¶ And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did cast lottes, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, * They diuided my garments among them, and vpon my vesture did cast lottes.

36 And they sat and watched him there.

37 ¶ They set vp also ouers his head, his cause written, THIS IS IESVS THE KING OF THE IEWES.

38 ¶ And there were two theues crucified with him, on on the right hand, and another on the left.

39 And they that passed by, reuiled him, wagging their heads, 40 And saying, * Thou that destroyest the Temple, and buildest it in three daies, saue thy selfe: if thou be the Sonne of God, come down from the crosse.

41 Likewise also the high Priests mocking him, with the Scribes, and Elders, and Pharises, said, 42 Hee saued others, but hee cannot saue himselfe: if he bee the King of Israel, let him now come downe from the crosse, and we will beleue in him.

43 * Hee trusted in God, let him deliuer him now, if he will haue him: for he said, I am the Sonne of God.

44 The selfe same thing also the theeuers which were crucified with him, cast in his teeth.

45 Now from the fixt houre was there darknesse ouer all the land, vnto the ninth houre.

46 And about the ninth houre Iesus cryed with a lowde voyce, saying, *Eli, Eli, lamafabachthani? that is, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

47 And some of them that stood there, when they heard it, sayd, This man calleth Elias.

48 And straightway one of them ranne, and tooke a sponge and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke.

49 Other sayd, Let be: let vs see, if Elias will come and saue him.

50 Then Iesus cryed againe with a loude voyce, and yelded vp the ghost, 51 And behold, the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the toppe to the bottome, and the earth did quake, and the stones were cleuen.

52 And the graues did open themselues, and many bodies of the Saintes, which slept, arose, 53 And came our of the graues after his resurrection, and went into the holy citie, and appeared vnto many.

54 When the Centurion, and they that were with him watching Iesus sawe the earthquake, and the things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truly this was the Sonne of God.

55 And many women were there, beholding him afarre off, which had followed Iesus from Galile, ministring vnto him.

56 Among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of Iames, and Ioses, and the mother of Zebedeus sonnes.

57 And when the euen was come, there came a rich man of Arimathea, named Ioseph, who had also himselfe bene Iesus disciple.

58 He went to Pilate, and asked the bodie of Iesus. Then Pilate commanded the bodie to be deliuered.

59 So Ioseph tooke the body, and wrapped it in a cleane linnen cloth, 60 And put it in his new tombe, which hee had hewed out in a rocke, and rolled a great stone to the doore of the sepulchre, and departed.

61 And there was Mary Magdalene, & the other Mary, sitting ouer against the sepulchre.

62 Now the next day that followed the Preparation of the Sabbath, the hie Priests and Pharises assembled to Pilate, 63 And said, Sir, wee remember that that deceiuer said, while he was yet aliue, Within three dayes I will rise.

64 Commaund therefore, that the sepulchre be made sure vntill the third day, lest his disciples come by night, and steale him away, and say vnto the people, Hee is risen from the dead: so shall the last error be worse then the first.

65 Then Pilate said vnto them, Yee haue a watch: goe, and make it sure as ye know.

66 And they went, and made the sepulchre sure with the watch, and sealed the stone.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The women goe to the sepulchre. 2 The Angel. 3 The women see Christ. 18 Hee sendeth his Apostles to preach.

Now in the end of the Sabbath, when the first day of the weeke beganne to dawne, Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary came to see the sepulchre,

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the Angel of the Lord descended from heauen, and came and rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sat vpon it.

3 And his countenance was like lightening, and his raiment white as snow.

4 And for feare of him, the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and said to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that yee seeke Iesus which was crucified:

6 Hee is not here, for hee is risen, as hee said: come, see the place where the Lord was laid,

7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples, that he is risen from the dead: and behold, hee goeth before you into Galile: there ye shall see him: loe, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great ioy, and did runne to bring his disciples word.

9 And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came, & tooke him by the feet, and worshipped him.

10 Then said Iesus vnto them, Bee not afraid. Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galile, and there shall they see me.

11 Now when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the city, & shewed vnto the hie Priests all the things that were done.

12 And they gathered them together with the Elders, and tooke counsell, and gaue large money vnto the souldiers, 13 Saying, Say, His disciples came by night and stole him away while we slept.

14 And if this matter come before the gouernour to bee heard, wee will perswade him, and so vse the matter that you shall not neede to care.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO S. MARKE.

CHAP. I.

1 Iohn baptizeth. 6 His apparell and meat. 9 Iesus is baptized. 13 Hee is tempted. 14 Hee preacheth the Gospel. 21 and 39 He teacheth in the Synagogues. 23 He healeth one that had a deuill. 29 Peters mother in law. 32 Many diseased persons. 40 The leper.

THe beginning of the Gospel of Iesus Christ, the Sonne of God:

2 * As it is written in the * Prophets, * Behold, I send my messenger ^c before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 * The voice of him that cryeth in the wilderness, ^d, Prepare the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

4 * Iohn did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the ^e baptisme of amendment of life, for remission of finnes.

5 And all the countrey of Iudea, and they of Ierusalem went out vnto him, and were all baptized of him in the riuer Iordan, confessing their finnes.

6 * Now Iohn was clothed with camels haire, and with a girdle of a skinne about his loynes, and hee did eate * locusts and wilde honie,

7 * And preached, saying, A stronger then I cometh after me, whose shoes I latchet I am not worthy to ^f stoupe downe, and vnloose.

8 Truth it is, I haue ^g baptized you with water: but he will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 ¶ * And it came to passe in those dayes, that Iesus came from Nazareth, a citie of Galile, and was baptized of Iohn in Iordan.

10 ^h And as soone as hee was come out of the water, Iohn sawe the heauens clouen in twaine, and the holy Ghost descending vpon him like a doue.

11 Then there was a voice from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued Sonne, in whom I am ⁱ well pleased.

12 * And immediately the spirit driueth him into the wilderness.

13 And he was there in the wilderness forty dayes, and was tempted of Satan: hee was also with the wilde beasts, and the Angels ministered vnto him.

14 ¶ * Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching the Gospel of the kingdome of God.

15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleeue the Gospel.

16 ¶ * And as hee walked by the sea of Galile, hee sawe Simon and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea, (for they were fishers.)

17 Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you to be fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 ^j And when he had gone a little further thence, hee sawe Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the shippe with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 ¶ So * they entred into ^k Capernaum, and straightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonished at his doctrine, * for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the Scribes.

23 ¶ And there was in their Synagogue, a man ^l in whome was an vnclane spirit, and he cryed out,

24 Saying, Ah, what haue we to doe with thee, O ^m Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Holde

26 And the vncleane spirit tare him, and cryed with a oude voice, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, so that they demanded one of another, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for hee commandeth euen the foule spirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediatly his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galilee.

29 And as soone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with Iames and Iohn.

30 And Simons wiues mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they told him of her.

31 And he came and tooke her by the hand, and lifted her vp, and the feuer forooke her by and by, and she ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, at what time the sunne setteth, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with deuils.

33 And the whole city was gathered together at the doore.

34 And he healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and hee cast out many deuils, and suffered not the deuils to say that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitarie place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed carefully after him.

37 And when they had found him, they said vnto him, All men seeke for thee.

38 Then he said vnto them, Let vs goe into the next townes, that I may preach there also: for I came out for that purpose.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues throughout all Galilee, and cast the deuils out.

40 And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeled downe vnto him, and said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Iesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I will: be thou cleane.

42 And as soone as hee had spoken, imme-diatly the leprosie departed from him, and hee was made cleane.

43 And after hee had giuen him a straite commandement, hee sent him away forthwith,

44 And said vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and shew thy selfe to the Priests, and offer for thy cleansing these things, which Moses comanded, for a testimoniall vnto them.

45 But when he was departed, he began to tell many things, and to publish the matter:
so that Iesus could no more openly enter into the city, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from euery quarter.

CHAP. II.

3. and 4. One sicke of the palsie, hauing his finnes forgiven him, is healed. 14. Matthew is called. 15. Fastings and afflictions are foretold. 23. The disciples plucke the eares of corne. 26. The shew bread.

After a fewe dayes, he entred into Capernaum againe, and it was noted that he was in the house.

1 And anon, many gathered together, in so much that the places about the doore could not receiue any more: and hee preached the word vnto them.

2 And there came vnto him, that brought one sicke of the palsie, borne of foure men.

3 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncouered the rooffe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed, wherein the sicke of the pal-sie lay.

4 Now when Iesus saw their faith, he said to the sicke of the palsie, Sonne, thy finnes are forgiuen thee.

5 And there were certaine of the Scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

6 Why doeth this man speake such blas-phemies? who can forgiue finnes, but God onely?

7 And immediatly when Iesus perceived in his spirit, that thus they reasoned with themselves, he said vnto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

8 Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palsie, Thy finnes are forgiuen thee? or to say, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and walke?

9 But that yee may know, that the sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgiue sins, (he said vnto the sicke of the palsie)

10 I say vnto thee, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and get thee hence into thine own house.

11 And by and by hee arose, and tooke vp his bed, and went forth before them all, in so much that they were all amazed, and glorified God, saying, Wee neuer saw such a thing.

12 Then he went forth againe toward the sea, and all the people resorted vnto him, and he taught them.

13 And as Iesus passed by, he saw 8 Leui

17 Now when Iesus heard it hee sayd vnto them, The whole haue no neede of the Physicion, but the sicke. I came not to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

18 * And the disciples of Iohn, and the Pharises did fast, and came and said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn, and of the Pharises fast, and thy disciples fast not?

19 And Iesus said vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber fast, whiles the bridegrome is with them? as long as they haue the bridegrome with them, they cannot fast, 23 ¶ And it came to passe as hee went through the corne on the Sabbath day, that his disciples, as they went on their way, began to plucke the eares of corne.

24 And the Pharises said vnto him, Behold, why doe they on the Sabbath day that which is not lawfull?

25 And hee sayd to them, Haue ye neuer read what David did when he had need, and was an hungred, both he, and they that were with him?

CHAP. III.

1 The withered hand is healed. 6 The Pharises consult with the Herodians. 10 Many are healed by touching Christ. 11 At his sight the deuils fall downe before him. 14 The twelue Apostles. 24 The kingdome diuided against it selfe. 29 Blasphemie against the holy Ghost. 33 Christs parents.

And * hee entred againe into the Synagogue, and there was a man which had a withered hand.

2 And they watched him, whether he would heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse him.

Whereas contrariwise, they should haue learned out of this, the true vse of the ceremoniall law. a That is, vnprofitable and dead.

3 Then hee said vnto the man which had the withered hand, Arise: stand forth in the middes.

4 And he said to them, Is it lawfull to doe a good deede on the Sabbath day, or to doe euill? to saue the life, or to kill? But they held their peace.

5 Then hee looked round about on them angrily, mourning also for the hardness of their hearts, and said to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored, as whole as the other.

6 ¶ And the Pharises departed, and straightway gathered a councill with the Herodians against him, that they might destroy him.

7 But Iesus auoided with his Disciples to the sea: and a great multitude followed him from Galilee, and from Iudea, 8 And from Ierusalem, and from Idumea, and beyond Iorden: and they that dwelled about Tyrus and Sydon, when they had heard what great things hee did, came vnto him in great number.

9 And hee commaunded his Disciples, that a little shippe should waite for him, because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.

10 For he had healed many, insomuch that they preased vpon him to touch him, as many as had plagues.

11 And when the vnclane spirits saw him, they fell downe before him, and cried, saying, Thou art the sonne of God.

12 And hee sharply rebuked them, to the end they should not vtter him.

13 ¶ Then he went vp into a mountaine, and called vnto him whom he would, and they came vnto him.

14 And hee appointed twelue, that they should bee with him, and that hee might send them to preach, 15 And that they might haue power to heale sicknesses, and to cast out deuils.

16 And the first was Simon, and he named Simon, Peter.

17 Then James the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn Iames brother (and surnamed them Boanerges, which is, the sonnes of thunder.)

18 And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartlemew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and Iames the sonne of Alphaeus, and Thaddeus, and Simon the Cananite, 19 And Iudas Iscariot, who also betrayed him, and they came home.

20 And the multitude assembled againe, so that they could not so much as eate bread.

21 And when his kinsfolkes heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him: for they said that he was beside himselfe.

22 ¶ And the Scribes which came downe

q The disciples whom Christ had taken to be of his traine and line with him, come home to his house, to be with him alwayes after.

r None are worse enemies of the Gospel, then they that from Hierusalem, said, He hath Beelzebub, and through the prince of the devils he casteth out devils.

23 But hee called them vnto him, and said vnto them in parables, How can Satan driue out Satan?

24 For if a kingdome be diuided against it selfe, that kingdome cannot stand.

25 Or if a house bee diuided against it selfe, that house cannot continue.

26 So if ^o Satan make insurrection against himselfe, and be diuided, he cannot endure, but is at an end.

27 No man can enter into a strong mans house, and take away his goods; except hee first binde that strong man, and then spoyle his house.

28 ¶ ^o Verily I say vnto you, all finnes shall be forgiven vnto the children of men, and blasphemies, wherewith they blaspheme:

29 But he that blasphemeth against the holy Ghost, shall neuer haue forgiveness, but is culpable of eternall damnation.

30 ¶ Because they said, He had an vncleane spirit.

31 ¶ Then came his brethren and mother, and stood without, and sent vnto him, and called him.

32 And the people sate about him, and they said vnto him, Behold, thy mother, and thy brethren seeke for thee without.

33 But hee answered them, saying, Who is my mother and my brethren?

34 ¶ And he looked round about on them, which sate in compasse about him, and said, Behold my mother and my brethren.

35 For whosoever doeth the will of God, hee is my brother, and my sister, and my mother.

4 The parable of the sower, 14 And the meaning thereof. 18 Thornes. 22 The candle. 26 Of him that sowed, and when slept. 31 The graine of mustard seeds. 38 Christ sleepeth in the ship.

¶ And ^a hee beganne againe to teach by the sea side, and there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that hee entred into a ship, and sate ^b in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the land.

2 And hee taught them many things in parables, and said vnto them in his doctrine,

3 ¶ Hearken: Behold, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to passe as hee sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the fowles of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp.

5 And some fell on stonie ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But as soone as the sunne was vp, it was burnt vp, and because it had not roote, it withered away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruit.

8 ¶ Some againe fell in good ground, and did yeeld fruit that sprong vp, and grew, and it brought forth, some thirtie fold, some fixtie fold, and some an hundred fold.

9 ¶ Then hee said vnto them, Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when he was alone, they that were about him with the twelve, asked him of the parable.

11 And he said vnto them, To you it is giuen to know the mysterie of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are without, all things be done in parables, 12 ¶ That they seeing, may see, and not discern: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their finnes should be forgiven them.

13 Againe he said vnto them, Perceiue yee not this parable? how then should yee vnderstand all other parables?

14 The sower soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receiue the feede by the wayes side, in whom the word is sowne: but when they haue heard it, Satan commeth immediatly, and taketh away the word that was sowne in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receiue the feede in stonie ground, are they, which when they haue heard the word, straightwayes receiue it with gladnesse.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themselves, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediatly they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the feede among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares ^f of this world, and the deceitfulnesse of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued feede in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, and bring forth fruite: one corne thirtie, another fixtie, and some an hundred.

21 ¶ Also hee said vnto them, ¶ Commeth the candle in, to bee put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlestick?

22 ¶ For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 ¶ And hee said vnto them, Take heede what ye heare. ¶ With what measure yee mete it shall bee measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more be giuen.

25 ¶ For vnto him that hath, shall be giuen, and from him that hath not shall bee taken away, euen that he hath.

27 And it should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the seede should spring and grow vp, he not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth forth fruit of it selfe, first the blade, then the earre, after that full cometh in the earre.

29 And as soone as the fruit sheweth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.

30 ¶ Hee said moreover, Whereunto shall wee liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it?

31 It is like a graine of mustard seed, which when it is sown in the earth, is the least of all seedes that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sown, it groweth vp, and is greater of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the fowles of heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And with many such parables he preached the word vnto them, as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake he nothing vnto them: but hee expounded all things to his disciples apart.

35 ¶ Now the same day when euen was come, he said vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, and tooke him as he was in the ship, and there were also with him other little ships.

37 And there arose a great storme of wind, and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And hee was in the sterne asleepe on a pillow: and they awoke him, and said to him, Master, carest thou not that we perish?

39 And he rose vp, and rebuked the wind, and said vnto the sea, Peace, and be still. So the winde ceased, and it was a great calme.

40 Then he said vnto them, Why are yee so fearefull? how is it that ye haue no faith?

41 And they feared exceedingly, and sayd one to another, Who is this, that both the wind and sea obey him?

¶ And they came ouer to the other side of the sea into the countrey of the Gadarenes.

2 And when he was come out of the ship, there met him incontinently out of the graues, a man which had an vnclane spirit:

3 Who had his abiding among the graues, and no man could binde him, no nor with chaines.

4 Because that when he was often bound with fetters and chains, he plucked the chaines asunder, and brake the fetters in pieces, neither could any man tame him.

5 And alwaies both night and day he cried in the mountaines and in the graues, O stroke himselfe with stones.

6 And when he saw Iesus as he passed off, hee ran and worshipped him.

7 And cryed with a lowd voyce, and sayd, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the Sonne of the most high God? I wil that thou sweare to me by God, that thou torment me not.

8 (For he said vnto him, Come out of the man, thou vnclane spirit.)

9 And hee asked him, What is thy name? and he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for we are many.

10 And hee prayed him instantly, that he would not send them away out of the countrey.

11 Now there was there in the mountaines a great herd of swine, feeding.

12 And all the deuils besought him, saying, Send vs into the swine, that we may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Iesus gave them leaue. Then the vnclane spirits went out, and entred into the swine, and the herd ran headlong from the high banke into the sea (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were choked vp in the sea.

14 And the swineherds fled, and told it in the citie, and in the countrey, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and sawe him that had been possessed with the deuill, and had the legion, sit both clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

16 And they that saw it, tolde them, what was done to him that was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that hee would depart from their coastes.

18 And when hee was come into the ship, he that had been possessed with the deuill, praised him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Iesus would not suffer him but said vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and shew them what great things the Lord hath done vnto thee, and how he hath had compassion on thee.

20 So he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did maruile.

21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer again by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered together to him, and hee was nere vnto the sea.

14 ¶ Then King Herod heard of him (for his name was made manifest) and sayd, John Baptist is risen againe from the dead, and there-fore great workes are wrought by him.

15 Other sayd, It is Elias, and some said, It is a Prophet, or as one of those Prophets.

16 ¶ So when Herod heard it, he said, it is John whom I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.

17 For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philips wife, because he had married her.

18 For Iohn said vnto Herod, *It is not lawfull for thee to haue thy brothers wife.

19 Therefore Herodias layde waite against him, and would haue killed him, but she could not.

20 For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that he was a iust man, and an holy, and reuerenced him, and when he heard him, hee did many things, and heard him gladly.

21 But the time being conuenient, when Herod on his birth day made a banquet to his princes and captaines, and chiefe estates of Galile.

22 And the daughter of the same Herodias came in, and danced, and pleased Herod, and them that sate at table together, the King said vnto the maide, Aske of mee what thou wilt, and I will giue it thee.

23 And he sware vnto her, Whatsoeuer thou shalt aske of mee, I will giue it thee, even vnto the halfe of my kingdom.

24 ¶ So she went forth and said to her mother, What shall I aske? And she said, Iohn Baptists head.

25 Then she came in straightway with haste vnto the king, and asked, saying, I would that thou shouldst giue mee even now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptist.

26 Then the king was very sorry: yet for his oaths sake, and for their sakes which sate at table with him, he would not refuse her.

27 And immediatly the king sent the hangman, and gaue charge that his head should bee brought in. So he went and beheaded him in the prison, 28 And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the maide, and the maide gaue it to her mother.

29 And when his Disciples heard it, they came and tooke vp his body, and put it in a tombe.

they had no leasure to eate.

32 ¶ So they went by ship out of the way into a desert place.

33 But the people saw them when they departed, and many knew him, and ranne a foote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him.

34 ¶ Then Iesus went out, and saw a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like sheepe which had no shepheard: and he began to teach them many things.

35 ¶ And when the day was now farre spent, his disciples came vnto him, saying, This is a desert place, and now the day is farre passed.

36 Let them depart, that they may go into the countrey and townes about, and buy them bread: for they haue nothing to eate.

37 But hee answered, and sayde vnto them, Giue yee them to eate. And they sayd vnto him, Shall we goe, and buy two hundred penie worth of bread, and giue them to eate?

38 ¶ Then he said vnto them, How many loaves haue yee? goe and looke. And when they knew it, they said, Fiue, and two fishes.

39 So hee commanded them to make them all sit downe by companies vpon the greene grasse.

40 Then they sate downe by rowes, by hundreds, and by fifties.

41 And hee tooke the fiue loaves, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and gaue thanks, and brake the loaves, and gaue them to his disciples to set before them, and the two fishes he diuided among them all.

42 So they did all eate, and were satisfied.

43 And they tooke vp twelue baskets full of the fragments, and of the fishes.

44 And they that had eaten, were about fiue thousand men.

45 ¶ And straightway he caused his disciples to goe into the ship, and to goe before vnto the other side vnto Bethsaida, while hee sent away the people.

46 Then as soone as he had sent them away, he departed into a mountaine to pray, 47 ¶ And when euen was come, the shippe was in the mids of the Sea, and hee alone on the land.

48 And hee saw them troubled in rowing, (for the wind was contrary vnto them) and about the fourth watch of the night, he came vnto them walking vpon the sea, and would haue passed by them.

49 And when they saw him walking vpon the sea, they supposed it had beene a spirit, and cried out.

50 For they all saw him, and were fore afraid: but anon he talked with them, and saide vnto them, Be of good comfort: it is I, bee not afraide.

51 Then hee went vp vnto them into the ship, and the wind ceased, and they were much

CHAP. VII.

2 The Apostles are found fault with, for eating with unwashen hands. 4 The Pharises traditions about washings. Hypocrites. 8 Mans traditions more set by then Gods. 10 Parents must be honoured. 14 The things that doe in deede defile a man. 25 The woman of Chanaan. 32 The deafe dumbe man is healed.

¶ Then gathered vnto him the Pharises, and certaine of the Scribes which came from Hierusalem.

2 And when they saw some of his disciples eat meat with common hands, (that is to say, vnwashen) they complained.

3 (For the Pharises, and all the Jewes, except they wash their hands oft, eat not, holding the tradition of the Elders.)

4 And when they come from the market, except they wash they eat not: and many other things there bee, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cups, and pots, and of brassen vessels, and of beds.)

5 Then asked him the Pharises and Scribes, Why walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eat meat with vnwashen hands?

6 Then he answered and said vnto them, Surely I say hath prophesied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with lips, but their heart is farre away from me.

7 But they worship me in vaine, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.

8 For ye lay the commandment of God apart, and obserue the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and of cups, and many other such like things ye doe.

9 And he said vnto them, Well, ye reiect the commandment of God, that ye may obserue your owne tradition.

10 For Moses said, Honour thy father and thy mother: and Whosoever shall speake euill of father or mother, let him & die the death.

11 But ye say, If a man say to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by mee, thou mayest haue profit, he shall be free.

12 So ye suffer him no more to doe any thing for his father, or his mother;

13 Making the word of God of none authority, by your tradition which ye haue ordeined, and ye doe many such like things.

14 Then he called the whole multitude vnto him, and said vnto them, Harken you all vnto me, and vnderstand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entreth into him: but the things which proceede out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when he came into an house, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he said vnto them, What? are ye without vnderstanding also? Do ye not know that whatsoeuer thing from without entreth into a man, cannot defile him, 19 Because it entreth not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught, which is the purging of all meates?

20 Then he said, That which commeth out of man, that defileth man.

21 For from within, euen out of the heart of men, proceede euill thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, 22 Thefts, couetousnesse, wickednesse, deceit, vncleannesse, a wicked eye, backbiting, pride, foolishnesse.

23 All these euill things come from within, and defile a man.

24 ¶ And from thence he arose, and went into the borders of Tyrus and Sidon, and entered into an house, and would that no man should haue knowen: but hee could not be hid.

25 For certaine woman, whose litle daughter had an vncleane spirit, heard of him, and came and fell at his feete, 26 (And the woman was a Greeke, a Syrophenissian bynation) and she besought him that he would cast out the deuill out of her daughter.

27 But Iesus said vnto her, Let the children first bee fed: for it is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it vnto whelpes.

28 Then shee answered, and sayd vnto him, Truth Lord, yet in deede the whelpes eate vnder the table of the childrens crummes.

29 Then hee sayd vnto her, For this saying goe thy way: the deuill is gone out of thy daughter.

30 And when shee was come home to her house,

IN * those dayes, when there was a very Igreat multitude, and had nothing to eate, Iesus calleth his disciples to him, and sayd vnto them,

2 I haue compassion on the multitude, because they haue now continued with me three dayes, and haue nothing to eate.

3 And if I send them away fasting to their owne houses, they would faint by the way: for some of them came from farre.

4 Then his disciples answered him, Whence can a man satisfie these with bread here in the wilderness?

5 And he asked them, How many loaves haue ye? And they said, Seuen.

6 Then he commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground: and he tooke the seuen loaves, and gaue thanks, brake them, and gaue to his disciples to set before them, and they did set them before the people.

7 They had also a fewe small fishes: and when he had giuen thanks, hee commanded them also to be set before them.

8 So they did eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the broken meat that was left, seuen baskets full.

9 (And they that had eaten, were about foure thousand) so he sent them away.

10 ¶ And anon he entred into a ship with his disciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanutha.

11 * And the Pharises came forth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a signe from heauen, and tempting him.

12 Then hee sighed deeply in his spirit, and sayd, Why doeth this generation seeke a signe? Verely I say vnto you, A signe shall not be giuen vnto this generation.

13 ¶ So hee left them, and went into the ship againe, and departed to the other side.

14 ¶ And they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them but one loafe.

15 And hee charged them, saying, Take heede, and beware of the leauen of the Pharises, and of the leauen of Herod.

16 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is, because we haue no bread.

17 And when Iesus knew it, hee said vnto them, Why reason you thus, because yee haue no bread? perceiue ye not yet, neither vnderstand? haue ye your hearts yet hardened?

18 Haue ye eyes, and see not? and haue ye eares, and heare not? and doe ye not remember?

19 * When I brake the fiue loaves among fiue thousand, how many baskets full of broken meat tooke yee vp? They said vnto him, Twelue.

20 And when I brake seuen among foure thousand, how many baskets of the leauings of broken meat tooke ye vp? And they said, Seuen.

21 Then he said vnto them, How is it that ye vnderstand not?

22 And hee came to Bethsaida, and they brought a blinde man vnto him, and desired him to touch him.

23 Then hee tooke the blinde by the hand, and led him out of the towne, and spat in his eyes, and put his hands vpon him, and asked him, if he saw ought.

24 And he looked vp, and said, I see men: for I see them walking like trees.

25 After that, he put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him looke againe. And he was restored to his sight, and saw euery man as farre off clearely.

26 And hee sent him home to his house, saying, Neither goe into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne.

27 ¶ And Iesus went out, and his disciples into the townes of Cesarea Philippi. And by the way he asked his disciples, saying vnto them, Whom doe men say that I am?

And he said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death till they haue seene the kingdom of God come with power.

2 11 And sixe dayes after, Iesus taketh vnto him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and carrieth them vp into an high mountaine out of the way alone, and his shape was changed before them.

3 And his raiment did shine, and was very white as snow, so white as no fuller can make vpon the earth.

4 And there appeared vnto them Elias with Moses, and they were talking with Iesus.

5 Then Peter answered, and said to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs make also three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 Yet he knew not what he said: for they were afraid.

7 And there was a cloude that shadowed them, and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, *This is my welbeloued Sonne: heare him.

8 And suddenly they looked round about, and sawe no more any man saue Iesus onely with them.

9 11 And as they came downe from the mountaine, he charged them that they should tell no man what they had seene, saue when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe.

10 So they kept the matter to themselves, and demanded one of another, what the rising from the dead againe should meane?

11 12 Also they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, that *Elias must first come?

12 And he answered, and sayd vnto them, Elias verely shall first come, and restore all things: and *as it is written of the Sonne of man, he must suffer many things, and be set at nought.

13 But I say vnto you, that Elias is come, (and they haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would) as it is written of him.

14 ¶ 14 And when he came to his disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were amased, and ranne to him, and saluted him.

16 Then he asked the Scribes, What dispute you among yourselves?

17 And one of the company answered, and said, Master, I haue brought my sonne vnto thee, which hath a dumbe spirit:

18 And wheresoeuer he taketh him, hee teareth him, and he someth, and gnasheth his teeth, and pincheth away: and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast him out, and they could not.

19 Then hee answered him, and said, O faithlesse generation, how long now shall I be with you! how long now shall I suffer you! Bring him vnto me.

20 So they brought him vnto him: and as soone as the spirit saw him, he tare him, and he fel down on the ground wallowing & foaming.

21 Then hee asked his father, How long time is it since he hath been thus? And he said, Of a childe.

22 And oft times hee casteth him into the fire, and into the water to destroy him: but if thou canst doe any thing, helpe vs, and haue compassion vpon vs.

23 And Iesus said vnto him, If thou canst beleuee it, all things are possible to him that beleueeth.

24 And straightway the father of the childe crying with teares, said, Lord, I beleuee: helpe my vnbeleefe.

25 When Iesus saw that the people came running together, hee rebuked the vnclane spirit, saying vnto him, Thou dumbe and deafe spirit, I charge thee, come out of him, and enter no more into him.

so much that many sayde, He is dead.

27 But Iesus tooke his hand, and lift him vp, and he arose.

28 And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly, why could not we cast him out?

29 And hee said vnto them, This kinde can by no other meanes come forth, but by prayer and fasting.

30 ¶ And they departed thence & went together through Galile, and hee would not that any should haue knowen it.

31 ¶ For hee taught his disciples, and sayd vnto them, The Sonne of man shall be deliuered into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, but after that he is killed, hee shall rise againe the third day.

32 But they vnderstood not that saying, and were afraide to aske him.

33 ¶ After he came to Capernaum: and when he was in the house, he asked them, What was it that ye disputed among you by the way?

34 And they held their peace: for by the way they reasoned among themselves, who should be the chiefest.

35 And he sate down, and called the twelue, and sayd to them, If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and seruant vnto all.

36 And he tooke a little childe, and set him in the middes of them, and tooke him in his armes, and said vnto them, 37 Whosoever shall receiue one of such little children in my Name, receiue me: and whosoever receiue me, receiue me not mee, but him that sent me.

38 ¶ Then Iohn answered him, saying, Master, we saw one casting out devils by thy Name, which followeth not vs, and we forbade him, because he followeth vs not.

39 But Iesus sayd, Forbid him not: for there is no man that can doe a miracle by my Name, that can lightly speake euill of me.

40 For whosoever is not against vs, is on our part.

41 ¶ And whosoever shall giue you a cup of water to drinke for my Names sake, because ye belong to Christ, verely I say vnto you, he shall not lose his reward.

CHAP. X.

9 The wife openly for fornication is to be put away. 13 Little children are brought to Christ. 17 A rich man asketh Iesus how he may possesse eternall life. 28 The Apostles forsooke all things for Christs sake. 33 Christ foresheweth his death. 35 Zebedeus his sonnes request. 46 Blind Bartimews healed.

And he arose from thence, and went into the coasts of Iudea by the farre side of Iordan, & the people resorted vnto him againe, and as he was wont, he taught them againe.

2 Then the Pharises came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and tempted him.

3 And hee answered, and said vnto them, What did Moses command you?

4 And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away.

5 ¶ Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, For the hardnesse of your heart he wrote this precept vnto you.

6 But at the beginning of the creation God made them male and female:

7 ¶ For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife.

8 And they twaine shall be one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

9 ¶ Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let not man separate.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And hee said vnto them, ¶ Whosoever shall put away his wife, and marrie another, committeth adultery against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, shee committeth adultery.

13 ¶ Then they brought little children to him, that he should touch them, and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus saw it, he was displeased, and said to them, Suffer the little children to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

15 Verely I say vnto you, Whosoever shall not receiue the kingdome of God as a little childe, he shall not enter therein.

16 And hee tooke them vp in his armes, and 11 We must be seasoned and powdered by God, both that we may be acceptable sacrifices vnto him, and also, that we being knit together, may season one another.

12 That we shall be consecrated to God, being seasoned with the incorruptible word.

4 Two things are chiefly to be eschewed of them which earnestly seeke eternal life: that is to say, an opinion of their merits or desertings, which is not only understood, but condemned by the due consideration of the Law: and the love of riches, which turneth aside many from that race wherein they ran with a good courage.

and put his hands vpon them, & blessed them.

17 ¶ And when he was gone out on the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I doe that I may possesse eternall life?

18 Iesus said to him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, euen God.

19 Thou knowest the commandments, *Thou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witness. Thou shalt hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things I haue obserued from my youth.

21 And Iesus looked vpon him, and loued him, and said vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee. Doe and sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, follow me, and take vp the crosse.

22 But he was sad at that saying, and went away sorowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and said vnto his disciples, How hardly doe they that haue riches enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his disciples were afraid at his words. But Iesus answered againe, and said vnto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdom of God!

25 It is easer for a camell to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more astonied, saying with themselues, Who then can be saued?

27 But Iesus looked vpon them, and said, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 ¶ Then Peter beganne to say vnto him, Loe, we haue forsaken all, and haue followed thee.

29 Iesus answered, and said, Verily I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospels, 30 But he shall receiue an hundred folde, now at this present, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and landes with persecutions, and in the world to come, eternall life.

31 ¶ But many that are first, shall bee last, and the last, first.

32 ¶ And they were in the way, going vp to Hierusalem, and Iesus went before them, and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Iesus tooke the twelue againe, & began to tell them what things should come vnto him,

33 Saying, Behold, we go vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall bee deliuered vnto the hie Priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles.

34 And they shall mocke him, and scourge him, and spit vpon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise againe.

35 ¶ Then Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedeus came vnto him, saying, Master, we would that thou shouldest doe for vs that we desire.

36 And he said vnto them, What would ye I should doe for you?

37 And they said to him, Graunt vnto vs, that we may sit, one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Iesus said vnto them, Yee know not what ye aske, Can ye drinke of the cuppe that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme that I shall be baptized with?

39 And they said vnto him, We can. But Iesus said vnto them, Yee shall drinke in deede of the cuppe that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shall bee baptized:

40 But to sit at my right hand and at my left, is not mine to giue, but it shall bee giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdaine at Iames and Iohn.

42 ¶ But Iesus called them vnto him, and said to them, ¶ Yee know that they which are princes among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercise authoritie ouer them.

43 But it shall not be so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall bee your seruant.

44 And whosoever will be chiefe of you, shall be the seruant of all.

45 For euen the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ransom of many.

46 ¶ Then they came to Jericho: and as he went out of Jericho with his disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimeus the sonne of Timeus, a blinde man, sat by the wayes side, begging.

47 And when he heard that it was Iesus of Nazareth, he began to cry, and to say, Iesus the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because hee should hold his peace: but he cried much more O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

49 Then Iesus stood still, and commanded him to be called: and they called the blinde, sayd vnto him, Bee of good comfort: arise, hee calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his cloke, and arose, and came to Iesus.

51 And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And the blind said vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight.

52 Then Iesus saide vnto him, Goe thy way:

1 Christ entred into Hierusalem riding on an asse. 13 The fruitlesse figge tree is cursed. 15 Sellers and buyers are cast out of the Temple. 23 The force of faith. 24 Faith in prayer. 25 The brothers offences must be pardoned. 27 The Priests aske by what authoritie hee wrought those things that he did. 30 Whence Iohns baptisme was.

And^a when they came neere to Hierusalem, to Bethphage and Bethania vnto the mount of Olues, he sent forth two of his disciples,

2 And said vnto them, Goe your wayes into that towne that is ouer against you, and assoone as ye shall enter into it, yee shall finde a colt tied, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him.

3 And if any man say vnto you, Why doe yethis? Say that the Lord hath need of him, and straightway he will send him hither.

4 And they went their way, and found a colt tied by the doore without, in a place where two wayes met, and they loosed him.

5 Then certaine of them that stood there said vnto them, What doe ye loosing the colt?

6 And they said vnto them, as Iesus had commanded them: So they let them goe.

7 ¶ And they brought the colt to Iesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sate vpon him.

8 And many spread their garments in the way: other cut downe branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 And they that went before, and they that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna: ^a blessed be he that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

10 ^b Blessed be the kingdome that commeth in the Name of the Lord of our father Dauid: Hosanna, O thou which art in the highest heauens.

11 * So Iesus entred into Hierusalem, and into the Temple: and when hee had looked about on all things, and now it was euening, he went forth vnto Bethany with the twelue.

12 * And on the morrow when they were come out from Bethania, he was hungry.

13 ^c And seeing a figge tree afare off, that had leaues, he went to see if he might finde any thing thereon: but when he came vnto it, hee found nothing but leaues: for the time of figs was not yet.

14 Then Iesus answered, and said to it, Neuer man eate fruit of thee hereafter while the world standeth: and his disciples heard it.

15 ¶ And they came to Hierusalem, and Iesus went into the Temple, and beganne to cast out them that solde and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seats of them that solde Doves.

16 Neither would hee suffer that any man should carie a ^c vessell through the Temple.

17 And hee taught, saying vnto them, Is it not written, * Mine house shall bee^d called the house of praiser vnto all nations? * but you haue made it a denne of theeues.

18 And the Scribes and high Priests heard it, and fought how to destroy him: for they feared him, because the whole multitude was astonished at his doctrine.

19 But when euen was come, Iesus went out of the citie.

20 ¶ ^e And in the morning as they iourneyed together, they saw the figge tree dried vp from the rootes.

21 Then Peter remembred, and sayd vnto him, Master, behold, the figge tree which thou cursedst, is withered.

22 And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Haue ^e the faith of God.

23 For verily I say vnto you, that whosoever shall say vnto this mountaine, Bee thou taken away, and cast into the sea, and shall not wauer in his heart, but shall beleue that those things which he saith, shall come to passe, whatsoever he saith, shall be done to him.

24 * Therefore I say vnto you, Whatsoever ye desire when ye pray, beleue that ^f yee shall haue it, and it shall be done vnto you,

25 * But when ^g yee shall stand, and pray, forgiue, if yee haue any thing against any man, that your Father also which is in heauen, may forgiue you your trespasses.

26 For if yee will not forgiue, your Father, which is in heauen, will not pardon you your trespasses.

27 ¶ ^h Then they came againe to Hierusalem: and as he walked in the Temple, there came to him the high Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders, 28 And said vnto him, By what authoritie doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie, that thou shouldest doe these things?

29 Then Iesus answered, & said vnto them, I will also aske of you a certaine thing, and answer ye me, and I will tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

30 The baptisme of Iohn, was it from heauen, or of men? answer me.

31 And they thought with themselves, saying, If we shall say, from heauen, hee will say, Why then did ye not beleue him?

32 ⁱ But if we say, Of men, we feare the people: for all men counted Iohn, that hee was a Prophet in deede.

33 Then they answered, and said vnto Iesus, We cannot tell. And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Neither will I tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

b When the fruites

And hee began to speake vnto them in parables. * A certaine man planted a vineyard, and compassed it with an hedge, and digged a pit for the winepresse, and built a tower in it, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange country.

2 And at the time, he sent to the hus-bandmen a seruant, that he might receiue of the hus-bandmen of the fruit of the vineyard.

3 But they tooke him, and beat him, and sent him away empty.

4 And againe hee sent vnto them an other seruant, and at him they cast stones, and brake his head, & sent him away shamefully handled.

5 And againe he sent another, and him they slew, and many other, beating some, and killing some.

6 Yet had he one sonne his deare beloued:
 him also he sent the last vnto them, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

7 But the husbandmen sayd among themselues, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

8 So they tooke him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.

9 What shall then the Lord of the vineyard doe? He will come and destroy these hus-bandmen, and giue the vineyard to other.

10 Haue ye not read so much as this Scripture? * The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner.

11 This was done of the Lord, and it is mar-ueilous in our eyes.

12 Then they went about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceiued that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

13 And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharises, and of the Herodians that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they sayd vnto him, Master, we knowe that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly, Is it lawfull to giue tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Should wee giue it, or should wee not giue it? but he knew their hypocrisie, and sayd vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a pe-nie, that I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and hee sayd vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription?
 and they said vnto him, Cessars.

17 Then Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, * Giue to Cesar the things that are Ces-sars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they marueiled at him.

18 Then came the Sadduces vnto him, (which say there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, * Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, and leaue no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

20 There were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and when he died, left no issue.

21 Then the second tooke her, and he died, neither did hee yet leaue issue, and the thirde likewise:

22 So those seuen had her, and left no issue:
 last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall shee be of them?
 for seuen had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Are yee not therefore deceiued, because ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marrie, nor wiues are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue yee not read in the booke of Moses, how in the bush God spake vnto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob?

27 God is not the God of the dead, but the God of the liuing. Ye are therefore greatly de-ceiued.

28 Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them disputing together, and per-ceiuing that hee had answered them well, hee asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 Iesus answered him, The first of all the Commandments is, * Heare, Israel, The Lord our God is the only Lord.

30 Thou shalt therefore loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy mind, & with all thy strength:
 this is the first commandment.

31 And the second is like, that is, * Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other Commandment greater then these.

32 Then the Scribe sayd vnto him, Well, Master, thou hast sayd the trueth, that there is one God, and that there is none but he.

33 And to loue him with all the heart, and with all the vnderstanding, and with all the soule, and with all the strength, and to loue his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 Then when Iesus saw that hee answered discreetly hee said vnto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdome of God. And no man after that durst aske him any question.

35 And Iesus answered, and sayd teaching in the Temple, How say the Scribes that Christ is the Sonne of Dauid?

39. And againe he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.

40. And hee returned and found them asleep againe: for their eyes were heavy: neither knew they what they should answer him.

41. And hee came the third time, and sayd unto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: it is enough: the houre is come. Behold, the Sonne of man is delivered into the hands of sinners.

42. Rise ye up: let vs goe: loe, he that betrayeth mee, is at hand.

43. ¶ And immediately while he yet spake, came Judas that was one of the twelve, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves from the hie Priests, and Scribes, and Elders.

44. And hee that betrayed him, had given them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kisse, he is he: take him and leade him away safely.

45. And as he came as he was come, hee went straightway to him, and said Haile Master, and kissed him.

46. Then they layd their hands on him, and tooke him.

47. And one of them that stood by, drew out a sword, and smote a servaunt of the hie Priest, and cut off his eare.

48. And Iesus answered and said to them, Ye be come out as against a thiefe with swords and with staves, to take me.

49. I was dayly with you teaching in the Temple, and ye tooke me not: but this is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

50. Then they all forsooke him, and fled.

51. ¶ And there followed him a certaine yongman, clothed in linnen vpon his bare bodie, and the yong men caught him.

52. But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53. So they ledde Iesus away to the hie Priest, and to him came together all the hie Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54. Then Peter followed him afarte off: even into the hall of the hie Priest, and late with the servaunts, and warmed himself at the fire.

55. ¶ And the hie Priests, & all the Council sought for witness against Iesus to put him to death, but found none.

56. For many bare false witness against him, but their witness agreed not together.

57. Then there arose certaine, and bare false witness against him, saying,

58. We heard him say, I will destroy this Temple made with handes: and within three dayes I will build another made without handes.

59. But their witness yet agreed not together.

60. Then the hie Priest stood vp amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerst thou nothing? What is the matter that these beare witness against thee.

61. But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Againe the hie Priest asked him, and said unto him, Art thou that Christ the sonne of the

62. Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord. And Iesus said, I am he: and ye shall see the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of heaven.

63. Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, and said, What have we any more need of witnesses?

64. Yee have heard the blasphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to be worthy of death.

65. ¶ And some began to spit at him, and to cover his face, and to beat him with fists, and to say unto him, Prophesie. And the sergeants smote him with their rods.

66. ¶ And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maides of the hie Priests.

67. And when she saw Peter warming himself, shee looked on him, and said, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth.

68. But he denied it, saying, I knowe him not, neither wore I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cocke crew.

69. ¶ Then a maid saw him againe, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70. But he denied it againe: and anon after, they that stood by said againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galilee, and thy speech is like.

38 And the vail of the Temple was rent in twaine from the top to the bottome.

43 Ioseph of Arimathea, an honourable counsellor, which also looked for the kingdom of God, came, and went in boldly vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus.

44 And Pilate marueiled, if he were already dead, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether hee had bene any while dead.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of Christs resurrection. 9 He appeareth to Mary Magdalene and others. 15 Hee sendeth his Apostles to preach. 19 His ascension.

And * when the Sabbath day was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of Iames, and Salome, bought sweete oynments, that they might come and anoynt him.

2 Therefore early in the morning, the first day of the weeke, they came vnto the Sepulchre, when the Sunne was now risen.

3 And they said one to another, Who shall rolle vs away the stone from the doore of the Sepulchre?

4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one)

5 * So they went into the Sepulchre, and saw a yong man sitting at the right side, clothed in a long white robe: and they were sore troubled.

6 But he said vnto them, Be not so troubled: yee seeke Iesus of Nazareth, which hath bene crucified: he is risen, he is not here: behold the place where they put him.

7 But goe your way, and tell his disciples, and Peter, that hee will goe before you into Galile: there shall ye see him, * as he said vnto you.

8 And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre: for they trembled, & were amazed: neither sayd they any thing to any man: for they were afraid.

9 And when Iesus was risen againe, early the first day of the weeke, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven deuils:

10 And shee went and told them that had bene with him, which mourned and wept.

11 And when they heard that hee was aliue, and had appeared to her, they beleueed it not.

12 After that, he appeared vnto two of them in another forme, as they walked and went into the countrey.

13 And they went, and told it to the remnant, neither beleueed they them.

14 Finally hee appeared vnto the eleven as they sate together, and reproched them for their vnbelieve and hardnesse of heart, because they beleueed not them which had seene him, being risen vp againe.

15 And he said vnto them, * Goe ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to euery creature.

16 He that shall beleuee and be baptized, shall bee saued: * but he that will not beleuee, shall bee damned.

17 And these tokens shall follow them that beleuee, * In my Name they shall cast out deuils, and shall speake with new tongues, 18 And they shall take away serpents, and if they shall drinke any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them: * they shall lay their hands on the sicke, and they shall recouer.

19 * So after the Lord had spoken vnto them, he was receiued into heauen, and sate at the right hand of God.

20 And they went forth, and preached euery where. And the Lord wrought with them, and confirmed the word with signes that followed, Amen.

29 And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and thought what manner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel said unto her, Feare not, Marie: for thou hast found favour with God.

36 And behold, thy cousin Elizabeth, shee hath also conceived a sonne in her olde age: and this is her sixth moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing be vnpossible.

38 Then Mary said, Behold the seruant of the Lorde: be it vnto mee according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 And Mary arose in those dayes, and went into the hill country with haste to a citie of Iuda.

40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elizabeth.

41 And it came to passe, as Elizabeth heard the salutation of Mary, the babe sprang in her belly, and Elizabeth was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And shee cryed with a loud voice, and said, Blessed art thou among women, because the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.

Orasmuch as many haue taken in hand to set forth the story of those things, whereof we are fully perswaded,

As they haue deliuered them vnto vs, which from the beginning saw them themselves, and were ministers of the word,

It seemed good also to me (most noble Theophilus) as soone as I had searched out perfectly all things from the beginning, to write vnto thee thereof from point to point,

That thou mightest acknowledge the certaintie of those things, whereof thou hast beene instructed.

In the time of Herod King of Iudea, there was a certaine Priest named Zacharias, of the course of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth.

Both were iust before God, and walked in all the commandements and ordinances of the Lord, without reproofe.

And they had no childe, because that Elizabeth was barren: and both were well stricken in age.

And it came to passe, as he executed the Priests office before God, as his course came in order,

According to the custome of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when hee went into the Temple of the Lord.

And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, while the incense was burning.

Then appeared vnto him an Angel of the Lord standing at the right side of the altar of incense.

And when Zacharias saw him, hee was troubled, and feare fell vpon him.

But the Angel said vnto him, Feare not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elizabeth shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn.

And thou shalt haue ioy and gladnesse, and many shall reioyce at his birth.

For he shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall neither drinke wine, nor strong drinke: and hee shall bee filled with the holy Ghost, euen from his mothers wombe.

And many of the children of Israel shall he turne to the Lord their God.

For he shall goe before him in the spirit and power of Elias, to turne the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the iust men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

Then Zacharias sayd vnto the Angel, Whereby shall I knowe this? for I am an old man, and my wife is of a great age.

And the Angel answered, and said vnto him, I am Gabriel that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speake vnto thee, and to shew thee these good tidings.

And behold, thou shalt be dumbe, and not be able to speake, vntill the day that these things be done, because thou beleuedest not my wordes, which shall bee fulfilled in their season.

Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marueiled that hee taried so long in the Temple,

And when hee came out, hee could not speake vnto them: then they perceiued that he had seene a vision in the Temple: For hee made signes vnto them, and remained dumbe.

And it came to passe, when the dayes of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his owne house.

And after those dayes, his wife Elizabeth conceived, and hid her selfe fise moneths, saying,

Thus hath the Lord dealt with mee, in the dayes wherein he looked on me, to take from me my rebuke among men.

And in the sixth moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a citie of Galilee, named Nazareth,

To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the house of Dauid, and the virgins name was Mary.

And the Angel went in vnto her, and said, Haile thou that art freely beloued: the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women, u He shall be called.

29 And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and thought what manner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel said vnto her, Feare not, Marie: for thou hast found fauour with God.

31 For loe, thou shalt conceive in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, * and shalt call his name Iesus.

32 Hee shall be great, and shall be called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lord God shall giue vnto him the throne of his father Dauid.

33 And hee shall reigne ouer the house of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdome shall be none end.

34 Then said Mary vnto the Angel, How shall this be, seeing I know not man?

35 And the Angel answered, and said vnto her, The holy Ghost shall come vpon thee, and the power of the most High shall ouershadow thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be borne of thee, shall be called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy cousin Elizabet, shee hath also conceived a sonne in her olde age: and this is her sixth moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing be vnpossible.

38 Then Mary said, Behold the seruant of the Lorde: be it vnto mee according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 And Mary arose in those dayes, and went into the hill countrey with haste to a citie of Iuda.

40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elizabet.

41 And it came to passe, as Elizabet heard the salutation of Mary, the babe sprang in her belly, and Elizabet was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And shee cryed with a loud voice, and said, Blessed art thou among women, because the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence cometh this to mee, that the mother of my Lorde should come to me?

44 For loe, as soone as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my belly for ioy.

45 And blessed is shee that beleueed: for those things shall be performed, which were tolde her from the Lorde.

46 Then Mary said, My soule magnifieth the Lorde,

47 And my spirit reioyceth in God my Saviour.

48 For he hath looked on the poore degree of his seruant: for behold, from henceforth shall all ages call me blessed, 49 Because hee that is mightie, hath done for me great things, and holy is his Name.

50 And his mercie is from generation to generation on them that feare him.

51 Hee hath shewed strength with his arme: he hath scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.

52 Hee hath put downie the mightie from their seates, and exalted them of lowe degree.

53 He hath filled the hungry with good things, and sent away the rich emptye.

54 He hath vpholden Israel his seruant to be mindfull of his mercy.

55 As hee hath spoken to our fathers, so wis, to Abraham, and his seede) for euer.

56 And Marie abode with her about three moneths: after, she returned to her owne house.

57 Now Elizabeths time was fulfilled, that she should be deliuered, and she brought forth a sonne.

58 And her neighbours and cousins heard tell how the Lord had shewed his great mercy vpon her, and they reioyced with her.

59 And it was so that on the eight day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and said, Not so, but he shall be called Iohn.

61 And they said vnto her, There is none of thy kined, that is named with this name.

62 Then they made signes to his father, how he would haue him called.

63 So hee asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn, and they marvelled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue, and he spake and praised God.

65 Then feare came on all them that dwelt neere vnto them, and all these wordes were noised abroad throughout all the hill countrey of Iudea.

66 And all they that heard them, layd them vp in their hearts, saying, What manner childe shall this be, and the hand of the Lorde was with him.

67 Then his father Zacharias was filled with the holy Ghost, and prophecied, saying,

68 Blessed bee the Lorde God of Israel, because hee hath visited * and redeemed his people, 76 And thou ² babe, shalt be called the

AND it came to passe in those dayes, that there came a decree from Augustus Cesar, that all the ¹ world should be ² taxed.
2 (This first taxing was made when Cyrenius was gouernour of Syria.)
3 Therefore went all to bee taxed, euery man to his owne citie.
4 And Ioseph also went vp from Galile out of a citie called Nazareth, into Iudea, vnto the citie of ³ Dauid, which is called Bethlehem (because hee was of the house and linage of Dauid,)
5 To be taxed with Marie that was giuen him to wife, which was with child.
6 ¶ And so it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accomplished that hee should be deliuered.

¹ Christ the sonne of God, taking vpon him the forme of a seruant, and making himselfe of no reputation, is poorly borne in a stable: and by the meanes of Augustus the mightiest prince in the world, (thinking nothing lesse) hath his cradle prepared in Beth-²lehem, as the Prophets fore-³warned.
⁴a So farre as the Empire of the Romanes did stretch, ⁵b That is, the in-
⁶habitants of euery citie should haue their names taken and their goods rated at a certaine value, that the Emperour might vn-⁷derstand, how rich euery countrey, citie, family, and house was. c Which Dauid was borne, and brought vp in. John. 7. 42.

7 And she brought forth her first begotten sonne, & wrapped him in swadling clothes, and laid him in a cratch, because there was no roume for them in the lane.
8 ¶ And there were in the same countrey shepherds, ¹ abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night ouer their flocke.
9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and the glory of the Lord shone about them, and they were sore afraid.
10 Then the Angel said vnto them, Be not afraide: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great ioy, that shall be to all the people, 11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the citie of Dauid, a Saviour, which is Christ
the Lord.
12 And this shall be a signe to you, Ye shall finde the babe swaddled, and laid in a cratch.
13 And straightway there was with the Angel a multitude of heauenly souldiers, pray-sing God, and saying, 14 Glory be to God in the ²hie heauens, and peace in earth, and towards men ³good will.
15 And it came to passe, when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the shepherds said one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-leem, and see this thing that is come to passe which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs.
16 So they came with haste, and found both Mary and Ioseph, & the babe laid in the cratch.
17 And when they had seene it, they published abroad the thing, that was tolde them of that childe.
18 And all that heard it, wondered at the things which were told the of the shepherds.
19 But Mary kept all those sayings, and pondered them in her heart.
20 And the shepherds returned glorifying and praying God, for all that they had heard and seene, as it was spoken vnto them.
21 ¶ ⁴ And when the eight dayes were accomplished, that they should circumcise the childe, his name was then called ⁵ Iesus, which was named of the Angel, before he was con-ceiued in the wombe.
22 * And when the daies of ⁶ her purification after the Law of Moses were accomplished, they brought him to Ierusalem, to present him to the Lord,
23 (As it is written in the Lawe of the Lord, * Euery man child that ⁷ first openeth the wombe, shall be called holy to the Lord.) 24 And to giue an oblation, * as it is commanded in the Lawe of the Lord, a paire of turtle doues, or two yong pigeons.
25 And behold, there was a man in Hierusalem, whose name was Simeon: this man was iust, and feared God, and waited for the consolation of Israel, and the ⁸ holy Ghost was vpon him.
26 And it was declared to him from God by the holy Ghost, that he should not see death; before hee had seen that Anointed of the Lord.

27 And hee came by the motion of the Spirit into the Temple, and when the Parents brought in the babe Iesus, to doe for him after the custome of the Law,

28 Then hee tooke him in his armes, and praised God, and said, 29 Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word.

30 For mine eyes have seen thy Salvation,

31 Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people, 32 A light to be reueiled to the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel.

33 And Ioseph and his mother marvelled at those things, which were spoken touching him.

34 And Simeon blessed them, and said vnto Mary his mother, Behold, this child is appointed for the fall and rising againe of many in Israel, and for a signe which shall be spoken againt, 35 (Yea and a sword shall pierce through thy soule) that the thoughts of many hearts may be opened.

36 And there was a Prophetesse, one Anna the daughter of Phanuel, of the Tribe of Aser, which was of a great age, after shee had liued with an husband seuen yeeres from her virginity.

37 And shee was widow about fourescore and foure yeeres, and wene out of the Temple, persued God with fastings and prayers night and day.

38 Since then comming at the same instant upon them, confessed likewise the Lord, and spake of him to all that looked for redemption in Hierusalem.

39 And when they had performed all things according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galile to their owne citie Nazareth.

40 And the childe grew, and waxed strong in Spirit, and was filled with wisdom, and the grace of God was with him.

41 ¶ Now his parents went to Hierusalem euery yeere, at the feast of the Passouer.

42 And when he was twelue yeere old, and they were come vp to Hierusalem, after the custome of the feast, 43 And had finished the dayes thereof, as they returned, the child Iesus remained in Hierusalem, & Ioseph knew not, nor his mother.

44 But they supposing, that he had beene in the company, went a dayes iourney, and sought him among their kinsfolke, and acquaintance.

45 And when they found him not, they turned backe to Hierusalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to passe three dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the middes of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions:

47 And all that heard him, were astonished at his vnderstanding and answers.

48 So when they saw him, they were amazed, and his mother said vnto him, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? behold, thy father and I haue sought thee with very heauie hearts.

49 Then said he vnto them, How is it that ye sought me? knew ye not that I must goe about my fathers businesse?

50 But they vnderstood not the word that he spake to them.

51 Then hee went downe with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subiect to them: and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart.

52 And Iesus increased in wisdom, and stature, and in fauour with God and men.

CHAP. III.

1 Iohn exhorteth to repentance. 2 His testimony of Christ. 3 Herod putteth him in prison: 4 Christ is baptized. 5 His pedigree.

Now in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Tiberius Cesar, Pontius Pilate being gouernour of Iudea, and Herode being Tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip Tetrarch of Iturea, and of the countrey of Trachonitis, and Lysanias the Tetrarch of Abilene,

2 When Annas and Caiaphas were the high Priests, the word of God came vnto Iohn the sonne of Zacharias in the wilderness.

3 And he came into all the coasts about Iordan, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of sinnes.

4 As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Esaias the Prophet, which sayth, The voice of him that cryeth in the wilderness is,

5 Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

6 Euery valley shall bee filled, and euery mountaine and hill shall be brought lowe, and crooked things shall be made straight, and the rough wayes shall be made smooth.

7 And all flesh shall see the saluation of God.

8 Then said hee to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, O generation of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?

9 Bring forth therefore frutes worthy amendment of life, and begin not to say with your selues, We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

10 Now also is the axe laid vnto the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruite, shall be hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

11 ¶ Then the people asked him, saying, What shall wee doe then?

Joseph and Mary, and so by speech as it was commonly taken.

Letting me depart out of this life, to be reioyced in my fathers.

As then promised me, I thanke you for I haue found with my very eyes, for I saw before me, as it is said of Abraham, I saw my day, and was reioyced.

5 Our baptisme is sanctified in the head of the Church, and Christ also is pronounced by the voice of the Father, to be our everlasting king, Priest, and Prophet.
6 The flocke of Christ according to the flesh, is brought by order euen to Adam, and so to God, that it might appeare, that he onely it was, whom God promised to Abraham and David, & appointed from everlasting to his Church, which is gathered together of all sorts of men.

11 And he answered, and said vnto them, * Hee that hath two coates, let him part with him that hath none: and he that hath meat, let him doe likewise.

12 Then came there Publicanes also to be baptized, and said vnto him, Master, what shall we doe?

13 And he said vnto them, Require no more then that which is appointed vnto you.

14 The souldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we doe? And he said vnto them, Doe violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely, and be content with your wages.

15 As the people waited, and all men mused in their hearts of Iohn, if he were not that Christ, 16 Iohn answered, and said to them all, * In deede I baptize you with water, but one stronger then I, cometh, whose shooes latcher I am not worthy to vnloose: he wil baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

17 Whose fanne is in his hand, and he will make cleane his floore, and will gather the wheate into his garner, but the chaffe will hee burne vp with fire that neuer shalbe quenched.

18 Thus then exhorting with many other things, he preached vnto the people.

19 * At which time Herod the Tetrarch was rebuked of him, for Herodias his brother Philips wife, and for all the euils which Herod had done, 20 He added yet this aboue all, that he shut vp Iohn in prison.

21 Now it came to passe, as all the people were baptized, and that Iesus was baptized and did pray, that the heauen was opened:

22 And the holy Ghost came downe in a bodily shape like a doue vpon him, and there was a voice from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued sonne: in thee I am well pleased.

23 And Iesus himselfe began to be about thirtie yeere of age, being as men suppose the sonne of Ioseph, which was the sonne of Eli,

37 The sonne of Mathusala, the sonne of Enoch, the sonne of Jared, the sonne of Maleleel, the sonne of Cainan, 38 The sonne of Enos, the sonne of Seth, the sonne of Adam, the sonne of God.

CHAP. III.

1 Of Christes temptation, and fasting. 2 Hee teacheth in Nazareth to the great admiration of all. 3 A Prophet that teacheth in his owne country is contemned. 33 One possessed of the deuill is cured. 38 Peters mother in law healed. 40 and diuers sicke persons are restored to health. 42 The deuill acknowledge Christ.

And Iesus full of the holy Ghost returned from Iordan, and was ledde by that Spirit into the wildernesse,

2 And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the deuill, and in those dayes hee did eate nothing: but when they were ended, he afterward was hungry.

3 Then the deuill said vnto him, If thou bee the Sonne of God, command this stone that it be made bread.

4 But Iesus answered him, saying, It is written, * That man shall not liue by bread onely, but by every word of God.

5 Then the deuill tooke him vp into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdoms of the world, in the twinkling of an eye.

6 And the deuill said vnto him, All this power will I giue thee, and the glory of those kingdoms: for that is deliuered to me: and to whomsoever I will, I giue it.

7 If thou therefore wilt worship me, they shall be all thine.

8 But Iesus answered him, and said, Hence from me, Satan: for it is written, * Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone thou shalt serue.

9 Then hee brought him to Hierusalem, absolutely, and as the soueraigne of it, but by sufferance, and way of intreatie, and therefore saith not true, that he can giue it to whom hee will. One of an high place, which had a goodly champion countrey vnderneath it, hee shewed him the situation of the countrey. * Deut. 6. 13. and 10. 20.

and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple, and said vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence,

10 For it is written, * That he will giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee:

11 And with their hands they shall lift thee vp; lest at any time thou shouldest dash thy foot against a stone.

12 And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, It is said, * Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the deuill had ended all the temptation, hee departed from him for a little season.

14 ¶ And Iesus returned by the power of the Spirit into Galile: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region round about.

15 For he taught in their Synagogues, and was honoured of all men.

16 * And he came to Nazareth where he had bene brought vp, and (as his custome was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood vp to reade.

17 And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Esaias: and when he had opened the booke, he found the place, where it was written,

18 * The Spirit of the Lord is vpon me, because hee hath annointed mee, that I should preach the Gospel to the poore: hee hath sent me, that I should heale the broken hearted, that I should preach deliuerance to the captiues, and recovering of sight to the blinde, that I should set at libertie them that are bruised:

19 And that I should preach the acceptable yeere of the Lord.

20 And he closed the booke, and gaue it againe to the minister, and sate downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him.

21 Then hee began to say vnto them, This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 * And all bare him witnesse, and wondered at the gracious words, which proceeded out of his mouth, and said, Is not this Iosephs sonne?

23 Then he said vnto them, Yee will surely say vnto me this prouerbe, Physician, heale thy selfe: whatsoeuer we haue heard done in Capernaum, doe it heere likewise in thine owne country.

24 And he said, Verely I say vnto you, * No Prophet is accepted in his owne country.

25 But I tel you of a trueth, many widows were in Israel in the dayes of * Elias, when heauen was shut three yeres and sixe moneths, when great famine was throughout all the land:

26 But vnto none of them was Elias sent, saue into Sarepta, a citie of Sidon, vnto a certaine widow.

27 Also many lepers were in Israel in the time of * Elizeus the Prophet: yet none of them was made cleane, sauing Naaman the Syriani.

28 * Then all that were in the Synagogue, when they heard it, were filled with wrath, 29 And rose vp, and thrust him out of the citie, and ledde him vnto the edge of the hill, whereon their citie was built, to cast him down headlong.

30 But hee passed through the middes of them, and went his way, 31 ¶ And came downe into Capernaum a citie of Galile, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes.

32 * And they were astonied at his doctrine: for his word was with authoritie.

33 * And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a spirit of an vnclene deuill, which cried with a loud voice, 34 * Saying, Oh, what haue we to doe with thee, thou Iesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy vs? I know who thou art, euen the holy One of God.

35 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, holde thy peace, and come out of him. Then the deuill throwing him in the middes of them, came out of him, and hurt him nothing at all.

36 So feare came on them all, & they spake among themselues, saying, What thing is this? for with authoritie and power he commandeth the foule spirits, and they come out.

37 And the fame of him spread abroad throughout all the places of the country round about.

38 ¶ * And hee rose vp, and came out of the Synagogue, and entred into Simons house. And Simons wiues mother was taken with a great feuer, and they required him for her.

39 Then hee stood ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and it left her, and immediatly shee arose, and ministred vnto them.

40 Now at the sunne setting, all they that had sicke folks of diuers diseases, brought them vnto him, and he laid his hands on euery one of them, and healed them.

41 * And deuils also came out of many, crying, and saying, Thou art that Christ that Sonne of God: but he rebuked them, and suffered them not to say, that they knew him to be that Christ.

42 * And when it was day, hee departed, and went forth into a desert place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him that he should not depart from them.

43 But hee said vnto them, Surely I must also preach the kingdom of God to other citie: for therefore am I sent.

44 And he preached in the Synagogues of Galile.

Then it came to passe, as the people pressed vpon him to heare the word of God, that he stood by the lake of Gennesaret;

2 And saw two shippes stand by the lakes side, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.

3 And he entred into one of the shippes, which was Simons, and required him that he would thrust off a litle from the land: and hee sat downe, and taught the people out of the shippe.

4 ¶ Now when he had left speaking, he said vnto Simon, Launch out into the deepe, and let downe your nets to make a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and sayd vnto him, Master, we haue trauailed sore all night, and haue taken nothing: neuertheless at thy word I will let downe the net.

6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.

7 And they beckened to their partners which were in the other ship, that they should come and helpe them, who came then, and filled both the ships, that they did sinke.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, he fell downe at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, goe from me: for I am a sinfull man.

9 For he was vtterly astonied, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they tooke.

10 And so was also Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon. Then Iesus said vnto Simon, Feare not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the ships to land, they forsooke all, and followed him.

12 ¶ Now it came to passe, as he was in a certaine citie, behold, there was a man full of leprosie, and when he saw Iesus, he fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane. And immediately the leprosie departed from him.

14 And he commanded him that he should tell it no man: but goe, faith hee, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing, as Moses hath commanded, for a witnes vnto them.

15 But so much more went there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, and to bee healed of him of their infirmities.

16 But he kept himselfe apart in the wilderness, and prayed.

17 ¶ And it came to passe on a certaine day, as he was teaching, that the Pharises and doctours of the Law sat by, which were come out of euery towne of Galile, and Iudea, and Hierusalem, and the power of the Lord was in him to heale them.

18 Then behold, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palse, and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in, because of the preasse, they went vp on the house, and let him downe through the tiling, bed and all, in the mids before Iesus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he sayd vnto him, Man, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharises began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? who can forgive sinnes, but God onely?

22 But when Iesus perceiued their reasoning, he answered and said vnto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Rise and walke?

24 But that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie to forgive sinnes in earth, (he sayd vnto the sicke of the palse) I say to thee, Arise: take vp thy bed and goe to thine house.

25 And immediatly he rose vp before them, and tooke vp his bed whereon he lay, and departed to his owne house, praising God.

26 And they were all amazed, and praised God, & were filled with feare, saying, Doubtlesse we haue seene strange things to day.

27 ¶ And after that, he went forth, and saw a Publicane named Leui, sitting at the receipt of custome, and said vnto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose vp, and followed him.

29 Then Leui made him a great feast in his owne house, where there was a great company of Publicanes, and of other that sat at table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes and Pharises among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eate ye and drinke ye with Publicanes and sinners?

31 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, They that are whole, neede not the Physician, but they that are sicke.

32 I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ Then they said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn fast often, and pray, and the disciples of the Pharises also, but thine eate and drinke?

34 And he said vnto them, Can ye make the children of the wedding chamber to fast, as long as the bridegrome is with them?

35 But the dayes will come, euen when the bridegrome shall bee taken away from them: then shall they fast in those dayes.

36 Again he spake also vnto them a parable, No man putteth a piece of a new garment into an olde vesture: for then the new renteth it, and the piece taken out of the new, agreeth not with the olde.

6 It is the point of hypocrites and ignorant men, to put an holiness in fasting, and in things indifferent.
7 Lawes generally made without any consideration of circumstances, for fasting and other things of like sort, are not only tyrannous, but very hurtfull in the Church.

37 Also no man powreth new wine into old vessels: for then the new wine will breake the vessels, and it will run out, and the vessels will perish:

38 But new wine must be powred into new vessels: so both are preferred.

39 Also no man that drinketh olde wine, straightway desireth new: for he saith, The old is more profitable.

1 The Disciples pull the eares of corne on the Sabbath, 6 Of him that had a withered hand. 13 The election of the Apostles. 20 The blessings and curses. 27 Wee must love our enemies. 46 What fruit the word of God is to be heard.

AND *¹ it came to passe on a second sabbath, that he went thorow the corne fields, and his Disciples *plucked the eares of corne, and did eate and rubbe them in their hands.

2 And certaine of the Pharises saide vnto them, Why doe ye that which is not lawfull to doe on the Sabbath dayes?

3 Then Iesus answered them, and saide, *Haue ye not read this, that Dauid did when hee himselfe was an hungred, and they which were with him,

4 How hee went into the house of God, and tooke, and ate the Shewbread, and gaue also to them which were with him, which was not lawfull to eate, but for the * Priestes onely?

5 And hee saide vnto them, The Sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day.

6 ¶ *² It came to passe also on another Sabbath, that he entred into the Synagogue, and taught, and there was a man, whose right hand was dried vp.

7 And the Scribes and Pharises watched him, whether hee would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might finde an accusation against him.

8 But he knew their thoughts, and sayde to the man which had the withered hand, Arise and stand vp in the mids. And hee arose, and stood vp.

9 Then sayde Iesus vnto them, I will aske you a question. Whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to doe good, or to doe euill? to saue life, or to ^b destroy?

10 And he beheld them all in compasse, and said vnto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he did so, and his hand was restored againe as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madnesse, and communed one with another, what they might doe to Iesus.

12 ¶³ And it came to passe in those dayes, that hee went into a mountaine to pray, and spent the night in prayer to God.

13 And when it was day, *hee called his Disciples, and of them hee chose twelue which also he called Apostles.

14 (Simon whom he named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartlemew:

15 Matthew and Thomas: James the sonne of Alphaeus, and Simon called Zelous:

17 Then hee came downe with them, and stood in a plaine place with the companie of his Disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Iudea, and Hierusalem, and from the Sea coast of Tyrus and Sydon, which came to heare him, and to bee healed of their diseases:

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all.

20 ¶ *⁴ And he lifted vp his eyes vpon his Disciples, and sayde, Blessed be yee poore: for yours is the Kingdome of God.

21 * Blessed are yee that hunger now: for ye shall be satisfied: * blessed are yee that weepe now, for ye shall laugh.

22 * Blessed are yee when men hate you, and when they ^d separate you, and reuile you, and put out your name as euil for the Sonne of mans sake.

23 Reioyce yee in that day, and * bee glad: for behold, your reward is great in heauen: for after this maner their Fathers did to the Prophets.

24 * But woe be to you that are rich: for ye haue ^e received your consolation.

25 * Woe be to you that are full: for ye shall hunger. Woe be to you that now laugh: for ye shall waile and weepe.

26 Woe be to you when all men speake well of you: for so did their Fathers to the false Prophets.

27 ¶ *⁵ But I say vnto you which heare, Loue your enemies: doe well to them which hate you.

28 Blesse them that curse you, and pray for them which hurt you.

29 * And vnto him that smiteth thee on the one cheeke, offer also the other: * and him that taketh away thy cloke, forbid not to take thy coat also.

30 Giue to euery man that asketh of thee: and of him that taketh away the things that be thine, aske them not againe.

31 * And as ye would that men should doe to you, so doe ye to them likewise.

32 * For if yee loue them which loue you, what thanke shall ye haue? for euen the sinners loue those that loue them.

33 And if ye doe good for them which doe good for you, what thanke shall ye haue? for euen the sinners doe the same.

3 Iohn sendeth from the prison his vnbelreuing Disciples, to Christ himselfe, to be confirmed.

6 When Iohns Disciples came to Christ.

18 And the Disciples of Iohn shewed him of all these things.

19 So Iohn called vnto him two certaine men of his Disciples, and sent them to Iesus, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall we waite for another?

20 And when the men were come vnto him, they sayd, Iohn Baptist hath sent vs vnto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall we waite for another?

21 And at that time he cured many, of their sicknesses, and plagues, and of euill spirits, and vnto many blind men he gaue sight freely.

22 And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Goe your wayes, and shew Iohn what things yee haue seene and heard: that the blind see, the halt goe, the lepers are cleansed, the deafe heare, the dead are raised, and the poore receiue the Gospel.

23 And blessed is he, that shal not be offended in me.

24 And when the messengers of Iohn were departed, he began to speake vnto the people, of Iohn, What went ye out into the wilderness to see? A reede shaken with the wind?

25 But what went yee out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? behold, they which are gorgeously appparelled, and liue delicately, are in Kings courts.

26 But what went yee forth to see? A Prophet? yea, I say to you, and greater then a Prophet.

27 This is hee of whom it is written, * Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

28 For I say vnto you, there is no greater Prophet then Iohn, among them that are begotten of women: neuertheless, hee that is the least in the Kingdome of God, is greater then he.

29 Then all the people that heard, and the Publicanes, iustified God, being baptized with the baptisme of Iohn.

30 But the Pharises and the expounders of the Law despised the counsell of God, against themselves, and were not baptized of him.

31 * And the Lord said, Whereunto shall I liken the men of this generation? and what thing are they like vnto?

32 They are like vnto little children sitting in the market place, and crying one to another, and saying, We haue piped vnto you, and yee haue not daunced: wee haue mourned to you, and ye haue not wept.

33 For Iohn Baptist came, neither eating bread, nor drinking wine: and ye say, He hath the deuill.

34 The Sonne of man is come, and eateth and drinketh: and ye say, Behold, a man which is a glutton, and a drinker of wine, a friend of Publicanes and sinners:

35 But wisdome is iustified of all her children.

36 ¶ And one of the Pharises desired him that hee would eate with him: and hee went into the Pharises house, and sate downe at table.

37 And behold, a woman in the citie, which was a sinner, when shee knew that Iesus sate at table in the Pharises house, she brought a boxe of oyntment.

38 * And shee stood at his feete behind him weeping, and beganne to wash his feete with teares, and did wipe them with the haire of her head, and kissed his feete, and anoynted them with the oyntment.

39 ¶ Now when the Pharise which bade him, saw it, hee spake within himselfe, saying, If this man were a Prophet, hee would surely haue knowen who, and what maner of woman this is which toucheth him: for shee is a sinner.

40 * And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, Simon, I haue somewhat to say vnto thee. And he said, Master, say on.

41 There was a certaine lender which had two debtors: the one ought fise hundredth pence, and the other fiftie:

42 When they had nothing to pay, he forgaued them both: Which of them therefore, tell me, will loue him most?

43 Simon answered, and said, I suppose that he, to whom he forgaued most. And he said vnto him, Thou hast truly iudged.

44 Then he turned to the woman, and said vnto Simon, Seekest thou this woman? I entred into thine house, and thou gauest me no water to my feete: but shee hath washed my feete with teares, and wiped them with the haire of her head.

45 Thou gauest me no kisse: but shee, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kisse my feete.

46 Mine head with oyle thou diddest not anoynt: but shee hath anoynted my feete with oyntment.

47 Wherefore I say vnto thee, Many finnes are forgien her: for shee loued much. To whom a little is forgien, he doeth loue a little.

48 And he said vnto her, Thy finnes are forgien thee.

49 And they that sate at table with him, began to say within themselves, Who is this that euen forgieeth finnes?

50 And hee said to the woman, Thy faith hath saued thee: goe in peace.

4 * Now when much people were gathered together, and were come vnto him out of all cities, he spake by a parable.

5 A sower went out to sow his seede, and as he sowed, some fell by the wayes side, and it was troden vnder feete, and the fowles of heauen deuoured it: vp.

6 And some fell on the stones, and when it was sprung vp, it withered away, because it lacked moystnesse.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprang vp with it, and choked it.

8 And some fell on good ground, and sprang vp, and bare fruit, an hundred fold. And as he said these things, he cryed, Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

9 Then his Disciples asked him, demanding what parable that was.

10 And hee said, Vnto you it is giuen to know the secrets of the Kingdome of God, but to other in parables, that when they see, they should not see, and when they heare, they should not vnderstand.

11 * The parable is this, The seede is the word of God.

12 And they that are beside the way, are they that heare: afterward commeth the deuill, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, lest they should beleue, and be saued.

13 But they that are on the stones, are they which when they haue heard, receiue the word with ioy: but they haue no rootes: which for a while beleue, but in the time of tentation goe away.

14 And that which fell among thornes, are they which haue heard, and after their departure are choked with cares and with riches, and voluptuous liuing, and bring forth no fruit.

15 But that which fell in good ground, are they which with an honest and good heart heare the word, and keepe it, and bring forth fruit with patience.

16 ¶ * No man when hee hath lighted a candle, couereth it vnder a vessell, neither putteth it vnder the bed, but setteth it on a candlestick, that they that enter in, may see the light.

17 * For nothing is secret, that shall not be euident: neither any thing hid, that shall not be knownen, and come to light.

18 ¶ Take heed therefore how ye heare: for whoso euer hath, to him shall be giuen: and whoso euer hath not, from him shall be taken euē that which it seemeth that hee hath.

19 ¶ * Then came to him his Mother and his brethren, and could not come neere to him for the preasse.

20 And it was told him by certaine which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, and would see thee.

21 But hee answered, and said vnto them, My mother and my brethren are these which heare the word of God, and doe it.

22 ¶ * And it came to passe on a certaine day, that hee went into a ship with his Disciples, and he said vnto them, Let vs goe ouer vnto the other side of the lake. And they lanchd forth.

23 And as they sayled, he fell asleepe, and there came down a storme of wind on the lake, and they were filled with water, and were in ieopardie.

24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perishe. And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and the waues of water: and they ceased, and it was calme.

25 Then he said vnto them, Where is your faith? and they feared, and wondred among themselves, saying, Who is this that commandeth both the windes and water, and they obey him!

26 ¶ * So they sailed vnto the region of the Gadarenes, which is ouer against Galile.

27 And as he went out to land, there met him a certaine man out of the citie, which had deuils long time, and he ware no garment, neither abode in house, but in the graues.

28 And when hee saw Iesus, hee cried out, and fell downe before him, and with a lowde voice said, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the Sonne of God the most high? I beseech thee torment me not.

29 For hee commaunded the foule spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times hee had caught him: therefore hee was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but hee brake the bands, and was caried of the deuill into wildernesses.)

30 Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and hee said, Legion, because many deuils were entred into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not command them to goe out into the deepe.

32 And there was there by, an heard of many swine, feeding on an hill: and the deuils besought him, that he would suffer them to enter into them. So he suffered them.

33 Then went the deuils out of the man, and entred into the swine: and the heard was caried with violence from a steepe downe place into the lake, and was choked.

34 When the heardmen saw what was done, they fled: and when they departed, they told it in the citie and in the countrey.

36 They also which saw it, told them by what meanes hee that was possessed with the deuill was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the countrey about the Gadarens, besought him that he would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare, and he went into the ship, and returned.

38 Then the man, out of whom the deuils were departed, besought him that hee might be with him: but Iesus sent him away, saying, 39 Returne into thine owne house, and shewe what great things God hath done to thee. So hee went his way, and preached throughout all the citie, what great things Iesus had done vnto him.

40 ¶ And it came to passe, when Iesus was come againe, that the people receiued him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ And beholde, there came a man named Iairus, and hee was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fell downe at Iesus feete, and besought him that he would come into his house.

42 For he had but a daughter onely, about twelue yeeres of age, and she lay a dying (and as he went, the people thronged him.

43 And a woman hauing an issue of blood twelue yeeres long, which had spent all her substance vpon physicians, and could not bee healed by any:

44 When she came behind him, shee touched the hemme of his garment, and immediately her issue of blood stanchd.

45 Then Iesus said, Who is it that hath touched me? When euery man denied, Peter said and they that were with him, Master, the multitude thrust thee, and tread on thee, and sayest thou, Who hath touched me?

46 And Iesus said, Some one hath touched mee: for I perceiue that vertue is gone out of me.

47 When the woman saw that she was not hidde, she came trembling, and fell downe before him, and told him before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately.

48 And hee said vnto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath saued thee: goe in peace.)

49 While hee yet spake, there came one from the ruler of the Synagogues house, which sayd to him, Thy daughter is dead: discease not the master.

50 When Iesus heard it, hee answered him, saying, Feare not: beleeue onely, and shee shalbe saued.

51 And when he went into the house, hee suffered no man to goe in with him, same Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and the father and mother of the mayde.

52 And all wept, and sorrowed for her: but hee said, Weepe not: for shee is not dead, but sleepeth.

53 And they laught him to scorne, knowing that she was dead.

54 So hee thrust them all out, and tooke her by the hand, and cried, saying, Maide, arise.

55 And her spirit came againe, and shee arose straightway: and he commanded to giue her meate.

56 Then her parents were astonished: but he commanded them that they should tell no man what was done.

12 * And when the day began to weare away, the twelue came, and said vnto him, Send the people away, that they may goe into the townes and villages round about, and lodge, and get meat: for we are here in a desert place.

13 But he sayd vnto them, Giue yee them to eat. And they said, We haue no more, but fiue loaves and two fishes, except we should goe and buy meat for all this people.

14 For they were about fiue thousand men. Then he said to his disciples, Cause them to sit downe by fifties in a company.

15 And they did so, and caused all to sit downe.

16 Then he tooke the fiue loaves and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and blessed them, and brake, and gaue to the disciples, to set before the people.

17 So they did all eat, and were satisfied: and there was taken vp of that remained to them, twelue baskets full of broken meat.

18 ¶ * And it came to passe, as hee was alone praying, his disciples were with him: and he asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and said, Iohn Baptist: and others said, Elias: and some say, that one of the old Prophets is risen againe.

20 And he said vnto them, But whom say yee that I am? Peter answered, and said, That Christ of God.

21 And he warned and commanded them, that they should tell that to no man, 22 * Saying, * The Sonne of man must suffer many things, and bee reprooued of the Elders, and of the hie Priests and Scribes, and be slaine, and the third day rise againe.

23 ¶ * And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him denie himselfe, and take vp his croffe daily, and follow me.

24 * For whosoever will saue his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall saue it.

25 * For what aduantage it a man, if he winne the whole world, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe?

26 * For whosoever shall bee ashamed of me, and of my words, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed, when he shall come in his glory, and in the glory of the Father, and of the holy Angels.

27 * And I tel you of a suretie, there be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, til they haue seene the kingdome of God.

28 * And it came to passe about an eight dayes after those wordes, that hee tooke Peter and Iohn, and Iames, & went vp into a mountaine, to prye.

29 And as hee prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 And behold, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elias:

31 Which appeared in glory, and told of his departing, which he should accomplish at Hierusalem.

32 But Peter, and they that were with him, were heauie with sleepe, and when they awoke they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to passe, as they departed from him, Peter said vnto Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to bee here: let vs therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias, and wist not what he said.

34 Whiles hee thus spake, there came a cloud and ouershadowed them, and they feared when they were coming into a cloud.

35 * And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloued Sonne, heare him.

36 And when the voice was past, Iesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and told no man in those dayes any of those things which they had seene.

37 ¶ * And it came to passe, on the next day, as they came downe from the mountaine, much people met him.

38 * And behold, a man of the companie cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my sonne: for he is all that I haue.

39 And loe a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he crieth, and he teareth him, and he someth, and hardly departeth from him, when hee hath bruised him.

40 Now I haue besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Iesus answered, and said, O generation faithlesse, and crooked, how long now shall I bee with you, and suffer you? bring thy sonne hither.

42 And whiles hee was yet comming, the deuill rent him, and tare him: and Iesus rebuked the vnclane spirit, and healed the child, and deliuered him to his father.

43 ¶ * And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God: and while they al wondered at all things, which Iesus did, he said vnto his disciples, 44 * Marke these wordes diligently: * for it shall come to passe, that the Sonne of man shall be deliuered into the hands of men.

45 But they vnderstood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceiue it: and they feared to aske of him that word.

46 ¶ * Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should bee the greatest.

47 When Iesus saw the thoughts of their hearts, he tooke a little child and set by him.

48 And said vnto them, Whosoever receiue this litle child in my Name, receiue me: and whosoever shall receiue me, receiue him that sent me: for he that is least among you all, he shall be great.

¶ Then he turned to his disciples, and said, Is read in some copies.

euens, Father, because it so pleased thee.

22 All things are given me of my Father: and no man knoweth who the Sonne is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, saue the said, Is read in some copies.

23 ¶ And he returned to his disciples, and said secretly, Blessed are the eyes, which see that ye see.

24 For I tell you that many Prophets and Kings haue desired to see those things, which ye see, and haue not seene them: and to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not heard them.

25 ¶ Then behold, a certaine Lawyer stood vp, and tempted him, saying, Master, What shall I doe to inherite eternall life?

26 And hee said vnto him, What is written in the Law? how readest thou?

27 And he answered, and said, Thou shalt loue thy Lord God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy strength, and with all thy thought, and thy neighbour as thy selfe.

28 The he said vnto him, Thou hast answered right: this doe, and thou shalt liue.

29 But hee willing to iustifie himselfe, sayde vnto Iesus, Who is then my neighbour?

30 And Iesus answered, and said, A certaine man went downe from Hierusalem to Iericho, and fell among theeues, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leauing him halfe dead.

31 Now so it fell out, that there came down a certaine Priest that same way, and when hee saw him, he passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise also a Leuite, when he was come neere to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 Then a certaine Samaritane, as he iourneyed, came neere vnto him, and when he saw him, he had compassion on him, 34 And went to him, and bound vp his wounds, and powred in oyle and wine, and put him on his owne beast, and brought him to an Inne, and made prouision for him.

35 And on the morow when he departed, he tooke out two pence, and gaue them to the hoste, and said vnto him, Take care of him, and whatsoeuer thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompense thee.

36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fell among the theeues?

37 And he said, He that shewed mercy on him. Then said Iesus vnto him, Goe, and doe thou likewise.

38 ¶ Now it came to passe, as they went, that he entred into a certaine towne, and a certaine woman named Martha, receiued him into her house.

39 And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Iesus feete, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was cumbered about much seruing, and came to him, and sayd, Master, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serue alone? bidde her therefore that shee helpe me.

41 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many things:

42 But one thing is needfull, Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

CHAP. XI.

1 Hee teacheth his Apostles to pray. 12 The dumbe dwelleth in. 27 A woman of the companie listeth vp her voice. 29 The Lawes require signes. 37 Hee being fastid of the Pharise, reprehendeth the outward shewe of holinesse.

¶ And so it was, that as hee was praying in a certaine place, when hee ceased, one of his disciples said vnto him, Lord, teach vs to pray, as Iohn also taught his disciples.

2 And he said vnto them, When ye pray, say, Our Father which art in heauen, Halowed be thy Name: Thy kingdome come: Let thy will be done, euen in earth, as it is in heauen:

3 Our daily bread giue vs for the day:

4 And forgiue vs our finnes: for euen we forgiue every man that is indebted to vs: And leade vs not into temptation: but deliuer vs from euill.

5 ¶ Moreover he said vnto them, Which of you shall haue a friend, and shall goe to him at midnight, and say vnto him, Friend, lend me three loaves?

6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to mee, and I haue nothing to set before him:

7 And he within should answere, and say, Trouble me not: the doore is now shut, and my children are with me in bed: I cannot rise and giue them to thee.

8 I say vnto you, Though hee would not rise and giue him, because he is his friend, yet doubtlesse because of his importunitie, hee would rise and giue him as many as he needed.

9 And I say vnto you, Aske, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall find: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

10 For euery one that asketh, receiue: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

11 ¶ If a sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a father, will hee giue him a stone? or if he aske a fish, will hee for a fish giue him a serpent?

12 Or if he aske an egge, will he giue him a scorpion?

13 If ye then which are euill, can giue good gifts vnto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them, that desire him?

14 ¶ Then he cast out a deuill which was dumbe:

dumbe: and when the deuill was gone out, the dumbe spake, and the people wondered.

15 But some of them said, *He casteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of the deuils.

16 And others tempted him, seeking of him a signe from heauen.

17 But hee knew their thoughts, and said vnto them, *Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be desolate, and an house diuided against an house, falleth.

18 So if Satan also be diuided against himselfe, how shall his kingdome stand, because yee say that I cast out deuils: *through Beelzebub?

19 If I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your iudges.

20 But if I by the finger of God cast out deuils, doubtlesse the kingdome of God is come vnto you.

21 When a strong man armed keepeth his palace, the things that hee possesseth, are in peace.

22 But when a stronger then he, commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him: hee taketh from him all his armour wherein he trusted, and diuideth his spoiles.

23 He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

24 *When the vnclane spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through drie places, seeking rest: and when hee findeth none, hee saith, I will returne vnto mine house whence I came out.

25 And when he commeth, he findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then goeth hee, and taketh to himselfe other spirits worse then himselfe: and they enter in, and dwell there: *so the last state of that man is worse then the first.

27 ¶ And it came to passe as he said these things, a certaine woman of the company lifted vp her voyce, and said vnto him, Blessed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But he said, Yea, rather blessed are they that heare the word of God, and keepe it.

29 ¶ *And when the people were gathered thicke together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: They seeke a signe, and there shal no signe be giuen them, but the signe of *Ionas the Prophet.

30 For as Ionas was a signe to the Nineuites: so shall also the Sonne of man be to this generation.

31 *The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement, with the men of this generation, and shall condemne them: for shee came from the vtmost parts of the earth to heare the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, a greater then Solomon is here.

32 The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for they *repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

33 ¶ *No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a priue place, neither vnder a bushell: but on a candlestick, that they which come in, may see the light.

34 *The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be euil, then thy body is darke.

35 Take heede therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkened.

36 If therefore thy whole body shall be light, hauing no part darke, then shall all bee light, euen as when a randle doeth light thee with the brightness.

37 ¶ And as he spake, a certaine Pharise besought him to dint with him: and he went in, and sate downe at table.

38 And when the Pharise saw it, he marvelled that he had not first washed before dinner.

39 *And the Lord said to him, In deed ye Pharises make cleane the outside of the cup, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of rauening and wickednes.

40 Ye fooles, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within also?

41 Therefore, giue almes of those things which you haue, and behold, all things shall be cleane to you.

42 *But woe bee to you, Pharises: for ye strithe the mint and the rue, and all manner herbs, and passe ouer iudgement, and the loue of God: these ought ye to haue done, and not to haue left the other vndone.

43 *Woe bee to you, Pharises: for ye loue the yppermost seats in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 *Woe be to you, Scribes and Pharises hypocrites: for yee are as graues which appeare not, and the men that walke ouer them, perceiue not.

45 ¶ And then answered one of the Lawyers, and said vnto him, Master, thus saying thou puttest vs to rebuke also.

46 And he said, Woe be to you also, yee Lawyers: *for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye your selues touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

47 *Woe bee to you: *for ye build the sepulchres of the Prophets, and your fathers killed them.

is to day in the field, and to morrow is cast into the oven, how much more will hee clothe you, O ye of little faith?

29 Therefore aske not what ye shall eate, or what ye shall drinke, neither hang you in suspence.

30 For all such things the people of the world seeke for: and your Father knoweth that ye haue need of these things.

31 But rather seeke yee after the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be cast vpon you.

32 Feare not, little flocke, for it is your Fathers pleasure, to giue you the kingdom.

33 Sel that ye haue, and giue almes: make you bags, which waxe not old, a treasure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no thiefe comineth, neither moth corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your hearts be also.

35 Let your loines be girt about, and your lights burning.

36 And yee your selues like vnto men that waite for their master, when hee will returne from the wedding, that when hee cometh and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediately.

37 Blessed are those seruants, whome the Lord when he cometh shall finde waking: verely I say vnto you, he will gird himselfe about, and make them to sit downe at table, and will come forth and serue them.

38 And if he come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall finde them so, blessed are those seruants.

39 Now vnderstand this, that if the good man of the house had knowen at what houre the thiefe would haue come, hee would haue watched, and would not haue suffered his house to be digged through.

40 Be ye also prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when yee thinke not.

41 Then Peter said vnto him, Master, telleft thou this parable vnto vs, or euen to all?

42 And the Lord said, Who is a faithfull steward and wife, whom the master shall make ruler ouer his household, to giue them their portion of meat in season?

43 Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when he cometh, shall finde so doing.

44 Of a trueth I say vnto you, that he will make him ruler ouer all that he hath.

45 But if that seruant say in his heart, My master doeth deferre his coming, and shall begin to finite the seruants, and maidens, and to eat, and drinke, and to be drunken, 46 The master of that seruant will come in a day when he thinketh not, and at an houre when hee is not ware of, and will cut him off, and giue him his portion with the vnbelieuers.

47 And that seruant that knew his masters will, and prepared not himselfe, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

48 But hee that knew it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes: for vnto whom soeuer much is giuen, of him shall be much required, and to whom men much commit, the more of him will they aske.

49 I am come to put fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it be already kindled?

50 Notwithstanding, I must be baptized with a baptisme, and how am I grieved, till it be ended?

51 Thinke yee that I am come to giue peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

52 For from hence forth there shall be scie in one house diuided, three against two, and two against three.

53 The father shall be diuided against the sonne, and the sonne against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother in law against her daughter in law, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

54 Then sayde hee to the people, When yee see a cloud rise out of the West, straightway yee say, a shewre comineth: and so it is.

55 And when yee see the South wind blow, yee say, that it will be hote: and it cometh to passe.

56 Hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the earth, and of the skie, but why discern ye not this time?

57 Yea, and why iudge yee not of your selues what is right?

58 While thou goest with thine aduersarie to the ruler, as thou art in the way, giue diligence in the way, that thou mayest be deliuered from him, lest he draw thee to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer thee to the iayler, and the iayler cast thee into prison.

59 I tell thee, thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast payed the vtmost mite.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the Galileans, 4 and those that were slaine vnder Siloam. 6 The fig tree that bare no fruite. 11 The woman vexed with the spirit of infirmitie, that is, with a disease brought on her by Satan, is healed. 19 The parable of the graine of mustard seed. 21 Of leauen. 23 How fewe shall be saved. 32 Herodes that faile.

Here were certaine men present at the same season, that shewed him of the Galileans, whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.

2 And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Suppose ye, that these Galileans were greater sinners then all the other Galileans, because they haue suffered such things?

3 I tell you, nay: but except yee amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

ye of Tiberius reigne, Christ finished the worke of our redemption by his death,

6 To wit, in the place, or river: for Siloam was a small river, from whence the conduits of the city came, wherof John 9. 7. and Esay 8. 6. and wherof it was a tower or castle, built upon the conduit side, which fell down suddenly, and killed some 2. 4 A lively image of hypocrisy, & reward thereof. 5. One of the rulers of the Synagogue, for it appeareth by Marke 5. 22. and Mat. 13. 15. that there were many rulers of the Synagogue.

3 God beginneth his kingdome with small beginnings, that the vniuersall may better see forth his power. * Mat. 13. 33.

4 Or thinke you, that those eighteen, vpon whom the tower in Siloam fell, and slew them, were sinners aboue all men that dwell in Ierusalem?

5 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

6 ¶ He spake also this parable. A certaine man had a figge tree planted in his vineyard: and hee came and sought fruite thereon, and found none.

7 ¶ Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, this three yeeres haue I come and sought fruit of this fig tree, and find none: cut it downe: why keepeth it also the ground barren?

8 And hee answered, and said vnto him, Lord, let it alone this yeere also, till I digge round about it, and dung it.

9 And if it beare fruit, well: if not, then after thou shalt cut it downe.

10 ¶ And he taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.

11 And behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen yeeres, and was bowed together, and could not lift vp her selfe in any wise.

12 When Iesus saw her, hee called her to him, and said to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thy disease.

13 And hee laid his hands on her, and immediately shee was made straight againe, and glorified God.

14 ¶ And the ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Iesus healed on the Sabbath day, and said vnto the people, There are sixe dayes in which men ought to worke: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then answered him the Lord, and said, Hypocrite, doeth not each one of you on the Sabbath day loose his ox or his asse from the stall, and leade him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, loe, eighteen yeeres, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when hee said these things, all his aduersaries were ashamed: but all the people reioyced at all the excellent things, that were done by him.

18 ¶ Then said hee, What is the kingdome of God like? or whereto shall I compare it?

19 ¶ It is like a graine of mustard seede, which a man tooke and sowed in his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree, and the fowles of the heauen made nestes in the branches thereof.

20 ¶ And againe he said, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdome of God?

21 It is like leauen, which a woman tooke, and hidde in three peckes of floure, till all was leauened.

22 ¶ And hee went through all cities and townes, teaching, and iourneying towards Ierusalem.

23 Then said one vnto him, Lord, are there few that shalbe saued? And he said vnto them, 24 ¶ Striue to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say vnto you, will seeke to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the doore, and ye begin to stand without, and to knocke at the doore, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs, and hee shall answer and say vnto you, I knowe you not whence ye are.

26 ¶ Then shall ye begin to say, Wee haue eaten and drunke in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streetes.

27 ¶ But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are: depart from mee, all ye workers of iniquitie.

28 ¶ There shall bee weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the kingdome of God, and your selues thrust out at doores.

29 Then shall come many from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at Table in the kingdome of God.

30 ¶ And behold, there are last, which shall be first, and there are first which shalbe last.

31 ¶ The same day there came certaine Pharisees, and said vnto him, Depart, and go hence: for Herod will kill thee.

32 Then said he vnto them, Goe ye and tell that Foxe, Behold, I cast out deuils, and will heale still to day, and to morrow, and the third day I shall be perfected.

33 ¶ Neuerthelesse, I must walke to day, and to morrow, and the day following: for it cannot be that a Prophet should perish out of Hierusalem.

34 ¶ O Hierusalem, Hierusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them that are sent to thee, how often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the henne gathereth her brood vnder her wings, and ye would not!

35 Behold, your house is left vnto you desolate: and verely I tel you, ye shall not see me, vntill the time come that ye shall say, Blessed is he that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

And it came to passe that when hee was entred into the house of one of the chiefe Pharisees on the Sabbath day, to eate bread, they watched him.

they called the Sanhedrin, or one of the chiefe of the Synagogue: for all the Pharisees were not chiefe men of the Synagogue, Iohn 7. 48 for this word Pharise was the name of a sect, though it appears by the whole historie that the Pharisees were in great credit.

1 Word for word, the text: now the bread of chiefe is the text.

13 The Law of the very Sabbath ought not to hinder the offices of charitie.

14 Either one of the Elders, whom the Pharisees were not appeare by the whole historie that the Pharisees were in great credit.

2 And

2 And behold, there was a certaine man before him, which had the dropsie.

3 Then Iesus answering, spake vnto the Lawyers and Pharises, saying, Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath day?

4 And they held their peace: Then hee tooke him, and healed him, and let him goe.

5 And answered them, saying, Which of you shall haue an asse, or an oxen fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out on the Sabbath day?

6 So they could not answere him againe to those things.

7 ¶ He spake also a parable to the guests, when he marked how they chose out the chiefe roomes, and said vnto them,

8 When thou shalt be bidden of any man to a wedding, set not thy selfe downe in the chiefe place, lest a more honourable man then thou, be bidden of him,

9 And hee that bade both him and thee, come, and say to thee, Giue this man room, and thou then beginne with shame to take the lowest room.

10 ¶ But when thou art bidden, goe and sit downe in the lowest room, that when he that bade thee, cometh, hee may say vnto thee, Friend, sit vp higher: then shalt thou haue worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.

11 ¶ For whosoever exalteth himselfe, shall be brought low, and hee that humbleth himselfe, shall be exalted.

12 ¶ Then said he also to him that had bidden him, ¶ When thou makest a dinner, or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor the rich neighbours, lest they also bid thee againe, and a recompense be made thee.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poore, the maimed, the lame, and the blinde, 14 And thou shalt be blessed, because they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the iust.

15 ¶ Now when one of them that sate at table heard these things, he said vnto him, Blessed is hee that eateth bread in the kingdome of God.

16 Then said hee to him, ¶ A certaine man made a great supper, and bade many,

17 And sent his seruants at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.

18 ¶ But they all with one minde began to make excuse: The first said vnto him, I haue bought a Farme, and I must needs goe out and see it: I pray thee, haue me excused.

19 And another said, I haue bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prooue them: I pray thee, haue me excused.

20 And another said, I haue married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that seruant returned, and shewed his master these things. Then was the good man of the house angry, and said to his seruant, Goe out quickly into the streets and lanes of the citie, and bring in hither the poore, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blinde.

22 And the seruant said, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is room.

23 Then the master said to the seruant, Goe out into the high wayes, and hedges, and compelel them to come in, that mine house may be filled.

24 For I say vnto you, that none of those men which were bidden, shall taste of my supper.

25 ¶ Now there went great multitudes with him, and he turned and said vnto them, 26 ¶ If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters: yea, and his owne life also, he cannot be my discipule.

27 ¶ And whosoever beareth not his crosse, and commeth after mee, cannot be my discipule.

28 For which of you minding to build a towre, sitteth not downe before, and counteth the cost, whether he haue sufficient to performe it,

29 Lest that after he hath laid the foundation, and is not able to performe it, all that behold it, begin to mocke him, 30 Saying, This man began to build, and was not able to make an end?

31 Or what King, going to make warre against another King, sitteth not downe first and taketh counsell, whether he be able with tenne thousand, to meet him that commeth against him with twentie thousand?

32 Or els while he is yet a great way off, he sendeth an ambassage, and desireth peace.

33 So likewise, whosoever he be of you, that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my discipule.

34 ¶ Salt is good: but if salt haue lost his sauour, wherewith shall it be salted?

4 The parable of the lost sheepe, 8 Of the goate, 11 And of the prodigall sonne.

¶ Then resorted vnto him all the Publicanes and sinners to heare him.

2 Therefore the Pharises and Scribes murmured, saying, Hee receiueh sinners, and eateth with them.

3 Then spake he this parable to them, saying,

4 ¶ What man of you hauing an hundreth sheepe, if he lose one of them, doeth not leaue ninetie and nine in the wildernesse, and goe after that which is lost, vntill he finde it?

* Math. 18. 12.

6 And when he commeth home, he calleth together his friends, and neighbours, saying vnto them, Reioyce with me: for I haue found my sheepe which was lost.

7 I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shall be in heauen for one sinner that conuerteth, more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which need none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman hauing ten groats, if she lose one groat, doeth not light a candle, and sweepe the houle, and seeke diligently till she finde it?

9 And when she hath found it, she calleth her friends, and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with me: for I haue found the groat which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that conuerteth.

11 ¶ He said moreouer, A certaine man had two sonnes.

12 And the yonger of them said to his father, Father, giue me the portion of the goods that falleth to me. So he diuided vnto them his substance.

13 So many dayes after, when the yonger sonne had gathered all together, he tooke his journey into a farre countrey, and there he wasted his goods with riotous liuing.

14 New when he had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and he began to be in necessitie.

15 Then he went and claued to a citizen of that countrey, and besent him to his farme, to feede swine.

16 And he would faine haue filled his belly with the husks, that the swine ate: but no man gaue them him.

17 Then hee came to himselfe, and said, How many hired seruants at my fathers haue bread inough, and I die for hunger?

18 I will rise and goe to my father, and say vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against ^b heauen and before thee, 19 And am no more worthy to be called thy sonne: make me as one of thy hired seruants.

20 So he arose and came to his father, and when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ranne and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 And the sonne said vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy sonne.

22 Then the father saide to his seruants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shooes on his feete, 23 And bring the fat calfe, and kill him, and let vs eate, and be merrie.

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found. And they began to be merrie.

25 Now the elder brother was in the field, and when he came & drew nere to the house, he heard melodie and dancing.

26 And called one of his seruants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And hee sayd vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fatte calfe, because hee hath receiued him safe and sound.

28 Then he was angry, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out and intreated him.

29 But hee answered and sayd to his father, Loe, these many yeeres haue I done thee seruice, neither brake I at any time thy commandement, and yet thou neuer gauest me a Kidde, that I might make merrie with my friends.

30 But when this thy sonne was come, which hath deuoured thy goods with harlots, thou hast for his sake killed the fat Calfe.

31 And he said vnto him, Sonne, thou art euer with me, and all that I haue, is thine. It was meet that we should make merrie, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The parable of the steward accused to his master. 13 To serue two masters. 16 The Law and the Prophets. 19 Of Diues and Lazarus.

And he said also vnto his disciples, There was a certain rich man, which had a steward, and he was accused vnto him, that he wasted his goods.

2 And he called him, and sayd vnto him, How is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an account of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward said within himselfe, What shall I doe? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship. I cannot dig, and to beg I am ashamed.

4 I know what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue me into their houses.

5 Then called he vnto him euery one of his masters debtors, and said vnto the first, How much owest thou vnto my master?

6 And he said, An hundred measures of oyle. And he said vnto him, Take thy writing, and sit downe quickly, and write fiftie.

7 Then said he to another, How much owest thou? and he said, An hundred measures of wheat. Then he said to him, Take thy writing, and write fourescore.

8 And the Lord commended the vniust steward, because he had done wisely. Wherefore the children of this world are in their generation wiser then the children of light.

9 And I say vnto you, Make you friends for euerlasting life. ^b Men that are giuen to this present life, contrary to whom the children of light are set: S. Paul calleth these spiritual, and the other carnall.

with

Men by their voluntary falling from God, being spoiled themselves of the benefices which they received of him, cast themselves headlong into infinite calamities: but God of his singular goodnesse, offering himselfe freely to them, whom he called to repentance, through the greatness of their miserie wherewith they were tamed, doth not onely gently receive them, but also enricheth them with farre greater gifts, & blesteth them with the chiefest blisse.

4 In true repentance there is a feeling of our sinnes, ioyed with sorrow and shame, from whence springeth a confession, after which followeth forgiveness.

5 Such as truly feare God, desire to haue all men to be their fellowes.

1 Seeing that men oftentimes purchase friendship to themselves, by other mens costs, it is shame for vs, if with a free and liberrall bestowing of the goods which the Lord hath giuen vs, to that purpose we doe not please him, nor procure good will of our neighbours, seeing that by this only means, riches, which are often times occasions of sinne, are turned to another end and purpose.

a This parable doth not approve the steward's naughty dealing, for it was very theft: but parables are so forth, to show a thing covertly, and as it were, under a figure to represent the truth, though it agree not therewith with the matter it selfe: so that Christ maketh by this parable, to teach vs, that worldly men are more heedful in the affairs of this world, then the children of God are careful with the riches of iniquity, that when ye shall want, they may receive you into everlasting habitations.

10 He that is faithfull in the least, he is also faithfull in much: and he that is vniust in the least, is vniust also in much.

11 If then ye haue not bene faithfull in the wicked riches, who will trust you in the true treasure?

12 And if ye haue not bene faithfull in another mans goods, who shal giue you that which is yours?

13 No seruant can serue two masters: for either he shal hate the one, and loue the other: or els he shal leane to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

14 All these things heard the Pharisees also which were couetous, and they scoffed at him.

15 Then he said vnto them, Ye are they, which iustifie your selues before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 The Law and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and since that time the Kingdome of God is preached, and every man presseth in to it.

17 Now it is more easie that heauen and earth should passe away, then that one tittle of the Law should fall.

18 Whosoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adultery: and whosoever marrieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.

19 There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately every day.

20 Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate full of sores, 21 And desired to bee refreshed with the crummes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogges came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the begger died, and was carried by the Angels into Abrahams bosome. The rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in tormentes, he lift vp his eyes, and saw Abraham afarre off, and Lazarus in his bosome.

24 Then he cried, and said, Father Abraham, haue mercy on me, & send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham said, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuedst thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus paines: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Besides all this, betweene you & vs there is a great gulfe set, so that they which would go from hence to you, cannot: neither can they come from thence to vs.

27 Then he said, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldest send him to my fathers house, 28 (For I haue five brethren,) that hee may testifie vnto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham said vnto him, They haue Moses and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And he said, Nay, father Abraham: but if one came vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues.

31 Then he said vnto him, If they heare not Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be perswaded, though one rise from the dead againe.

CHAP. XVII.

Offences. 3 We must forgive him that trespasseth against vs. 10 We are vnprofitable seruants. 11 Of these lepers. 20 Of the coming of the kingdome of heauen. 35 Pass Christen after what manner Christis coming shall be.

Then said he to his disciples, It cannot be wrought by me, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.

It is better for him that a great millstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast into the sea, then that he should offend one of these little ones.

Take heed to your selues, if thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgive him.

And though hee sinned against thee seven times in a day, & seven times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, It repenteth mee, thou shalt forgive him.

And the Apostles said vnto the Lord, Increase our faith.

And the Lord said, If ye had faith, as much as is a graine of mustard seed, and should say vnto this mulberry tree, I lucke thy selfe vp by the rootes, and plant thy selfe in the sea, it should euen obey you.

Who is it also of you, that hauing a seruant plowing, or feeding cattell, would say vnto him by and by, when he were come from the field, Goe, and sit downe at table?

And would not rather say to him, Dresse thyselfe with I may sup, and gird thy selfe, and serue me, till I haue eaten and drunken, and afterward eat thou, and drinke thou?

Doeth he thanke that seruant, because he did that which was commanded vnto him? I trow not.

So likewise ye, when ye haue done all those things, which are commanded you, say, Wee are vnprofitable seruants: we haue done that which was our durtie to doe.

And so it was when he went to Hierusalem, that he passed through the middes of Samaria, and Galilee.

Seeing that we haue a most sure rule to live by, layed forth vnto vs in the word of God, rashly & vaine-ly do men seek for other resolutions.

Math. 18. 7. The church is of necessity subiect to offences, but the Lord will not suffer them to sinne, if any of the least be offended. Our reprehensions must be iust, and proceed of loue and charitie.

Seeing that God may challenge vnto him selfe of right, both vs and all that is ours, he can be debtor vnto vs for nothing, although we labour manifoldly euen vnto death. The most perfect keeping of the Law, which we can performe, deferreth no reward. Christ doeth well euen vnto such as will be vnthankfull, but the benefits of God profit them only to saluation, which are thankfull.

Leuit. 14. 2. 7 The kingdom of God is not marked of many, although it be most profane before their eyes: because they don't see it with the inward pompe of the inward pompe and flow of manifest, to be known by: for there were otherwise many plaine and euident tokens whereby men might have understood, that Christ was the Messias, whose kingdom was so long looked for, but he spake in the place of these signs which the Pharisees dreamed of, which looked for an earthly kingdom of M^o Isaac. c. 12 And as he entred into a certaine towne, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stood asafarre off.

13 And they lift vp their voyces and said, Iesus, Master, haue mercy on vs.

14 And when hee saw them, he sayd vnto them, "Goe, shew your selues vnto the Priests. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were cleansed.

15 Then one of them, when hee saw that he was healed, turned backe, and with a loude voyce prayd God, 16 And fell downe on his face at his feete, and gaue him thanks: and he was a Samaritan.

17 And Iesus answered, and said, Are there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to giue God prayse, saue this stranger.

19 And hee said vnto him, Arise, goe thy way, thy faith hath saued thee.

20 ¶ And when hee was demanded of the Pharisees, when the Kingdome of GOD should come, he answered them, and said, The kingdome of God cometh not with obseruation.

21 Neither shall men say, Loe here, or loe there: for behold, the kingdome of God is within you.

22 And hee sayd vnto the disciples, The dayes will come, when yee shall desire to see one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it.

23 ¶ Then they shall say to you, Behold here or behold there: but goe not thither, neither follow them.

24 For as the lightning that lighteneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day.

25 But first he must suffer many things, and be reprobued of this generation.

26 ¶ And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it bee in the dayes of the Sonne of man.

27 They are, they dranke, they married wiues, and gaue in marriage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.

28 ¶ Likewise also, as it was in the dayes of Lot: they ate, they dranke, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all.

30 After these ensamples shall it be in the day when the Sonne of man is reueiled.

31 ¶ At that day he that is vpon the house, and his stuffe in the house, let him not come downe to take it out: and he that is in the field like wife, let him not turne backe to that he left behind.

32 ¶ Remember Lots wife.

33 ¶ Who soeuer will seeke to saue his soule, shall lose it: and who soeuer shall lose it, shall get it life.

34 ¶ I tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be left.

35 Two women shall be grinding together, the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left.

36 Two shall be in the field: one shall be receiued, and another shall be left.

37 ¶ And they answered, and sayd to him, Where Lord? And he said vnto them, ¶ Where soeuer the body is, thither shall also the Eagles be gathered together.

¶ CHAP. XVIII.

The parable of the vnrightheous Iudge and the widowe. Of the Pharisee and the Publicane. 13 Children are of the kingdom of heauen. 22 To sell all and come to the poore. 28 The Apostles forsake all. 31 Christ foretelleth his death. 35 The blind man receiveth sight.

¶ And he spake also a parable vnto them, to this end, that they ought alwayes to pray, and not to waxe faine.

2 ¶ Saying, There was a Iudge in a certaine citie, which feared not God, neither reuerenced man.

3 And there was a widowe in that citie, which came vnto him, saying, Doe me iustice against mine aduersary.

4 And he would not of a long time: but afterward he said with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man,

5 Yet because this widow troubleth mee, I will doe her right, lest at the last he come and make me weary.

6 And the Lord said, Heare what the vnrightheous Iudge saith.

7 Now shall not God auenge his elect, which cry day and night vnto him, yea, though he suffer long for them?

8 ¶ I tell you he will auenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?

9 ¶ He spake also this parable vnto certaine which trusted in themselves that they were iust, and despised other.

10 Two men went vp into the Temple to pray: the one a Pharisee, & the other a Publicane.

11 ¶ The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himselfe, O God, I thanke thee, that I am not as other men, extortioners, vniust, adulterers, or euen as this Publicane.

12 I fast twise in the weeke: I giue tithes of all that euer I possesse.

15 ¶ They brought vnto him also babes that he should touch them. And when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them.

16 But Iesus called them vnto him, and said, Suffer the babes to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.

17 Verely I say vnto you, whosoever receiuech not the kingdome of God as a babe, he shall not enter therein.

18 Then a certaine ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what ought I to doe, to inherit eternall life?

19 And Iesus said vnto him, Why callest thou mee good? none is good, save one, euen God.

20 Thou knowest the commaundements, Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness: Honour thy father and thy mother.

21 And he said, All these haue I kept from my youth.

22 Now when Iesus heard that, he said vnto him, Yet lackest thou one thing. Sell all that euer thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heaven, & come follow me.

23 But when he heard those things, he was very heavy: for he was marueilous rich.

24 And when Iesus saw him very sorrowfull, he sayd, With what difficultie shall they that haue riches, enter into the Kingdome of God!

25 Surely it is easier for a Camell to goe through a needles eye, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 Then sayd they that heard it, And who then can be saved?

27 And hee said, The things which are vnpossible with men, are possible to God.

28 ¶ Then Peter said, Loe, we haue left all, and haue followed thee.

29 And he said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdome of Gods sake, 30 Which shall not receiue much more in this world, and in the world to come life euerlasting.

31 ¶ Then Iesus tooke vnto him the twelue, and said vnto them, Behold, we goe vp to Ierusalem, and all things shall be fulfilled to the Sonne of man, that are written by the Prophets.

32 For he shall be deliuered vnto the Gentiles, and shall be mocked, and shall be spitefully entreated, and shall be spitte on.

33 And when they haue scourged him, they wil put him to death: but the third day he shall rise againe.

34 But they vnderstood none of these things, and this saying was hidde from them, neither perceiued they the things, which were spoken.

35 ¶ And it came to passe, that as hee was come neere vnto Iericho, a certaine blinde man sate by the way side, begging.

36 And when he heard the people passe by, he asked what it meant.

37 And they saide vnto him, that Iesus of Nazareth passed by.

38 Then he cryed, saying, Iesus the sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

39 And they which went before, rebuked him that he should hold his peace, but he cried much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on mee.

40 And Iesus stood still, and commaunded him to be brought vnto him. And when he was come neere, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receiue my sight.

42 And Iesus said vnto him, Receiue thy sight: thy faith hath saued thee.

43 Then immediatly he receiued his sight, and followed him, praising God: and all the people, when they sawe this, gaue praise to God.

4 Wherefore he ranne before, and climbed vp into a wilde fig tree, that he might see him: for he should come that way.

5 And when Iesus came to the place, hee looked vp, and saw him, and said vnto him, Zaccheus, come downe at once: for to day I must abide at thine house.

6 Then he came downe hastily, and receiued him ioyfully.

7 And when they all saw it, they murmured, saying, that he was gone in to lodge with a sinfull man.

8 And Zaccheus stood forth, and said vnto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the halfe of my goods I giue to the poore: and if I haue taken from any man by forged cauillation, I restore him foure fold.

11 And whiles they heard these things, he continued and spake a parable, because hee was neere to Ierusalem, and because also they thought that the Kingdome of God should shortly appeare.

12 Hee said therefore, A certaine Noble man went into a farre countrey, to receiue for himselfe a kingdome, and so to come againe.

13 And he called his ten seruants, and deliuered them ten pecies of money, and said vnto them, Occupie till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassage after him, saying, Wee will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe, when he was come againe, and had receiued his kingdome, that he commaunded the seruants to be called to him, to whom hee gaue his money, that hee might know what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased ten pecies.

17 And he said vnto him, Well, good seruant: because thou hast bene faithfull in a very little thing, take thou authoritie ouer tenne cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased five pecies.

19 And to the same he said, Be thou also ruler ouer five cities.

20 So the other came, and said, Lord, behold thy piece, which I haue laid vp in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a strait man: thou takest vp, that thou laiest not down, and reapest that thou didst not sow.

22 Then he said vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O euill seruant. Thou knowest that I am a strait man, taking vp that I layed not downe, and reaping that I did not sowe.

23 Wherefore then gauest thou my money into the banke, that at my comming I might haue required it with vantage.

24 And he said to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pecies.

25 (And they said vnto him, Lord, he hath ten pecies.)

26 For I say vnto you, that vnto all them that haue, it shall be giuen, and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken from him.

27 Moreouer, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 And when he had thus spoken, hee went forth before, ascending vp to Hierusalem.

19 And it came to passe, when hee was come neere to Bethphage, & Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Oliues, he sent two of his disciples, 30 Saying, Go ye to the towne which is before you, wherein, as soone as ye are come, ye shall find a colt tied, whereon neuer man late: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any man aske you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had said vnto them.

33 And as they were loosing the Colt, the owners thereof said vnto them, Why loose ye the Colt?

34 And they said, The Lord hath need of him.

35 So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the Colt, and set Iesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spread their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was come neere to the going downe of the mount of Oliues, the whole multitude of the disciples began to reioice, and to praise God with a loud voyce, for all the great works that they had seene.

38 Saying, Blessed be the King that cometh in the Name of the Lord: peace in heauen, and glory in the highest places.

39 Then some of the Pharises of the company said vnto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered, and said vnto them, I tell you, that if these should hold their peace, the stones would crie.

41 And when he was come neere, hee beheld the City, and wept for it, 42 Saying, O if thou haddest euen known at the least in this thy day thote things, which belong vnto thy peace! but now are they hid from thine eyes.

43 For the dayes shall come vpon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keepe thee in on euery side, 44 And shal make thee euen with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shall not leaue in thee a stone vpon a stone, because thou knewest not that season of thy visitation.

45 He went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought.

46 Saying vnto them, It is written, Mine house is the house of prayer, but ye haue made it a denne of thieues.

47 And he taught daily in the Temple. And the high Priests and the Scribes, and the chiefe of the people sought to destroy him.
